Now, there is the Huron and Ontario Ship Canal, a feasible project, presenting the double advantages of shortness of route and requisite depth of water to meet the requirements of the utmost development of the western trade which the fancy can picture. As a national project it has no rival, and as a work of local importance it seems a waste of words to use them in its support. Why, then, should Toronto refuse to move in its favour? It cannot be because of any well-founded evidence that it is impracticable, for the contrary is susceptible of proof; nor is it because the work itself would be of great benefit to Canada, and would double the value of real estate in Toronto in a few years and increase the volume of its trade tenfold. These are all arguments for the work, not against it.

Do the people of Toronto imagine that the Trent Valley scheme will not be carried out? Let them watch the energy of its promoters, including among them Cabinet Ministers and influential members of Parliament, the various municipalities from Barrie to Belleville, not to speak of Montreal, and say whether the scheme is not well supported. All that it needs to ensure its success is that Toronto remain as it is at present, seemingly indifferent, if not hostile, to the Huron and Ontario Ship Canal Scheme. Then the Trent Valley scheme will succeed; then the American schemes for tapping the trade of the Canadian North-West will look like reasonable enterprises; and then the prosperity of Toronto will have departed, perhaps never to return.

I ask the people of Toronto to look at the picture and say whether they are acting wisely and well, either as true patriots, good citizens, or keen-sighted promoters of their own interests. There never was a time more suited than the present to undertake the building of the Huron and Ontario ship canal. If the opportunity be lost now it may never return; and empty warehouses and deserted streets may be the future monuments of present apathy, neglect and folly. Yours truly.

FRED. C. CAPREOL.

THE HALL POOR TRUST.

TRUSTEESHIP OF THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCHES IN PETERBOROUGH.

A Rule "Nisi" for a Mandamus Granted by the Court of Queen's Bench to the St. Andrew's Church.

A case of considerable public interest came up for discussion on Friday in the Court of Queen's Bench, in reference to a charitable corporation in the Town of Peterborough.

Mr. William Hall, of that place, died in the year 1875, being at the time of his death possessed of a large amount of real and personal property. By his will, which was executed in [illegible], he devised the sum of [illegible] to his executors, upon trust to invest the same, and to apply the annual income thereof for the benefit of the Protestant poor of the Town of Peterborough. A large part of the estate of the testator, from which this sum was to be realized, consisted of real estate, and the will was not executed in the manner and form required by law to pass real estate, or to render the above devise effectual for the purposes intended. The heirs of Mr. Hall were anxious to carry out his intentions so far as it lay in their power, and for this purpose they joined in executing a deed of trust, whereby they empowered the executor under the will to carry into effect all the trusts contained in it, and covenanted to execute all such conveyances of the real estate as might be necessary to enable him to do so. It was declared by the will that the fund should be managed by 8 trustees, chosen from the several Protestant congregations in the Town of Peterborough, 4 of whom were always to be chosen from the Presbyterian body, and one each from the Episcopalian, Methodist, Baptist, and Bible Christian Churches.

When the first trustees were appointed there were two Presbyterian Churches in the town, one belonging to each denomination of that body. Two trustees were selected from each of these congregations, which selection was specially embodied in the deed of trust. In 1877 an Act was passed by the Ontario Legislature, incorporating the Board of Trustees, under the name of "The William Hall Peterborough Protestant Poor Trust," and provision was made for the appointment of successors in the event of the death or disqualification of any of the trustees, or by reason of any trustee ceasing to be a member of the Church or denomination which he represented. It was also provided that on the happening of any such event as above, the Secretary should forthwith notify the minister of the congregation to which such trustee belonged, and such minister should thereupon call a meeting of his congregation, and have a successor elected, as provided by the Act.

One of the trustees chosen from the Presbyterian body and mentioned in the deed of trust was Mr. Robert Fairbairn, who at the time of his appointment was a member of St. Andrew's church. A short time ago he ceased to be a member of this church, and joined the congregation of St. Paul's, the other Presbyterian Church. He was called upon to resign his trusteeship, which he refused to do, claiming that altogether he was no longer a member of the Church from which he had been selected, still, since the union of the two branches of the Presbyterian body in Canada there is but one Presbyterian Church, and that he was not, therefore disqualified. Mr. Poussette, the Secretary, took Mr. Fairbairn's view of the situation, and refused to notify the minister of St. Andrew's Church of the alleged disqualification. The result is that St. Paul's Church was represented by three trustees, while St. Andrew's had only one. A demand was made upon the Secretary to send the notice required, but he has refused to comply, and Mr. Fairbairn still remains a trustee. The members of St. Andrew's therefore resolved to appeal to the Courts, and, if necessary, to apply to the Legislature for an amendment of the Act, so as to carry out what they claim was the intention of the trust.

Mr. Shepley, on behalf of the congregation of the latter Church, now applied to Mr. Justice Cameron for a rule for a mandamus directing the Secretary of the corporation to notify the minister of Mr. Fairbairn's disqualification as trustee, in order that another may be elected to fill his place.

His Lordship granted the rule nisi, on the return of which the matter will be fully discussed, and the judgment of the Court given.—Globe.

LINDSAY.

COUNTY COUNCIL.—The County Council have held a special session. The action of the Warden in regard to the joint construction and repair with the County of Peterborough of bridges on the boundary was approved. The question of granting aid to the Parliamentary expenses of the Trent Valley Canal was referred to the Finance Committee.

MAIL ARRANGEMENTS.—The Post says:—The people of Peterborough have obtained a later out-going mail than at first arranged, giving them as in Lindsay more time for replies to correspondence from the cities. The REVIEW points out, however, that under the existing arrangement a reply to a letter for Lindsay cannot be received until the third day, "and this for an important place only thirty miles distant!" Lindsay is under a similar disability regarding all places on the Nipissing Railway, north of Midland Junction. But the Peterburghers are apparently determined to effect an improvement, while the Lindsay business men remain quiet and humble.

CURLING.—The first curling of the season in town was enjoyed by two rinks on Monday morning, the skips being Messrs. J. D. Flavelle and John Matthie. The ice is now in first-class condition, and the roarin' game is being fully enjoyed every day by the members of the club.

MUNICIPAL MATTERS.—So far, Mr. F. C. Taylor is the only candidate definitely before the public for the Mayoralty and has received general and cordial promises of support. Col. Deacon's name is still connected with the Reeveship.

THE TAGGART ENQUIRY.—Further enquiry into the case of Francis C. Taggart's death is now being prosecuted by police authorities, but in the interests of justice it is thought desirable not to make public the new information so far obtained.

A SUGGESTED CAPITAL.

There is really no telling where the seat of government may be if things keep on. The latest in regard to it is the offer of a Hamilton man to give six acres of land in Galt, beautifully situated and having a commanding view of the town and a considerable tract of lovely country. Besides this, he offers to give all the sand required for the building, and he has no doubt that the town of Galt and county of Waterloo would supplement the offer with a bonus and exempt the buildings from taxes. Now that the fashion has been set, Mr. Mowat will probably have offers from all quarters. If the competition become keen he may secure bonuses enough to pay for the erection of the buildings. But no definite steps should be taken until we hear from Bobcaygeon, the centre of politics, literature, morality, art, commerce, science, and all that men live for.—Toronto Telegram.

CHRISTMAS ANTHEM.

Maidens, mothers that may be,
Bring your wreaths to deck the shrine
Of the Mother-Maid divine
With the Child upon her knee;
Shout your silvery songs of praise
For the birth of better days.

Mothers, come! I see confessed
In your glances deep and mild
The adoration of the Child,
Come, your children at the breast;
Lift your prayerful songs of praise
For the birth of better days.

Children, come with confidence,
Seek the benediction mild
Of this gentle little child,
Who was love and innocence;
Lisp your guileless songs of praise
For the birth of better days.

—PHILIP O. SULLIVAN, in Harper's Magazine for January.

A CHRISTMAS EPISODE.

(From Harper's Young People.)

"Yes, this week comes that old, everlasting Christmas day. I wonder why we have to spend more than half of it at the dinner table!"

"Suppose we don't? Let us strike out on a new lead."

"What can we do? Grandmother's pumpkin pies must be eaten, and grandfather's great turkey must be carved."

"Well, Charlie, I like originality."

"What is that, Sue?—anything in the candy shop?"

"You dreadful boy! You are just too—"

"Sweet for anything," put in Charlie.

Sue jumped up and tried to box his ears; but she chased him out into the hall, and tripped over the mats, and away he went up stairs, and stood laughing at her as she gathered up her worsted-work.

"If I were a gentleman," said Sue, in her haughtiest manner, "I would assist my friends when misfortune overtook them."

"Hear! hear!" cried Charlie.

"I had the nicest little plan to propose," she went on.

"What was it, Sue?" said Charlie, whose curiosity was aroused.

"Not a word more to one so ungallant, so very rude."

"Ah, Sue dear," coaxed Charlie, coming down and putting his arm around her, "you are the nicest little sister in the world, if you did want to box my ears. Now tell us the plan, that's a darling."

"Well, it isn't much, after all; it is only that I want to make Christmas a little more of a reality, and I thought—now, Charlie, don't laugh at me—that if we could do something for somebody, which would make him happy, wouldn't it be nicer."

"And who did you think of?"

"I thought of old black Betsy and her husband, they both are so old and so poor. Suppose we give them a dinner?"

"All by ourselves? Where would we get the money?"

"We will have an exhibition of cats. I will borrow Aunt May's old tabby, and John's big Tom, and Lulie Bell's five white kittens, and we have our own, and you can get others, and we will rig up a room in the barn, and put placards up, and I will tie bright ribbons on all their necks, and we'll charge ten cents for grown people and five cents for children, and—oh, I don't know what else."

"Splendid!"

The idea suited Charlie and no time must be lost. Every day was valuable. Mother was consulted, and had no objection. Father gave permission to use the harness-room. The cats were borrowed; big cats and little cats, sleepy old pussies and lively young kits, gray cats, white cats, and "cherry-colored cats," as the placard read. "For one day only," was also on the placard. Charlie was door-keeper, and a busy time had Sue in keeping peace among the pussies. They screamed and scratched, and kept up a perfect Pinafore chorus, until the child wished she was deaf, or could give them all opium; but the day wore on, and all the children of their acquaintance enjoyed the sport, and a few of the elders looked in upon them. By evening Charlie was rejoicing in the possession of a full money-box, but his face grew long as he counted the pennies. In reply to Sue's eager query of "How much?"

"Only two dollars and a half," was his dejected reply.

"Well, we can buy lots of things with that," said Sue, whose knowledge of marketing was limited.

"I am afraid it will take all for the turkey."

"Then we'll get chickens," said Sue.

"And how about cranberry jelly?"

"Mother will give us apples from her barrel."

"And celery, and sweet-potatoes, and all the other goodies."

"We must make it all do. I will go to Mr. Scott, the grocer, and tell him we want everything at the very lowest price."

"Well, I leave it all to you," said Charlie with masculine disdain of details, and scorn for so small a sum.

"That is right. You'll see how I will manage," said Sue, confidently.

And manage she did.

Christmas was a cold, bleak day, and old black Betsy had no idea of leaving her fireside for church.

"I can give my tanks jist as well one place as anodder," said she, in reply to a sweet coaxing voice which was urging her to go out.

"Now please just go to oblige me Aunt Betsey," said Sue; "Charlie and I want you and Uncle Jake to go to church for a very particular reason. You cannot refuse me I am sure."

The old woman grumbled and scowled and shuffled about in a discontented way, but the pleading little face stood firm, and gave an unwilling shout as she finally closed the door upon both of them.

"Hurrah!" exclaimed Charlie, and then they both went to work.

The poor little cabin had to be swept and dusted, and all the cracked crockery well wiped, but Sue had tied on a great big apron, and Charlie pinned on a huge towel, and declared himself head waiter. Then the market-basket, carefully concealed in the woodshed, had to be unpacked, and Sue's mother had given a bright red table-cover, and all sorts of nice little things to fill up the corners; and when at last everything was set out, and green boughs hung over the doors, and the ready-cooked turkey was fizzing over again in the oven, and the dinner was ready, Sue and Charlie hid themselves behind a door and waited for Aunt Betsey and Uncle Jake. Slowly the old people came grumbling home as they had grumbled out. They were old and stiff and poor, and what was there to be thankful for? For de chillens? Yes, if God willed it, said Aunt Betsey, who, however, was far from cheerful.

They pushed open the door and the savory smell of cooking saluted them.

"Hi, Uncle Jake, what you tink o' dis? what's de meanin' of all dis yer?" said Aunt Betsey.

Uncle Jake's mouth opened wide, as if the better to inhale the rich odors.

"Who's bin hyar? What does chillen been about? Good gracious me! if dis ain't a dinner fit fur a king."

Uncle Jake's grin burst into a laugh.

"Oh my! dey meant we should hab a Christmas in yearnest;" and the two old souls shook their sides with laughter.

"De good Lord bress dose chillen, an' give em as happy hearts as we had dis day!" said Aunt Betsey.

Sue and Charlie had meant to give a glorious war-whoop and shout, but their voices would not come, and when they looked at each other the tears came welling up from their tender little hearts.

"Come, Sue," said Charlie, "let us get away without their seeing us. Who ever thought a cat show would make two people so glad?"

They went home to their own dinner with a new idea of Christmas day; it seemed a better and a fresher feast; and after the day was done and the stars came out twinkling, and the children, tired with play and glad to rest, laid down their sleepy heads on their pillows, their angels whispered softly dreams of peace and joy.

CHRISTMAS IN THE KITCHEN.

Demorest's Monthly says:—With Christmas comes busy times in the kitchen, for those who love good fare, and are hospitably inclined, and as the purse is not always equal to the inclination in such emergencies, we have taken pains to cull from our own resources a number of plain and practical receipts, which are so simple, and comparatively inexpensive, that there are few who will not find some of them available, and are yet so good as to be likely to please the most fastidious.

We beg our readers to observe also that no wine or brandy enters into our Christmas or other receipts; yet we believe they will be found as palatable as those which contain these fiery distillations, and much more wholesome.

Bread-crumbs used instead of flour makes all the difference in the world to the digestibility of plum-pudding; all the flour that is desirable being that which is used in freeing the currants of dirt (the English way, and much better than washing them), and in dusting the raisins to keep them from sinking—eggs bind it sufficiently.

PLAIN PLUM-PUDDING.—Three teacupfuls of flour, one of molasses, one of chopped suet, one of raisins, three teaspoonfuls of baking-powder, a little cinnamon, and nutmeg. Boil or steam three or four hours. Excellent.

POTATO FRITTERS.—Grate six cold boiled potatoes; add one pint of cream or milk, and flour enough to make stiff as other fritters; the yolks of three eggs, then the beaten whites; a little salt, and fry in hot lard. They are delicious.

CRACKER PUDDING.—Pour one quart of boiling milk over six soft crackers, let it stand till the crackers are very soft; then add four beaten eggs, half a pound of raisins, and salt, sugar and spices to taste. Steam three or four hours. Use brown sugar.

BIRD'S-NEST PUDDING.—Peel and core as many apples as will stand in a dish, and fill the holes with sugar. Make a custard of a quart of milk, four eggs, and a quarter of a pound of sugar. Pour it over the apples, grate a nutmeg over the top, and bake one hour.

APPLE FRITTERS.—Beat three eggs very light, then stir in one tablespoonful of sugar, the grated rind of half a lemon, and the juice, one pint of milk, two cups of chopped apple, and two cups of flour; stir it well together, and fry in lard, or can be baked on a griddle as pancakes. Sift sugar over them, and send to the table.

POTATOES A LA MAITRE D'HOTEL.—Cut cold boiled potatoes into irregular slices, not large, and heat in a saucepan, with a little milk and butter, pepper, salt and some chopped parsley. Place it over a hot fire, stirring all the time until ready to serve. To make a French dish of this stir in half the juice of a lemon, or a teaspoonful of sharp vinegar.

SLICED APPLE PIE.—Take ripe, tart apples, peel, core and cut them up into very thin slices, fill the under crust; then strew over the apples as much sugar as you would think they require, a little nutmeg or cinnamon to taste, and a teaspoonful of butter. Cover with the upper paste, make a few small incisions in the middle of the upper crust, and bake in a mild oven.

APPLE CUSTARD PIES (Very nice).—Grate or steam twelve apples; to this add a teaspoonful of salt, sugar, nutmeg, three eggs well beaten, a pint of milk, and a tablespoonful of melted butter, the grated rinds of two lemons and the juice of one; pour the mixture into lined plates, and arrange strips of paste in a net-work over the top. Sift powdered sugar over them when done.

VIENNA BAKERY COFFEE.—Make coffee in the ordinary way; then, to one pint of cream, heated over boiling water, allow the white of an egg beaten to a froth; add three tablespoonfuls of cold milk to the egg and mix it well; then remove the cream, when hot, from the fire, and add the egg, stirring briskly for a few moments. Serve the coffee in the usual manner, adding this mixture instead of cold cream.

CHICKEN POT-PIE.—Divide the chicken into pieces at the joints; boil until part done, or about twenty minutes, then take it out. Fry two or three slices of fat salt pork, and put in the bottom, then place the chicken on it, with three pints of water, two ounces of butter, a teaspoonful of pepper, and cover over the top with a light crust, made the same as for biscuit. Cook one hour.

LEMON CREAM PIES.—The juice and grated rind of one lemon, one cup of white sugar, the yolks of two eggs, three tablespoonfuls of sifted flour, milk to fill the plate. This makes a large pie, and should be made with an undercrust, but not any top crust. Bake until nearly done, then take from the oven, and pour over it a frosting made of the beaten whites of two eggs, and two tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar, then set back in the oven, and brown lightly.

STEAMED APPLE DUMPLINGS.—One pound of flour, heaping teaspoonful of salt; chop the suet in a little of the flour to prevent its caking; chop very fine—as fine as meal; then add cold water enough to make a paste; roll as thin as pie-crust; peel a dozen large apples quarter, and core them, keeping each apple by itself, place the quarters together again, and cover each apple with a square of paste; then butter slightly the bottom of a steamer, and lay in your dumplings. They will cook in an hour. Serve with hard sauce.

CHOCOLATE MERINGUE.—Dissolve three tablespoonfuls cornstarch in two tablespoonfuls milk; break up two ounces sweetened chocolate in a tin basin, over boiling water, and to it add gradually the rest of a pint of milk; stir until perfectly smooth, and when it is scalding pour in the starch, and stir till it thickens; then add the yolks of three eggs beaten with two large tablespoonfuls of sugar, and stir until much thicker than soft custard, and when somewhat cooled, add one teaspoonful vanilla, and pour it into a glass dish. Just before serving (when it must be perfectly cold), cover it with a meringue of the whites of eggs beaten stiff, with four tablespoonfuls of sugar.

CHICKEN FRICASSEE.—Prepare a couple of nice chickens, joint them, dividing the wings, side, breast, and back-bone, and let them lie in salt and water half an hour; remove them to a stew-pan, with a half-pound of good sweet salt pork, cut up in pieces; barely cover with water, and simmer on the top of the stove or range for three hours; when sufficiently tender, take out the chicken, mix a tablespoonful of flour smoothly with cold milk, and add a little fine-dried or chopped parsley, sage and thyme, or summer savory, and stir gradually into the liquor; keep stirring till it boils; season with pepper and salt to taste; and then put back the chicken, and let it boil for a few minutes in the gravy; garnish with the green tops of celery.

FAMILY PIE PASTE.—One coffee-cup of flour will make the paste for a medium-sized pie. Use three-fourths of a cup of shortening to each cup of flour; you may use all butter, or part lard, if preferred. Take one-third of the shortening, a little salt, and rub well into the flour with the hand, then stir in as little water as possible, and form with a spoon into a very stiff paste; put it on a pie-board, roll lightly, and spread with one-third of the remaining shortening; sprinkle on a little flour, fold, and roll out as before; repeat the process, roll thin and use it for the upper crusts. Always make a few slits in the centre of the upper crust to allow the steam to escape. Never put in the filling until you are ready to bake them. A nice pie will be brown, tender and flaky.

A Good Account.

"To sum it up, six long years of bed-ridden sickness and suffering, costing $200 per year, total, $1,200—all of which was stopped by three bottles of Hop Bitters taken by my wife, who has done her own housework for a years since without the loss of a day, and I want everybody to know of it for their benefit."

Hagyard's Yellow Oil combines in such an eminent degree all the healing, curative and extracting qualities known to medical science that it is truly a family medicine that cannot be dispensed with. When applied to any swelling sore, burn, chilblain, frostbite, skin eruption, etc., its effects are magical. It is highly esteemed wherever known, and its enormous sale annually is the best certificates of its merits. w51-d129-2w

Victoria Hypophosphites extends its influence into every part of the human organism, commencing from the foundation, correcting diseased action, and restoring vital powers, creating a healthy formation and purification of the blood, driving out disease, and leaving nature to perform its allotted part. It is the finest nervine remedy known, and the greatest brain and blood food in the world. For sale by all dealers. $1 per bottle. w51-d129-2w

Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam.

It is formed from the best-known and most reliable Balsams, Gums and Vegetable Tonics, in chemical union with the extract of Wild Cherry Bark and Liquorice in their fresh and unadulterated forms, and is the most pleasant and effective combination that can be secured with a view to relief or permanent cure of Hoarseness, Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, Spitting of Blood, and all diseases of the Lungs. For sale by all dealers at 25 cents per bottle. w51-d129-2w

Misery's Throne.

Of all the miserable and unhappy creatures in existence, there are none more so than the confirmed dyspeptic. Life is a burden, and if the sufferer does not soon obtain relief he soon sinks into a dreary misanthrope, with the germs of consumption lurking dangerously near. The only known remedy—tested in innumerable cases—is SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL combined with HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA. With this medicine the incubus is removed, and the embryo seeds of consumption scattered. It is also nearly as pleasant to the taste as sweet cream.

A Conundrum Propounded.

Why will the "small boy," persist in eating green apples? The reader may as well give it up at once, since our original parents were guilty of the "little indiscreation." Physicians say, the season in which early or unripe fruit is first introduced, is the one they are most severely taxed in cases of colic, diarrhœa, dysentery, &c. Young and old are guilty, but boys and girls are the surest victims and the greatest sufferers. There is no peace, comfort or safety in the family unless its head provides a proper remedy. LAKEFIELD AGENCY OF THE REVIEW.—Mr. W. C. Saunders has been appointed Manager of the Lakefield Agency of the Review, and is authorised to receive Advertisements and Subscriptions, and also Orders for Printing. Office:—North of Post Office, Lakefield.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

Fair Day.

To-morrow will be the December fair day.

Town Council.

There will be a meeting of the Town Council this evening. It is expected that the special auditors will bring in at least an interim report.

Matriculation.

In the account of Convocation day at Trinity College, Toronto, the name of Mr. C. H. Clementi appears as matriculating in arts.

Unsuccessful Candidate.

In the recent Manitoba local election we notice that Mr. F. E. Burnham, who ran as a Reformer at Emerson, was defeated by Mr. Nach, the Conservative candidate.

I. O. G. T.

Peterborough Lodge No. 340, I.O.G.T., meets this evening at the Orange Hall, Water street. Interesting literary exercises will be in order and all Good Templars are invited to be present at 7.30 o'clock.

Curling and Skating Rink.

The Curling and Skating Rink is ready. There is to be a grand opening to night. Small bills have been distributed and posted up all over the town announcing the fact, and a grand gala time is anticipated. The ice is in splendid condition.

The Schools and the Holidays.

The schools met this morning as usual, for a half day's session, and the closing for the holiday vacation. Many of the children have been looking forward to the Christmas holidays with much anxiety, fearing they would have no sleighing or skating. They have both and are happy.

The Morning Mail.

The morning train of the Midland Railway bringing the night mails from Port Hope, was cancelled to-day; it is said on account of the cold weather, and the derangement of the Grand Trunk trains, owing to the sudden great depression of the atmosphere and drifting snow along the line of the latter road.

Malicious Action.

On Saturday evening about 9 o'clock, while the eight cent store was crowded with customers, a young man threw some red pepper upon the stove, which not only cleared the store of purchasers, but caused great suffering to the young saleswomen. Such conduct is most reprehensible and should be severely punished.

Personal.

At the musical and literary soiree given by the Ottawa Ladies' College on the evening of the 18th inst, we observe that Miss A. Edmison, daughter of Mr. G. Edmison, of this town, gave a piano solo, Si Oiseau J'etais, by Henselt, and Chasseur de Reichoffen, by Kowalski, receiving well merited applause and the thanks of the Principal.

Frosty Weather and its Results.

Sunday may be accounted the coldest day of the season. It is stated by some to have been the coldest for several years. There were many frost-bitten, some, their ears frozen had others their fingers or nose, and others again their feet. The Little Lake and the slack water in the Otonabee River is frozen and covered with snow, Steam and hot water pipes suffered. Fortunately no fires occurred.

Sudden Death.

This Monday morning, the coroner, Dr. R. Kincaid, having been notified of the sudden death of Mr. David James, at the house of Mr. Cornelius Holland, Otonabee, empanelled a jury and proceeded to hold an inquest. By the evidence it was shown that Mr. James had been drinking heavily of late, and that during the past few days he had been under the watchful care of friends. On Sunday evening his friend left the room for a short period, and upon returning he found James dead. The jury returned a verdict that the deceased came to his death from the excessive use of intoxicating drink.

Returning Officer.

We have been asked whether it is legal for one person to act in municipal matters as Returning Officer of the Town and as Deputy Returning Officer of a Ward, and to receive payment in both capacities. We believe that it has been held to be legal, but cannot take upon ourselves to decide a question for the lawyers. Mr. C. D. Macdonald, who is the only gentleman who for some time past has acted in the double capacity, has been in the invariable habit of taking pay only as a Deputy Returning Officer, though doing the duties of both offices, waiving any legal right that he might have to the double payment.

Church Anniversary.

As previously announced, Rev. Mr. Hunter, of Toronto, preached yesterday, morning and evening, the sermons in connection with the anniversary of the George Street Methodist church. The reverend gentleman was listened to by large and attentive congregations on both occasions, and more than sustained the reputation which had preceded him as an eminent theologian and popular minister. His personal and elocutionary acquirements are above criticism, while the subject matter of his discourses was admirable, giving food for much salutory reflection. The annual soiree will be held in the basement of the church this evening, when, in addition to a substantial tea, an intellectual treat may be looked for, the Rev. Mr. Hunter having consented to deliver an address. The choir of the church will also materially add to the pleasure of the evening.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district as reported from Toronto at 10 o'clock to-day are: Cloudy weather with rain and snow, followed by partially clearing and colder weather; brisk winds gradually shifting to west or north-west. Peterborough has been visited by the cold wave. The thermometer ran down rapidly on Saturday night, and on Sunday morning it indicated in some localities 16°, in others 16°, and in some 20° below zero. It continued to range between 10° and 14° below zero all day, rising toward evening; wind being north-easterly to northerly, shifting to easterly during the night and rising to 10° above at 8 o'clock this morning. Snow fell between Saturday evening and this morning about two inches, drifting heavily in some places The mercury rapidly rose this morning to 20° above zero with firm rain partially clearing at noon. at one o'clock 25° above, with a south-westerly wind. On Sunday the Government indicator marked at 8 o'clock in the morning 16° below zero, while the mercurial indicator marked 18°. At 1 o'clock the spirit indicator marked 11° below; at 7 o'clock this morning it marked 10° above, and at 1 o'clock to-day 35° above, making a difference of 46° in twenty-four hours.

CHRONICLES OF THE COUNCILLORS.

Shewing How Certain Moneys Had Been Missed From the Treasury, and How the Wise Men Set About Getting Them Back.

CHAPTER I.

1. And in those days there were gathered together to take counsel of one another, the wise men of the borough of Peter.

2. And they debated amongst themselves on many things.

3. Now one of the wise men, bold and valiant, arose and said:

4. Men of the borough of Peter, how long shall this iniquity within your midst go unpunished?

5. For has it not been made public that there hath been found somewhat that is amiss in the account of James, the holder of moneys?

6. Wherefore, oh! men of Peter, is much adverse comment thereby occasioned. Now, I demand that there shall be made searching enquiry, and all things appertaining thereto shall be made plain.

7. Furthermore, it doth appear that William, the tax-gatherer, hath not in sundry times past collected all that falleth to him, and that certain men have withheld that which is due our city.

8. Now, therefore, men of the borough of Peter, I urge that vigorous search be made into this matter, in such manner as advised by Henry the law-giver.

9. So it was done, even as demanded by the wise man.

10. Then William the Printer, another of the wise men, arose and said:

11. Men and brethren. I perceive that this here thing is a considerably mixed up business. At least such is my impression.

12. Which may be premature or otherwise.

13. And, unless we get this thing properly elucidiated, there's going to be a confounded fuss! Yes, sir!

14. And, lookyhere, Mr. Man—Mr. Mayor, I'll bet my reputation that there has been some pilfering going on here, and I'll give the entire cash receipts for one week from my extensive exchange list to know the men what's done it.

15. Hanged if I don't! Danged if I don't!

16. Then certain of the wise men took counsel within themselves and said:

17. About this time two months hence, shall we be called on to meet our respective constituents, and of surety will they demand much explanation of us concerning moneys spent, and things;

18. And desire much other uncomfortable communication.

19. Woe is us! We have naught to offer which shall hold us guiltless—without which return we not hither:

20. Let us banter them and throw dust in their eyes, let us direct their attention elsewhere.

21. For is it not good for us to be here, seeing we have heat, and light, and raiment, and things.

22. Wherefore shall our corner lots be improved, be we not here to speak justly in their behalf.

23. Also, lest an evil befall us, and much grave suspicion be upon us cast,—similar to that at present descending horizontally upon the beneficent architect of the Downey Street Canal.

24. And others speaking within themselves said, let us dissemble.

25. Then arose William, the middle-man, of austere countenance, slow of speech, and said:

26. Most mighty Mayor. There's a lot of fellows sitting around this Council Board, who are askeared they're not coming back here next year.

27. They are not comin' back—and I knows it. Moreover, the price of wheat says, not much! The voice of oats says, not any!

28. If we had some decent people in this Council, I would not mind staying myself, but as it is, it behooves me to retire. You hear me!

29. Then they all marvelled greatly at the bold words of William, the middle-man, for he spoke as one having authority—not as the tanner, or the carpenter, or the wheelbarrow-maker, or the man of the weights and measures.

30. Then arose William, the printer, and gave utterance:

31. Men of the borough of Peter: to be, or not to be, that's the question that is agitating this august body.

32. Whether to suffer the evils of financial depletion, and have our town robbed by some fellow or fellows, and his sisters and his cousins and his aunts, and his uncle down in the country.

33. Or to deputize some men, good and true, to hold an investigation, without any prevarication, at considerable remuneration.

34. And I don't mind if I tender for the position myself—and all that the name implies.

35. Then the wise men held much debate together, and they waxed wrothy, and they said bad words.

36. And in the end they appointed one James, a man of mighty statue, even of many cubits, one cunning in Wines, and Toms, and Malts, and long-headed enough to eat out of a churn.

37. And one William, heretofore a law-giver, conversant with the law dealt out in rural places, and much skilled in figures.

38. That these two should make diligent enquiry, and should search that these hidden iniquities might be brought to light.

39. And the wise men dispersed, each to his labor, marvelling greatly.

THE AFGHANISTAN WAR.

A SERIOUS ATTACK ON COL. NORMAN'S COLUMN—HARD FIGHTING.

Marching to the Relief of Gen. Roberts—Signalling by the Heliograph—Strength of the Forces.

Press Despatches via Cable and Montreal Lines.

STRENGTH OF THE BRITISH ARMIES.

LONDON, Dec. 20.—A Calcutta despatch says the Government of India has published an explanation of the military situation in Afghanistan, stating that Gen. Roberts has ample transport and ammunition. Besides the 23 cannon belonging to his force, he has 214 captured cannon, many of which are rifled. Entrenchments can easily be held by 2,500 men, leaving 6,000 for offensive operations. General Bright has 12,000 men between Jumrood and Jugdulak with thirty cannon, two months' supplies, and complete divisional and brigade transport. Including the forces at Candahar and in the Kurum Valley, the total field force is 45,000, with 160 guns.

ATTACK ON COL. NORMAN'S COLUMN.

On reaching Kotal on the 18th a large force of Afghans, who covered the hills on either side of the pass, opened a vigorous fire on Col. Norman's force, to which the British column replied as well as it could, considering the disadvantage of its position. This running fight continued through nearly the whole of Thursday, and only ended with the approach of darkness. On Friday the engagement was resumed, the Afghans again assuming the offensive. The battle is reported to have been a very sharp one and the Afghans are said to have the advantage of the troops, whom they attacked with a persistent determination which must have resulted in heavy losses to the British, of which no official report has yet been received. A detachment is being sent out to reconnoitre Soroli. The villagers who were friendly protected the Cabul mail, but showed the troops no further countenance. A reconnoitering party out upon a tour of inspection of the Pavichana defile was fired upon by a small band of hill men, who retreated finally before the charge of the British, who burnt the villages in the neighborhood and made a safe return to camp. Advices through private sources are to the effect that the Afghans are bent upon the total destruction of all British forces outside the Shirpur cantonment and prevent, if possible, the arrival of any supplies.

GEN. GOUGH ADVANCING.

A despatch from Gen. Roberts on the 18th urges Gen. Gough's immediate advance in light order without tents, and only taking ammunition and supplies for five or six days. Gen. Roberts states there is no enemy between Jugdullak and Cabul to oppose General Gough's advance, and adds that he will be able to settle affairs at Cabul when Gough arrives. General Gough leaves Jugdullak on the 21st inst. with 1,400 men and four guns, picking up 700 men and two guns at Lataboud.

ARRIVED AT JUGDULLAH.

A despatch from Peizeran says Col. Norman's convoy with supplies from Peizeran Kotal reached Jugdullah on Friday after passing through a heavy fire.

USE OF THE HELIOGRAPH.

A Bombay despatch says Gen. Roberts reports that on the 18th inst. he heliographically communicated with Lababaud for a few minutes, and learned that Gen. Gough had not yet advanced beyond Jugdullah.

THREE MONTH'S EXCITEMENT.

CANDAHAR, Dec. 22.—The news from Cabul excites neither surprise nor apprehension. The tribesmen hitherto occupied in preparing the lands for the spring crops are now free from labor for three months, and thus long the excitement may be expected to last. No attempt ought to be made before spring to do more than hold our position. General Stewart's command on the whole line from Dadur to Candahar consists of nine thousand effective men. The tribes along the line are quiet.

SOUTH SIDE OMELETTE.—One pint of bread crumbs, a large handful chopped parsley, a slice of onion minced fine, a teaspoonful of dried sweet marjoram. Beat two eggs very light, add a teacupful of milk; pepper and salt to taste, and heaping tablespoonful butter. Mix well together, and bake in a rather slow oven until lightly browned. It must be baked in a buttered dish; and turned out on a platter to serve. Do not send it to the table until the family are sitting down, as it must be eaten hot.

"TEABERRY," the new powder for whitening the teeth, stimulating the mouth and purifying the breath; the brightest, neatest, coziest little toilet gem extant. Ask your druggist for "Teaberry." Price 25 cents. dw51-1y

Remedy for Hard Times.

Stop spending so much on fine clothes, rich food and style. Buy good, healthy food, cheaper and better clothing; get more real and substantial things of life every way and especially stop the foolish habit of running after expensive and quack doctors or using so much of the vile humbug medicine that does you only harm, and makes the proprietors rich, but put your trust in the greatest of all simple, pure remedies, Hop Bitters, that cures always at a trifling cost, and you will see better times and good health. Try it once. Read it in another column. d146-1y

"German Syrup."

No other medicine in the world was ever given such a test of its curative qualities as Boschee's German Syrup. In three years two million four hundred thousand small bottles of this medicine were distributed free of charge by Druggists in this country to those afflicted with Consumption, Asthma, Croup, severe Coughs, Pneumonia and other diseases of the Throat and Lungs, giving the American people undeniable proof that German Syrup will cure them. The result has been that Druggists in every town and village in the United States are recommending it to their customers. Go to your Druggist, and ask what they know about it. Sample bottles 10 cents. Regular size 75 cents. Three doses will relieve any case. dw51-1y

The kidneys are subject to a variety of dangerous and painful diseases, arising from various causes. By the judicious use of Victoria Buchu and Uva Ursi, these affections may be cured. Bright's disease, diabetes, and all female complaints are successfully combated by this popular remedy, which is for sale by all dealers. Price, $1 per bottle. w51-d130-2w

MANHOOD:

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

WE have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Address,—

The CULVERWELL MEDICAL Co.,
Pos Office Box 4586. w3-1v 41 Ann St. New York,

Remedy for Hard Times.

Stop spending so much on fine clothes, rich food and style. Buy good, healthy food, cheaper and better clothing; get more real and substantial things of life every way and especially stop the foolish habit of running after expensive and quack doctors or using so much of the vile humbug medicine that does you only harm, and makes the proprietors rich, but put your trust in the greatest of all simple, pure remedies, Hop Bitters, that cures always at a trifling cost, and you will see better times and good health. Try it once. Read it in another column. d146-1y

SPANISH AFFAIRS.

LONDON, Dec. 22.—The special reports from Madrid agree that the Ministry of Del Castillo is becoming more unpopular daily. Campos, who heretofore has favoured conciliation, is now openly hostile to the Government, in consequence of the dismissal of the Generals who had previously withdrawn their resignations at his request. One of the dismissed Generals on Saturday gave a banquet to Campos and 20 other officers, together with a number of the colonial members of the Chamber of Deputies.

FRENCH POLITICS.

PARIS, Dec. 22.—M. Gent, a member of the Republican Union, has been elected a member of the Chamber of Deputies from Orange, against Humbert, a Communist, and Maze, a moderate Republican from Versailles, against Buffenor, a Radical. Goblet, a member of the Republican Union in the Chamber of Deputies, will succeed Lezier as Minister of Justice.

THE CUBAN INSURRECTION.

MADRID, Dec. 22.—An official despatch was read in the Cabinet to-day, announcing that the most important insurgent leader in Cuba and two of his lieutenants had been killed, and that the insurgent leader of the district of Cienfuegos and eight of his followers had surrendered.

MR. BRIGHT'S IDEAL NATION.

PARIS, Dec. 22.—The Le Temps, discussing Mr. John Bright's speech at Rochdale, says Bright's ideal is a State without an army, and the American Republic with 25,000 soldiers reduced to police duties is his example of it. He seems to forget the United States have no dangerous neighbors.

THE SAXE COBOURG SUCCESSION.

BERLIN, Dec. 22.—The official journal of Cobourg indignantly denounces the proposed interpellation of the Reichstag, respecting the right of succession of foreign princes to German thrones, and says it aims in the first place at the Duke of Edinburgh; but, if he is a British Admiral, he also wears the Waffenrock of a German soldier, and his succession is, moreover, outside of the jurisdiction of the German Reichstag, having been settled by Saxe Cobourg law and the constitution, by which the people are prepared to abide.

THREATENED DETHRONEMENT.

LONDON, Dec. 22.—A Berlin correspondent states that the Russian ambassadors abroad have received a circular purporting to issue from the revolutionary committee, threatening that if the ambassadors do not represent to the Czar that the country wants a constitution, the Czar will be removed from the throne.

PITCHED BATTLE IN CHURCH.

PITTSBURG, Dec. 22.—A pitched battle occurred in the First Reformed Presbyterian church last night, over the election of the Rev. Nevin Woodside as pastor, his opponents refusing to permit him to preach, and endeavouring to substitute another minister. The police were called in and succeeded in quieting the riot. Several arrests have been made. The church this morning presents a sorry appearance. The pews are broken and remnants of the gas globes strew the floor. Hymn books and Bibles are scattered in all directions. A large quantity of hairpins and bangs have been gathered up. The utmost indignation prevails in church circles. The matter will be investigated by the Presbytery. The rival pastors were in the thickest of the fray.

AMERICAN.

A CORNER IN GRAIN.

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—The stock of grain in New York is 11,500,000 bushels of wheat 2,500,000 bushels of corn, exclusive of small grains, say 1,500,000 bushels more. In Chicago there are 6,000,000 bushels, and in Milwaukee 2,500,000 bushels. The Commercial says an enormous ring is holding this grain for a rise.

THEIR RIGHTS OR BLOODSHED.

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—A Washington special report to the World says:—Before Hamlin left for Maine he was present at a council of prominent Republicans which resolved to exhaust all legal remedies to prevent the seating of a "counted in" legislature of Maine. Failing in this the counted out legislators were to bivouac in the capital with sufficient force to take possession of their seats at the proper time and hold them. Since Hamlin's departure an active telegraphic correspondence has been going on between Washington and Maine. Yesterday a telegram was sent to Blaine, or a friend of his, in reply to one enquiring what action the President would take in the matter if the worst would come. In effect it says that Garfield had been in conference with the President, who assured him that should a dual government be set up, the President would, with the Poden case, Rhode Island, as a precedent, decide in favour of Davis and the Republican Legislature. The telegram concluded with the advice to the Republicans from Garfield to insist upon their rights even at the cost of bloodshed.

THE MAINE ELECTIONS.

The Herald says Garfield has advised the Maine Republicans to give very careful consideration to the techicalities of the law, and to yield to the law if it is found in favor of the claims of the Democrats, even if the equities are all on the side of the Republicans. In case the Republicans should now neglect any small technicalities it would enable the Democrats in Congress, since they will control the joint convention to count the electoral vote to reject the vote of Maine, and in this way in case the vote should be counted for the fusion candidate, to throw the election of the President into the House, and thus enable the Democrats to elect the President.

CHARITABLE JOURNALISTS.

PARIS, Dec. 22.—The fund started by Figaro The reports of the fete organized by the Paris journalists for the relief of the sufferers by the floods in Spain amount to about $60,000. for relief of the poor in Paris reached $200,000.

WORKS OF ART BURNED.

ROME, Dec. 23.—A fire on Sunday in the Storza Cesarini Palace caused considerable damage. Some valuable works of art were destroyed.

UNITED STATES COMMERCE.

BUCHAREST, Dec. 23.—The Roumanian Journals state that the United States Minister at Vienna has been ordered to negotiate a commercial treaty with Roumania.

THE SHEFFIELD ELECTION.

LONDON, Dec. 22.—Mr. S. D. Waddy, Q.C., the Liberal candidate, has insisted to the electors through the canvas that the struggle in the borough of Sheffield was based upon a clear issue between Toryism and Liberalism. Mr. Waddy resigned his seat from Barnstaple to become a candidate for Sheffield. The poll closed at four o'clock this evening, when crowds of people lined the streets and surrounding the different committee rooms. Excitement never ran so high at any previous election in Sheffield. Aged and infirm voters were carried from their beds to the polling places. It was feared that when darkness came on some small provocation would have created a disturbance, but with great difficulty the police managed to prevent any serious outbreak. Late in the evening the vote was declared to be Waddy, Liberal, 14,062; Wortley, Conservative, 13,584. Mr. Waddy's success is due to the large Home Rule vote, which in this district is 1,800 strong.

ELECTRICITY OR GAS.

LONDON, Dec. 22.—Gas stocks depreciated yesterday on a report of the news of Edison's discoveries in cheap electric lighting.

A SINKING STEAMER.

Part of the crew of the British steamer Borussia, from Liverpool, Nov. 20, for New Orleans, were landed at Queenstown by the British ship Mallowdale. The Borussia was abandoned in a sinking condition on the 22nd. inst.

THE TICHBORNE CLAIMANT.

An announcement was issued yesterday that the Attorney-General having granted his fiat for a writ of error in the case of the Tichborne claimant, an association is being formed to assist in the prosecution of the fiat, to obtain remission of the sentence, to promote the passage of a Bill in Parliament for a reversal of the judgment in the case of evidence of mistaken identity being forthcoming, and for the restoration to the claimant of his properties, heirlooms, and the possession of the Tichborne baronetcy.

AMERICAN.

THE PRESIDENTAL RACE.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—The Herald, in a long double-leaded article, denies that Sherman or Blaine has withdrawn from the Presidental race in favor of Grant, or that Hayes favours Grant for a third term.

RAILWAY CONSOLIDATION.

ATCHISON, Kansas, Dec. 23.—Two extension lines of the Central Branch Union Pacific, now under the control of Jay Gould, have been consolidated under the name of the Atchison, Colorado and Pacific Railway. E. M. Pomeroy, of Boston, was elected President.

SOUTH AMERICAN REVOLUTION.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—A despatch to the Chilian Legation says that a revolution has broken out in the Provinces of Moquega, Peru, led by Gen. Chocane in favor of Pierold. A revolution has taken place in Lapaz, Bolivia, on account of the recent defeat.

THE AUCTION MANIA.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—The sale yesterday of goods seized for violation of the revenue laws brought $8,000. Many imported articles brought better prices than those asked at the Broadway stores.

GIRLS SUPPOSED TO BE BURNED.

Fears are expressed that some girls employed in the corset factory, which was burned last night, did not escape, but none are yet reported missing.

EXTENSIVE FORGERIES.

Samuel Swim, aged 21 years, received a check for $30 in September from Alex. Taylor & Co., his employers. Experts express their opinion that this check was used as a model for the recent extensive forgeries on Taylor & Co., aggregating $11,000. Swim has been arrested.

AN INDIAN SCANDAL.

Indian Commissioner Hoyt telegraphs to the Tribune pronouncing its story of an Indian scandal published yesterday, utterly unfounded in all that reflects on him.

NO AID FROM WASHINGTON.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—The Tribune says the President denies the report that he stated that he should support the Republicans in Maine in the event of a dual Government. He thinks before time for the meeting of the legislature, the Democrats will be so ashamed of the whole proceeding and public opinion be so strong against them that they will not dare to profit by the Governor's trick. The President concluded that the Maine trouble will be settled in Maine and by the people of Maine without any assistance from Washington.

IRISH RELIEF FUND.

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—It is said that the unexpended balance of the fund raised in 1848 by Greely, O'Connor, Emmet and others for the Irish sufferers is to be handed over to relieve the present distress in Ireland. With interest it reaches about $50,000.

AN ASTROLOGER IN TROUBLE.

Christine Eckhardt, a doctress, was yesterday sentenced to three years for mal-practice on Minnie Papa. She claims to be an astrologer, and wept aloud when the sentence was being delivered. Dr. Fayer, indicted with her, was too sick yesterday to be taken to Court for sentence.

THE ELECTRIC LIGHT.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 23.—Capitalists here have arranged to have the refusal of the right to supply Cincinnati with Edison's electric light in case it proves a success on New Year's Eve at Menlo Park.

THE MAYOR IN TROUBLE.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—It is claimed that Mayor Cooper has violated the city charter in not publishing in the city record notice of Morrison's re-appointment as Private Secretary. The Tribune says that some Aldermen are taking steps looking to his impeachment.

RELIEF FOR IRELAND.

A mass meeting was held in Jersey City yesterday, in the interests of the suffering poor of Ireland. The hall was densely crowded. Mayor Hooper presided, and appointed a permanent committee on relief, consisting of many prominent citizens.

AN ENORMOUS FRAUD.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—A large consignment of oranges arrived from a Mediterranean port yesterday. An examination disclosed that 450 boxes were filled with sand and straw with a few oranges ingeniously inserted between the slats. Barring Bros., London, made large advances on the cargo, and will lose heavily.

NEARLY LYNCHED.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 22.—The Rev. Abraham Paige, Pastor of South Glastenbury Methodist Church, was yesterday committed to jail for thirty days for lascivious conduct while preaching in a neighboring town recently. He made improper approaches to a young lady of his congregation, and her mental troubles recently culminated in insanity. At the trial, Paige narrowly escaped lynching. He is 60 years old, and has a family.

LOW TAX DEMOCRATS.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 23.—The low tax Democrats have adopted a resolution recognizing but one Democratic party in the state, and asking the Democrats without regard to difference of opinion to secure the nomination of candidates for state and national officers on the low tax platform.

THROUGH A BURNING BRIDGE.

GALVESTON, Dec. 23.—The Denison Freight train on the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway fell through a burning bridge near Durant station. The locomotive passed over safely but the tender and twenty-two cars were wrecked and burned. Mike Shelly, the fireman, fell into the fire and was burned to death.

Press Despatches via Cable and Montreal Lines.

REPULSE OF THE GHILZAIS.

LONDON, Dec. 22.—Gen. Gough reports that in consequence of the desultory attacks of the Ghilzais, it became necessary to engage them all along the line. The Ghilzais have been driven off. He hopes they are dispersing. The Viceroy of India telegraphs that Gen. Bright reports a movement of reinforcements all along the line. Gen. Gough marched yesterday for Cabul. Aymatullah Khan, a Ghilzai chief, of Lorghman, who led the tribe in the recent engagement with Gen. Gough's command, is reported wounded. His followers are deserting him. Reinforcements have been sent to Dakka, in consequence of the report that the Mahmoods are assembling.

VIEWS OF THE KNOWING ONES AT CALCUTTA.

It is expected that the knowledge on the part of the Afghan leaders of the efforts of the Colonial Government to hasten the concentration of reinforcements in Peshawur, to be forwarded as rapidly as possible through the Khyber Pass, will induce them to take aggressive action before the army at Shirpur can be materially increased. The roseate view of the situation set forth in the official despatches and the Government organs is far from being shared by many prominent English residents at Calcutta, who have personal knowledge of the country and the perils of winter warfare among the mountain passes. The condition of matters they hold to be extremely critical, and declare that the Home Government must soon win an emphatic advantage, or submit to a compromise equivalent to the abandonment of the military occupation.

RUSSIAN CHARGES OF CRUELTY.

The St. Petersburg Gazette says the Afghan revolt is due to the cruelty of the English victors. It charges Gen. Roberts with gross cruelty toward the Afghans.

By Telegraph to the Review.

A SLIGHT SKIRMISH.

LONDON, Dec. 23.—The Viceroy of India telegraphs that Gen. Bright reports the continued advance of the reinforcements. A despatch from Gen. Roberts, dated the 19th, says:—We had a slight skirmish on the 18th. One or two principal Afghan leaders were killed. Our loss was one killed and two wounded.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

LARGE AND INFLUENTIAL DEPUTATION RECEIVED BY FOUR MINISTERS.

Sir John Macdonald and Sir Chas. Tupper Express Themselves in Favour of the Construction of the Canal.

Special to the Review.

OTTAWA, Dec. 23.—A deputation numbering about fifty, from the districts interested in the Trent Valley Canal scheme, are interviewing Sir Charles Tupper. Among those present are Messrs. Geo. Bick and R. Pope, Bobcaygeon; John Dinwoodie, Lakefield; Chas. Fairbairn, Warden of Victoria; Thomas Rork, Reeve of Asphodel. J. W. Dinwoodie, Campbellford; G. J. Keeler, M. P., Colborne; Thos. Blezard, M.P.P., J. Carnegie, Mayor Lundy, Councillor H. H. Smith, Peterborough; Mr. Junkin, Deputy-Reeve of Breslan; A. Carmichael, Reeve of Eldon; G. Bedford, Reeve of Seymour; E. Pearse, County Clerk of Peterborough; H. Collins, Reeve of North Monaghan; J. S. Fowlds, Reeve of Hastings; R. Romaine, Peterborough; Jas. Cockburn, M.P., Cobourg; J. R. Barber, Superintendent Marmora Railway, Cobourg; Mossom Boyd, Bobcaygeon; J. Ashman, Deputy-Reeve of Eldon; Mr. Sanderson, Reeve of Smith; D. Costello, Reeve of Ennismore; John Lane, Reeve of Otonabee; J. McCaig, Picton; and others, Sir John Macdonald, Hon. M. Bowell and Hon. Mr. Masson are present.

LATER, 3:20 p.m.—The delegation was received in the Railway Committee Room, which was completely filled. Among those present were: Messrs. Keeler, Burnham, Hilliard, Cameron, Cockburn and McQuaig, M. P.s, and Messrs. Peck and Blezard, M. P. P.s; the Mayor, and Alderman Nelson, of Montreal; the Wardens of the Counties of Victoria, Hastings, Northumberland and Durham, and Peterborough. After the members of the Deputation had been introduced to the Members of the Government present, Mayor Lundy read a memorandum stating forth the claims and advantages of this scheme, after which a somewhat lengthy and very satisfactory discussion of the merits of the scheme ensued. At its close both the Minister of Railways and Canals and the Premier expressed themselves as strongly in favor of completing this line of navigation as soon as the finances of the country will permit.

THE CURRENCY QUESTION.

The National Currency, as it is termed by its friends, or the "Rag Baby," as it is dubbed by its deriders, was discussed here quite recently by one of its foremost advocates, Mr. Griffin, editor of the Dominion Watchman, the organ of the Financial Reform League. We gave a full report of his address and explanations, which we think are hardly likely to make many converts, in spite of the earnestness and evident good faith of the speaker.

Like other supporters of the proposed financial change, Mr. Griffin mixes inextricably together two totally distinct questions—by whom our paper currency shall be issued, and what is to be its basis? The first of these is an eminently practical question, and one that must be settled shortly, before the bank charters expire in 1881. We have discussed this point already at some length, and will no doubt have occasion to return to it when the proposed legislation has to be considered. At present it will suffice to say that there is no insuperable argument against the League's contention that the government should issue all money, paper or otherwise.

Their proposal that the paper currency should be irredeemable stands upon a very different footing. Universal experience and the exercise of one's reasoning faculties, alike assure us that in such a case depreciation with all its attendant evils must follow. Paper which would be refused by foreigners cannot be equal in value with gold which would be accepted by them—not even in the country of its issue, as long as it has foreign commerce. It will not do to answer that we should not import from abroad, for we do so in excess of our imports, and if a cessation of this practice is essential to the maintenance of an irredeemable currency, then this reform should precede such an issue.

It is altogether beside the question to argue that as there is not sufficient coin in the banks or the Dominion Treasury to redeem all their notes simultaneously. All that is wanted is that the holder should have confidence that he could obtain gold if he should require it. All that is practically required is a sufficient quantity of gold to settle the adverse balance, to pay for that portion of imported goods for which we have not given in return exported goods. For months past gold has been flowing from England and France, which do not produce the metal, into the United States, which do produce it largely, and the plain explanation is that they had to pay in acceptable money for an unusually large quantity of wheat, in exchange for which they had not returned an equivalent value in merchandise. Would the European countries have been able to purchase this grain from American farmers with paper, not current on this side of the Atlantic? Paper cannot be turned into money by legislation unless there is some basis that vendors will accept, and to anticipate anything else is a mere delusion. We must protest against a resolution, carried out of a feeling of courtesy to the lecturer by a small number of votes—a minority of those present—being taken as an expression of the opinion of the people of Peterborough.

The DAILY EVENING REVIEW is delivered to subscribers at ten cents a week.

POLICE COURT.

LIBEL CASE.

TUESDAY, Dec. 23.—This morning the Police Court was occupied with a libel case, brought by Wm. Marshal, of Fenelon Falls, against W. H. Robertson, charging him with having published, or caused to be published, in the columns of the Peterborough Times, on the 11th day of October, a malicious and defamatory libel.

WM. MARSHALL, the complainant, sworn, said:—He is a baker and grocer in Fenelon Falls, County of Victoria, and has carried on the business for eight or nine years, and was so carrying on the business on the 11th of October. He saw an article in the Times newspaper, of Peterborough, under the heading of "Fenelon Falls," and produced a copy of the paper, in which the following words appear:—"And on Friday our village baker was arrested for selling light bread, the four pound loaf weighing only three pounds and a half." The assertion that he was arrested was incorrect; he was never arrested. It was false. The assertion as to light bread was also incorrect. There was no other baker at Fenelon Falls at the time, nor for a year previous.

Cross examined.—He has had three hands employed besides his two boys, aged 25 and 27 respectively, and an apprentice aged 20 years. He has taken proceedings in a civil action against the defendant for the same libel. He said he never knew that there had been a complaint laid against him for selling light bread, or knew Graham, a baker, had laid an information for selling light bread, nor did he know that a warrant had been issued against him. Two persons had accused him of selling light bread. He could not say if the bread sold to Graham was light in weight.

JAS. H. SPARLING, sworn, said:—He was a printer, employed in the Times Office. He thought he was employed there on the 11th of October. This copy of the paper shown purported to be a copy of the Times of the 11th of October. He was employed by W. H. Robertson, the defendant. He sometimes paid him and sometimes his brother, John, paid him. John was not foreman. The defendant acted as the editor of the paper. He (the witness) did not see the communication headed "Fenelon Fall." He did not know who printed it.

GEORGE LYTLE and E. BAKEWELL were both sworn, but failed to connect Mr. Robertson with the proprietor of the paper.

The MAGISTRATE dismissed the case, there not being sufficient evidence to warrant him in putting the defendant on his trial. Mr. George Edmison appeared on behalf of the defendant.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district as reported from Toronto at 10 o'clock to-day are: increasing winds; partly cloudy to cloudy weather; probable snow to-night in south Ontario. Peterborough, easterly winds, milder, clear to cloudy weather with a prospect of rain, or perhaps snow.

I. O. G. T.

Friendship Lodge, No. 146, I. O. G. T., will meet this evening in their hall, George Street, at 7.30 o'clock. All the members of the lodge are requested to be present, as business referring to the coming anniversary will be discussed and committees appointed. The literary exercises will be interesting, especially to visiting Good Templars.

HARVEY.

COUNCIL MEETING.—The Harvey Council met on Dec. 15th, all the members present except Mr. McIlmoyle. Minutes of last meeting read and confirmed. Communications, reports and accounts read:—1st. A resolution of the Verulam Council declining to take action that day, and postponing the consideration of the matter in relation to the taxes on part of the 19th con. of Harvey. 2nd. Account of J. H. Thompson for election blanks and stationery. 3rd. C. E. Stewart's account for printing and advertising. 4th. Applications from Trustees Union School Sections Nos. 5 and 2, Verulam, to levy on the Harvey part the sums of $4 and $4.05 respectively, for school purposes for 1879. 7th. Certificate from Jas. Oliver, Road Commissioner, to Patrick Lavery, stating that the new road was opened up fit for winter travel, and that two or three days work with team and scraper will finish it up for summer travel. On motion, orders were drawn on the Treasurer in favor of Richard Gerrard and S. B. Shorey for the sums of $5 each, as compensation for the use of the old road across their lands to the 31st October, 1880. A resolution was passed, signed and sealed, authorizing the County Treasurer in case S. S. No. 2 or the proper authorities fails to pay debentures or interest thereon at maturity, to apply any of the Harvey funds in his hands to meet the payments. The Clerk was required to notify Frank Crow, pathmaster, to put a new stringer in the bridge near Jas. Goodenough's. A by-law was introduced and passed to provide for levying the rates and taxes for 1879 on that part of the 19th con. from lot lettered A to lot No. 15, inclusive. Orders were drawn on the Treasurer in favor of the parties named, as follows:—J. H. Thompson, election blanks and stationery, $3.08; C. E. Stewart, for printing and advertising, $17.25; P. Lavery, to apply on contract changing road, $30. On motion the Reeve was appointed to represent this municipality at the Trent Valley Canal convention of delegates about to assemble at Ottawa, his expenses to be paid by this municipality. On motion the Collector's time was extended, and the Council adjourned.

GALWAY.

A GOOD LOOK-OUT.—Though our township is less favored than some others in the County, yet we are going ahead, not backwards. We have had an increase to our population—settlers who are in earnest, and mean to work hard. Just the news we want. Prices are favourable to the farmer—the shanties readily buying the hay, oats, potatoes, beef, &c., at good prices.

A NAPPING REYNARD.—Mr. Edward Edwards, of Fenelon Falls, was out here lately, deer shooting, and came across a fox asleep on a log, who paid for his lodgings by his life, at the hand of the hunter. It is not often that Monsieur Reynard, whose cunning is proverbial, falls a victim to over-confidence. Perhaps this circumstance, however, is but a proof that the brute creation shares, along with the franchise-wielding race, a perfect sense of security under the existing Administration. If so, what a "boom" there will be next season in the fur business.

PORT HOPE.

FROZEN.—The Times, speaking of the cold snap on Sunday, says:—The greatest damage, however, that we have heard of was the freezing of the Times engine and boiler feed pump. It will take a couple of days to repair it, but we hope by employing extra hands that we will not disappoint any of our patrons in respect of their work.

STUCK IN THE SNOW.—A Midland engine stuck in the snow in the station yard on Monday morning, but it was only temporary, as it backed up, made a dash at the obstructing pile of the fleecy, and cleaned it away in double quick style.

A CARGO FOR ENGLAND.—Mr. T. Greenwood leaves Port Hope for England on Thursday. He will take with him a large cargo of geese, turkeys, and other produce, for which he finds ready and remunerative sale in the old land.

SNOWDON.

THE IRON MINE.—Mr. P. Myles has suspended operations for the present, but does not give up the idea of yet finding ore in paying quantities. The American Company owning territory on each side of Myles are sanguine about theirs, and have sent up word to a boarding-house owner at the settlement to prepare this week for 100 men. They mean business, apparently, and we shall soon be able to judge of what American enterprise can do towards developing our Dominion.

DYSART.—In this and the adjacent townships the shanties are in full blast, and a great number of logs will go down the Burnt River and its tributaries this spring should the winter be such that they can all be drawn.

Weather Predictions.

Mr. Vennor's latest forecast is as follows:—

The next marked severe term is likely to occur between the 9th and 15th days of January, or very close upon these dates. This will be severe, and probably equal if not exceed the December cold term. The third "dip," which I think will be the severest of the three, is likely to come upon us in the proximity of the 8th February, and continue for three or more days. Two other "dips" of minor importance will probably be located towards the end of February and close to the 17th of March, respectively. Between these very cold periods there are likely to occur two or more general thaws, probably with rain.

THE ARTFUL JOURNALIST.

A TALE OF THE N. P.

It was a thoughtful journalist,
  Of Grit persuasion he,
Who waged a never ending war
  Against the bad N. P.
The poor man's sorrows rent his heart,
  And eke the rich man's loss,
He sometimes took the workman's part
  And sometimes mourned the "boss."

He showed how manufacturers
  By TILLEY's wicked tax,
Got richer by each burden laid
  On farming people's backs;
And then most logically proved
  That factory and mill,
Were standing with their wheels unmoved
  Forsaken, idle, still.

By many an argument he showed,
  That though the poor man paid
[illegible]
  The last was poorer made;
And that in fact Protection did
  Make poverty to reign
In just the classes which he bid
  The people see must gain.

He proved that many millions must
  Be taken from the mass,
While not one cent of all the same
  To anyone could pass;
In fact, that everybody should
  Be paying more and more,
While public chest and rich men would
  Feel poorer than before.

This being done he stopped to think,
  Then smiled a horrid smile,
To see the tariff unrepealed;
  And then, with devilish guile,
He planned a dreadful, dreadful scheme
  To utterly disgust
The people with the N. P. theme;—
  "'Twill do," he said, "it must."

He wrote down hum, then boom, then hum,
  Then boom, then hum, then boom,
Interspersed with other words
  And took a column's room;
Each day for several months or more
  With articles thus made—
The public tore, and swore "oh bore!"
  Still he was undismayed.

At last that guileful journalist
  Accomplished his design,
The people utterly refused
  To read a single line
Of any paper's tariff talk,
  Lest they should chance to come
Upon those dreadful words that balk
  Endurance—boom and hum.

Still are those words in daily prints
And now the people place the blame
  Of them upon JOHN A.
"Death to the tariff" thousands cry,
  "Kill it or else our doom
Must be, in boredom soon to die,
  Murdered by hum and boom!"

CANDY RECEIPTS.

The last number of the Country Gentleman contains the following holiday recipes:—

CHOCOLATE CREAM DROPS.—Take 2 cupsful of white sugar, ½ cupful of milk; put them into a saucepan until it boils; then boil hard 5 minutes precisely. Set the pan in a dish of cold water; stir until the mixture creams and cools enough to handle; then mould into small drops, laying them on a buttered platter. Flavor if you prefer. Take half a cake of Baker's chocolate, scrape fine, put it into a bowl and set it on the top of a steaming (not boiling) teakettle till dissolved; then take the creams, one at a time, and drop in the chocolate, roll over quickly, take out with a fork and slip on a buttered platter. Be careful not to let the chocolate cook, or it will harden.

COCOANUT DROPS.—One grated cocoanut, 4 tablespoonful of flour, 1 pound of sugar, and 4 eggs, the whites beaten to a froth. Stir the mixture well, and drop on pans with a tablespoon.

CHOCOLATE CARAMELS.—1. Take of grated chocolate, milk, molasses and sugar, 1 cupful each; piece of butter the size of an egg. Boil until it will harden when dropped in cold water; add vanilla; put in a buttered pan, and before it cools, mark off in square blocks.

2. Same as the above, only three cupsful of sugar.

3. Same as No. 1, only half a cupful of milk.

4. Two ounces of chocolate, 2 gills of milk, 2 gills of white sugar, 2 tablespoonful of molasses; vanilla.

5. Four ounces of chocolate, 2 lbs. of light brown sugar, 2 gills of cream, 4 ozs. of butter; vanilla.

6. Four ounces of chocolate, 1½ lbs. of brown sugar, 1 tumblerful of milk, 4 ozs. butter.

7. Six ounces of chocolate, a cupful of white and a cupful of brown sugar, cupful of milk, butter the size of an egg, two tablespoonful of flour.

8. Eight ounces of chocolate, 2 lbs. of white sugar, cupful of cream, heaping tablespoonful of butter, and vanilla extract.

9. Seven tablespoonfuls of grated chocolate, a cupful of white and a cupful of brown sugar, cupful of milk, tablespoonful of butter, the same of corn starch, soda the size of a pea. Boil all the ingredients (except the chocolate, vanilla extract, and half of the milk) half an hour, stirring all the time to prevent burning. Wet the chocolate with the milk, draw the saucepan to the side of the range, and stir it in well; boil ten minutes longer. After taking it from the range, add the vanilla.

CREAM CANDY.—Two pounds best powdered sugar, just water enough to dissolve. Boil in a clean covered kettle or saucepan very briskly, without stirring. When it begins to thicken (which will be soon) add as much cream of tartar as may be heaped on a five-cent piece. Be sure to watch that it does not burn. Try often and speedily by taking a small round stick and dipping into cold water. When it breaks short and crisp, pour it out on a large greased pan or plate, and pour on the flavoring, and when cool enough to handle, work until white. Cut into flat sticks. When hard, place it in a glass jar and keep a week or ten days, when it will become creamy and delicious.

——Two cupfuls of sugar, one cupful of water, one teaspoonful of vinegar, a small piece of butter. Flavor with lemon or vanilla.

CREAM COCOANUT.—Boil the syrup as above. When it begins to thicken, add the meat of one cocoanut coarsely grated, and pour in flat pans, about an inch thick, or less. While cooling, cut in broad strips. This is very fine. Cream candy is not soft until kept a week.

MOLASSES CANDY.—One cupful of molasses, 1 cupful of sugar, and a piece of butter the size of an egg. Flavor as you like.

Sweet Briar in Tasmania.

The English Sweet-Brier (Rosa rubiginosa), has become a wide-spreading annoyance in Tasmania where it was originally introduced as a hedge-plant, for which it is very efficient, if kept within proper bounds and well clipped; but from carelessness or inattention, it has been permitted to run wild, and being propagated by aid of birds and other causes, it is fast becoming a serious evil, for so firm are the roots, it can only be eradicated by the aid of bullocks.—Leisure Hour.

A Strange Photograph.

A remarkable phenomenon with reference to the photographing of a church weathercock at Tenby, Wales, is reported. At the time nothing was observed by the artist but the object upon which he was engaged; but on the development of the plate the image of a boat, with colours flying fore and aft, was distinctly visible about two-thirds up the spire—in a reverse position. The photograph was taken at a quarter past six, and about that time two gunboats were launched at Pembroke Dock. It is thought that it is a mirage of one of the gunboats after launching.—Lancet.

The Markets.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS.

TUESDAY, Dec. 23.—The market to-day was intended as a fair, but failed in this respect, for nothing extra was noticeable except in fat turkeys, which were in large supply. The prices varied even more than on Saturday, and 50 cts. to $1 was asked and paid. The bulk, however, went at 60 @ 80 cts. each. There was a fair demand. Ducks were in light supply at 50 cts. per pair. Chickens were very scarce, but these did not command an advance upon quotations. Geese went at 35 @ 50. Some very fine ones were offered. Mutton was plentiful for the demand, with no change in price. Beef was in good supply at $3.25 @ $3.50 per cwt., for the fore qurater, and $4.50 @ $5.00 for the hind quarter. Only a few hogs came in; they were taken at $5.50 @ $5.75. Lard, 9 @ 10 cts. The butter supply was light, 17 @ 18 cts. for roll, and 18 cts. per lb for keg butter. Eggs sold at 18 cts. Fair cooking apples went at 60 cts. per bag, and good eating apples at 75 @ $1.00 per bag. One lot of very fine large fruit was selling at $1.00 per bag. Barrel apples sold at $2.00 @ $2.50. Potatoes in fair supply at 60 @ 70 per bag. Live geese feathers, 45 cts. per pound. Beans, one fine lot was sold at $1.15 per bushel. Peas continue to come forward; several lots were sold to-day at 65 cts. Oats went readily at 32 cts. only a few parcels being in. Wheat was very slow of sale, $1.22 @ $1.23 being offered for Spring, and $1.24 @ $1.25 for Fall Wheat. The receipts were light. Two or three parcels of rye were sold at 67 cts. There were several tons of hay in which sold at $6. Straw went slowly at $2 the load, with only about half a ton on. Hides have advanced to $7, and sheep skins to $1.00 @ $1.25. Wool is now worth 25 cts. per pound. Wood was again abundant and found slow sale; buyers seemed to have everything their own way, and the lower quotations had to be accepted in order to make sales.

A Good Investment.

"To sum it up, six long years of bed-ridden sickness and suffering, costing $200 per year, total, $1,200—all of which was stopped by three bottles of Hop Bitters taken by my wife, who has done her own housework for a year since without the loss of a day, and I want everybody to know of it for their benefit."

Hagyard's Yellow Oil combines in such an eminent degree all the healing, soothing and extracting qualities known to medical science that it is truly a family medicine that cannot be dispensed with. When applied to any swelling sore, burn, chilblain, frostbites, skin eruption, etc., its effects are magical. It is highly recommended wherever known, and its enormous sale actually is the best certificates of its merits. w51-d139-2w

Victoria Hypophosphites extends its influence into every part of the human organism, commencing from the foundation, correcting diseased action, and restoring vital powers, creating a healthy formation and purification of the blood, driving out disease, and leaving nature to perform its allotted part. It is the finest nervine remedy known, and the greatest brain and blood food in the world. For sale by all dealers. $1 per bottle. w51-d139-2w

Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam.

It is formed from the best-known and most reliable Balsams, Gums and Vegetable Tonics, in chemical union with the extract of Wild Cherry Bark and Liquorice in their fresh and unadulterated forms, and is the most pleasant and effective combination that can be secured with a view to relief or permanent cure of Hoarseness, Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, Spitting of Blood, and all diseases of the lungs. For sale by all dealers at 25 cents per bottle. w51-d139-2w

Misery's Throne.

Of all the miserable and unhappy creatures in existence, there are none more so than the confirmed dyspeptic. Life is a burden, and if the sufferer does not soon obtain relief he soon sinks into a dreary misanthrope, with the germs of consumption lurking dangerously near. The only known remedy—tested in innumerable cases—is SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL combined with HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA. With this medicine the incubus is removed, and the embryo seeds of consumption scattered. It is also nearly as pleasant to the taste as sweet cream. d139-w49-1m

A Conundrum Propounded.

Why will the "small boy," persist in eating green apples? The reader may as well give it up at once, since our original parents were guilty of the "Same indiscretion." Physicians say, the season in which early or unripe fruit is first introduced, is the one they are most severely taxed in cases of colic, diarrhoea, dysentery, &c. Young and old are guilty, but boys and girls are the surest victims and the greatest sufferers. There is no peace, comfort or safety in the family unless its head provides a proper remedy. LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

Big 6 Company.

The Big 6 Company give one of their popular entertainments in Bradburn's theatre this evening.

Civic Honors.

We learn that Mr. Angus Williams is a candidate for a seat in the Council for the First Ward, and that his friends feel very confident of his success.

The Midland Central Poultry Association.

There is to be a meeting of the Midland Central Poultry Association this evening in the Town Hall at 8 o'clock. The prize list will be completed and prepared for the printer.

The Shaugraun Company.

Mr. F. F. Cooper, the advance agent of McDowell's Shaugraun Company, is in town to make arrangements for performances in Bradburn's theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, January 1st, 2nd and 3rd.

The Snow Shoe Club.

The "Tuque Bleue" Snow Shoe Club will hold an adjourned meeting at the Huffman House on Friday evening next at 7.30 o'clock, sharp. There are several matters of interest to come before the club for discussion, especially snow shoes.

Christmas Festival.

The annual festival of St. Luke's Church Sunday School will take place in the Ashburnham Town Hall this evening. Besides the Christmas tree with its gifts for the children, there will be an interesting programme of vocal and instrumental music, recitations, &c.

Sale of Books.

Intending purchasers would do well to call and examine the extensive and select stock of books now on sale at the Auction rooms of Messrs. Gilbert & Moore, George St. The stock includes Standard Works, gift books, stationary, etc., etc. Auction Sales every evening. 1d147

Christmas Eve Festival.

Christmas Eve at the Bible Christian Church, Peterborough, on Wednesday evening will be an interesting event to that Church and Sunday School. The Christmas carols, songs and other exercises, together with the Christmas tree, are always welcome pleasures to the children, and this will probably be no exception to the general rule.

Fair Day.

This is called fair day, and it was a fair day, so far as the weather was concerned. The terrible cold of Sunday was followed by a most delightfully clear, genial atmosphere, which called a large number of people to the Market Square, only to be disappointed. The fair amounted to nothing more than a market day, except that the display of Saturday still remained in the Market House. The turkeys, however, were of large size, fat, and in abundance, which seemed to be about the extent of the fair exhibits. It is wrong to let these fair days sink into oblivion. They should be continued, and interest enough should be manifested to call forth the best energies of the people to excel in the various branches of industry, whether it be on the farm or among the townspeople.

Fire Brigade Meeting.

A meeting of the Fire Brigade was held on Monday evening at the Firemen's Hall, J. H. Henderson, Captain, in the chair. The business before the body was stated by the Chief Engineer, Mr. Geo. L. Mitchell, which was to take action upon the proposed change from the present system, and adopt the volunteer system as suggested by the Fire Committee. The Chief stated the proposition in a clear explanation of the benefits as well as the disadvantages of such a change. After a short discussion the question was put to a vote when it was found to be the unanimous wish of those present to adopt the new volunteer system. Under the new system the brigade will be raised to 70 men, giving 40 men to the hose company, and 30 men to the hook and ladder company. These respective companies will elect their own officers, and select separate nights for meeting. The first regular meeting of the new brigade will be held on Tuesday, January 6, 1880, when every member who intends to be identified with the new organization is expected to be present. The auditor's report of the finances of the old brigade is being made ready for publication, and in a few days it will appear.

TOWN COUNCIL MEETING

THE SPECIAL AUDITOR'S REPORT ON THE ASSESSMENT AND COLLECTOR'S ROLLS.

An Unruly and Disorderly Meeting—Collecting a School Tax—Water to be Paid For The Creek and the Streets.

The Council met on Monday evening, pursuant to adjournment. Present :—Councillors Cahill, Taylor, Buller, Paterson, McBain, Yelland, Douglas, Rutherford, Robertson, Denne and Griffith.

The CLERK announced that in the absence of the Mayor it was necessary to choose a Chairman.

Councillor DENNE moved, seconded by Councillor MCBAIN,—That Mr. Cahill take the chair.

Councillor CAHILL moved in amendment, seconded by Councillor TAYLOR,—That Mr. Denne take the chair.

The amendment having been lost, and the original motion carried, Mr. Cahill took the chair.

The minutes of last two meetings were read and confirmed, after a question from Mr. McBain as to surplus soil on Stewart Street.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From Jas. Hogan and Wm. Mills, special Auditors, bringing in their report.

PETERBOROUGH, Dec. 22nd, 1879.

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough.

GENTLEMEN,—Having been appointed a special Committee by your Council to examine into and compare the Assessment and Collector's Rolls of the Town of Peterborough for the years 1873 to 1878, (both inclusive), and also the account of settlements in each year, as between the Town Collector and Treasurer, and after a careful examination of the same, we beg to submit for your consideration the result of our investigation, as will be found in the annexed report, showing Firstly, certain assessments in each year against which no taxes have been charged. Secondly, cases in which the full amount of assessment has not been placed. Thirdly, parties who have been placed on the Collector's Rolls for a greater amount than that which appears against them in assessment. Fourthly, parties whose names have been placed on the Collector's Roll by the Clerk as authorized by R. S. O., Chapter 180, Sec., 121, the same not having been assessed. The roll of the present year (1879) being still in the possession of the Collector, we could not include it in the present report, but do not object to do so as soon as it is returned by the Collector and will do so free of charge. We have the honour to be, Yours truly,

Signed. { WM. MILLS,
JAMES HOGAN.

Hogan & Mills, special auditors	215 00

SPECIAL AUDIT.

Councillor ROBERTSON moved, seconded by Councillor DENNE,—That the auditor's report for 1873 be referred to Messrs. Edmison & Wood for their opinion as to what course it is best to take in order to protect the town from loss, and to report to this Council one week from to-night.

Councillor RUTHERFORD said he thought the audit was to go back to the time of the town's incorporation, and as it was only incomplete at present, he thought it should only be received for the present.

Councillor ROBERTSON said he would be content to have the 1873 accounts submitted to the Solicitor so that they might not be outlawed.

Councillor PATERSON thought the report should be referred first to the Finance Committee. They had their own Solicitors to advise them.

Councillor MCBAIN thought it should be left over till after the elections anyway.

Councillor PATERSON moved a reference to the Finance Committee.

Councillor McBAIN said the auditors had not done all their work, and they asked $15 extra. He wanted more time to consider.

Councillor ROBERTSON amended his motion to refer only to 1873.

Councillor DENNE said they wished to give Mr. Edwards an opportunity of explaining any apparent errors.

Councillor RUTHERFORD moved a reference to the Finance Committee to take an explanation from the Treasurer. He thought this was the fair course to adopt as to Mr. Edwards. He did not see why they should pass over their Town Solicitors.

Councillor YELLAND though they might leave it with the Finance Committee to consult the Solicitor.

Councillor ROBERTSON said he wished the matter to be referred to Messrs. Edmison & Wood, because Mr. Scott's partner was a son of the Treasurer, and was interested.

Councillor DENNE said some gentlemen seemed to be burking the question till a new Council was elected.

Councillor PATERSON said it appeared that the auditors had made a mistake and there might be more. He still thought the Finance Committee should go into it.

Councillor MCBAIN said they seemed to be silly to appoint auditors at $115 and then ask the Committee to do the work over again. They were scheming to get rid of the matter and wished to refer it to the son of the father.

The amendment was put and lost.

Councillor RUTHERFORD raised the point of order and the expenditure of money was involved.

Eight members voting for the motion, it was carried.

DOURO SCHOOL TAX.

Mr. STEVENSON, on motion, addressed the Council. He said the Town had formerly collected the rate, but two years ago they had appointed a collector of their own. They had applied to the Township but one day too late and now they had to come to the town. They had applied to the Clerk of Douro for a list of the ratepayers of that section. By law the Board had to come to the Council for authority.

Councillor MCBAIN said he was glad to hear the schools would do some good, for they had done harm enough. Let the Board do as they had done before, and not get the Council to do what they did not like to do themselves.

Councillor RUTHERFORD moved, seconded by Councillor PATERSON,—That in order to carry out the request of Mr. W. A. Morrow, Secretary of the School Board, to collect the school taxes of Douro; be it therefore resolved; that Joseph Lundy be appointed to collect the same, he to be allowed 10% for collecting, and that the Clerk be instructed to take proper action in accordance with the law.

Councillor YELLAND thought 10 per cent. was too much.

The motion was carried.

SPECIAL AUDIT.

Councillor ROBERTSON moved, seconded by Councillor DENNE,—That the Treasurer be instructed to pay the special auditors $100 on account.

Councillor RUTHERFORD raised the point of order. He thought it was premature to vote anything at present.

Councillor MCBAIN asked if they were acknowledging the $215. He would not mind voting $100 for a Christmas goose.

Mr. HOGAN said they only put in the account for $215 to show the length of time employed. They did not claim it.

The motion was lost.

Councillor DENNE thought they were not treating the auditors fairly.

The account was referred to the Finance Committee with the power to pay $100 on account.

FINANCE REPORT.

The CLERK read the report of the Finance Committee as follows:—

The Finance Committee beg leave to recommend the payment of the following accounts:—

D. G. Heathorn, team for Street & Bridge Committee	$8 00
The balance of his account to be paid when certified by the Chief Engineer.
G. W. Ranney, plans of bridges	$10 00
T. Sargison, drawing hosecart	1 00
Nellie Bamber (Administration of Justice)	6 00

Your Committee cannot recommend the payment of Mr. Wm. Helm's account for furnishing water for the Market Square.

The account from Constable McGhee for $1.00 should, in the opinion of your Committee, be paid by the License Commissioners.

Your Committee recommend the Council not to interfere in the matter complained of by Mr. G. Dunsford, and make the same recommendation as to the applications of Messrs. J. E. Belcher and J. Donnel.

Your Committee recommend that the Treasurer be instructed to refund to G. Stenton, A. P. Morgan and J. S. Bird, $1.00 each, when they shall have made a statutory declaration before him, that they had no dogs during the present year.

Your Committee recommend that a rebate of six months taxes be made to the following persons, on the property destroyed by fire, viz:—Wm. Toole, David Minorgan and John Glass.

The adoption was moved.

Mr. HELM explained that he had made a contract to supply water for the streets; he had since been asked to give water for the Market Square, which he did, understanding the Town would pay for it.

Councillor PATERSON thought they were to get all the water they required.

Councillor DENNE said the Committee had considered that Mr. Stevenson had kept the town out of more water than would pay for that on the Market.

Councillor MCBAIN said the streets were for days without water. He understood Mr. Stevenson had got paid.

Mr. STEVENSON asked the Clerk if he had been paid money before it was due under the contract, and the reply was that it was only paid after it was due. The only delay was while O'Donnell was getting his cart repaired.

After some further discussion of a very irregular character, a motion to pay Mr. Helm his account was lost, and the adoption of the report was carried.

FIRE COMMITTEE.

Councillor PATERSON brought in the report of the Fire Committee as follows:—

As to the petition of Messrs. T. Fitzgerald and others, regarding wood yards in the fire limits, we recommend that clause 29 of the Building By-law be amended by adding after the word "material," "without leave of the Council being first obtained," and that Messrs. Fitzgerald and Yelland be allowed their present yards for piling wood for sale.

The report was adopted.

LIQUOR LICENSES.

Councillor RUTHERFORD reported verbally that the Council had no power to do anything as to fixing liquor licenses.

ASSESSMENTS.

Councillor RUTHERFORD moved, seconded by Councillor YELLAND,—That on account of the great amount of trouble caused by the present defective assessment law between tenant and landlord, and also the large amount of taxes lost to the corporation, be it therefore resolved to appoint a special Committee, to consist of Messrs. Smith, Cahill, Paterson and Yelland, to prepare a memorial to the Ontario Government, praying to have the same amended.—Carried.

STEWART STREET.

Councillor RUTHERFORD moved, according to notice, seconded by Councillor DOUGLAS,—That the Street Inspector be authorised to spend $10 on Stewart Street to keep the creek from overflowing.

Councillor MCBAIN said Mr. Toole and Mr. Douglas had done the damage, and now they were likely to back the water up and do further damage.

Councillor BULLER said it was the wrong time of year. They should wait for the spring.

Councillor YELLAND said it had been a great improvement that had been made, saving the keeping up of several bridges.

Councillor MCBAIN said that if you went to Orillia you could not find a sillier man in the lunatic asylum than Mr. Yelland.

Councillor YELLAND retorted, till both he and Mr. McBain were called to order by the Mayor.

Councillor DOUGLAS said he had been blamed for filling up his lot when he was only protecting himself. He thought instead of going to Orillia they might take someone there from Peterborough.

After some discussion a clause was added to the motion calling on the parties interested to pay an equal share.

Councillor DENNE said $30 would not do the work, and might cause them a lawsuit.

The motion was carried.

DEBENTURE AUDIT.

Councillor ROBERTSON gave notice that he would move at the next meeting that Messrs. Mills and Hogan be employed to audit the debenture accounts in accordance with the Resolution passed at the last regular meeting of the Council; cost not to exceed $200. He thought they had found enough out of the rolls to encourage them to go on and see what they could find about the debentures. The auditors could not be expected to work without pay.

The Council adjourned for one week.

"German Syrup."

No other medicine in the world was ever given such a test of its curative qualities as Boschee's German Syrup. In three years two million four hundred thousand small bottles of this medicine were distributed free of charge by Druggists in this country to those afflicted with Consumption, Asthma, Croup, severe Coughs, Pneumonia and other diseases of the Throat and Lungs, giving the American people undeniable proof that German Syrup will cure them. The result has been that Druggists in every town and village in the United States are recommending it to their customers. Go to your Druggist, and ask what they know about it. Sample bottles 10 cents. Regular size 75 cents. Three doses will relieve any case. dw51-1y

The kidneys are subject to a variety of dangerous and painful diseases, arising from various causes. By the judicious use of Victoria Buchu and Uva Ursi, these affections may be cured. Bright's disease, diabetes, and all female complaints are successfully combated by this popular remedy, which is for sale by all dealers. Price, $1 per bottle. w51-d120-6w

MANHOOD:

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

WE have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which, every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Address,—

THE DESIRE OF NATIONS.

BY BISHOP ARTHUR CLEVELAND COXE, D.D.

"I will shake all nations and the desire of all nations shall come."

"In Bethlehem of Judea."

"There went forth a decree from Cæsar Augustus that all the world should be enrolled."

—Margin of English Version.

Once, on the Imperial Palatine,
Those arches of its pride around,
I strove that chamber to divine
Where once Augustus might be found,
Setting his signet to a scroll
That all the nations should enroll.

'Twas but his whim; 'twas done, 'twas o'er;
The purblind despot never knew
That what he did forevermore
Should sound the world-wide nations through;
That thus the Age of Cloud was closed,
And Numa and his nymph deposed.

As o'er the parlor's chequered board
The ivory troops are moved at will,
So Cæsar sent his sov'reign word
All lands with haste and motion fill;
He dreams not that his own proud hand
Moves at a mightier Lord's command.

He dreams not, he whose nod is death,
Far off, the Syrian hills amid,
There is a maid of Nazareth,
In a poor joiner's cottage hid,
For whom he sets the world astir;
For Him that shall be born of her.

As stretch the spider's radiant twines,
So from his throne of power and pride,
The highways spread in thousand lines
To west and east, afar and wide;
And at their master's beck—'tis done;
Through all the world his heralds run.

Goes forth that edict near and far,
Where sceptered satraps own his sway;
Where Danube's fierce barbarians are,
Where Rhone and Rhine pursue their way;
To Spain and Britain sound the call,
The Parthian's East and Western Gaul.

It shakes all nations, wonder—fraught;
It works unseen Jehovah's will,
For thus the peasant maid is brought
From Nazareth to David's hill;
And thus it comes—of David's stem
The Christ was born in Bethlehem!

Uplift his cross—the idols fall;
Descends the dove—the eagles fly;
Another Cæsar sends his call
To men and nations, far and nigh,
Proclaiming David's Son divine;
Christ reigns upon the Palatine.

Hall, Prince of Peace! hail, King of Kings!
Who would not hail thy day of birth,
Sunshine with healing in his wings,
Light, love and joy to all the earth!
Once more let all men be enrolled,
Then the One Shepherd—in one fold.

A MYSTERIOUS AFFAIR.

Strange Disappearance of the Father-in-Law of Mr. John Braden, of Peterborough—Foul Play Feared.

Special to the Review.

TORONTO, Dec. 24.—Mr. John Braden, of Peterborough, this morning called upon the Chief Constable, and stated that his father-in-law, Dr. Turner, of Baltimore, had mysteriously disappeared, and had not been seen for a week. It appears that on Tuesday of last week Dr. Turner, who is a school trustee, drew wherewith to pay the teachers. On returning home he read to his family a despatch signed A. C. & Co., asking him to come to Toronto on important business. On the following morning he left Baltimore to come to this city, but never reached his destination. Inquiry has been made at all his friends and at all the hotels, but without finding any trace.

A LARGE SUM OF MONEY

AMERICAN.

CUBAN INSURGENTS.

HAVANA, Dec. 23.—Captain General Blanco has issued a proclamation announcing that incendiaries and robbers captured in the disturbed districts will be tried by Court Martialu and upon conviction sentenced to death, and that the general officers of the army in the provinces will have authority to approve such sentences. An official despatch states that the ex-Insurgent Chief, Pancho Jiminez, lately pardoned, took arms again on the 20th inst., and joined a party of insurgents from Sancti Spiritus in an attack upon Aroyablanco. The troops repelled the attack, killing Jiminez with two of his so called lieutenants, dispersing the rest and capturing a box containing a thousand cartridges.

A PERUVIAN SUCCESS.

PANAMA, Dec. 13.—Matters in the south present little encouragement for Peru. A slight victory has been gained by the Peruvians over a small portion of the Chilian forces, which has served to restore somewhat the drooping spirits of the people of Lima and Callao. This was the engagement at Tarapoca, where the Chilian forces, 2,500 men, attacked the Peruvians under Buendia. The latter numbered 5,000, well posted. The Chilians retired after a loss of 1,000, killed and captured, seven canon and three metralleuses. The Peruvian loss was 600.

THE PANAMA CANAL.

PANAMA, Dec. 13.—A committee has been appointed by the Local Government to make preparation for the reception of De Lesseps and his party due at Aspinwall on the 29th. inst. The committee has arranged a banquet and an illumination of the city and a bull fight. A number of engineers accompanying De Lesseps will assist those now making surveys and an examination of the formations along the proposed line, etc.

CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH.

AYERSTOWN, N. J., Dec. 23.—The residence of James Gleason was burned yesterday morning. Two boys and a girl, the eldest only 10 years of age, perished in the flames.

HEAVY CLAIM FOR DAMAGES.

COLUMBUS, Ind., Dec. 23.—A claim for $34,000, filed by the Jeffersonville, Madison and Indianapolis Railways, has just been withdrawn from the Adjutant-General's office, Indiana, and sent to the Secretary of War at Washington under the new act of Congress. This is the largest claim yet filed. It is for the transportation of the Home Guard Troops, and for bridges and property destroyed by Morgan's men.

CRIMINAL CARELESSNESS.

NEW YORK, Dec. 24.—Chas. Bertram was yesterday sentenced to 30 days' imprisonment for running over the Rev. Chas. Berger with a wagon. Berger was crippled for life.

THE ERIE PROFITS.

The report of the Erie Railway for the year ending Sept. 30th, shows a net profit over interest, charges and rentals of $1,300,000.

BANK FRAUDS.

T. W. Fresh, of the Somerset County Bank, who disappeared from Somerville, N. J., after the bank's condition was revealed, has returned. It is reported that he has been making revelations before the Grand Jury, implicating other persons in the frauds on the bank.

HEIRS TO $300,000,000.

ANDERSON, Ind., Dec. 23.—Elias Steward and George Hall received letters to day, stating that their rights to the Hyde Estate in England been established, and they are two of a hundred heirs of property estimated at [illegible],000,000.

THE CATTLE TRADE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 24.—The Treasury Department has instructed the Collectors of Customs at the Pacific ports that information has been received that pleuro-pneumonia has broken out among the meat cattle of Australia and New Zealand. The Collectors are advised that the restrictions on the importation of cattle from Europe are extended to Australia and New Zealand.

A COLLEGE BURNED.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 24.—At Carleton College fire at Northfield yesterday, Willis Hall, the main building, with nearly all its contents, including furniture, books and student's effects, was burned. The loss is estimated at $50,000.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district as reported from Toronto at 10 o'clock to-day are: Increasing westerly to north-westerly winds, cloudy to partly cloudy, decidedly colder weather, with passing snow storms. To-morrow will probably be a very cold day. The weather in Peterborough has been mild. Last evening a storm of sleet and snow set in from the north-east, gradually changing through the night to rain, with the wind south-east. To-day the wind has been mostly south-westerly to westerly, with a drizzling rain.

The Holidays and the Midland.

The Midland and Whitby and Port Perry and Lindsay Railways are issuing round trip tickets at reduced rates over these roads and the Grand Trunk during the holidays, giving a fine opportunity for parties wishing to visit their friends at a distance. The excursion tickets are issued for Dec. 24, 25, and 31, and Jan. 1, 1880, ample time being given for returning.

THE AFGHANISTAN WAR.

GEN. ROBERTS' DEFENCES COMPLETED—THE SITUATION IMPROVING.

The Afghans Loss Very Heavy—Death of a [illegible]

LONDON, Dec. 23.—The Viceroy of India telegraphs:—"Despatches from Gen. Roberts of the 16th, 17th, and 18th inst. received. The defences of the Shirpur cantonments have been completed. The enemy has occupied the heights over the city, but does not descend into the plains, which are patrolled by our cavalry. Gen. Roberts was waiting the arrival of Gen. Gough to make an attack, as he would then be strong enough to hold all the important positions, but he will attack the enemy before the arrival of Gen. Gough, if a favourable opportunity offers. Our loss on the 14th was 28 killed and 99 wounded, of whom eight have since died. The enemy's loss is very heavy. Osman Khan and other Afghan leaders were killed. On the 17th inst. the enemy appeared at Siahsung, but were quickly dislodged without loss on our side. The enemy's numbers are diminishing. Mahommed Jan Mardak, the real Afghan leader, has proclaimed the ex Ameer, Yakoob Khan's eldest son, Ameer. Gen. Roberts writes on the 20th that a considerable quantity of grain reached Lataband safely, showing that the road was open so far.

FACING A RELIGIOUS WAR.

A Cabul correspondent reports that the British have doubtless a religious war to face, but the fervour of the Afghans will subside as reinforcements arrive.

By Telegraph to the Review.

HEAVY FIRING HEARD.

CALCUTTA, Dec. 24.—Col. Norman telegraphs from Jugdrel to-day as follows:—"Heavy firing has been heard in the direction of Cabul for the past 48 hours. Gen. Gough is close to Lataband, and it is expected that he will reach Cabul.

HALIBURTON.

From our own Correspondent.

CHURCH FESTIVAL.—The English Church held their annual Sunday School concert on Friday, 12th. It was very well attended, about 120 being present. The proceeds amounted to $20, which were appropriated to aiding the School Library. Miss Helen Wastell, a vocalist of six, surprised people not acquainted with her vocal qualities. After the concert a dance took place in which most of the young people took part.

DRAMATIC.—On Friday evening, 19th, the Dramatic Club gave their first entertainment to a crowded house. About 200 were present and from all appearance seemed well pleased with the entertainment. It was got up by the Haliburton Cricket Club, who deserve praise for the manner in which they carried out their object. A new stage had been erected in the hall and scenery was put up that amazed people from places that are far larger than Haliburton, and who said they had nothing to compare with it. The drama "Toodles," was well acted and elicited great applause from the audience. Mr. Pratt's acting was splendid, as was also that of Mr. and Mrs. Crosthwait, Mrs. Coleman and Mr. Wastell. But all the praise must not be given to those only, as the rest of the actors did their parts well. This part lasted two hours. After this a negro song, "Poor Old Joe" was sung by Mr. J. Reid, "The Fisher Women" sung by four ladies, was well received. Then came the negro burlesque. This was acted by Messrs. Lee and Reynolds, and was received with roars of laughter. A nigger jubilee by 8 characters was very amusing. A negro dance came next which ended the entertainment. It was a decided success and reflects great credit to the members of the Club and all others who took part. About $30 was taken at the door. Visitors from Bobcaygeon, Kinmount, Minden and other places were present, who were well pleased with the entertainment. As usual a dance took place. About sixty remained, and from 11 p. m., till 4 a. m., a very pleasant time was spent.

FUTURE PERFORMANCE.—On January 9th, another entertainment takes place in the hall. The performers this time are coming from Bobcaygeon.

Recovering.

We are glad to be able to state that Mr. W. H. Scott, M. P. P., is now convalescent, after having been confined to his bed for many weeks through a protracted and severe illness, and that he hopes in a few days to be able to return to his office.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 24, 1879.

A MERRY CHRISTMAS!

Before another issue of the REVIEW, another Christmas will have come and gone. We therefore take this last opportunity to wish our many readers a very "Merry Christmas." Christmas! Merry Christmas! and why should it not be merry? Why should not every one for a season at least forget the cares and the trials of which even the most fortunate have their share? Why should there not be seasons when laughter bubbles up from joyous hearts, and true merriment fills the air? And what season more fitting for such merriment—such joyousness—than that which commemorates how the Lord of Heaven and earth became a child? We do not say that this should be the staple of life, but it certainly may, and should have its place. Nature is not always shadowed with clouds. Clouds do gather, but they are soon dispelled. Care, we know, sometimes so presses that its burden seems too great to be borne. Life is a conflict, and all that. But, oh busied and toilsome man, has it taken away your sense of the reality of life, has it impaired your power of labour, that you had a real romp with the little ones, whose eyes danced with joy that "papa had come home." You enjoyed the sport as much as they. You were freshened by it. The toil and care of life seemed less irksome and wearying, because of these mirthful moments. Or did it reduce your worldly store to spend some of those hard earned dollars on "Santa Claus" for the little ones, or on a "Christmas Box" for the older ones at home, who have their cares and toils and troubles as well as the men, and whose only earthly reward is the "love" which such gifts imply.

Oh no! God who makes the valleys of the earth to shout for joy, who puts countless smiles on the dancing waves of the sea, who sends seed time and harvest, rain and sunshine, means that ye men and women who bear the burden and heat of the day shall have your hours of innocent merriment—hours, the enjoyment of which will render you the better fitted for the toils and cares which may lie before you.

Merry Christmas! we repeat the good wish. May it be a merry day in every home into which our greeting comes! May the children be merry, and the elders be merry as the children. May the coming year catch a reflection from the brightness of a Merry Christmas—an echo from its joy as this sin-darkened world has caught a brightness and joy from that which shone round about Bethlehem nearly two thousand years ago, when the shepherds sung the most joyful song that till then had gladdened human ears—the seraphic anthem, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men." Yes, let the whole year be made better and more glad because the departing one wore its crown as a MERRY CHRISTMAS.

OUR MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT.

WE are glad to see among the names mentioned as probable candidates for seats in the Town Council, those of men whose ability and position in the community would make them very desirable members. If they have not fully made up their minds to run, we hope that they, or equally eligible candidates will be induced to do so, and that they will receive such support as will make their election safe. Without wishing to be invidious, we may assume, without fear of contradiction, that some of those who have sat at the Council board for the present and previous years, have hardly been such men as the ratepayers would have selected for trustees or managers in their own private affairs, and surely the standard should be at least as high, if not higher, for those who are to transact the business of the corporation, to control its expenditure, and to regulate its government. The duties of the Council are so important, not only for the present welfare, but also for the future progress of the town, as to call for the best available talent for their performance, and to make the position not below the acceptance of our foremost men. It is utterly unreasonable for men of standing in our community to complain, year after year, over the management of the finances and the general business of the town, when they not only scoff the idea of serving in that capacity themselves, but are even too indolent or too careless to bring forward better qualified candidates. There seems to be a tendency this year towards an improvement in this respect, and we trust that it will be persevered in and that the result will be satisfactory.

POLICE COURT.

DRUNK AND DISORDERLY.

WEDNESDAY, Dec. 24.—Mrs. Lee was charged by Constable McGhee with drunkenness and using indecent language upon the public streets. She has just served a term of six months in the county jail for the same offence. The Magistrate sent her back for six months more.

DISORDERLY HOUSE.

The case of Geo. Masters and Mary Masters came up for disposal. To the charge of keeping a disorderly house, they stated that they did not know the character of the girl they gave shelter to [illegible] night, and upon a promise to stop drinking and use greater care in the future, the Magistrate allowed them to go, deeming the time they spent in gaol a sufficient warning to do better.

LUNACY.

Martin Walsh was brought before the magistrate, charged with lunacy. The Magistrate remanded him until Tuesday December 30th, to give time for a medical examination.

The DAILY EVENING REVIEW is delivered to subscribers at ten cents a week.

THE SPECIAL AUDIT.

THE following are the details of the special audit by Messrs. James Hogan and Wm. Mills, for which we had not space in our Town Council report:—

CHRISTMAS.

[illegible]
A holy [illegible] day.
For some to worship, some to love,
And some to turn away.

The light his blessed forehead sheds
Is holy, and as bright
As when it lit the manger-stall
At Bethlehem in the night.

"[illegible] love!" the Child [illegible] pleads,
[illegible] in our sleep,
And as we answer, so he stills
Our longing, with his grace.

Eternal Child, and Lord of All!
Turn not thy face away;
But bide with us in household joy
This holy Christmas day.

Oh! we did lose the star, dear Lord,
The precious offerings waste;
For we were prone to loiter, Lord,
Or miss thee in our haste.

But Thou hast sought for us! We kneel
In reverent love, to pray
Beside the Babe of Bethlehem,
Who comes on Christmas day.

ROB FINCH'S CHRISTMAS.

BY MARY MORRISON.

Rob Finch was twenty-one years old. He had come into possession of an estate valued at five hundred dollars and had deposited his vote for governor. Now he thought, to round up matters well for his perfect manhood, he would ask Mary Woodman to become his wife on the next "Merry Christmas."

She said "Yes," and Rob's mind was at ease. Christmas night he took the old white horse and wagon and drove over to West Brimfield, where Mary lived. She was sitting, with her bonnet on, by the window, watching for the first gleam of the white horse.

"It is coming, mother," cried Mary, throwing herself into her mother's arms. "You don't think I'll ever be sorry, do you? I'm sure he's honest, and kind, and temperate too; and I do love him!"

"There, Mary. He's coming in. Don't crush your gown. I guess he's as good as any. And anyway, it isn't the women, but the men-folks that takes their pick. Read the Bible and come often to see you old mother, and the Lord will sanctify every affliction to you."

"Bless me!" cried Rob, opening the door. "What's that I heard about affliction? Why, Mary, what are you looking so solemn about? Haven't repented have you? Come, now don't be faint-hearted about it." And he drew her to him, giving her such a hearty kiss that the canary, a long time asleep, bobbed his head out from under his wing, to see what was the matter.

"There, Rob, I guess that'll do," interposed Mrs. Woodman. "The minister said he'd be home by eight, and you'd better begin by being on time. Bring her up to-morrow to supper. Father's coming home, and we'll have baked beans and Indian pudding, fit for the Sultan of Turkey!"

"Bless me, Mis' Woodman," said Rob, "he never eats anything [illegible] Turk [illegible]! Why don't you say fit [illegible]?" He [illegible] on those last words and looked roguishly at Mary.

She exclaimed: "Oh, Rob! It's not that yet."

"I'm [illegible] [illegible], sweetheart. Come, Clover doesn't like the cold and the minister's waiting. Good night, Mis' Woodman."

"Oh! Rob, she's all I have! You will remember; you will be true to her. Won't you?"

"Stop! me, Mis' Woodman [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]."

The old white horse trotted along. Rob held Clover with one hand, and Mary's hand with the other. The road was very rough and the "thank-you-marms" were very frequent; but [illegible] [illegible] felt so warm that he forgot [illegible] [illegible] when he went into the [illegible]. It was soon over.

"And now may I say who shall eat baked beans and Indian pudding to-morrow night?" said Rob, as he held the reins between his knees and his rosy bride in both arms.

"Oh, Rob [illegible] foolish [illegible]!"

"You [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]. What am I? Let's see. We didn't use to be any relation to each other. Did we? What am I to you now? Your—what?"

"There, Rob! Look! Take care! You're running the horse right into the fence!"

"Sure enough! A man does need a wife to look after him. If it hadn't been for you, Mary, I might have had an accident. [illegible] it hadn't been for you, I shouldn't a-been driving that way at all. Some things get kind of mixed up when one begins to think. Don't they? But now will you tell me, Mary, what you and the old lady were looking so solemn about when I came in?"

"[illegible] [illegible]. I [illegible] [illegible] you were kind, and honest, and temperate, and I loved——"

"Bless you, Pollie! I had to kiss you when you said that. And what did she think? Didn't she feel as sure as you?"

"I am sure she must, Rob. You never could be anything [illegible] [illegible]."

"Not with you, Pollie, I am sure. Not with such a—" Here came another interruption in the shape of a fence, and the young couple discovered, to their surprise, that they were at their own gate.

They fastened the horse, and walked together over the ice into the warmth and light of their new home.

Winter passed into spring. Summer came and the [illegible] [illegible] the house [illegible] with mignonette and geraniums. Rob went regularly to his work at the tannery, and Mary worked faithfully at home, adding to her ordinary cares the making of jackets and trousers for the tailor's shop near by. She added her savings to Rob's and the pages of the little gray bank-book began to grow black with figures.

But after awhile Rob's savings seemed to grow [illegible] [illegible]. Mary worked hard to [illegible] his [illegible], but [illegible] [illegible]. [illegible], when she was stooping down behind the hedge, weeding her garden, all was explained. Two tanners were going by talking so [illegible] that they did not perceive her. One said:—"I say, Bill, Rob Finch would be a first-rate workman if he didn't like sprees so often. He's a good fellow to stand a treat, but he wants [illegible] oftener than it is good for him."

"That's so, Tim; and they say that little woman o' his don't suspect it at all. Thinks he goes off on business connected with the tannery."

They passed on; but Mary sat still on the ground, her hand full of mignonette she had pulled up by mistake. She could hardly believe her ears. Her Rob spending his earnings for drink, and deceiving her besides. It was [illegible] [illegible] to be true. He had complained of [illegible] and had seemed [illegible] [illegible]; she had [illegible] what could be the cause, and steeped chamomile and sage tea for him. Now it was explained. Poor Mary!

She thought a word from her would make him give up drinking, but her words, and her mother's, and those of the praying women, who even took possession of the rumshop for a prayer meeting, did no good. He would promise faithfully; but when the temptation came his resolution failed and he would not sign the pledge.

So the old story is told again. The horse is sold and then the cow; the house is mortgaged and one little piece of furniture after another is pawned.

The wrinkles came on Mary's face, her eyes were often red with weeping, and her dress looked shabby and patched. Only three years since she had said, joyfully:—"I told her I believed you were honest, kind, and temperate, and I love you."

It was Christmas eve. Mary had just finished a jacket for Jimmy Friars. She had just taken the last stitch by the last flicker of her candle, and found herself in darkness. The wood was nearly burned out in the stove, the room was getting chilly, and she drew an old worn shawl around her, as she arose and went to the window, to look out for Rob. She had asked him to come home early that night; but he had evidently forgotten it, for there was no one in sight. The wind lifted the great branches off the trees, blew the light snow in drifts; the sign of the opposite empty grocery shrieked and clattered; and the great bell in the nearest spire was just tolling out twelve.

Mary shivered and fell on her knees. "O God!" she cried, "that he should not have granted me just one little wish. Father in Heaven, have mercy upon him! Oh! keep him from the power of those who would destroy both soul and body! Let me do something to draw him back; but, if thou wilt not grant that prayer, if I can do him no good by living, oh! take me away from all this cold and bitterness!"

The wind blew harder than ever; the blinds slammed; the sign creaked; the snow blew against the panes; and Rob Finch had entered the room, without being heard. He had just caught the last words: "Oh! take me away from all this cold and bitterness!" Nothing had ever moved him so much as this wild appeal, in that dark, cold room; but he would not trust his own heart. He would promise no more. He would act. He would surprise her.

"Mary," he said, pretending not to have noticed what she was doing, "where's something to eat? No fire, no light, no grub! A nice place for a fellow to come home to!"

"Why, Rob, I didn't hear you come in. I tried to keep up the fire. The light went out just as I had finished my jacket. I'll get you some bread and baked apples from the cupboard. I thought, Rob, you would be back early to-night."

"Couldn't, any how. You don't know how it is, Mary, when the fellows all get round and want another hand for a game."

"It was only the game, then, to-night, Rob. I am glad."

"Why, you foolish little woman, did you ever know a man to use himself up the day before a Christmas [illegible]? It would be like getting sick before [illegible] dinner. Upon my word, Mary, your hands are like ice! Why didn't you keep up the fire?"

"There wasn't any wood left, Rob. I hope [illegible] will pay me for the jacket to-morrow [illegible] [illegible] some [illegible]."

When the morning came, the rain was falling fast and the snow was changing rapidly to water. Rob had been out early and brought in a supply of brushwood from a neighbouring grove, and [illegible], with one or two broken fence-rails, had made fire enough to boil the water in the kettle.

"What was it, Mary, you wanted to see me early for last night?" he said, as they were eating their breakfast.

"[illegible] [illegible] with tears. "I thought, perhaps, Rob, it would be better for me to go and live at the tailor's, and then you might sell the house and pay the mortgage; but I'm a poor hand to plan, and I don't see how anything is to be what it was, unless you give up the liquor."

"Can't you let a man have his breakfast in peace, without nabbing at him all the time?" said Rob, savagely. But at the same time there was a roguish twinkle in his eye which she did not notice. "Upon my word, Mary, you don't look so well dressed as you used to. Why don't you wear a pink bow or something, to make it look lively for a fellow?"

Mary covered her face with her hands but said nothing.

"[illegible], [illegible] I'm sorry you're so glum, Christmas too! I [illegible] when I see you to-night you will be a bit more chirky, girl."

"Rob," she said coming to him, laying both hands on his shoulders and looking up in his face, "you'll come home early to-night. Won't you?"

"I guess so, Mary. I won't promise. I'll bring you the pink bow when I do come, though."

"Three years ago this Christmas night!" said Mary Finch to herself, as she tried to coax the wet wood into a blaze. "Oh! who would have ever dreamed that my Rob could have changed as he has! How could he laugh at my wrinkles and my patched dress? Doesn't he know what [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] and a pink bow, to make it all right!"

The wood began to burn a little. Mary lighted a candle she had bought with a few cents her husband had left in the morning, and sat down to sew. Just then a loud knock startled her. She opened the door. A cold gust blew out her candle; but she recognised the voice of the "Parish Raven." She was a tall, gaunt woman, such a croaker and so proverbially the bearer of bad [illegible] that she was called "The Raven."

"Mis' Finch, I thought perhaps you wouldn't take it amiss in me to stop and let you know the bad news. They say the train's broke up down to Chiltonville, and your husband was on board. There was a lot of fellows coming home from their Christmas spree, and they're all killed, I expect. Dreadful sorry for you, Mis' Finch. Is there anything I can do?"

Unconsciously, Mary closed the door in her face, without a word. She looked [illegible] for a moment from the window at her retreating form, then hastily put on her hood and shawl and went out, slipping as she went on the glare of ice, for the evening cold had frozen the melted snow.

"I will go down to the railroad and see if it is [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]. God forbid! It can't be [illegible]! Dear, blessed old boy!" Every thought of reproach had gone from her heart. She recalled only to see the bright, kind face that bent over her three years ago, on her marriage night.

She sped on, blindly, desperately, through the darkness, trembling, slipping, and shivering, suddenly she ran against a man who was coming up the road.

"[illegible]! don't stop me! Let me go on!" she [illegible] breathlessly. But Rob's own voice [illegible].

"Upon my word! Bless me if this isn't my little Mary!" and he caught her, almost fainting, in his arms.

"Oh! Rob!" she cried. "And you're alive, and you're not hurt?"

"Hurt? Bless you, little one, did you think you were big enough to hurt me? I should like to know what all this means. Here I am, bringing home my Christmas bundles; and first thing I know I meet my wife running away, and when she meets me, she only cries: 'Don't stop me! Let me go on!' What does it all mean, Pollie?"

"Oh, Rob! what do you think? Miss Black came to the door and said the cars were smashed up at Chiltonville, and she was afraid you were killed."

"I haven't even been on the cars to-day, Mary. But it's cold here. Let's go home and open the bundles by a warm fire. I sent the man with the wood."

The fire blazed and roared in the old stove, a new kerosene lamp burned brightly on a table covered with a fresh red cloth, a pot of coffee and a kettle of oyster stew sent up their fragrant steam, and Mary sat on Rob's knee as he unfolded to her the temperance pledge he had signed.

"And you didn't go on a spree, after all, Rob? And it's all going to be bright and pleasant again?"

"Yes," said Rob, laughing. "And we'll ask your mother down to have 'Indian pudding and baked beans' with us to-morrow."

So they laughed and joked, and had a merry, merry Christmas, until suddenly Mary said: "Oh, Rob! how thoughtless we are! We forget all about the poor men hurt on the road!"

"I didn't believe there was a bit of truth in it when I heard the Raven told it," said Rob; "but I'll see in a jiffy." And, seizing his hat, he rushed out of the door. In about three minutes he returned. "There wasn't any truth in it," said Rob. "They only had to stop up there awhile to cool off a heated box."

Mary gave a sigh of relief. "Well, now," she said; "we can be merry with a good heart, Rob. Did you get the pink bow?"

"Here, in my pocket; but, bless me, you don't need it now. You're looking as bright as you did the night we went to the parsonage. Shall I pin it on?"

"Thank you, Rob; but however in the world did you get the money?"

"They all trusted me, Mary, when they knew I had signed the pledge. By the way, you did look a little sober that night. There was some reason for it, too, though you didn't know it; but there never shall be again, God helping me. You're not sorry you married me; are you Pollie?"

The shadows had passed; her night of doubt and sorrow was over. She saw only the Robert of her early married life and at this bright Christmas night, and answered him with a radiant smile and a reproachful "Why, Rob."

"Do you know, Mary," he said, "what turned me back from the wrong way. I came in here and found you praying to God that you might die."

"You didn't hear the first. Did you, Rob? I prayed that if I couldn't do you any good, I might be taken away."

"You could, you see, Pollie. We will go up to the little church on the hill next Sunday together. By the way, Pollie, I'm afraid you're forgetting the oysters."

"Sure enough, Rob." So she ran laughing from him, and went about preparing the supper.

It was very dark and bitter cold without. The wind blew, the old sign creaked, the strokes of the clock cut the air in their solemn, dreary way; but Rob Finch and Mary did not hear or see any of the gloom. They only breathed merry, merry Christmas with every heart-beat.

And in the midst of the unwonted warmth and light an old thawed-out cricket crawled out of its crack on the hearth and began to chirp its spring song.

A [illegible] Answer.

"To sum it up, six long years of bed-ridden sickness and suffering, costing $200 per year, total, $1,200—all of which was stopped by three bottles of Hop Bitters taken by my wife, who has done her own housework for a year since without the loss of a day, and I want everybody to know it for their benefit."

Hagyard's Yellow Oil combines in such an eminent degree all the healing, curative and attracting qualities known to medical science that it is truly a family medicine that cannot be dispensed with. When applied to any swelling, sore, burn, chilblain, frostbites, skin eruption, etc., its effects are magical. It is highly esteemed wherever known, and its [illegible] [illegible] is the best certificate of its merits. d130-2w

Victoria Hypophosphites extends its influence into every part of the human organism, commencing from the foundation, correcting deranged action, and restoring vital powers, creating a healthy formation and purification of the blood, driving out disease, and leaving nature to perform its allotted part. It is the finest nervine remedy known, and the greatest brain and blood food in the world. For sale by all dealers. $1 per bottle. d130-2w

Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam.

It is formed from the best-known and most reliable Balsams, Gums and Vegetable Tonics, in chemical union with the extract of Wild Cherry Bark and Liquorice in their fresh and concentrated forms, and is the most pleasant and effective combination that can be secured with a view to relief or permanent cure of Hoarseness, Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, Spitting of Blood, and all diseases of the Lungs. "German Syrup."

No other medicine in the world was ever given such a test of its curative qualities as Boschee's German Syrup. In three years two millions four hundred thousand small bottles of this medicine were distributed free of charge by Druggists in this country to those afflicted with Consumption, Asthma, Croup, severe Coughs, Pneumonia and other diseases of the Throat and Lungs, giving the American people undeniable proof that German Syrup will cure them. The result has been that Druggists in every town and village in the United States are recommending it to their customers. Go to your Druggist, and ask what they know about it. Sample bottles 10 cents. Regular size 75 cents. Three doses will relieve any case. dw63-1y

The Markets.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS.

WEDNESDAY, Dec. 24.—The market to-day was spoiled in part by the so-called fair day of Tuesday and the change of weather. There were, however, quite a number of farmers in with beef, pork, poultry, butter, &c., but few buyers to meet them, and prices were kept down. Beef was far in excess of the demand, and no doubt some had to be taken back home; $3.00 @ $3.50 was paid for fore quarters, and $4.00 @ $4.50 for hind quarters. One lot of beef, extra fine and very fat, was sold at 50c advance. Several hogs were taken at yesterday's rates. Cut pork [illegible] [illegible] readily. Other meats were scarce, and without enquiry. Chickens brought 30c. Turkeys were plentiful, and like yesterday, there was a wide range of price; $1.00 was asked for some very fine ones, and a few sold, but generally 75c @ 80c had to be accepted; 50c @ 60c was however, the rule for medium-sized turkeys. Geese brought 40c @ 50c; one lot of very fine ones sold for 60c. Butter was in fair supply, and 20c was asked without takers, the demand having been met yesterday at 17c @ 18c; several kegs were brought in to-day, and 20c was demanded, 18c was offered, and no doubt that figure was accepted. The roll butter was taken back, the farmers being determined to get 20c. Potatoes were plentiful at 60c @ 65c. Turnips sold at 12c per bushel, and 20c per bag. Apples were abundant, but prices were well maintained, 60c @ 70c per bag being paid; also $1.75 @ $2.25 per barrel; some very choice fruit sold at $1.00 per bag. One lot of cider was upon the market to-day, and sold at 20c per gallon, in small quantities of one or more gallons. Straw and wood were in light supply, and slow of sale. There was no hay during the morning. Oats were in fair supply, and sold at 31c; several hundred bushels being taken at that figure. Very little wheat came in, and there is no change of price to note.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 24, 1879.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

No Daily Review To-morrow.

To-morrow being Christmas Day, the DAILY EVENING REVIEW will not be issued.

St. Luke's Church Festival.

The Christmas Festival of St. Luke's Sunday School last night, was largely attended and was very successful.

Corinthian Lodge A. F. & A. M.

The regular monthly meeting of the above Lodge will take place this evening in the Masonic Hall for the election of officers, &c.

Acknowledgement.

The Society of St. Vincent de Paul, beg to return thanks to Mr. Garvey, for two quarters of splendid beef, which he has presented to them.

No. 1 Company, 57th Battalion.

There will be no parade of No. 1 Company this week, Thursday, the usual evening for drill, being Christmas. The new clothing has been shipped, and is expected shortly.

The Convent Concert.

The programme for the entertainment to be given by the pupils of the Convent, in Bradburn's Hall, on Friday evening, comprises vocal and dramatic scenes. The selection is good, and a very pleasing entertainment may be anticipated.

A Fine Lot of Deer.

Mr. W. J. Hall secured ten fine deer on Tuesday, direct from the wilds of Burleigh, which he is offering at a low price. They were on exhibition in front of Stapleton's auction rooms on fair day, and attracted crowds of people. There are some very fine animals among them.

Holiday Delicacies.

Mr. Geo. Chamberlain has a fine supply of partridge, rabbits, white fish, pike and other delicacies of the season, suitable for a Christmas or a New Years' dinner, or for presents to friends. He also has a great variety of confections, canned and potted meats, and preserves, such as are rarely found in town.

The Christmas Jewel Case.

The Christmas jewel case, to be seen at T. Menzies Book Store, is a novelty, and at the same time, a curiosity. It is in the form of an old shoe, and is a most perfect representation of the cast off shoe. It is said to be cheap, and is a nice Christmas or New Years' present. It is necessary to see it to appreciate its merits.

A Lively Fair Day.

Peterborough presented a lively scene on fair day. Sleighs from all parts of the country and from the adjoining counties were seen constantly flitting to and fro through our streets, and a regular holiday appearance was given to the town. Trade was good and many articles were taken away. The presents this year seem to be of a more substantial character than heretofore. Not so many toys are offered as usual.

Christmas Exhibits.

Among the exhibits of Christmas presents and good cheer none surpass the display at Long Bros. Their Christmas tree in the window is surrounded by a great variety of good things, and is very attractive. The pastry, confections, fruits and fancy articles offered by them are in profusion, and are arranged in such a manner as to remind one of a fairy bower. Call and see it, and purchase what you want.

Broken Limb.

On Tuesday evening as Mr. Fawcett was passing up George street on his way home, he slipped upon the sidewalk and broke his leg below the knee, the fracture being very bad. He was taken home and Dr. Kincaid set the broken limb. We understand Mr. Fawcett has just concluded an engagement for next year at a good salary. The unfortunate accident will prevent his entering upon his duties for two months. The fine driving snow and sleet rendered the walks very slippery, making it difficult to get along and keep one's feet.

O. Y. B's. Ball.

The ball of the Orange Young Britons, to be held to-night at the Opera House is to be a pleasurable affair. Every preparation has been completed by the Committee with a view to the enjoyment and comfort of the participants. The decorations are elaborate, and do credit to the decorators. The supper is to be furnished by Messrs. Long Brothers, a fact which will ensure good edibles.

Opening of the Rink.

The Peterborough Curling and Skating Rink was formally opened on Monday evening, Dec. 22nd. There was a large attendance of ticket holders and others, and the scene was enlivened by the Fire Brigade Band, who executed some of their choicest selections. The ice was in the best condition for both curling and skating. The decorations were fine, and a brilliancy unsurpassed was effected by the numerous Chinese lanterns hung from the centre, and gracefully festooned to the balconies. The improvements made last season add greatly to the comfort of those who use the rink.

Holiday Gifts.

Messrs. T. W. Robinson & Co., have an exhibition of china, glassware, &c., that exceeds anything before seen in Peterborough. They are of the finest material, and of artistic design, so the choice of a Christmas or New Years' present is absolutely difficult, on account of the embarras de richesse. The Dresden China, Wedgewood ware, Parian statuettes, Majolica ware, and antique Flemish jugs are among the the most attractive, but it would be impossible to enumerate all the beauties of the collection. In the large show-room up-stairs, besides an additional variety of similar objects, there is a number of fine dinner sets, tea sets, &c., all chosen with the same care and taste.

Strange Conduct.

Last night between 7 and 8 o'clock a man, who from his proceedings appeared to be a lunatic, was prowling about the Union School hill and College street. He pursued several women, in one instance throwing her into the snow, and greatly frightening others. He went to the vacant house on the corner of McDonnel street, belonging to Mr. L. Payne, and having entered it he opened all the doors and windows. The night was so dark that, though seen by several persons, he could not be identified, but he appeared to be a strong, powerful man. A petition to place a gas lamp at this dark corner so thickly inhabited was recently rejected by the Council. The friends of this disturber of the peace, or the authorities of the town should see that he is deprived of the opportunity of doing any mischief or evil consequences may result to himself or others.

Church Anniversary.

The anniversary of the George Street Methodist Church took place on Monday evening, the 22nd. The room was comfortably filled, and at 7.30 the meeting opened by singing that very appropriate hymn, "Be present at our table, Lord," after which refreshments were served. Tea being over, the Rev. Mr. Harper gave a short introductory address. The anthem, "Praise God in His holiness," given by the choir, under the superintendence of Mr. Cluxton, was well received. In the absence of Mr. Dumble, the Sec'y-Treas., Mr. Robinson, presented the financial report. Mr. Davis gave a solo entitled "The Last Man." The Chairman then called upon the Rev. Mr. Hunter to address the audience, which he did in such a humorous manner as to elicit frequent applause. Dr. Kincaid, after making a few remarks regarding the position of the church, moved that the thanks of the audience be tendered to the Rev. Mr. Hunter for his very interesting and able address. The motion was seconded by Mr. Jeffers. Miss Heather gave a solo, entitled "Down by the Riverside," which was received with loud applause. Mr. T. Brown also gave a solo entitled "Mercy and forgiveness too." The Rev. Mr. Harper offered thanks to the ladies for providing refreshments. The Rev. Mr. Bell dismissed the meeting with the benediction. The audience seemed well satisfied with the meeting, having spent a very enjoyable evening.

A CHILD SCEPTIC.

Bright and early Christmas morning,
Little Jessie rose to see
What the contents of her stocking,
Brought by Santa Claus, might be.

Lavish gifts the saint had brought her
Sparing from his ample load
Candies, dollies, books and pictures,
Till both stockings overflowed.

How her laughing blue eyes sparkled
As she drew her treasures out!
How she danced with childish pleasure
When her toys lay spread about.

But a shade of disappointment
Stole across her chubby face,
And her merriment had vanished,
To reflection giving place.

"What's the matter?" I enquired,
Prompt to ascertain the cause;
Then she said, with serious aspect,
"Pa, there ain't no Santa Claus!

"S'pose he did come down the chimney,
With the things upon his back,
How could he get in the stovepipe?
How could he pull through his sack?

"And besides, I lay and listened,
Just to hear if he would come;
When it wasn't far from midnight
Some one walked into the room—

"Came into the room like you would,
But I didn't dare to peep;
Lay down quiet—kind of frightened—
Made believe I was asleep.

"So they came and filled the stockings,
And I'm sure that there were two,
For they whispered to each other—
Sounded just like ma and you.

"Though the things are nice and pretty,
Still I'm awful sorry—'cause
'Tisn't Santa Claus that brings them—
You and ma are Santa Claus."

Thus through life the old allusions
Fade out slowly one by one;
Are we happier or better
When the last of them are gone!

POLICE COURT.

DRUNK.

FRIDAY, Dec. 26.—Constable McGhee charged Thomas McCutcheon with being drunk on Christmas eve, when he was taken to the lock-up. On Christmas morning he was remanded until this morning, when he pleaded guilty, but begged to be allowed to leave Peterborough. Sentence deferred.

DRUNK AND DISORDERLY.

Constable McGhee charged Michael Sullivan with drunkenness and disorderly conduct. The Magistrate found him guilty, and imposed a fine of $2.00 or 21 days.

BAD LANGUAGE.

Constable McGhee charged James McNamara with using abusive and insulting language to the peace officer in the Choate House. The defendant was found guilty of the charge, and fined $2.00

DESTITUTION.

George Masters and Elizabeth Masters came before the Magistrate, requesting his interposition in their behalf. The Magistrate remanded them until Tuesday, January 5th, desiring time to investigate the case.

The Young Britons Christmas Ball.

The ball of Victoria Lodge, No. 25, Orange Young Britons, of Peterborough, given at the Opera House, on Christmas Eve, was a pleasant affair. Although the company was not a large one, it was social, and the event passed off without any disturbing element. At half-past ten o'clock, the Grand Master of the Order in Canada, Mr. W. J. Gibson, of Toronto, who had arrived in town by the evening train, was presented to the members, and joined in the festivities. Soon afterwards there was a contest for a pair of slippers presented by the committee to the best lady waltzer. The prize was so keenly contested that the judges were unable to decide who was the winner till they had given a fresh trial to three of the competitors after supper. Miss Reynolds was eventually declared the winner, though the judges declared that another lady very nearly equalled her. At 12 o'clock the company were conducted to Friendship Temperance Hall, where a bountiful supper was in waiting, which had been prepared by Messrs. Long Bros., who know how these things ought to be done. There was an abundance of tea and coffee, but no liquors of any description were provided. The dancing was resumed and kept up until five o'clock on Christmas morning. Martin's Quadrille Band supplied the music, which was excellent, and the order of dancing was well arranged. The committee of management were Messrs. Harry Kemp, John Gibbs' John Mowry, Samuel Clegg and David Jameson, and Mr. Thomas Rutherford was Master of Ceremonies. The ball was said to be the most enjoyable of any heretofore given by the Young Britons.

Off for Omemee.

The Grand Master of the O. Y. B.'s Grand Lodge of Canada, Mr, W. J. Gibson, of Toronto, was treated to a sleigh ride from Peterborough to Omemee on Christmas Day. He was to deliver an address to the Orange Young Briton's lodge at that place in the evening.

A NARROW ESCAPE.—Mr. Moran, a produce dealer of Goderich, narrowly escaped suffocation here this morning. He had a car of apples on the track and fearing they might be frozen, last night he procured a charcoal stove and lit a fire of charcoal. A policeman passing the car heard moans and on entering found Moran unconscious with the stove lying across his legs. He was almost smothered. He revived in a couple of hours but his leg is badly scorched.

Hagyard's Yellow Oil combines in such an eminent degree all the healing, curative and extracting qualities known to medical science that it is truly a family medicine that cannot be dispensed with. When applied to any swelling sore, burn, chilblain, frostbites, skin eruptions, etc., its effects are magical. It is highly esteemed wherever known, and its enormous sale annually is the best certificate of its merits. w51-d129-3w

ORTON AND KENEALY.

LONDON, Dec. 25.—The solicitor of Arthur Orton, the Tichborne claimant, writes to the newspapers, denying that the writ of error in the claimant's case was applied for under Dr. Kenealy's advice, and asserting that the doctor will not, and cannot, be employed as counsel in the case. He says there is no authority for the statement that the case will be taken to the House of Lords, as the arguments cannot last longer than one day.

A SCOTTISH-AMERICAN'S GIFT.

EDINBURGH, Dec. 25.—Mr. Andrew Carnegie, of New York, has offered to the corporation of his native place, Dumferline, Scotland, $25,000 for the establishment of a free public library and recreation rooms. The corporation is equally divided whether they should accept the gift or not, so in the absence of information as to whether Mr. Carnegie intends to provide for the permanent maintenance of the library, the Provost has declined to give a casting vote either way.

A PEACEFUL SETTLEMENT.

LONDON, Dec. 25.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Daily News thinks there is a prospect of an understanding being reached regarding European peace, and a settlement of the difficulties in Asia between Russia and England. It is also understood that favourable administrative measures regarding the press may be looked for before the end of the Russian year.

At the request of the State department a naval vessel will be sent to cruise in Venezuelan waters.

SHOT BY HER HUSBAND.

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—Alice Smith, a young variety actress, while walking home yesterday morning, was accosted by her husband, Charles Smith. The pair had separated and Smith demanded that his wife should come with him. On her refusal he shot her in the head and escaped. The wounds are not considered dangerous.

ATTEMPTED JAIL BREAKING.

A preconcerted plan for an attempt at escape by six prisoners confined in Ludlow street jail for passing counterfeit money, was discovered yesterday. An iron bar across one of the windows was found almost sawn through, the filings removed and the opening filled with putty and dirt. Bennett, one of the counterfeiters, on Wednesday behaved boisterously and defied the keepers to confine him to the cells in which prisoners were usually placed for a violation of the rules. The window from which the escape was intended and where the bar was found cut, is accessible from these cells, and it is now believed that his action was part of the the pre-arranged plan.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district, as reported from Toronto at 10 o'clock to day are: fresh to brisk, westerly to south-westerly winds; partly cloudy [illegible] cold weather, with slight snow in some localities. Peterborough was again visited with snow at an early hour this morning. At 7 o'clock the thermometer indicated 3° above zero, gradually rising to 15° at noon, and again falling several degrees during the afternoon. There was a south-west wind during the early part of the day, changing to westerly, with a clear sky.

THREE THOUSAND GHILZAIS REPULSED BY COL. NORMAN AT JUGDALLAK.

A [illegible]—Irresolution Leading to Loss of Strength by the Enemy, Gen. Gough Joins Gen. Roberts

Press Despatches via Cable and Montreal Lines.

LONDON, Dec. 26.—A Calcutta despatch says three Ghilzais attacked Col. Norman at Jugdallak on the afternoon of the 23rd, but were beaten off with loss and dispersed. Major Thackeray was badly wounded. One Sepoy was killed and one wounded.

SHIRPUR AND CABUL.

A Bombay despatch, dated Wednesday, says: —"Yesterday a small column of infantry cleared the close country between Shirpur and Cabul. This action has restored confidence in the city, where the most influential people are with us. Were it necessary to save them, Gen. Roberts says he would attack the enemy immediately. If no opportunity to strike a blow offers before Gen. Gough arrives, Gen. Roberts will make an attack the day following his arrival."

THE ENEMY'S WEAKNESS.

A despatch from Cabul says:—"The first move of General Roberts will be to eject the enemy from the Bala Hissar and the city. This effected, the troops may be spared further offensive efforts during the winter. It is possible the combination against us, which is not national, but feebly religious, will collapse. From irresolution, the combination has within the last few days apparently lost much strength."

SUSPICIOUS STRANGERS.

A correspondent at Lahore reports that a suspicious movement is noticed proceeding from the Afghanistan frontier. Afghans in small parties are travelling to different parts of India. Every train for the interior takes from twenty to forty Afghans. The authorities are on the alert, and will watch the travellers. Another curious circumstance is the fact that large numbers of Arabs are constantly arriving at Bombay, and although they are stopped at the railway stations whenever there is any ground for suspicion, they make their way to various cities of the interior by the by-roads. The matter is attracting the earnest attention of the Government.

RUSSIAN GOLD.

LONDON, Dec. 26.—A private letter from a British soldier in Cabul, states that one of Yakoob Khan's generals told Sir Frederick Roberts that Yakoob Khan himself signed the death warrant of the embassy, and ordered the bodies of the murdered men to be dragged through the streets of Cabul. The same letter confirms the statement that £80,000 worth of gold was found in Cabul.

A LITTLE INSURRECTION.

An Officer of the State of Maine Resisted by a Mob While Removing Arms from the Arsenal.

By Telegraph to the Review.

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—The Herald's Bangor despatch, speaking of the interference by the citizen's yesterday with the execution of the Governor's orders for the removal of arms and ammunition from the State arsenal, says the scene was immediately in front of the office of the Whig, of which Boutelle, the most violent of the Republican counsellors, is editor. The reins of the foremost horses were seized and the drivers were commanded to halt. The shouting and scuffling which occurred drew fresh accessions of numbers, until the streets, for rods around, were blocked with a surging mass of men. The excitement, which had hitherto been of a subdued nature, disciplined-like the ardour of a military host, now threatened to pass all bounds of civic decorum. Never was there a coincidence of conditions which together seemed more likely to bring forth

RIOT AND DEATH.

The party of the Governor were palpably at a disadvantage as to force, and they therefore prudently refrained from attempting to make their way from the depot. They vainly, however, called upon the rioters to respect the representatives of the orders of the Executive, who desired to do nothing contrary to the laws. The excited populace was addressed by Editor Boutelle, who said, "It is a strange coincidence that on this merry Christmas Day, while we are trying to enjoy ourselves with our families, the Democrats should be counted in, that Joe Smith should be in the city, and that on the same day loads of guns and ammunition should be attempted to be hauled through our peaceful streets. Gentlemen, this is a serious matter; I counsel moderation." The horses had been unhitched from the ammunition waggons by the crowd, but on the determination to return the arms to the arsenal being known, they were surrendered to the teamsters. Col. White thinks that the State Government will eventually secure the desired arms. The arsenal in Bangor is the only one in the State. The Herald's Augusta despatch says that great excitement was occasioned there last night by the news from Bangor. Mayor Nash, of Augusta, has been notified of the overt act in Bangor, and has given orders to the chief of the police to make every preparation necessary to guard the State house and the property of the citizens from any acts of violence that may be attempted. Prompt measures will be taken by Governor Garcelon to put down against the State government. The fact that a State officer has been attacked in the streets of Bangor, the home of Senator Hamlin, while in the discharge of his official duty, will justify the Governor in appealing to the militia of the State for their support. The end is not yet.

THE INSURRECTION

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

LARGE AND INFLUENTIAL DEPUTATION RECEIVED BY FOUR MINISTERS.

Sir John Macdonald and Sir Chas. Tupper Express Themselves in Favour of the Construction of the Canal.

OTTAWA, Dec. 23.—This morning the members of the Trent Valley deputation waited upon the Government with reference to their scheme. The deputation comprised among others:—Messrs. Keeler, H. Cameron, Cockburn, Hilliard and Burnham, M.P.'s; Messrs. Blezard and Peck, M. P.P.'s, and the following gentlemen:—Mr. J. Carnegie, Mayor Lundy, Councillor H. H. Smith, Peterborough; Mr. Chas. Fairbairn, Warden of Victoria; Mr. George Bick, Reeve of Bobcaygeon; Mr. Junkin, Deputy-Reeve of Verulam; Mr. A. Carmichael, Reeve of Eldon; J. Ashman, Deputy-Reeve of Eldon; G. Bedford, Reeve of Seymour; J. Dinwoodie, Reeve of Lakefield; M. Sanderson, Reeve of Smith; D. Costello, Reeve of Ennismore; John Lang, Reeve of Otonabee; T. Roche, Reeve of Asphodel; E. G. Sills, Reeve of Sidney; E. Pearce, County Clerk of Peterborough; Henry Collins, Reeve of Monaghan; James S. Fowlds, Reeve of Hastings; R. Romaine, Peterborough; J. R. Barber, Superintendent of the Midland Railway, Cobourg; D. W. Dumble, Peterborough; Mayor Rivard and Ald. Nelson, Montreal; D. Murphy and J. N. Lane, Trenton; T. Pearce, Warden of Hastings; J. Irwin, Reeve of Harvey; A. R. Kidd, Reeve of Dummer; S. Borden, Warden of Northumberland and Durham; J. Dickson, Reeve of Fenelon Falls; J. Daniel, Reeve of Fenelon; J. Hall, Lakefield; Geo. C. Rogers, Ashburnham; W. L. Payne, Reeve of Colborne; E. Cochrane, Reeve of Cramahe; Thos. Webb, Reeve of Brighton Village; D. Crouter, Reeve of Brighton Township; H. McQuaid, Reeve of Murray; J. L. Soron, Reeve of Percy; W. Nobles, Reeve of Haldimand; W. Brisbane, Reeve of Alnwick; Jas. Golborne, Reeve of Burleigh; Ald. Robertson, Belleville.

The members of Parliament introduced the delegates to the members of the Government present; who were Sir Charles Tupper, chairman, Sir John A. Macdonald, Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, and Hon. M. Masson. The chairman of the deputation was Mayor Lundy, of Peterborough, and the Secretary, Mr. H. H. Smith, Councillor, of Peterborough. Mr. Trudeau, Deputy-Minister of Railways and Canals, was also present.

Mayor Lundy, of Peterborough, as chairman of the deputation, thanked the Ministers for the reception accorded them, and presented a number of petitions in favour of the scheme. A copy of the petition has already appeared in the REVIEW. He also presented the following memorandum:—

Memorandum of reasons why the Dominion should undertake the improvement of the inland navigation of the Valley of the Trent, so as to enable western produce to obtain its cheapest outlet to the tide-water of the St. Lawrence.

Notwithstanding the vast area of our North-West Provinces and territories, and the great grain-producing capabilities of its soil, notwithstanding the rapid settlement of the country, and the unexampled rapidity with which it will be a grain exporting country, the settlement and development of the country will meet with a check and be a disappointment unless such facilities are afforded for the cheap transport of its exports as will ensure to the western farmer a fair return for his labour and enterprise. Experience has proved that railways alone cannot cope with the trade or offer such advantageous terms as when brought into competition with [illegible] water routes. In view of this [illegible], it is believed that a line of navigation [illegible], with great advantage, be opened between the St. Lawrence River and Lake Huron by means of the River Trent and the lakes connected therewith and the waters of Lake Simcoe, so as to materially shorten the distance between Montreal and the Far West for trade purposes. Taking a common point near the Strait of Mackinaw, which all eastward-bound vessels from Lakes Superior and Michigan must pass, it will be found that the distance from that point to Kingston by the valley of the Trent is about 480 miles—made up of about [illegible] miles of open lake, 200 of still-water navigation, and 60 of canal proper—as compared with a distance of [illegible] miles by the present route, between the same points via the lakes, made up of 600 miles of lake and 75 miles of dangerous river and lake navigation, and 27 miles of canal. It will thus be seen that the Trent Valley route effects a saving of over one-third of the entire distance between [illegible] points mentioned, and reduces the distance to Montreal to within [illegible] miles of that to Buffalo from the same points on the western lakes, thus placing our own seaport of Montreal [illegible] miles nearer the wheat fields of the West than New York. With this advantage Montreal would command the Western trade as against New York, or any American seaport and by becoming the great through point for grain, would, by the Intercolonial Railway and the eastern seaports of the St. Lawrence, keep up a winter trade to an extent now unknown.

The same cheap transport which brought to our Provinces the grain would enable our cities to push their manufactured goods into the West at rates that would secure the trade. Not only will the opening of this route effect a very great saving in time and distance, but as it avoids the most dangerous navigation of the St. Clair, Lake Erie, and the eastern portion of Lake Ontario, the cost of insurance will be greatly reduced; while in the fact that on this route the ship navigation is uninterrupted on the western, and the barge navigation continued on the eastern portion, we have conditions which secure the lowest possible rates of freight, inasmuch as combined with decreased mileage, time and insurance, the most economical vessel for each kind of navigation can be used, and that too with but a single transhipment between Chicago, Duluth, or Thunder Bay and Montreal. Great and important as would be the opening of this route to our North-West, it would scarcely be less important in developing the dormant resources of the older Provinces. Contiguous to and along the line of the barge navigation are valuable and extensive deposits of iron ore, which only require to find a cheap and convenient shipping point with Lower Provinces and become a profitable working; while the country through which it passes, or to which barges would have access, abounds in various minerals and [illegible] which only require [illegible] means of transit to render them valuable, and prove the means of affording profitable labor to thousands.

Moreover, the development of a great forwarding trade, which we do not now possess, would add materially to the commercial industries and employment of various classes of our people, increasing our population and wealth to such an extent as rapidly to give back to the Government large returns for the expenditure of its money. The history of the Erie Canal, notwithstanding the heavy lockage, the moderate capacity and slow speed of its boats, and great length as compared with the Trent Valley route, and the fact that it has much more than paid for itself while saving millions to the producers and consumers of the United States, proves conclusively that it has been the chief element of the commercial prosperity and greatness of both the city and State of New York. We may fairly argue therefrom that if we wish to build up our own seaports, foster our own shipping interests, and develop our interprovincial trade, we must provide a route through our own country capable of competing successfully with the present channels leading to New York. The Americans [illegible] Canada to shorten their routes to the West. Nature has given us a line of water almost continuous, which, with small expenditure, would give us a water route incomparably shorter and more [illegible] than any existing [illegible] route, and one which [illegible]. We believe that [illegible] we should utilize it, and take the advantage it offers, and we respectfully submit to the Government of our country the necessity of early action to complete this canal, that at the earliest possible day the vast trade which nature has placed in our power to control should be [illegible] its [illegible] channel, to the benefit of our country.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

JOHN J. LUNDY,
Chairman.
H. H. SMITH,
Secretary.

MR. HECTOR CAMERON, M.P., being called upon, stated that he was not so familiar with the subject as some other members of the deputation, notably Messrs. Keeler and Carnegie, but he felt that the question was one of general importance, and was not of a sectional or local character. Even if it were looked upon from this narrow view, however, he felt that this section of the country should not be overlooked. The country was of a very fertile character, and had been greatly blessed by nature for the purposes of a channel of inter-lake navigation. The proposed system of navigation would be about 200 miles in length, and according to Mr. Stark's estimate would only require the construction of some 60 miles of canal to connect the various stretches of water. He narrated the facts relative to the transference of the works to the Ontario Government by the late Administration, and the cancelling of the transference by their successors, acting on a report presented to the House of Commons last session by a committee specially appointed to consider the question in relation to the proposed canal. The first question to be considered was, What engineering difficulties, etc., are there to the completion of the scheme? But such a problem had been satisfactorily solved by Mr. Stark, who reported that there were none. As to the cost, he estimated it would be about three millions of dollars. It was only contemplated to build a canal giving five feet of water in the locks. It was said by many that the day of canals was passed, but statistics proved the contrary. Recent statistics showed that two-thirds of all the grain which entered the port of New York was conveyed by canals, and only one-third by the numerous railways which entered that city.

SIR CHARLES TUPPER—Was that last year?

MR. CAMERON, resuming, replied in the affirmative, and said that that statement was satisfactory proof to him that the days of canals were not past. No doubt water afforded the cheapest means of carrying grain. He believed that the demands of our own North-West and the North-Western States for the exportation of cereals would give ample employment for every canal and every railroad that could be built to communicate with them. The construction of the section of the Canada Pacific Railway from Thunder Bay to Manitoba seemed to require the construction of such a canal as this. When the grain arrived at Thunder Bay, should it be carried down the lake through the canal, or should ample means of communication through their own territory be provided? Cargoes transferred into barges on the Georgian Bay would pass down this canal to the Bay of Quinte and to the St. Lawrence without transhipment. Only a partial benefit was derived from the cargoes of vessels passing through the Welland Canal, while by this scheme Montreal would be the great exporting point. Another consideration for the Government was that this canal would benefit the St. Lawrence canals, on which the Government was spending so much money, and which, he was free to admit, scarcely paid the interest on the principal. It was said that the construction of this canal would provide a rival to the Welland Canal, on which the Dominion Government had expended so much money; but it must be apparent to every thinking man that the Welland Canal was in direct competition with the Erie Canal, and that this proposed, was an entirely supplementary scheme. The relative distances from western points to the seaboard via the Welland and Erie Canals was slightly in favour of the later, and from that circumstance he drew an argument in favour of the Trent River scheme. He concluded by expressing confidence in the Government's impartial consideration of the claims of this scheme—a scheme in which his constituents had so deep an interest.

MR. CARNEGIE, who was the second delegate to speak, said that he rose to address the members of the Government with great diffidence. But he knew that the scheme would be considered on its merits, no matter how inadequately presented. Were the scheme of a merely local character he would not have appeared in its support; but he believed it to be one of general importance. He pointed out that the Erie Canal stood unrivalled in the grain carrying trade, and said that if that canal had been successful with railroads running alongside, and labouring under the difficulties with which it had to contend, how much more successful ought this one to be! The draught of water in the Erie Canal locks was only one foot more than that at present in the Trent navigation works, while the locks were longer and wider in the latter case. He did not like the word "canal," as it was really a line of lake and river navigation. They had the distance largely in their favour. As to the shipment of grain from the western lakes to the seaboard, he found that for one week in September this year one million of bushels had been brought into the port of New York by rail, as against two and a half millions by the Erie Canal. The carrying capacity of the latter, however, was to be increased by the use of the cable system of towage, which although the best for the Erie, would not equal the tug system which could be applied on the Trent River works. In order to illustrate the incapacity of the present railroad accommodation to transport the produce of the West, he quoted from a report by the Montreal Transportation Company, in which it was said that five tugs and twenty-seven barges carried over six million bushels of grain. Allowing four hundred bushels to each car, and twenty-five cars to each train, this would have filled 600 trains, running at the rate of six trains per day, in addition to the ordinary traffic for one hundred days. He asked if the Grand Trunk Railway could have carried that grain in the time if the barges had not been available. If such was the case now, what would be the position when the fifty or one hundred millions of bushels that were expected came pouring down from the North-west? However, there was no real opposition between the canal scheme and the railways, because it was really in the interest of the latter that the canal should be built. The canal would carry wheat, which required cheaper freight than the railways could afford, while the development of trade thus caused would enable the railways to devote their accommodation to butter and other kinds of farm produce, the freight rates for which were more lucrative than those for grain. He supposed the great question with the Government was where the money was to come from. He thought from the expenditure point of view there was one point in favour of this project, as compared with others, viz., the whole of the money would be expended on labour. If the work were spread over a few years it would not be a very heavy drain, even on the ordinary revenue, which he was vain enough to think would increase rapidly under the N. P. (Laughter.) He pointed out how the early completion at least of a portion of the scheme would tend to the development of local trade, and instanced the mining industry in Marmora, the ore therefrom even now being carried partly by rail and partly by water to Cobourg, and thence to the United States, as evidence of what might be looked for were proper facilities afforded for bringing this ore and Nova Scotia coal together for smelting purposes. Viewed from every standpoint, he believed that the Dominion was deeply interested in the construction of the work. There was no way by which the Government could more cheaply provide means of exportation for the grain of the West than by the construction of the Trent Valley navigation system. He hoped that the Government would see their way to carrying out so great a work at no distant a date.

SIR CHARLES TUPPER asked Mr. Carnegie if the deputation had considered the comparative merits of this scheme as compared with the navigation of the Ottawa, which aimed at the same object.

MR. CARNEGIE in reply said that the Ottawa scheme was estimated to cost from twelve to twenty-seven millions—and this did not include anything for a harbour at the mouth of the French River. It was further north, and would not be open so long in the year as the Trent route. Besides, while the French River was far from safe for shipping, requiring a large expenditure of money, at the western entrance of the Trent route was one of the finest and safest harbours on the lakes. There was only twenty miles in distance in favour of the Ottawa scheme, and this he did not think would justify the extra expenditure. He believed that ultimately both schemes would be required, but thought that they should first build the one that could be the most easily and cheaply constructed.

MR. MCCUAIG expressed the opinion that a five feet draught of water barge (less than the Erie Canal) would not carry sufficient grain to enable them to cheapen the cost of transport.

MR. CARNEGIE replied that although at one foot less draft, the present locks on the route were nearly double the width, and over twenty feet longer giving them a larger capacity than those of the Erie Canal. It was laid down in the report of the canal commission that the most profitable vessel was one which carried one ton for each mile of the length of trip. If that were correct, 450 tons would be the most profitable size of barges for this route and he was informed that these locks could pass barges carrying five hundred tons. As a proof that large barges were not required, he stated that although the Erie locks passed barges of 250 tons a large majority of the barges built for that route in '78 were under 200 tons.

In reply to another question,

MR. CARNEGIE said it was proposed to unload the lake propellers at Midland and transport the grain in barges from that point to Montreal. He had also been informed that it was better to carry the grain in small bulk, because of the facility thus afforded for transferring the grain to sea-going vessels.

MR. MCCUAIG said that he did not oppose the scheme, but the question which the country at large would ask would be—How could the cost of transport be reduced by the carrying out of their views? It was a question with him with the undertakings they had on hand, whether they were not a little fast.

MR. CARNEGIE said the Trent Valley scheme offered decided advantages in point of economy. Taking the rates from Chicago to Buffalo, and from Buffalo to New York for 1878 and applying them to this route, a considerable saving could be effected—notwithstanding that such a comparison was unfair to the Trent route. In the matter of insurance, a large saving would also be effected.

MR. HILLIARD, M.P., gave an illustration to that effect.

MR. KEELER, M.P., gave a historical resume of the agitation, and pointed to the fact that before the troubles of '37 the Government expended $670,000 on this work, of which portions will still be in excellent condition. He then recited several arguments in favor of adopting the Trent River scheme. Instead of freight being carried round two sides of a triangle, as via the lakes, it would, through the Trent River Canal, pass across the base, and effect a great saving in distance. As to the question of cost, the arguments in its favor were still greater. The Ottawa and French River scheme would cost from twelve to twenty-seven millions of dollars. This provided for a greater draught of water; but reducing it to the same draught, it would still cost three times more than the Trent Valley scheme. As compared with Mr. Capreol's scheme the advantages were still stronger in their favor. No man with a knowledge of engineering would regard the Huron and Ontario Canal scheme as practicable. The cost was estimated at thirty-six millions of dollars, and a large subsidy of land was to be given to the promoters of the scheme. Another rival—although rather northern—was the Hudson Bay scheme. He did not think it was necessary to consider this seriously at the present time, as it would be many years hence before it could be realized. As to the trade which they might expect, he might state that England purchased some 150 million bushels of breadstuffs. Of this all the British North American Provinces supplied was seven and three-quarter millions, the United States eighty-two millions, and the rest of the world sixty-three millions. Three-fourths of the wheat-belt was located in the Dominion, and some day he thought we should supply the world with one-half of its breadstuffs. He consequently considered that no time should be lost in providing facilities for the transportation of the quantities of grain which they might expect to be forwarded from the North-West within the next few years. He considered it to be the duty of the Government to seriously consider this scheme, and devise means, if possible, to carry it out, and he pressed upon them the necessity for considering the proposition in a proper light.

MAYOR RIVARD, of Montreal, said that on behalf of the city of Montreal he could not commit himself to any expression of opinion on the matter. He merely was present to watch and report on the proceedings.

ALD. NELSON, of Montreal, endorsed the Mayor's remarks, and spoke of the great wheat producing qualities of the North-West, and the necessity for proper communication being afforded. He was not prepared to commit himself to the Trent Valley scheme, [illegible] er depth should be secured. He was wedded to a certain extent to the Ottawa scheme, believing that it would be less liable to be tapped. He believed that the present effort was in the interests of the country, and that if three to five millions of dollars would secure it, it would be money well invested. After urging upon the deputation the fact that broad liberal views on all public questions should be taken, and sectional interests not permitted to solely actuate them, he embraced the opportunity of attacking the Coteau Bridge scheme, on the ground that it would be carrying trade to American channels, and he urged on the Government the duty of refusing to permit its construction.

MR. E. G. SILLS, Reeve of Sidney, referred to the water-power capacity of the Trent River to grind into flour all the wheat passing over it.

MR. DUMBLE, of Peterborough, directed attention to the fact that the waters of the Trent River could easily be controlled and dammed, and was in every way suitable for such a line of navigation.

Some controversy between Mr. McCuaig and the rest of the deputation arose at this point as to whether ordinary flat-bottomed canal barges carried grain across the lake, Mr. McCuaig maintaining the affirmative view, and Mr. T. R. Murphy, of Trenton, Ald. Robertson, of Belleville, and Mr. Hilliard, M.P., the negative.

SIR CHARLES TUPPER re-expressed his sense of indebtedness to the deputation for having discussed, in the presence of the Premier, his colleagues and himself, this question, which was undoubtedly one of very great importance. Any one who looked at the maps could see why for fifty years past a good deal of attention had been devoted to the Trent navigation. The late Government—he might say the Government of his right hon. friend—had passed an Order in Council transferring the works already constructed from the Dominion Government to the Ontario Government, upon the condition that they should be maintained. After their accession to office their attention was called to the fact that their predecessors had exceeded their powers and transferred this work to the Government of Ontario not only without a guarantee that the latter should maintain them, but in the face of a declaration that they had no intention of doing so, and the transfer had consequently been cancelled. Apart from these considerations the present Government were prompted to cancel the transfer on account of the probability of the system of navigation being considered as one of the prospective outlets from the upper lakes of the produce of the North-West of the Dominion and the North-Western States of the adjoining country, which territory on both sides of the frontier found this portion of Canada afforded the most convenient and economic means of communication with the seaboard. Under these circumstances the present Government not only reversed the action of their predecessors, but sent an able engineer to examine and report upon the whole of this question, in order to furnish the fullest information upon the matter. The engineer, Mr. Stark, had reported that for three millions of dollars they could accomplish the work, as Mr. Carnegie had said, with a depth of five feet in the mitre-sills, with double the width of the Erie Canal, and with locks of greater dimensions. Mr. Stark had not only found that this could be accomplished by an expenditure of three millions, but also that the distance might be shortened by passing across instead of taking the circuitous route now pursued. He need not tell them that the Government was most anxious to look at the question in the broadest aspect, but in the present financial position of the country they were unable to carry out all the projects which were found perfectly feasible, sound, and desirable. In the present financial condition of the country, when the Finance Minister was endeavouring to place the Government upon a sounder financial basis than it had unfortunately occupied for several years past, and when it was necessary that the credit of the country should be maintained abroad, it would be the duty as well as the aim of the Right Hon. the Premier and his colleagues to approach the subject with due reference to the great public work which the country was at present engaged in pushing. It was perfectly obvious to every one that the decreasing of the cost of transporting grain must have an important effect in the contributing to the rapid development and settlement of the North-West, and the question of cheapening the transportation of the produce of the North-West must at an early day occupy the Government's attention. The Government, he need hardly say, was most anxious that the traffic to the seaboard should pass through their own country as far as possible. He closed by stating that the subject would be carefully considered by him, with a view of adopting the deputation's wishes at the earliest possible moment that the country's finances permitted.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD said that he had but little to add to the remarks made by the Minister of Railways and Canals. He referred to the history of the work, spoke of its importance, and said that the views of the delegation would receive the fullest consideration. Primâ facie it was shown to be a valuable scheme, and if, after further investigation, it was shown that the work could be prosecuted for the present estimates, and if Parliament thought the resources of the country would enable the Government to undertake the work it would be done.

MR. CAMERON, M.P., referred to a charter for this work, given to a private corporation, but which had expired by lapse of time, and he evidently sought to make the Minister of Railways promise that the work should only be undertaken as a Government work.

SIR CHARLES TUPPER stated that the Government would throw no obstacle in the way of private enterprise, but proper guarantees would be expected.

MR. CAMERON was of opinion that the Government should keep the work in their own hands. He hoped that the Government would be able shortly to ask Parliament, if not for a grant to build the work, at least for a subsidy to make further investigation.

After a vote of thanks had been passed by the deputation to the members of the Government present, the deputation withdrew.

LAKEFIELD NEWS.

From Our Own Correspondent.

LITHOGRAPHIC STONE SUCCESS.

Mr. John Richardson, of this village, has shown us an excellent lithograph printed from the lithographic stone taken out of the quarry in Harvey this last fall. The stone, which has been put to practical test in the United States, has proved remarkably satisfactory. The tints of the picture are [illegible] fine, and is pronounced by experts here to be an excellent production. We understand that a company has been formed in the United States, with ample means, called the North American Lithographic Stone Company, for the purpose of developing this industry in this part of the country. If there is a strong probability of the Trent Valley Canal going ahead, we understand that this company will put in saws, rubbing tables, &c., next spring, in order to facilitate the quarrying of this stone. Suitable water communication is all that is required to make lithographic stone quarrying on the shores of the inland waters of the County of Peterborough a gigantic affair. The position of these stone quarries with regard to transit is simply a convincing argument in favour of the early commencement of this important undertaking.

TAXES COLLECTED.

Our Tax Collector has succeeded in accomplishing his task of collecting tribute within the time the law allows without making a single seizure. It is doubtful whether any other Collector in the county has been so successful. We have no doubt but that if some of the adjoining towns and villages, which are in so much trouble and difficulty about collecting their taxes were to apply to Mr. Payton, our excellent Collector, they might obtain the assistance they so much require—but perhaps the people in those places are very different. The school teachers were paid their salaries in full on Saturday, being the first time the salaries were paid in full before the holidays, or when due, since Lakefield has had a school. Lakefield is looking up just now.

MUNICIPAL MATTERS.

Municipal matters seem to be settling down considerably lately. The contest for the Reeveship will undoubtedly be between Mr. John Hull and Mr. [illegible]. It is not likely that a third party will take the field. It is also generally thought the four old Councillors will again receive the confidence of the electors, in fact the majority seem to favor their election by acclamation. It is rumored that a caucus was held [illegible] on Queen Street, at which a council was selected to consist of Mr. John Hull, as Reeve, and Messrs. John H. McWilliams, Kenneth Urquhart, John Richardson and Wm. Cox, sr., as councillors.

SCHOOL CENSUS.

Mr. G. J. Galvin is engaged at present in taking the school census, and obtaining other necessary information to fill out the annual school report to the Minister of Education. The Lakefield Public School Board deem it their duty to make this report correct in every particular, and not, as is too often the case, to use mere guess work, hence they have engaged Mr. Galvin for the purpose of taking the census, having confidence that the work will be correctly and conscientiously done.

COUNCIL MEETING.

The Village Council meets to-night for the purpose of passing a by-law to close up the concession line between Church Street and Water Street, and also a by-law to open a new street between Water and Church Streets.

NOMINATION.

The nomination of candidates for Reeve and Councillors will be held in the Council Room in this village on Monday next, at noon. A lively time is expected.

CONDUCTOR MCLEAN.

The numerous friends in Lakefield of Mr. John McLean are delighted with his appointment as conductor on this part of the Midland Railway. Mr. McLean is an old, tried and faithful servant of the Midland Railway Company, which has only done itself and the public justice by his advancement. It is a wise policy on the part of any corporation to reward its faithful servants.

YOUNG'S POINT.

From Our Own Correspondent.

HIGH WATER.—The water here is very high for this season of the year. The dams have broken away in the back country, which accounts for it.

COLD SNAP.—The weather last Saturday and Sunday was very severe. The sleighing is excellent now for lumbering operations.

COUNCILLORS FOR 1880.—There is not much talk of any opposition to the old councillors. Really the ratepayers in this section should begin and bestir themselves and nominate some live man, who will look after the interests in this end of Smith. We are [illegible] in the shape of grants of money for roads, and in fact ignored altogether. We live too far away, and the councillors do not take a ride often enough in a buggy as far as Burleigh Bridge in the spring or fall, when the roads are nearly impassible.

THE BRIDGE.—Mr. Geo. Chalmers has placed two planks on the large hole at the lower end of the bridge which should have been attended to by some official in the employ of the County Council. Your correspondent some time ago drew attention to the state of the bridge through your columns. It is a wonder some valuable horse did not get its leg broken.

Horrible Accident from Vitriol.

At Scranton, Pa., a boy aged 15 was bringing home a bottle of vitriol on horseback when the cork came out and the liquor gradually saturated his clothes. A sharp sting of pain made him grasp the bottle, which tipped over and spilled the vitriol on the horse and rider. The beast, maddened with pain, started off to the mine, the vitriol [illegible] and was found dead by the roadside. His appearance showed that he had undergone terrible writhing in trying to tear his clothing from the afflicted portions of his body. The vitriol had eaten his face and body, and his lower limbs had been burned to the bone. A long gash was found in his head, where he had struck a large stone, and his hands were shrivelled and drawn. He had managed to tie the two mules which he had with him to a tree, and then proceeded a short distance away. He was scarcely recognizable, his face having been frightfully scarred.

"German Syrup."

No other medicine in the world was ever given such a test of its curative qualities as Boschee's German Syrup. In three years two million four hundred thousand small bottles of this medicine were distributed free of charge by Druggists in this country to those afflicted with Consumption, Asthma, Croup, severe Coughs, Pneumonia and other diseases of the Throat and Lungs, giving the American people undeniable proof that German Syrup will cure them. The result has been that Druggists in every town and village in the United States are recommending it to their customers. Go to your Druggist, and ask what they know about it. Sample bottles 10 cents. Regular size 75 cents. Three doses will relieve any case. dw51-1y

Remedy for Hard Times.

Stop spending so much on fine clothes, rich food and style. Buy good, healthy food, cheaper and better clothing; get more real and substantial things of life every way and especially stop the foolish habit of running after expensive and quack doctors or using so much of the vile humbug medicine that does you only harm and makes the proprietors rich, but put your trust in the greatest of all simple, pure remedies, Hop Bitters, that cures always at a trifling cost, and you will see better times and good health. Try it once. Read of it in another column. d146-1y

Cetewayo at Capetown.

A private letter from Capetown contains the following:—"Sir Bartle Frere, in his interview with the Zulu King, asked him if there was anything he wished for, and Cetewayo, after a slight demur, said that he should like to have the floor of his room cleaner. He has astonished his enemies not a little by his courteous manner and cleanliness. I have often heard people say, 'Why, one can't imagine he is such a monster of wickedness and cruelty to look at his face.' I understand that Cetewayo has said that it was his distinct orders that no officer should be killed, and that when his army returned from Isandula he asked where the officer prisoners were, and they said they could not distinguish the officers from the men. I must not forget to tell you that Cetewayo takes an interest in illustrated papers, and when he was shown one of them with a picture of himself sharpening a knife to kill Grandier, he burst out laughing, and said he never knew what a real lie was until he saw that. I hear that he has been suffering from rheumatism lately. It is said that he cannot bear to hear John Dunn's name mentioned—one cannot wonder at that."

Breechloading Guns.

Two 100 ton breechloading guns which Sir William Armstrong is making for the Italian Government at his factory near Newcastle will be the largest breechloaders ever turned out. The system of the breech will be a modification of that known as the French screw-relieve system—a screw through which smooth ways are cut, enabling it to be readily drawn out at a certain position, and to be tightly fastened in its place by a mere turn of a few inches. When extricated, the breech screw will run out of the way on a small carriage, and the loading apparatus, which will be worked by hydraulic power, will then have uninterrupted play. Arrangements will be made for loading at the muzzle as well as the breech by the same apparatus, all the addition necessary being a sort of trough of communication to make up for the difference in length between the breech end and the chase or barrel. The English War Department has considered the plans of these and other breechloading guns, and a great change in the whole system of artillery is impending.

A GREAT deal of annoyance is experienced in using barrels, tubs, &c., from the frequent loosening or bursting of the hoops caused by the shrinking or swelling of the staves. Mr. Adolph Einstein, of Waconia, Minn., has recently patented a device for avoiding this difficulty. The invention consists of a hoop made of wire bent into corrugations, so that it will have a serpentine form. This hoop when driven upon a barrel or tub will compress and hold the staves tightly together like the ordinary hoop, but will have elasticity or spring enough to stretch when the staves expand by moisture, and return to its former position when the staves again contract upon becoming dry. In this way the hoops will adapt themselves to the expansion and contraction of the barrel, and the annoyance of loose or bursting hoops will be avoided.—Scientific American.

A Good Account.

"To sum it up, six long years of bed-ridden sickness and suffering, costing [illegible] total, [illegible] all of which was stopped by three bottles of Hop Bitters taken by my wife, who has done her own housework for a years since without the loss of a day, and I want everybody to know of it for their benefit."

d146-1y "John Weeks, Butler, N. Y."

Cut this Out—It May Save Your Life.

There is no person living but what suffers more or less with Lung Disease, Coughs, Colds or Consumption, yet some would die rather than pay 75 cents for a bottle of medicine that would cure them. Dr. A. Boschee's German Syrup has lately been introduced in this country from Germany, and its wonderful cures astonish every one that try it. If you doubt what we say in print, cut this out and take it to your Druggist, and get a sample bottle for 10 cents and try it, or a regular size for 75 cents. dw51-1y

Misery's Throne.

Of all the miserable and unhappy creatures in existence, there are none more so than the confined dyspeptic. Life is a burden, and if the sufferer does not soon obtain relief he soon sinks into a dreary misanthrope, with the germs of consumption lurking dangerously near. The only known remedy [illegible] is [illegible] Cod Liver Oil combined with Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda. With this medicine the incubus is removed, and the embryo seeds of consumption scattered. It is also nearly as pleasant to the taste as sweet cream. [illegible]

A Conundrum Propounded.

Why will the "small boy" persist in eating green apples? The reader may as well give it up at once, [illegible] early or unripe fruit is first introduced, is the one they are most severely taxed in cases of colic, diarrhoea, dysentery, &c. Young and old are affected, but boys and girls are the easiest victims and the greatest sufferers. There is no peace, comfort or safety in the family unless it be kept provided with a proper remedy. [illegible] Price 25 cents. [illegible]

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

Curling Club.

There will be a meeting of members at the rink to-night, to make final arrangements for the bonspeil.

Entertainment.

The musical and dramatic entertainment by the pupils of the Convent takes place this evening and promises to be excellent.

Presentation.

On Monday, the 22nd December, the scholars of S. S., No. 3, Douro, presented their teacher, Mr. Emmerson, with a bible as a token of their regard for him.

The Fire Brigade Band.

The Peterborough Fire Brigade Band, in full uniform, left town on Christmas morning for Omemee, where they went to participate in a grand concert.

Christmas at the Rink.

The rink was largely patronized on Christmas Day by skaters and the Curling Club who played several games. The ice on all the rinks was in a splendid condition. It is said that it was never better.

A Lively Christmas.

George street was the centre of attraction on Christmas Day. The sleighing was never better, and the street was made alive with sleighing parties flitting to and fro in the full enjoyment of the delightful weather we were having.

Recovering.

We are glad to be able to state that Mr. W. H. Scott, M. P. P., is now convalescent, after having been confined to his bed for many weeks through a protracted and severe illness, and that he hopes in a few days to be able to return to his office.

Another Valuable Addition to Our Club List

We have received permission from the Burland Lithographic Company, of Montreal, to club the Canadian Illustrated News with the WEEKLY REVIEW, to new subscribers, at the following reduced rates:—

	Regular Price.	Weekly Review.	Our Price for both.
ILLUSTRATED NEWS	$4.00	$1.50	$4.50

Chicken Thieves Around.

Chicken thieves are about. The henery of Mr. Chas. Ormond, on Court House hill, was broken into on Christmas Eve, and several of the choicest of his stock of fowls were stolen. The third and fourth wards, in the northern part of the town have suffered from chicken thieves, as well as from clothes line thieves.

Christmas Offerings.

St. George's Society, through a committee appointed for the purpose, distributed on Christmas eve, beef and groceries to a large number of families, who were enabled to enjoy a good dinner. These acts of kindness go a great way toward the cementing the masses with a bond of mutual friendship.

The Temperature at Christmas.

The self-registering weather indicator at Rev. V. Clementi's residence indicated throughout Christmas eve and up to 9 o'clock on Christmas morning 5° below zero, without any perceptible change during that time. There was a very little change during the day, and the temperature was again low before night.

Pastry, Fruits, etc.

Among the many exhibits for the Christmas holidays, there are none more important than pastry, cakes, fruits and confections. These form a large element in the make up of a good dinner, supper, or for presents to friends. At Lenfey's everything that could be desired in this line, can be found. His display is equal, if not superior, to any of his former efforts. On Wednesday his store was thronged with purchasers who attested the truth of the above.

Chas. Stapleton's Coming Sales.

The following auction sales are advertised to take place at the dates and places mentioned below:—

On Saturday, Dec. 27.—General sale at his auction room of new and second hand furniture, horses, harness, &c. Sale at 11 a.m. No reserve.

On Monday, Dec. 29.—Important unreserved sale of farm stock, implements and household furniture, of Mr. J. W. [illegible], at his residence in the village of Keene. Sale at 12.30 sharp. No reserve.

On Thursday, Jan. 8.—Bona fide sale of lumber of all class, at Messrs. Irwin & Boyd at the Nassau Mills, about 3 miles from Peterborough. Sale at 10 a.m. No reserve. Terms easy.

On Thursday, Jan. 15.—Third annual sale of lumber at the mills of Messrs. McDougall & Ludgate, Harwood. Over 1,000,000 feet of different kinds. Sale to commence at 12.15 sharp. No reserve.

Large Numbers in Town.

For a wet and disagreeable day, the visitors in town were many, and trade was fair. There was a continuous stream of country sleighs coming in from all quarters up to a late hour, and none returned home without buying something. The streets were thronged all day.

Excitement.

On Wednesday afternoon a farmer's sleigh was overturned at the corner of George and Hunter streets, upsetting out the farmer and scattering out the contents of the sleigh on the street, to the great amusement of the crowd on the opposite corner. No damage was done.

A Fitting Reason.

In the Port Hope Town Council a motion was made to place a sum of $100 to the credit of the Sanitary Committee, to enable them to make enquiry into the water supply. This was withdrawn, however, owing to its being very properly represented that an expiring council should not deal with so large a question.

At His Old Tricks Again.

Thos. McCutcheon, who, on sundry occasions, has appeared before the Magistrate to answer to the charge of drunkenness, and has so many times solemnly promised to "touch not, taste not, handle not" the unclean thing, was on Christmas eve provided with a bed in the lock-up by Constable McGhee. On Christmas morning the Magistrate remanded McCutcheon until Friday morning.

Masonic Election of Officers.

At a regular communication of Corinthian Lodge No. 101, A. F. & A. M., held on the evening of the 24th instant, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—

W. Bro. R. A. Morrow .... W. M.
" J. E. Belcher .... S. W.
" R. E. Wood .... J. W.
V. W. " Rev. V. Clementi .... Chaplain.
" [illegible] .... Secretary.
" [illegible] .... Treasurer.
" C. Stapleton .... Tyler.

Fire.

The fine brick cottage of Mr. Geo. T. Leonard situated on Gilchrist Street, north of London Street, was burned at noon to-day. Mr. Leonard had left home, and was on his way to the town when the alarm was sounded. He returned immediately to see where the fire was, when he found to his surprise it was his own dwelling. The fire originated in the kitchen addition, and the west wind swept the flames through the house with such rapidity and force that it was impossible to save anything. The dwelling, kitchen, woodsheds and wood are all swept away by the devouring element. Mr. Leonard, his wife, children and servant saved nothing except the clothing they had on at the time. The great distance from the centre of the town made it impossible for the firemen to save any portion of the premises. The cause of the fire is as yet unknown. The servant says she turned to the door to answer the call of one of the children, and upon her return to the kitchen it was all on fire. There is an insurance on the dwelling and furniture amounting to $1200, in the London, Liverpool and Globe Insurance Company. This is far from covering the loss. Mr. Leonard and his family will remain with his father at present.

Christmas at the Huffman House.

Christmas at the Huffman House was an event long to be remembered by all who participated. The guests were provided with a bountiful dinner, served in true festival style. The tables were furnished with all the luxuries of the season, or that could tempt the appetite. The dining hall is double, with folding doors. These were opened, and the whole thrown into one. It was very tastefully decorated with evergreens and devices of the various clubs belonging to Peterborough. At the southern end were the words, "A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year." In the centre of this might be seen the national insigna. At the opposite end of the hall, and over the archway, might be seen the motto, "A Christmas Welcome," with the emblems of the order of Oddfellows, while upon the right were the Scotch bonnet and cross brooms of the Curling Club, with the motto, "Soop her up." Upon the left were the emblems of the "Tuque Bleue" Club, two Snow Shoes crossed, with the motto, "Our Boys." Over the main entrance to the dining-room were to be seen two lacrosses crossed, with the ball, and surrounded with the motto, "All Your Own Way," very neatly arranged; while opposite was the cap of the assistant chief engineer of the fire department with the trumpet underneath, and the motto, "Ever Ready." In the front portion of the dining-room emblems and devices and mottoes were pleasantly arranged with evergreens. The bill of fare was said to be one of the most attractive ever issued in this part of the country. Another interesting feature of this Christmas at the Huffman House was the presentation to the dining-room waiters, cook and boy, six in all, the sum of $5.00 each, by the guests of the house. The Christmas decorations in other portions of the house were in keeping with those in the dining room, and the whole arrangements reflect credit on all who were engaged in the work. The following was the very recherche menu:—

Sunday School Festival.

On Tuesday evening, the 23rd Dec. the annual Sunday School Festival and Christmas Tree in connection with St. Luke's Church was held in the Town Hall, Ashburnham. The children numbering over 1[illegible], together with their teachers, met at the church at half-past six, from which place they marched in regular file, two by two, to the hall. Here a handsome tree laden with many tasty, useful and handsome gifts was unfolded to their view, and after the singing of a suitable Christmas carol: "Gather around the Christmas Tree," the presents were distributed by the Incumbent, assisted by Mr. R. B. Rogers, B. A. Sc. Much merriment was created during the distribution by the jocular method adopted Mr. Rogers in calling out the names of the little ones, and by the fantastic tricks that were played both on teachers and taught through offering comical little gifts one to another. When the tree had been stripped of its numerous gifts, the following programme was rendered in a manner that drew forth the hearty applause of the audience. The youthful performers all acquitted themselves admirably—Katie Calcutt, Bella Rickey, Francis Rickey and Harry Denne, in particular, receiving well deserved plaudits repeated again and again. The first event on the programme was a hymn by the school, "Carol, Carol Christmas"; then came No. 2, a recitation, "Which She Loves Best"—Katie Calcutt; 3, song, "Beautiful Star"—Rella Rickey; 4, recitation, "A Plea for the Children"—Carrie Bennett; 5, carol by the school, "In the Fields with their flocks Abiding"; 6, recitation, "Work with Your Might";—Clara Ludgate; 7, song, "Tapping at the Gate"—Francis Rickey; 8, recitation, "I think that's wrong, don't you"—Susie Philips; 9. recitation, "Dimes and Dollars"—Henry Adams; 10. carol by the school, "Three Kings of Orient"; 11, recitation, "The Child's Trust"—Maggie Calcutt: 12, sacred song, "Little Dora"—Bella Rickey; 13, "The Christmas Offering" M. Dunlop; 14, Carol by the School, "Carol, Sweetly Carol." 15, Parting address, Henry Denne. 16. God Save the Queen. Miss [illegible] presided at the organ with her usual skill, and to this young lady is due in a great measure the success of the entertainment, as for some months past she has trained the children in singing regularly once a week. They certainly reflect credit on their instructress, and show clearly what pains and diligence can accomplish—in a musical point of view—even in a Sunday School.

GENERAL GOUGH NOT AT CABUL.

Since General Gough passed Latabund no news has been received. The rumors of his arrival at Cabul were premature. The wire to-night is interrupted between Peshawur and Jellalabad.

RAID OF FANATICS ON A BRITISH CAMP.

A Candahar despatch says to-day being a Mahometan festival the fanatical portion of the population was much excited. Some mounted Ghazis ran a muck through the British Camp. General Tytler was wounded. Four fantics were killed.

ALL COMMUNICATION SUSPENDED.

A despatch from Bombay says heliographic signalling with Cabul has been suspended and Jellalabad outposts have been attacked.

Special to the Review, Dec. 27.

A THIEF IN GOOD SOCIETY.—Wm. Hampton was sentenced to six months' imprisonment this morning by the Police Magistrate for stealing a quantity of silk thread from Walker & Co., and some ostrich feathers from John Macdonald. The case created a good deal of excitement, as the prisoner had moved in very good society in the city, and was thought a man of good family and of independent means. A large number of friends of the prisoner were in court, among them being some of the the most fashionable young men in the city. A sensation was created when before delivering sentence, the Magistrate asked the Crown Attorney if there were any previous convictions against the prisoner, and that gentleman stated that Hampton started out in life by being sent to a reformatory prison at New York in company with "Clutch Donohoe," the notorious burglar, and managed to escape in a basket. Then he was sent to the Tombs, and afterwards to Sing Sing, from which place he escaped in a skiff by aid of an hotel keeper. Three years ago he came to Toronto, and during that time has lived on his means.

The Shaughrauns are Coming.

McDowell's famous Shaughraun Vaudeville Company will open for three nights only on Thursday evening, Jan. 1st, 1880, at Bradburn's Opera House with Dion Boucicault's five act drama "Led Astray"; this will be followed on Friday evening, the 2nd, with Lester Wallack's beautiful drama "Rosedale; or, The Rifle Ball," and on Saturday evening will be given the "Colleen Bawn." It is unnecessary for us to speak in praise of this company, as they are already too well known to the public of Peterborough. The London Free Press says:—

"LED ASTRAY."—This play which was of the intensely sensational order, made a decided hit, though it was produced in this city once before by a less talented company, and met with but little appreciation. Mr. and Mrs. E. A. McDowell as "Rodolph," and "Armande Chandoce," kept the high place they already occupied in the estimation of Londoners by their graceful and powerful acting, and were several times called before the curtain. Walter Lennox as "Hector Placide," became a favourite at once. Messrs. Lewis Baker as "George Lesparre," Andrew Waldron as "Mount Gosline," Fred. Hight in the role of "Major O'Hara," Melbourne as "Lafontaine," and Bennett as "Robert," all deserve the praise due to a careful and competent representation of their characters. Miss Lizzie Hight as "Suzanne O'Hara," Miss Florence Vincent, as "The Countess," and Miss Clara Douglass as "The Baroness," sustained their roles well and were often applauded. Taken altogether, the party is a strong one, and the public may feel assured that nothing they attempt will be given poorly. The interest last evening never flagged. When the curtain was up the silence of intense attention, marked the appreciation of the audience as much as did the loud buzz of favourable comments during the short waits. The elegant Parisian toilet of the ladies of the company were greatly admired, and furnished a theme for discussion among the ladies of the audience.

Tramping It.

A couple of tramps (we-ary wrong) actually visited Peterborough yesterday, giving their names as Claude Melnotte Montague and George N. Malley, and hailing from Smith's Falls. They were on their way south, and were to leave town to-day, via Millbrook, where they no doubt will pick up a few crumbs.

CABLE.

SPAIN AND CUBA.

LONDON, Dec. 26.—A Madrid despatch to the Daily News says in the Senate Gen. Martinez Campos and the Senators from Cuba and Puerto Rio were opposed to the abolition measure of Senor Conovas del Castillo, on the ground that the new cabinet had not presented those tariff reforms which might enable the Colony to bear the increased cost of production, which would be had even by the gradual abolition of slavery.

DETAINED BY FOG.

GRAVESEND, Dec. 26.—An almost continuous fog has prevailed on the Thames river during 18 days past, the consequence being that a fleet of inward bound ships is detained. On Wednesday the fog cleared for a few hours, and some vessels got away, but 18 remain, among which is the British steamer Hooper, from Boston, Nov. 27, which has been anchored here since her arrival on the 10th December.

SLAVERY ABOLITION.

MADRID, Dec. 26.—Both Houses of the Cortes have adjourned to January 10, 1880. The Abolition bill, which passed the Senate, provides for the gradual emancipation of the slaves in Cuba in 1886, 1887 and 1888. It is proposed to enact severe statutes against vagrancy in connection with this scheme and to extend the jurisdiction of courts-martial. The West Indian leaders, members of the Chamber of Deputies, declare that the law will satisfy neither the owners nor the slaves.

DISLOYALTY IN ITALY.

THE GAS COMPANY.

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—On Wednesday occurred the first public sale of gas stocks in this city since the publication of Edison's recent inventions. Fifty shares of the Manhattan Gas Company's stock sold at $128. Two weeks ago the same stock brought $143. The New York Gas Company's stock can be bought at $70—it sold for $78 on Monday. Mutual is offered at $50—it brought $65 a year ago. The principal cause of the heavy decline is said to be the war between the companies which has reduced the price of gas in many cases below the cost of production. It is stated that many large manufacturing firms and printing establishments in this city pay only 75 cents per 1,000. The Mutual contemplates a reduction of its capital from 5 to 3 millions preparatory, it is said, to a general consolidation of all the city gas companies, which has been projected for mutual protection.

A FATAL FALL.

NEW YORK Dec. 26.—Joseph S. Monheimer, a man aged 34, who was employed in a warehouse, on Wednesday attempted to jump on the elevator at the store as it was passing the fourth storey. He missed his footing and fell to the basement, sustaining injuries from which he died yesterday. He leaves a young wife.

TWO STATE GOVERNMENTS.

Senator Logan thinks the establishment of two State Governments must result in Maine, and that the duty of the recognition of the lawful one will rest upon the President.

THE FRENCH CRISIS.

LONDON, Dec. 27.—A Paris despatch says that Gambetta himself would not succeed at this moment, and with this chamber in forming a durable majority resolved on supporting his Cabinet.

INCREASED DISCONTENTMENT.

A St. Petersburg letter says there was a notable diminution of popular indignation and sympathy manifested after the recent attempt against the Czar's life. This is principally attributed to the increase of discontent and dissatisfaction with the purely reactionary measures of the Government.

EXCLUDED FROM FRANCE.

PARIS, Dec. 27.—Ex-Marshal Bazaine, who was convicted of treason in the surrender of Metz, and who escaped from prison with the assistance of his wife and her cousin, has been refused permission to settle some family affairs in France.

AMERICAN.

AN OFFICIAL'S ASSAULT.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Ex-United States Assistant District Attorney Wm. P. Hughes was arrested yesterday in a bar room in Brooklyn on the charge of assault and battery on a Deputy Sheriff, who had a warrant for his arrest.

ENGLISH AND RUSSIAN MISSIONS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—A special report to the Times says Evarts declares there is no authority for the rumor of Van Zandt's appointment as Russian minister. The names for the English and Russian missions will be sent to the Senate soon after Congress re-assembles.

APACHES SURRENDERED.

DENVER, Dec. 27.—A despatch from Santa Fe says that 84 apaches have surrendered to troops in Arizona.

NEWS COMPANY.

TRENTON, N.J., Dec. 27.—The certificate of incorporation was filed yesterday of the American and European commercial news company, from South Amboy to Trenton, crossing into Pennsylvania, with a capital of $6,000.

TRADE WITH COLUMBIA.

WASHINGTON, Dec 27.—The United States Minister to Columbia reports that more than half its foreign trade, which amounts to twenty millions annually, is with this country. He thinks that with some encouragement the United States might practically control the trade. The Columbian Government would be quite willing to grant a subsidy to the line of American steamships, and the United States would be wise in offering a premium for the establishment of a line.

STEALING FROM WANT.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Wm. Smith, who was arrested on Christmas for breaking a plumber's window and stealing faucets, stated in court yesterday that he stole to obtain food for his consumptive wife and starving boy. The Tribune reporter looked the case up and found Smith's story to be true.

WHOLESALE PLUNDERING.

Patrick Burke, a trusted employee of the Pennsylvania Railway Company, and Mrs. Lynch, his paramour, were arrested in Jersey City yesterday for systematically stealing thousands worth of baggage from Dodd's express, which has been in Burke's charge.

BLAINE DISAVOWED.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—The Herald's Augusta despatch says that many influential Republicans of this city deprecate the Bangor riot and say they do not propose to set themselves up as a mask behind which Blaine and Hamlin may speak. They assert with considerable vehemence that Blaine has started a rebellion by inaugurating at the expense of the Republican State Committee the series of indignation meetings.

ARREARS OF TAXES.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Assemblyman Talmage, who has been collecting information relative to the taxes in arrears in Brooklyn, with a view to preparing a bill to be submitted to the legislature, discovered about seventeen million dollars taxes in arrears. In a number of instances the accumulated taxes amounted to twenty times the assessment value of the property.

AN IMPORTANT RAILWAY.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Martin Van Brocklin, ex-chief engineer of the Metropolitan Elevated Railway, and Wm. J. McAlpine and Mr. Scott of the engineers who are to superintend the construction of the railway from the Atlantic to the Pacific, at the Isthmus of Tehuantepec, will sail to-day. With the exception of about 25 miles on the Pacific side there will be no engineering difficulties to encounter and no tunnelling will be required. It is expected that three years will pass before the entire road is in operation. The labor will be mostly performed by negroes from Jamaica and New Orleans.

THE STATE LOTTERIES.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—The arrest of Howard, the chief manager of the Louisiana Lottery, creates a sensation. The last movement which denotes warfare between the managers of the Louisiana and Kentucky Lottery Companies is that Howard, who controls a printing office in Delaware, where all the lottery tickets of two companies are printed, has given instructions to discontinue printing any more tickets for the Kentucky lottery. The arrest of the manager of these lottery firms is a rare occurrence. Petty agents have hitherto been the victims.

COLLIERY OPERATIONS.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 27.—There is a general suspension of all mining operations in the Schuylkill region, which will continue till January 5th, being the first suspension during the year. The Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Co. are still buying up companies, and now own the 65 best collieries in the region.

THE UTE OUTRAGES.

DENVER, Dec. 27.—A Los Pinos special despatch says that Ouray came up yesterday afternoon and the commission went promptly into session. Upon the question being asked Ouray where the prisoners were, he affected great surprise, and said he had not understood that the commissioners wanted the Indians as prisoners of war, and had not thought any of them were to be tried, but he had thought all of them were to go to Washington to have a talk with their great father on the subject of their wrongs. Now, inasmuch as the principal difficulty the commission had been struggling against was to induce the Indians to give themselves up for trial, and as they had finally consented upon the condition that they should not be tried in Colorado, this affectation of misunderstanding the wishes of the commission was too much for even the patience of Hatch, and for a second time since convening the commission he lost his temper, and for the first time he lost confidence in the final success of his efforts. Last night he expressed himself to the effect that he did not believe Ouray had power to effect the surrender of the Utes. He has, I think, finally given up the hope that the Indians will be surrendered, and is making preparations to start out. Ouray was not reproached by him for a display of bad faith or direct lying, but was told by Hatch that he would start on the 29th for Alamosa and would remain one day at the station on the Cimmaron, 25 miles distant. Should he choose to deliver up the Indians there upon the 29th, they would be received. Ouray then began to entertain the commission with stories of men who had been frozen and lost in the efforts to get out at this season—a childish plan to deter Hatch from leaving. He evidently fears the consequences to his tribe, should Hatch leave without the prisoners and cannot persuade or force the Utes to deliver themselves up. The last five days given to Ouray makes a total of 21 days time given to the Utes. I make no predictions as to the result. This time, seeing that Hatch is determined, the Utes may possibly decide to give themselves up, but whether they do or not Hatch will leave on Sunday, and if he leaves without the prisoners there will be war. A full list of the names of the twelve Utes who are to be tried at Fort Leavenworth it has been impossible to obtain from the Commissioners heretofore, and it has been equally impossible to ascertain when these twelve are to be tried, for the testimony of the women, as given for the press, convicts only a few of them of crime. This list is frequently referred to by the commissioners, as the "Star List." What this list is, I cannot say positively, but from hints dropped from members of the Commission, and stray remarks made by them when they imagined the reporters were not alert, I am confident the star list contains the names of those Indians who committed a crime worse than murder or arson—a crime which is spoken of only with bated breath, and which has not yet been even hinted at by the newspapers. It is well known that the story of the women as given to the public and their testimony made under oath differ widely, and the crimes of which they accuse the Indians in their sworn testimony would suffice to have any man of whatever color without the formality of a trial in the twinkling of an eye. That this list contains the names of those Indians who are accused of this nameless crime toward defenceless women is not a sudden conclusion, but one which has been arrived at after careful consideration, and which will be fully supported when the trial of the miscreants occur. Douglass and Persue are known to be two of the names in the list.

Hagyard's Yellow Oil combines in such an eminent degree all the healing, curative and extracting qualities known to medical science that it is truly a family medicine that cannot be dispensed with. When applied to any swelling, sore, burn, chilblain, frostbite, skin eruption, etc., its effects are magical. It is highly esteemed wherever known, and its enormous sale annually is the best certificate of its merits. w51-d129-6w

PETERBOROUGH vs. EATON.

We find the following in the Globe of to-day:

"Judgment given, but rule not to issue without further application. Held that a Police Magistrate is entitled to fees only where he is acting as a Justice of the Peace in county cases, or where there is some special reason for his receiving fees."

This is so delightfully indefinite that we must await a full report of the judgment before we can tell in whose favour the judgment really is.

THE Globe, in an article headed "Why was Sir Charles so genial?" wants to know why he took "such trouble to impress the Trent River Canal deputation with the idea that their project may be aided by the Government if only the money can be obtained for all the public works now in hand?" It also, although finding fault with the Minister, is forced to admit that "the Trent Valley Canal would be cheaply purchased at the price estimated." Not bad that, remembering the source from which it emanates.

LAKEFIELD NEWS.

From Our Own Correspondent.

CONCERT AND XMAS TREE.

The Canada Methodist Church Sunday School of this place held a concert on Christmas Eve in the P. C. A. Hall. A gorgeous Christmas Tree was erected on the platform, heavily laden with Christmas gifts for the children of the Sunday School. The concert was a great success, and a credit to those interested in getting it up. The gifts were distributed at the close of the concert to the evident delight of those who received them. The manner of getting up these Xmas Trees might be considerably improved. The present mode seems to engender too much emulation to excell in costly gifts through jealousness. It would be better for the Sabbath School authorities or officers to select the gifts instead of calling upon the parents to do. Poor people like their children to have, if possible, as costly gifts as their rich neighbors, hence this unseemly strife to give the richest presents.

RETURNED.

The Lakefield Trent Valley Canal deputation returned home from Ottawa on Wednesday last well pleased with their reception at Ottawa and the prospect of the early commencement of the Trent Valley Canal scheme. Mr. John Dinwoodie, Reeve of Lakefield, and Mr. John Burnham, M.P., laid the matter of our mail facilities before the Deputy Postmaster-General, the Hon. the Postmaster-General being absent from Ottawa. The Deputy Postmaster-General promised that the matter should receive prompt and early attention. Mr. Burnham deserves the thanks of all interested in Lakefield for his earnest co-operation and assistance.

THROUGH THE ICE.

On Monday morning last one of Mr. R. C. Strickland's teams went through the ice while crossing Lovesick Lake. The team and sleigh were got out with considerable difficulty, one of the horses being nearly drowned before it was got out of the water. One of the men in jumping from the sleigh went into the water over head, but managed to get out quickly, and then he ran to the shanty for life, not so much as looking around to see if the others were out or not.

SCHOOL HOLIDAYS.

The Lakefield Public School closed on Tuesday, the 23rd, for the holidays. Miss McNaughton and Miss Jackson having resigned in order to attend the Normal School, will not return, but will be succeeded by Miss Braden and Miss Monroe after the holidays are over.

SCHOOL ELECTION.

The nomination of candidates for members of the Lakefield School Board takes place next Wednesday in the Council Chamber at twelve o'clock, noon. Mr. W. H. Casement is the returning officer for holding the school election. Messrs. John Isbister, Samuel Nelson and Wm. Cox are spoken of as candidates, but it is likely that nothing definite will be known until after the municipal nomination on Monday next.

SEVERE FROST.

The severe frost on Sunday last took many of our citizens, as is usually the case, quite unawares, destroying flower plants, &c. Of course every one had some good excuse. Mr. H. LeFevre, of Uplands, just outside of the corporation limits, informs us that the thermometer registered 21° below zero at nine o'clock in the evening.

GOOD SLEIGHING.

The thaw on Wednesday last, and the frost again on the evening of the same day, has made splendid sleighing around here, which has been enjoyed immensely on Christmas.

SHOOTING MATCH.

Notwithstanding the uncomfortably cold weather on Christmas day, the shooting match was more numerously attended than the services in our churches. The proceedings began about 10 o'clock, and before noon Mr. Jno. Dinwoodie, our Reeve, had bagged eight turkeys. The sports retired for dinner, but returned speedily, and the shooting was kept up until the object could not be seen. Good shooting generally was the order of the day.

THE "BORUSSIA."

Additional Particulars—Hopes of the Owners that She is still Afloat.

LIVERPOOL, Dec. 24.—A part of the crew of the British steamer Borussia, from Liverpool, November 20th, for New Orleans, were landed at Queenstown by the British ship Mallowdale. The Borussia was abandoned, sinking, on the 22nd inst.

The lost steamer took one cabin and sixty-four steerage passengers from Liverpool for New Orleans, and eighty steerage passengers from Corunna for Havanna.

LONDON, Dec. 24.—The owners of the steamer Borussia allege that they believe the vessel is still afloat, as she is built with watertight compartments, and that she is still in the track of American vessels. They also allege that they are hopeful concerning her crew and passengers. The third officer's boat was the last to leave the ship. Among other boats was a large boat containing twenty Spaniards, and the mate's boat containing thirteen persons. These when last seen, presumably by the third officer's boat, were doing well. The third officer made an unsuccessful attempt to lower another boat containing the men. The crew of the steamer when the boats left were building a raft. The wind was then blowing a gale.

Later reliable advices from Liverpool represent that nothing really new concerning the disaster can be obtained. It is asserted at the office of the agents that the captain did his duty manfully. The name of the barque previously mentioned as having additional survivors of the disaster on board was not obtained. A tug barque was spoken off Saltee Island, and she may be two or three days getting in unless she is towed.

In his statement the third officer of the Borussia says that after the large boat containing thirteen persons left the Borussia, the life-boat, containing three of the stewards of the steamer, got adrift. He was sent after this boat by the captain, and took charge of it, taking his own boat, in which five men were left, in tow, but the boat was swamped and all on board drowned.

The barque Fulda has arrived at Liverpool with five Spaniards saved from the Borussia. Owing to their inability to speak English it is difficult to get from them a connected narrative of the terrible hardships they have undergone. Their boat, before it left the Borussia, contained besides the Spaniards the mate and three women, but no sooner was the boat lowered than it was stove by knocking against the steamer. The mate and three women accordingly returned to the wreck, but the Spaniards partly staunched the hole in their boat with some clothes, and their rope breaking they were cast off from the steamer. They had some provisions with them, but none of them knew anything of steamship. For five days and six nights they were tossed about, suffering terribly, when they were observed by the German barque Fulda. They know nothing of the fate of the Borussia.

A BIT OF ROMANCE.

The Fortunes of Four Irish Orphans—Heirs to $1,500,000.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—Denis Barry, a lawyer, of 6 St. James street, Montreal, who has for some weeks been looking up the next-of-kin of a deceased Californian, visited Superintendent Willing lately and told him the story. Some fifty years ago, he said, Philip, Patrick, Maria, and Ann Donaghue, brothers and sisters, arrived in this city from Ireland. Their parents were dead. Philip and his brother were past twenty, and the sisters were younger. In 1849 they separated. Philip went to California, settled down in San Francisco as a saloon-keeper, made money, and began to sell general supplies in the mining regions. He changed his name to "Donoho," grew rich, and in 1874 died a bachelor, leaving $1,500,000 and an autograph will, in which he provided that his estate should be divided in equal shares between his brother Patrick and his sisters Maria and Ann. He knew nothing of their residence, or the fortune, good or bad, of any of them. After Philip Donoho's death the public administrator in San Francisco, on account of some alleged informality in the will, claimed the estate. Donoho had several cousins in San Francisco, who maintained that the will was legal, and they were next of kin setting up that the persons mentioned in the will had died minors. The Courts sustained the will, and in course of the litigation it came out that there was a female cousin of Donoho's, named Reilly, in this city. A commissioner found her, and learned that Patrick and Maria Donoho were living in Port Chester, and that the sister Ann had been twenty years before a resident of the village of Laprarie, on the south shore of the St. Lawrence River, opposite Montreal. Patrick and Maria were easily found at Port Chester. The former was employed in a screw factory, and the latter was the wife of a man named Carl, foreman of a quarry. They could not tell what had become of their sister Ann. The executors of the estate were informed of the discoveries which had been made, and detailed another commissioner, to find the missing legatee or her heirs, one day the commissioner after 3 weeks' search in Montreal, while climbing up Cemetery st., asked a man he met the shortest route to the Windsor Hotel. The young man showed him the way, and as they were about to part at the hotel the commissioner made known to his newly made friend the object of his visit to this city. He said he was in search of a woman named Ann Donaghue. "That's my mother's maiden name," the young man remarked, and so it proved. The commissioner accompanied the young man to Patrick Terrace on Lusignan street, and there under the name of Mrs. Thos. McKernan found Ann Donaghue. Mr. Barry undertook to look after her interests, and three weeks ago, accompanied by her, he came to this city, and the necessary steps to secure her share of the estate were taken. She went to Port Chester, where she met her brother and sister, and the long separated family came to this city yesterday with Barry.

TRAGEDY AT THE FALLS.

Leap from Suspension Bridge into Eternity—Deliberate Suicide of an Old Man.

NIAGARA FALLS, Dec. 24.—The Erie Railway train arriving at Niagara Falls this morning brought a respectable-looking man about sixty years of age, wearing a long grey beard, dressed in dark clothes, overcoat, soft hat, woollen scarf, and low shoes. He wandered about town all morning, and at noon he called at the post-office, got paper and envelopes from Mr. Chas. Rice, the assistant, and wrote a letter, registered it to Kennedyville, Chautauqua county, giving his name as D. A. Sikes as sender. He then proceeded to the new Suspension Bridge and enquired the rates for crossing. After being informed by Mr. Shaw, the gatekeeper, that twenty-five cents was the rate, he wanted to know if that amount would allow him to return. He talked rationally, paid the twenty-five cents, took a ticket, and went on the bridge. He had gone about a quarter of the way when Dr. Clarke drove on the bridge in the same direction. The man proceeded till he got near the centre of the bridge, when he stopped, looked around as if surveying the distance from shore to shore, then he deliberately climbed up on the railing, held on to one of the suspender guys, took a look into the abyss below, then threw up his hands and made his fearful leap. His body striking the river sunk, arose to the surface almost instantly, and, face upwards, floated lifeless down the river. The current being very swift, before boats could be manned the body was borne into the rapids below the old Suspension Bridge and was lost.

A SHOWMAN-PREACHER.

Conversion of Dan Rice—What one of Sankey's Hymns Did.

The St. Louis Republican gives an interesting account of the conversion of Dan Rice, the famous showman, who announces that he proposes to preach the Gospel as a lay minister. The reporter found him, when the following conversation ensued:—

"That singing of Sankey's, it laid me completely out, hit me right square in the soft spot, you know, and did the business right then and there."

"Right when and where?"

"Why, in Dr. Schuyler's church the other night. I went up there, you see, and I walked right in. I was a little full, you know, and——"

"Full of religion?" interrupted the reporter.

"No, no. Full, you know—full. Only a little full, though. I went in, and the church folks began looking round. Presently I heard some one say, 'There's old Dan Rice,' but I didn't mind that. I was standing up in the right aisle looking for a seat when Mr. Moody, who was standing upon the platform, saw me, and came right down and up to me. 'Dan Rice, I believe,' says he. 'You're right,' says I. 'Come this way,' says he, and he made me come right up to the front and face the music. Then Mr. Moody got up on the platform and began talking. I grew interested. Moody ain't a scholar, but he can talk as smooth as any man in the business. When he talked he looked right square at me, and I tell you it sobered me up. Pretty soon he got through talking and Sankey began to sing. Oh that song, how hard it did strike me! Why, it knocked me."

"What was the song?" asked the reporter, looking at Dan, trying hard to relight his cigar from another.

"It was a song my mother sang to me a long while ago. It goes:—'Come, ye sinners, poor and needy.' I forget just how the next line does go, but it hit me hard. There I was, listening to that old song saying, 'Come ye needy.' I was needy and poor, too; I had to go; I was forced to it. I just caved right in."

Moody and Sankey both espied the old man and went for him in the liveliest kind of a way. While they were persuading him to get converted,

Just then an old gentleman chimed in and said: "Running a circus is a disreputable business; give it up and be saved." Then I grew red in the face and I rose up and said to that old gentleman, says I, "Sir, I am at a loss to know what there is so disreputable about a circus performance." Said that old gentleman: "I have seen obscene circus pictures on walls." Then I grew a little hot. "Old gentleman," says I, "those pictures that you saw on the walls were put up there by another man's advance guard, not mine."

"Then Mr. Sankey he chipped in, 'Mr. Rice,' says he, 'I saw you when I was a little boy at New Castle, Pennsylvania.'"

"'Did you, indeed,' says I; 'I hope that you didn't steal under the canvas like the other bad little boys, but perhaps you did?' 'I plead guilty to the charge,' said Mr. Sankey, 'I went under the canvas, but I have long since made amends for such folly.'"

The next night Moody preached a sermon especially for him, on the "lost sheep," and this was the sermon that brought him in. When the reporter questioned him about going on the road as an evangelist, and wondered if he had the gift and graces requisite, Rice said:—

"I know I am adapted for it. You see nearly all ministers write their own sermons. I can do that, I know I can."

"How do you know you can?"

"Well, I'll tell you; I was locked up in the Rochester gaol once for slander, and while in there I wrote a piece of poetry that was printed and sold all over the country. That was my only attempt, but I know that I can do it again."

"When do you propose starting out?"

"Don't know for certain just when, but I leave pretty soon."

"Which way will you go?"

"South."

THE SEVENTH VIAL.

Dr. Dawson, of Montreal, Discourses Upon It—Quite a Sensation.

MONTREAL, Dec. 24.—The sixth and last of Dr. Dawson's lectures was given last evening, and dealt with the future history of the world as predicted by the chapters of Revelation. The lectures have created quite a sensation in religious circles here, some of the lecturer's statements sounding strangely in ears that have hitherto looked upon the Doctor as most orthodox in his views. An abstract from last night's lectures may prove interesting:—

In the not distant future, he said, the Russian Empire was destined to play an important part in history. Events in her life would take place which will aid in the fulfilment of prophecy. He thought the great wars which were undoubtedly looming in the future of Europe indicated the event which was to represent the great battle of God Almighty. There were in the Old World great agitators who were busying themselves with policies, which must end in a great calamity for Europe. Kings were gathering their forces to realize this consummation, which he regarded as the pouring out of the sixth vial. The seventh vial was the final event, which was to end in a great political earthquake. This was to be a shaking down of the nations and the three portions of the New Babylon. The cities of the nations would fall, and the wars would break them down. The great anti-Christian Church would go down, and the earth would be freed from the spirit of infidelity. The duty of Christians in the midst of all this commotion and trouble was to preserve themselves from the plague that they might escape. In the pouring out of this seventh vial the reign of Satan would come to an end. The Babylon spoken of in Scripture would come into the remembrance of God after the pouring out of the seventh vial, the Church of Christ would be strengthened, and the present denominations of Christians would be swept away. Antichrist, infidelity, heathenism and paganism would be destroyed, and the Church would reign under a great spiritual reformation. He would conclude by saying that he did not wish to be understood as expressing these views in any dogmatic sense. They must look forward with hope to the future. They must strengthen themselves against the time when these terrible events come about. Many of those present would, no doubt, live to see the occurrences he had shadowed forth in his last remarks. He wished to invite questions from any present who had not clearly gathered his meaning, though he did not think discussion desirable. The learned professor was heartily applauded at its close.

Cut this Out—It May Save Your Life.

There is no person living but what suffers more or less with Lung Disease, Coughs, Colds or Consumption, yet some would die rather than pay 75 cents for a bottle of medicine that would cure them. Dr. A. Boschee's German Syrup has lately been introduced in this country from Germany, and its wonderous cures astonish every one that try it. If you doubt what we say in print, cut this out and take it to your Druggist, and get a sample bottle for 10 cents and try it, or a regular size for 75 cents. dw31-ly

MANHOOD:

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

WE have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞ Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞ This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Address,

The CULVERWELL MEDICAL Co.,
Post Office Box 4586. w3-ly 41 Ann St. New York.

THE DAILY EVENING REVIEW is printed and published every lawful evening by Toker & Co., at their Steam Book and Job Printing House, Market Block, George Street, Peterborough.

THE OBJECT OF A LIFE.

Major J. Whyte Melleville was not only famous in the hunting field and in the paths of literature, but he was also gifted with the power of true poetry. The following lines, which first appeared in Temple Bar, are well worthy of the perusal of all good Masons:—

To eat, drink, and be merry, because to-morrow we die
The Master's talent to bury—a gift laid idly by;
To scrape with grim persistence, the grains of a golden store;
To dig for a bare subsistence, that keeps the wolf from the door,
But whether in purple and riches, we feed on the fat of the land,
Or up to the middle in ditches, live hard by labour of hand,
To wrestle for ease and pelf, in a hunger of great and small,
Where it's "every man for himself, and God, if He will, for us all."
With greed that carries pollution of base and pitiful state,
Can this be the true solution, the end and aim of a [illegible]
No! surely sparks celestial the seraphim share with us,
By instincts coarse and bestial can never be stifled thus!
And surely within the portals that bar their brightest sphere,
They yearn for fellow immortals, though suffering wormlike here.
The helping hand to reach us, that [illegible] with tender [illegible]
The loving [illegible] to teach us, of a better future there;
To whisper how fair and ample the field we husband below,
To tell of the Great Example, the Man of compassion and woe?
Of footprints left behind Him, in the earthly path He trod,
And how the lowest may find Him, who straightly walked with God,
Who bend their backs to labour, and bend their knees to pray
In honest love for their neighbour, His one command obey;
Who freely bear for others the burden sorrow hath laid,
Accepting for all brothers that need a brother's aid—
Rejoice in the gain requiting from every milestone passed,
And travel the road, exulting, that brings them home at last.

CHURCH SOCIALITY.

Our correspondent, "A Church Member," last week complained greviously of the want of sociality among the members of the same congregation, especially in Toronto. It may very possibly be that he has had no experience in other places and so comes down rather too severely upon the Christians of the Queen City. We cannot say that we have particularly noticed the peculiarity he complains of as specially marked and offensive among Torontonians, though we must add that we have before this heard the same complaint made more than either once or twice. It is quite the fact, however, that in general the comparative absence of geniality and friendliness, at least as the outward expression of these is concerned, is often regarded as the weak point among Presbyterians. That this arises either from indifference or pride we do not believe. Sometimes, no doubt, it does, but oftener it flows from a strange sort of shyness and occasionally from a fear that overtures in that direction would not be well received. Nor is the fault always with the wealthy or well-to-do. Very often it is exactly the reverse. Those in a comparatively humble position are, in spite of their Christianity, often surprisingly touchy, and even diseasedly on the watch for anything that looks like condescension or can be construed into anything like patronage. They often resent and recoil from any overtures of friendliness from their better-off fellow church members as a deadly insult, and attribute all manner of evil intentions to what was prompted by the greatest kindliness and carried out in the veriest singleness and simplicity of spirit. What is to be done in such cases? Well, it is difficult to say. A larger [illegible] of God's [illegible] in the [illegible] necessary to [illegible] self-consciousness which often like Diogenes tramples on Plato's pride, and with greater pride.

While we say this we do not by any means wish it to be understood that the fault always lies with the less prosperous members of a church. Very much the reverse. Absolute non-intercourse is to be preferred to that which may sometimes be sought to be established, when the poor brother or sister is regarded and treated more as a humble dependant than as an heir of God and a joint heir with Christ. But apart from this altogether, the complained of want of sociality among fellow church members who are comparatively, in a worldly point of view, on an all but equal footing, may often be accounted for as much from the peculiarities of those who think they are slighted as from the [illegible] and indifference of those who are said to keep them at a distance. Is it not possible that a good many who feel themselves in an atmosphere of isolation have themselves very much if not altogether to thank for it? Have they always received the "formal call," which our correspondent [illegible] so much, with that cordiality which might be thought natural in [illegible] Have they responded to such friendly overtures with any great measure of warmth? Have they met advances, we shall not say half-way, but even a quarter or a tenth way? Have they always remembered that the man who would have friends must show himself friendly? Have they always kept distinctly in view that complaints of "coldness" to those who don't want to be cold, and of general unfriendliness to those who rather desire to be friendly, are not the most likely means to thaw out the ice and secure the friendship? May there not also be cases in which other influences are at work to account for, if not to justify, the comparative isolation in which individuals find themselves in their church life? It is not possible to meet with persons in church fellowship, and who, even in the judgment of charity, are to be regarded as sincere followers of Christ, who from some unhappy twist of disposition, or some permanent acidity of stomach, are exceedingly disagreeable in their manners and exceedingly uncharitable and outspoken in their judgments. They are always apparently on the outlook for something of the [illegible] in other people, and are apparently very successful in this favourite work of discovery. They plume themselves on being "honest and outspoken," when they are simply insolent and ill-bred. They are continually saying nasty and uncharitable things, and are quite astonished that the people operated upon should not like the remarks and should also fight shy of those who make them. The chronic grumbler can be found in the church as well as in the world, and [illegible] in the one case as in the other. By and by he is left severely alone, and then he begins to think that he does well to be angry because his fellow church members prefer not to listen to his uncharitable criticisms, his more or less covert exaltation of self, and his general and repeated intimations that if he were the [illegible] he would show them something worth while, and if he "ran the whole establishment" it would all be soon on a far healthier and more prosperous footing.

Nor are we very far from saying that "Church Member" is one of those who think that everybody should go fussing about them and be ready to be their humble [illegible], and get little but covert insolence, disagreeable sneers, and bitter fault-finding, in payment for all their cordiality. We don't say that he is a self-glorified egotist who takes all kindness shown as his due, without giving back much, either in acknowledgment or [illegible]. We further don't demand that there be too often a good deal of groundless complaint as to the manner in which new comers are treated in some churches, and that there may be as much occasion for ministers preaching on the mutual recognition of saints in this world as in the next. What we wish to hint at is simply that the fault may not often be all on one side, and that it is possible for new comers to be too stand-offish as well as for the older members to be too reserved or too indifferent. There is at any rate something wrong somewhere when people can sit from Sabbath to Sabbath not only in the same church, but in the neighboring pew without interchanging words with each other. In all such cases they had better, without delay, set about comparing notes, and trying, if not duly to apportion the blame for the past, at least to make quite sure that the future shall, in the matter of church sociality, be both different and better.—Canada Presbyterian.

SOUTH MONAGHAN.

COUNCIL MEETING.—The Council met in the Council Chamber, Centreville, South Monaghan, on Dec. 1st, pursuant to a call of the Reeve at 9.30 a.m. Present—the Reeve, Joseph Barnard; Councillors James Wood, John Lightfoot, John Riddell and William Rutherford. The Reeve presiding. A circular from the Minister of Education on the subject of the formation of township boards for public school purposes was read and laid on the table. The following accounts were received and laid on the table: Sowden, Foster & Co., plank for Squirrel bridge, $7.56; James McCaughey, repairing culverts, on [illegible]; Edward Kerr, repairing culverts on con. [illegible], $2.50; Joseph Byers, putting two culverts on west boundary, half price, $6.62; Lightfoot and Rutherford, repairing Squirrel bridge by order, $6. On motion of Wm. Rutherford, seconded by John Lightfoot, the foregoing accounts were received and laid on the table. The Reeve reported verbally on the examination of the north boundary road, and stated that the Reeve of North Monaghan had instructed him through Robert Goodfellow that he could not make it convenient to be present, but that the Council would expend a similar amount of money in repairing the said road provided that he (Mr. Barnard) deemed it necessary to do so. The Reeve further stated that after a careful examination of the road he was of opinion that it should be opened out to the Otonabee river, and would recommend this corporation to aid in doing so to the extent of fifteen dollars. On motion of James Wood, seconded by John Riddell, the foregoing report was received and adopted. The Council then adjourned for dinner, and resumed at 1.30 p.m. The Reeve presiding. The chairman of the Committee of the Whole, appointed to examine the crossway on 5th con., reported: That they had examined the said crossway and after careful deliberation they were of opinion there would not be a corresponding benefit derived from the road, if opened through to the road leading to Wallace Point bridge, and that the idea of spending any money on the said road was abandoned for the present. All of which is respectively submitted. (Signed) Joseph Barnard, chairman, James Wood, John Lightfoot, John Riddell, William Rutherford. Mr. Lightfoot introduced a by-law to fix the place of meeting for the nomination of candidates for the offices of Reeve and Councillors for the township of North Monaghan and in case a poll is required the polling places and deputy returning officers for the coming municipal elections. The by-law was read a first, second, and third time, and finally passed, signed and sealed. The officers appointed under the foregoing by-law were: Deputy returning officer for polling sub-division Number one, J. H. C. F. Fisher; deputy returning officer for polling sub-division Number two, Holden Crossley. Moved by John Riddel, seconded by Wm. Rutherford,—That the Reeve be requested to lay before the [illegible] Council, at its next session, the necessity of adjusting the waste-gates situate on the river Trent at Hastings, in order to prevent the sudden rising of the waters of Rice Lake and tributaries in the spring season of the year.—Carried. The accounts were then taken up. On motion of John Lightfoot, seconded by John Riddel, Sowden, Foster & Co.'s account was reduced to $6.04. On motion orders were issued on the Treasurer in favor of J. W. Lucas, one sheep killed by dogs, value $4, two-thirds allowed, $2.66; Joseph Byers, half price putting two culverts on west boundary, $6.62; Reeve, councillors' salary one day, $10; Jas. McCaughey, repairing culvert on beat 6, $1.56; Sowden, Foster & Co., plank for Squirrel bridge, $6.04; Reeve, for committee on 5th con., $4; Joseph Barnard, half day on committee on north boundary road, $1; Lightfoot and Rutherford, repairing Squirrel bridge, $6; Joseph Barnard, half day letting contract of two culverts on west boundary, $1; Wm. Rutherford, half day surveying 2nd con. with surveyor, $1; Edward Kerr, repairing culverts on con. 3, $2.50; being a total of [illegible]. On motion of John Riddell, seconded by John Lightfoot, the Council then adjourned sine die.

MISCELLANEOUS.

THE Governor-General has sent five hundred dollars to the Mayor of St. John, N. B., as a Christmas gift to the poor of that city.

THE cold in the North-West has been intensely severe throughout the past two weeks. A cold wave swept down the Red River Valley in Minnesota, and at one place the thermometer registered 46 degrees below zero. Intense cold weather is reported on the Pacific Railroad line in Dakotah. The weather has also been very cold on the Pacific slope.

AN important accession to the movement for transforming unlimited into limited banks is announced, the directors of the London and County Bank having issued a circular to the shareholders advising them to avail themselves of the powers given by the new Act. They recommended that the bank should be registered as a limited company.

JOHN RHODES, well-known as "Steeple Jack," of Hull, made an ascent of the spire of Greenshorton Church on the 27th November. When near the top, he was suddenly attacked with palpitation of the heart, and secured himself with a hook in a bolt in front of him. He hung suspended for some time, until some one noticed his precarious condition, and he was ultimately rescued at great risk, but he died on the tower from heart disease.

The Origin of Diamonds.

One of Dr. W. B. Fletcher's frogs escaped from his frogarium some time ago, and was found the other day behind a register at his office starved to death and shrunk to [illegible] dimensions. The doctor [illegible], looking to its lungs, found these organs clogged with thousands of black crystals, which looked like coarse gunpowder. Under the microscope these crystals presented regular facets with smooth surfaces, presenting the same angle of crystallization as the diamond. On burning they gave off carbonic acid gas, and they are pure crystals of carbon, as the diamond is. The doctor theorizes that in the ages gone by the huge reptiles of the antediluvian period, dying under circumstances similar to those under which the frog did, may have formed large crystals of carbon in their lungs which were afterward transformed into the hard and lustrous diamond.—Indianapolis (Ind.) Herald.

Remedy for Hard Times.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS.

SATURDAY, Dec. 27.—A cold stormy day and a small market. There were few farmers in and these few brought mostly beef, some few brought poultry and pork. The attendance of purchasers was also small, and the farmers, many of them, were compelled to take home their beef. Several quarters were sold at $3.50 @ $4.00 per cwt. for the fore, and $4.50 @ $5.00 per cwt. for the hind quarter. Turkeys and geese were abundant and lower prices had to be accepted. Pork came in plentifully to-day, and sold readily at $5.00 @ $5.50 to packers. Hay was a drug, and the low price of late had to be accepted or no sale. Some straw made its appearance to-day, and found slow sale. Sheep skins and hides were taken at quotations. Oats sold at 30 @ 31 cents. Only a few lots in. Wheat still maintains the quotations of the past week, and is coming in slowly. These, with the exception of wood, which was plentiful, with no change in price, constituted the offerings to-day.

Misery's Throne.

Of all the miserable and unhappy creatures in existence, there are none more so than the confined dyspeptic. Life is a burden, and if the sufferer does not soon obtain relief he soon sinks into a dreary misanthrope, with the germs of consumption lurking dangerously near. The only known remedy—tested in innumerable cases—is SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL, combined with HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA. A Conundrum Propounded.

Why will the "small boy," persist in eating green apples? The reader may as well give it up at once, since our original parents were guilty of the "little indiscretion." Physicians say, the season in which early or unripe fruit is first introduced, is the one they are most severely taxed in cases of colic, diarrhoea, dysentery, &c. Young and old are guilty, but boys and girls are the surest victims and the greatest sufferers. There is no peace, comfort or safety in the family unless its head provides a proper remedy. Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 27, 1879.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

A Correction.

The reading of the self-registering thermometer for the night of the 24th and the morning of the 25th, quoted in our issue of yesterday evening, should have been 5° above zero.

Company No. 2, 57th Rangers.

The members of Company No. 2, of the 57th Peterborough Rangers, are requested to attend the presentation, to take place at the Drill Shed, on Thursday, New Years' night, at 7 o'clock, sharp.

Fine Pork from Cavan.

On Tuesday Dec. 23rd, fair day, Mr. Saml. Staples of Cavan, brought to market seven spring pigs weighing in the aggregate 1967 pounds. This fine lot of pork was purchased by Mr. George Webber.

Sermon to Children.

On Sunday evening next the incumbent of St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, will address the Sunday School scholars at the regular service commencing at 7 o'clock. The children will render their Christmas carols and hymns, and the service will be made short, bright and cheerful, being chiefly musical. The offertory will be in aid of the Sunday School library.

St. George's Society.

The annual gifts provided by the St. George's Society were presented on Christmas Eve, by the committee appointed for that purpose. They were the best articles that could be procured for the occasion, consisting of beef, groceries, and flour. These were distributed among 22 families of English birth or descent, averaging 5¼ to each family, making in all 123 persons who participated in the benefit. They received this bounty with cheerfulness, and it is to be hoped that it added to their enjoyment of the festive season.

Curling Match.

It is the custom throughout the Province for the President and Vice-President of any Curling Club to arrange a match between themselves. Peterborough has been behind in the formation of such a match in former years, but now that the club can boast of such gentlemen as Mr. Adam Hall as President and Mr. A. H. McDougall as Vice-President, there is every likelihood of a match being arranged at an early date, which we are sure will be quite an exciting contest for the supremacy.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district as reported from Toronto at 10 o'clock to-day are: Cloudy weather with local snow storms; brisk to high southerly to westerly winds; rising temperature to-day, probably followed by falling temperature to-morrow. Peterboro' was again visited with a snow squall yesterday afternoon; the evening was clear and delightful. To-day snow storm until near noon, partly cloudy to clear weather. The thermometer indicated 12° above at 7 o'clock, rising to 20° before noon; wind south-westerly.

Christmas Services.

At the 8 o'clock service on Christmas Day at St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, there were 47 communicants, and 63 at the 11 o'clock service, making a total of 110 during the day, the largest since the inception of the Parish. Twenty of them communicated for the first time. This satisfactory result was largely due to the series of lectures delivered by the incumbent at the communicants' classes during the Advent season. The offertory ammounted to between $30 and $40. The attendance was very large at the midday service, the church being crowded.

Concert.

The musical and dramatic entertainment by the pupils of the Convent took place on Friday evening, and was greatly enjoyed by the numerous audience. The vocal and instrumental music was very good, the choruses and pieces played on the two pianos showing the excellent training of the pupils. Especially good was the song and chorus, "The Dear Old Bell." The operetta of "The Indian Princess," and the comic drama, "Aunt Doowinkle," were both represented with great spirit, the Princess in the one and the old aunt in the other being admirably acted. A word of praise must also be given to the little ones for their dialogue of "The Birds," and for the part they took in some of the choruses. This entertainment afforded another proof of the skill with which music is taught at the Convent, and of the thorough training afforded.

PETERBOROUGH CURLING CLUB.

Ten Rinks and Eighty Brooms on the Ice—Contest for the Cup.

We announced in these columns a short time ago that the members of the Peterborough Curling Club were endeavouring to make arrangements for a grand bonspiel. Invitations were extended to the different clubs, and satisfactory answers have been received from many, intimating their intention of participating in the contest, which is for a silver cup valued at $50. Ten clubs will send two rinks each, viz.:—Caledonia Club, Toronto, Toronto Club, Bowmanville, Scarboro, Newcastle, Port Hope, Cobourg, Lindsay, Orillia and Peterborough. There will thus be eighty brooms on the ice at one time, which of itself must prove a very pretty sight. So far as the arrangements have gone, it is proposed that the clubs shall play against each other by districts, viz.:—Midland District vs. the West.

Port Hope Club,	Toronto Club,
Cobourg Club,	Caledonian Club,
Lindsay Club,	Scarboro Club,
Orillia Club,	Bowmanville Club,
Peterborough Club,	Newcastle Club.

The management will, by drawing, determine which clubs will play against each other, the result of the total score to determine the district match.

Clubs beating their opponents, irrespective of what district they hail from, will play off against each other, the beaten clubs dropping out and the winners playing against each other, until all clubs are beaten except one, which shall take the prize cup.

It is proposed to play on the 27th and 28th of January, 1880, play to commence as soon after the arrival of the noon train as possible, say 2.30 p.m., play for two hours and a half, then adjourn for refreshments and general fraternization in the Curlers' room. Resume play at 7.30 p.m.; cease play at 10 p.m. Next forenoon play two and a half hours, and afternoon same time, the whole contest to terminate in time for the departure by the evening train which connects with the Grand Trunk Railway, both east and west.

While the contest for the cup is going on, clubs or rinks who have dropped out of the contest will be at liberty to arrange and play any matches they may desire.

The umpire will be appointed from Hamilton, it is thought, and his decision shall be final.

It is proposed to play five rinks on the inside rink and five on the outside rink, which is situated on the south side of the building. In the event of this arrangement not proving practicable, as the date of the contest draws near, no trouble or expense will be spared in clearing a portion of the Little Lake, and have the whole contest take place on outside ice.

There are other arrangements to be carried out which the energetic committee who have the charge in hand will attend to as they proceed with their work. So far everything in connection with the contest looks cheering, and we have every reason to believe that the whole affair will prove a grand success.

NORTH-WEST TERRITORY.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR,—By this, I fulfill my promise that you would again hear from me. I shall endeaver this time to give some slight information to emigrants, as regards financial affairs in the North-West Territories, as well as a few remarks to the community at large.

I think that people make a very great mistake in bringing their farming utensils through from Ontario, and more especially their live stock. Now, letting alone the trouble of bringing them through, and the expense of freight, which is a great consideration now-a-days, you can purchase them as cheap in the city of Winnipeg; and when you come to add the aforementioned inconveniencé, I consider it a great deal cheaper. So many bring live stock into Winnipeg, expecting to have a rapid and profitable sale, that the emigrant is not only afforded a large choice of oxen, &c, but, as is the result of great competition, at a very reasonable price.

Upon leaving Winnipeg in the spring, the emigrant will meet with a good many difficulties on his journey at first; the roads may be in a very bad condition, and it may require perseverance to continue. Then perhaps some harness breaks, or maybe an animal gets maimed, and again perhaps his wagon tongue breaks, &c., &c., but his luck will gradually improve as he advances, and he must reconcile himself to these slight troubles in order to gain for himself a home. He must not be like a man from Peterborough, whose only fear when there, seemed to to be that those "young shavers" as he eloquently entitled us, would turn round, and quail before the troubles that endangered them. But the man no sooner had the slight difficulties of driving his yoke of oxen and wagon across from St. Boniface to Winnipeg, than he shrank from the thought of further difficulties, and resolved—like a true and loyal British subject—to return and emigrate in the State of Dakota. But as we anticipated, this was only his first step home.

As regards the "young shavers" he spoke of, Mr. A. J. Rogers, of Ashburnham, is already prosperously engaged in farming. Mr. William Riley, of Cobourg, hums through his vocal abilities, of the beauty and freedom of the "Land of the Setting Sun." Mr. W. J. Carter and Mr. R. T. Goodfellow, carpenters, are capitally engaged—financially speaking—at their trade, and are likely to continue so for the next 10 years to come.

Yours, &c.,
RONALD HILTON.
Prince Albert, N.W.T., Nov. 27, 1879.

Municipal Nominations.

The nominations for Mayor take place in the Town Council Chamber at 10 o'clock on Monday, and those for Councillors in the respective wards at noon. The nominations for School Trustees take place in the several wards at noon on Wednesday. In case of a poll for either of the three offices, it is taken a week after the nomination.

The Rink.

Last evening the gathering of skaters at the rink was very large. The curlers were also on hand, and several games were played. The Fire Brigade Band was in attendance to enliven the scene. The management must have felt highly gratified with the attendance, and every effort will be put forth by them to make the rink an attractive place of resort during the winter.

Curling Club Meeting.

There was no meeting of the Curling Club last evening, a great many of the members not knowing anything about it. As it was, a goodly number were there, but owing to the importance of the business, it was thought advisable to postpone it till Monday evening at 6 o'clock in the rink, when the final arrangements for the bonspeil will be made and skips appointed to compete for the District Medal—Orillia vs. Peterborough—also to appoint skips for the bonspeil, and other important business.

"German Syrup."

No other medicine in the world was ever given such a test of its curative qualities as Boschee's German Syrup. In three years two million four hundred thousand small bottles of this medicine were distributed free of charge by Druggists in this country to those afflicted with Consumption, Asthma, Croup, severe Coughs, Pneumonia and other diseases of the Throat and Lungs, giving the American people undeniable proof that German Syrup will cure them. The result has been that Druggists in every town and village in the United States are recommending it to their customers. Go to your Druggist, and ask what they know about it. Sample bottles 10 cents. Regular size 75 cents. Three doses will relieve any case. dw51-1y

A Whole Trainful of Passengers Drowned—The Bridge over the Frith of Tay Blown Down—Terrible Excitement.

Press Despatches via Cable and Montreal Lines.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—A portion of a bridge across the Frith of Try was blown down while a train from Edinburgh to Dundee was crossing last night. The gale was so strong that a steamboat was unable to reach the scene of the disaster; but several mail bags have been washed ashore four miles from the bridge. There is no doubt the train is in the water. The passengers, who are certainly all drowned, are estimated at 150 to 200.

APPALLING EXCITEMENT.

LATER.—The gale having moderated somewhat, the Provost of Dundee and a number of leading citizens started on a steamer to the scene, but have not yet returned. The excitement at Tay Bridge station is appalling. Many thousands of people are congregated, awaiting definite intelligence.

THE DAMAGE TO THE BRIDGE.

The missing Dundee train was seen crossing the bridge, then suddenly a flash of fire became visible. The railway officials, in spite of the gale, walked along the bridge from Dundee until they found there was a large gap caused by the fall of two or three of the largest spans.

Special to the Review.

A TERRIBLE GAP.

LONDON, Dec. 29.—The Provost of Dundee and the citizens who accompanied him in a steamer to the scene of the Tay bridge disaster have returned. A search about the bridge in small boats revealed no trace of any survivors. The gap in the bridge is about half a mile long comprising the eleven longest spans each 245 feet in length and one 144 feet.

ESTIMATED LOSS.

LONDON, Dec. 29.—A despatch from Dundee asserts that the number of lives lost by the Tay bridge disaster does not exceed 90. This is probably an under estimate. Six bodies have been recovered.

FURTHER DETAILS.

LONDON, Dec. 29.—A despatch from Edinburgh at four this morning says the portion of the bridge which fell, consisted of several large superincumbent girders at the central and navigable portion of the river, which averages from 40 to 45 feet in depth. The train would fall about 85 feet before reaching the water. Sometime elapsed before the nature of the disaster was ascertained. The damage to wires on bridge and the badness of the weather interfered with the transmission of news. Whether the girders were blown down before the train entered the bridge, or were carried away with it, will probably never be ascertained, as there are no survivors. The bridge was only opened for traffic in May 1878. It was considered a triumph of engineering skill. It was about two miles long, and had 85 spans, the widest 245 feet, at the highest point. It was one hundred and thirty feet above high water. Vast quantities of wreckage, doors, roofs, carriages, pieces of bridge and apparel are coming ashore. The entire thirteen girders of the long central spans are gone. The night was bright and moonlight, but the wind was blowing a hurricane.

GAS STOCK SCARCE IN ENGLAND.

LONDON, Dec. 27.—This week's Economist says in home securities gas shares are the sole exception to the improved feeling. These declined heavily; indeed, it seems as if another scare had set in in consequence of telegrams reporting Edison's completion of his electric light. All gas companies suffered more or less, the heaviest decline being £8 per share, and the smallest, £1

FIRE AT BOSTON.

BOSTON, Dec. 29.—Further details of the fire shows that the loss is much less than previous estimates. On the buildings it will probably be half a million and nearly that on the stock. The heaviest losers are Rice, Kendal & Co., $150,000; Houghton & Co., $150,000; and Rand Avery & Co., who had a large amount of stock in process which is badly damaged, and their loss may reach $100,000.

NEW YORK Dec. 29.—A despatch to Houghton, Osgood & Co., says that only the bound stock was consumed; the plates and sheet stock are safe at the factory at Cambridge. They will be ready for business in three days. The loss is stated to be fully covered by insurance.

BOSTON, Dec. 29.—Estimates of the total loss by the fire last night vary from one to two millions.

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—Sir Francis Hincks informed a Herald reporter yesterday, that the feeling in Canada in favor of separation from England is very limited.

WALKING MATCH RESULTS.

Patrick O'Brien, a contestant in last week's walking match, was admitted to the hospital yesterday, suffering from exhaustion. He came to this city four weeks ago, from Convington, where he worked in a rolling mill.

A DEADLY DISPUTE.

MOUNT VERNON, Ky., Dec. 29.—On Friday Wm. McKinny visited the house of Alf. Smith, whose daughter was the mother of McKinney's child. Smith, who was intoxicated, ordered McKinney to leave his daughter and the child. McKinney started to obey, when Smith stabbed him in the back. McKinney turned and shot Smith through the heart. McKinney has been arrested.

APACHES SURRENDERED.

TUCSON, Ar., Dec. 29.—Geronomo, the Apache chief, with eighty-three of his band, has surrendered to the military at Camp Kucker, and will be sent to San Carlos reservation. This is the band that has been raiding along the border, and did much work credited to Victoria's band. This virtually wipes out all the renegade Indians in Arizona and on the border.

THE MAINE CONSTITUTION.

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—The Herald's Augusta despatch says that consternation occurred among the fusion leaders yesterday over the discovery of a clause in the constitution which seems to indicate that Governor Garcelon's term of office expires on January 1st. This would create an interregnum between the 1st and the 7th, the most critical period of the coming struggle, which would have to be filled by Haynes, President of the Senate, a Republican. Pillsbury, in an editorial in the Maine Standard to-day, says it is too late to set up any new construction of the meaning of the constitution as to the time when the political year begins and ends. "Garcelon will hold his office till noon on the seventh of January, if he lives, and don't you forget it."

STRANGE LOSS OF MEMORY.

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio, Dec. 29.—An unknown man whose case excited great interest in medical circles, because of his entire loss of recollection of facts before the time of his entering the infirmary in January, has been identified as Ralph Cowles, of Cleveland. The publication of the facts in the New York Medical Gazette led to the identification. Cowles had forgotten his own name. For six months he had been very useful in the infirmary as drug clerk, yet when identified, even to his own satisfaction, no efforts could recall the facts of his former life.

PRISON DEATH RATE.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Dec. 29.—The death rate at the State Penitentiary is increasing. There were five interments yesterday. A man named Nichols, under life-sentence, is dead. Legislature will have to provide a new prison grave yard.

MEXICAN INSURRECTION.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 29.—The steamer Granada, from Panama, has arrived at Acapulco. She took on board about five hundred Mexican troops, which were landed at Mazatlan and San Blas, en route for Lower California, to quell an insurrection.

MURDER AND ROBBERY.

PARKERSBURG, West Va., Dec. 29.—Wm. Davis was arrested at Belpre, Ohio, for murdering and robbing Patrick Brennan, near Petroleum, W. Va. Davis claims that Brennan and the two Jackson boys attacked him. The excitement is intense. Davis has been concerned in several robberies.

BUTLER'S MACHINATIONS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—The critic asserts that a prominent Massachusetts State Senator ascribes the present troubles in Maine, to the machinations of Gen. Butler, who, just before the election visited Augusta had consulted with Governor Garcelon and other state officers.

A SENTENCE CANCELLED.

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—The Times' San Antonio despatch says the charges of which Capt. Geddes of the 25th U.S. Infantry was found guilty, were attempting the abduction of the daughter of Lieut. Orleman, and of falsely accusing Lieut. Orleman of nameless conduct. Geddes was sentenced to three years' imprisonment. The president refused to approve the finding and reinstated Geddes on the claim that the court that tried him was prejudiced.

COLLIER WRECKED.

NEW BEDFORD, Dec. 29.—The bark W. H. Thorndike was wrecked yesterday at Cullyhank. She was valued at $36,000. Her cargo of a thousand tons of coal was lost.

WAR SEMI-OFFICIALLY DECLARED.

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—The excitement at Gardiner yesterday was at fever heat, the scenes on the streets resembling those that were familiar in the war times. Twenty-five per cent of the members of the Rev. Austin Park's Congregational Church were preparing to go over in a body to the Episcopal Church, because Park signed the call for the recent Republican indignation meeting, but they discovered that the Rev. Mr. Bradley, pastor of the Episcopal Church, was a speaker at the same indignation meeting. A sensation was caused at Gardiner yesterday by the discovery that Richard's Light Infantry were preparing to remove their muskets from the arsenal. Capt. Perry, a Republican, ordered the arms to be packed without the knowledge of his Lieutenants, who are Greenbackers. The State authorities have been informed of the intention to remove the arms and will try to stop it. The news that a company from Portland would pass through town, on their way to Augusta, incited the excitement. The Rev. H. W. Tilden, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Augusta, preached a warlike sermon yesterday. It is understood that some leading politicians assisted in preparing the sermon, and the declaration of war is regarded as semi-official.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, DECEMBER 29, 1879.

PETERBOROUGH vs. HATTON.

This morning's Globe contains a full report of the lengthy judgment of the court delivered by Chief Justice Wilson, which we will give, along with the case submitted, in to-morrow's issue.

THE SPECIAL AUDIT.

The special auditors of the assessment and collector's rolls have reported, and the town is saddled with an expense of $200 for a document which is utterly valueless. Already gross mistakes have been discovered in it, which prevent it from being in the slightest degree reliable, and a thorough investigation would probably disclose many more. As specimens of the errors that have been made by Messrs. Hogan and Mills in their report, we may instance a few examples: In the list of asserted omissions for the year 1874, the name of John O'Brien appears twice for the same assessment of $1,300, in one place the taxes thereon being charged as $19.50, and the other as $30.10. This blunder of the auditors reduces the amount of reported arrears in that year by $30.10 or $10.50, whichever is the correct amount. In the year 1876 Henry and James [illegible] are reported to be omitted for $2,000. The taxes, for which we have seen the receipt, were duly paid, and are credited as being received. This blunder makes the amount of arrears reported too great by $34.50. For 1873 John Taylor's omitted assessment of $1,100 is not reported. For 1874 the omitted assessment of A. Sawers for $3,000 is reported as $2,425, an error of $575. For 1875 the omitted assessment of D. Roseberry for $800 is not reported, and that of Mrs. Findley for $1,275 is reported as $550, being $725 too little. For 1876 the omitted assessment of Munro & Dawson for $4,000 is not reported. These omissions by the auditors together amount to $7,600, the taxes on which exceed $89. Then, in another class of inaccuracies, there are the cases of the Rev. V. Clementi and of Mr. John Elder, whose taxes appearing in the list for 1864 and 1876, and amounting to $[illegible].27 and $55.87 respectively, were duly paid, as can be proved.

This combination of inaccuracies in some cases and of a total absence of any attempt to clear up apparent difficulties in others, shows that our fears were well founded, and that these special auditors have proved quite incompetent for the task of unraveling these accounts and showing the true position of affairs. And these are only a few out of many specimens of their blunders.

The report certainly shows that the corporation accounts were formerly inaccurately kept, but unfortunately we knew that before, and that the special auditors can make gross errors of their own without being able to disentangle those made by others. Two hundred dollars is rather a high price to pay for such knowledge. Competent accountants should be employed to do such work.

MR. TOOLE AND THE AUDITORS.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR,—I notice in looking over the report submitted to the Town Council at its last meeting by what is called special auditors, and now published, that my name is made to appear as being in arrears for taxes to a large amount. Will you kindly insert in the REVIEW the accompanying certificate from the Collector, which will, I think, remove the erroneous impression existing in the minds of some of the ratepayers to the effect that I have been allowed to escape the payment of my full share of the taxes.

"This is to certify that I have been Collector of taxes for the Town of Peterborough since the year 1861, continuously, except 3 or 4 years, and that during that time Wm. Toole, Esq., of the Town of Peterborough, has paid all the taxes levied against him in full, except a balance of taxes for 1879 remaining, and I may further say I would collect that balance if it had not been for the fire on the lot that the said balance of taxes is due, but to settle that matter the said balance is placed on the Collector's Roll for this year and will be paid.

"WILLIAM CUMMINGS,
"Collector.

"27th Dec., 1879."

I have no doubt but that the gentlemen composing the special audit labored long and anxiously to make the above discovery, and take the liberty of suggesting that they showed a want of competency or a want of honesty in not enquiring from the Collector, the only person who could have furnished them with reliable information. I have no doubt that they have made many discoveries of a similar character, but I have very grave doubts that the fruit of all their labors, when summed up, will, in their opinion, make sufficient compensation for the labor expended. I notice too that they are pressing urgently for the payment of their salaries before they are fairly commenced—I say before they are fairly commenced, because part of their duty was to investigate the debenture debt of the town—I suppose for fear of some of the many slips between the cup and the lip. But I would warn the council against paying them until the whole duty assigned them has been completed in such a manner as to bear the scrutiny of whoever may feel inclined to criticise their work.

Yours respectfully,
WM. TOOLE.

Peterborough, 29th Dec., 1879.

HALIBURTON.

MUNICIPAL.—A correspondent of the Independent says:—The election talk is not very exciting at present. As the Reeve and Councillor Thompson propose leaving for the Western prairies in the spring, vacancies are made for new aspirants. Several are spoken of for the Reeveship. We have many men quite capable of running the home business, but the difficulty is to find a suitable representative for the County Council, and the outside business. Mr. Groom is spoken of favourably, so also is Mr. Macdonald, Mr. Bain has friends, and several others are suggested. For the Council, there are numerous candidates, but whatever may be the result, it is feared that it will be some time before we get as good a Council, on the whole, as the one now retiring.

POSTAL.—The deputy of Mr. Barker, the P. O. Inspector, was here last week. He opened a new Post Office in Cardiff, called Wilberforce, under the management of Mr. Riley. It will be supplied for the present from Kinmount. An office for the Sleep settlement is spoken of, and would be a great convenience for a considerable number of settlers. Were it opened it would be supplied from Haliburton, and then Wilberforce and Gooderham could be supplied from the same carrier.

MUNICIPAL NOMINATIONS.

TOWN OF PETERBOROUGH.

For Mayor.

The Town Clerk as Returning officer took his seat in the Council Chamber at 10 o'clock this morning, and asked for nominations for the coming year.

MR. J. J. LUNDY was nominated by Mr. Jas. Stevenson; the nomination being seconded by Mr. Geo. Dunsford.

At the hour of eleven, there being no other nominations, Mr. Macdonald declared that Jno. James Lundy, Esq., was duly elected Mayor of the Town of Peterborough for the year 1880.

Mr. Lundy returned thanks for the honor conferred upon him, and the confidence they expressed by electing him a second time by acclamation. He would endeavor to perform the duties imposed with fidelity.

For Councillors.

FIRST WARD.

At a meeting of the ratepayers of the South Ward at noon, to nominate Councillors for next year, the following nominations were made:—

WM. MONTGOMERY was proposed by Michael Boulton and seconded by J. L. Hughes.

THOS. CAHILL was proposed by Joseph Buller and seconded by John Corkery.

GEO. TAYLOR was proposed by Arnold Soanes and seconded by H. W. Watson.

JOS. BULLER was proposed by H. W. Watson and seconded by Michael Boulton.

JNO. MCNAUGHTON was proposed by James Drake and seconded by Wm. Martin.

GEO. STETHEM was proposed by Alex. H. R. Sproule and seconded by Arnold Soanes.

ROBT. ROBERTSON was proposed by Wm. McBain and seconded by J. L. Hughes.

DAN. A. MCDONALD was proposed by Michael Boulton and seconded by John McGhee.

Mr. Joseph Lundy, as Deputy Returning Officer declared that there would be a poll on Monday, January 5th, 1880.

SECOND WARD.

The Returning Officer opened a meeting of the ratepayers in the Council Chamber again at noon, to receive the nominations for the Council, when the following gentlemen were proposed:

GEORGE DUNSFORD was proposed by James Stevenson, and seconded by Thomas Menzie.

H. H. SMITH was proposed by Thos. G. Hazlitt, and seconded by John Gurney.

WALTER PATERSON, jr., was proposed by R. A. Morrow, and seconded by Thos. G. Hazlitt.

WM. MILLS was proposed by Wm. Walsh, and seconded by Wm. McBain.

WM. MCBAIN was proposed by Alex. Harvey, and seconded by D. Hopkins.

Mr. C. D. Macdonald, as Returning Officer, declared that there would be a poll for the candidates on Monday, January 5th, 1880, at nine o'clock.

THIRD WARD.

A meeting of the Electors of this Ward, was held at the house of John Irwin, at the corner of Bethune and McDonnel Streets. Quite a number of ratepayers were present, and everything passed off quietly, very little speech-making being indulged in by the candidates. Mr. John Irwin was Deputy Returning officer.

The following gentlemen were nominated as fit and proper persons to represent the Ward at the Council Board, for the year 1880.

DR. BOUCHER, nominated by Wm. Toole, seconded by Alex. Baptie.

JOHN COOK, nominated by Wm. Toole, seconded by Alex. Baptie.

WM. TOOLE, nominated by Bryan Lynch, seconded by Dr. Boucher.

WM. YELLAND, nominated by Dr. R. W. Bell, seconded by John Cook.

D. W. DUMBLE, nominated by Wm. Metheral, seconded by Samuel Manning.

JOHN DOUGLAS, nominated by Wm. Metheral, seconded by G. B. Joubert.

Mr. TOOLE said that he was instructed by Mr. Dumble, to state that he did not wish to be a candidate, upon which his name was withdrawn by [illegible] and seconder.

It being one o'clock, the nominations were declared closed, and the Returning Officer stated that a pole would be opened on Monday, Jan. 5th, 1880, at the same place.

After the close of the poll, Mr. Toole addressed the electors present, saying that an impression had gained credence throughout the Town, that for some years past, he had systematically escaped payment of his taxes. He read in refutation of the charge, a certificate from the tax collector, which will be found in another column.

FOURTH WARD.

At a meeting of the ratepayers of the North Ward, held at the shop of Wm. Lee, to receive nominations for Councillors for this Ward for the coming year, the following named were proposed:—

HENRY DENNE was proposed by D. Carlisle and seconded by Joseph Smith.

W. H. ROBERTSON was proposed by John Gamble and seconded by Arthur McGarrity.

JOHN SAWERS was proposed by J. McIntyre, and seconded by A. McGarrity.

THOS. MENZIES was proposed by J. Gamble and seconded by Edward Thompson.

Mr. Wm. Lee, as Deputy-Returning Officer, adjourned the meeting until Monday, January 5th, 1880, at 9 o'clock in the morning when a poll will be taken.

BOBCAYGEON.

ATTEMPTED OUTRAGE.—The Independent says:—Last Thursday night, a couple of hours after midnight, one of our village residents was aroused from his slumbers by the cries of his servant girl, who rushed into his chamber claiming his protection from a man who had broken his way into her bedroom and had attempted to outrage her. That village resident at once proceeded with a lamp to the girl's bedroom, and there found a man concealed under some bed-clothing, who was recognized as a fellow named W. Wilson, a shoemaker, hailing from Minden. He was expelled from the house in such a precipitate manner that he had not time to dress, and flew down the street, with no other clothing than his shirt, to the house where he was employed. Next day a warrant was issued for his apprehension, but he had run away, and owing to there being no organized police or constables in the country, is still at liberty.

FIRE.—On Sunday evening last a fire took place on the premises of Mr. Norman Barnhart. Mr. Barnhart was absent from home, and Mrs. Barnhart had made up a good fire in the open fire-place. About seven o'clock in the evening the house began to fill with smoke, and a diligent search discovered the fact that the boards in the partition against which the brick chimney was built, were on fire. An alarm being raised, some neighbors running in, took axes and cut down the partition, when a little water extinguished the fire.

DUDLEY.

WOLVES AND DEER.—A pack of wolves chased a deer right through the clearing of Mr. Neilson, in this township. There were seven wolves, and the deer was a fine buck. Sportsmen should come up and hunt wolves. A dead wolf is worth about $10.

AN institution in London lately advertised for a secretary at a salary of £300 per annum, and among the applicants were 2 members of Parliament, 25 clergymen and 73 retired military and naval officers, besides a large number of ordinary persons, the applications amounting altogether to over 300.

THE present postage stamps used in England will be superseded next year. It has been found that the black obliterating mark can be taken out so well that the stamps can be used again without the certainty of detection. To obviate this, paper of a thinner texture will be used, and the colour will be altered.

THE Queen held a private investiture of the Order of the Bath at Windsor Castle, on the 8th. A number of Knights Commanders who had been admitted to the Order, in recognition of their services in recent campaigns, were introduced by the Lord Chamberlain, knighted, and invested by her Majesty with the insignia of their respective divisions in the second class of the Order. Colonel Owen Burne was also knighted, and presented with the Star of India. The new Companions of the Bath were subsequently presented with their decorations.

A Favorite Topic with Ancient Writers was the seven wonders of the world. These have come down to us embalmed in the eloquence of the poet and historian. One of the wonders of our own time is that great Fashion Journal—ANDREWS' BAZAR. Six years ago launched on the sea of journalism, where have been so many shipwrecks, to-day with a subscription list of 75,000, it stands pre-eminent, the acknowledged standard of American fashion, absolutely reliable on all matters pertaining to the toilet, superbly illustrated, and brimful of chaste and brilliant literature. ANDREWS' BAZAR was founded in Cincinnati, but the great demand for it in the East has compelled its publisher, to establish his main offices in New York, where its Fashion, Editorial and Literary Departments are now conducted. It is published simultaneously in both cities. For $1.00 per annum every lady can have this invaluable fashion mentor. Every yearly subscriber is presented free with 50c worth of Andrews' Bazar Patterns; and, notwithstanding these wonderfully low figures, with the January number the publisher will give his new yearly subscribers a supplement sheet of designs worth $10. Every lady should send a year's subscription, or 10c for a sample copy, to W. R. Andrews, Publisher, Tribune Building, New York.

THE AFGHANISTAN WAR.

SEVERE WEATHER IN THE PASSES—SUFFERING OF THE TROOPS.

The Situation at Shirpur—Operations of the Ghilzais—Complete Rout of the Enemy—Cabul Again Occupied.

Press Despatches via Cable and Montreal Lines.

CALCUTTA, Dec. 27.—Intelligence from the Khyber Pass states that a heavy storm prevailed on Christmas day at Jugdallak, accompanied with increasing cold, which has added to the terrors of winter, which is now fully upon the valley. The troops stationed at Jugdallak are almost entirely without tents, and are experiencing all the discomforts and sufferings which are inseparable from the situation. Their troubles are intensified by frequent attacks made upon the camp by strong bands of Afghans, who continually manage to escape to their fastness in the mountains without serious loss, although it is reported that in a late attack of this kind, Caleb Argus, Mir Ahmed and Jan Sam, the latter a nephew of the former Ameer, Shere Ali, were killed.

DEFEAT OF THE ENEMY.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—General Roberts telegraphs on the 23rd inst. :—"Desultory attacks were kept up all day yesterday. Information was received that the general attack would be made at day break to-day. A large number of the enemy were seen occupying distant villages, approaching nearer at dark. This morning a fire was lighted on the Asme heights. We were apprised this would be the enemy's signal for attack. Immediately the attack commenced on three sides. We were prepared. On the south and west the enemy did not show much determination. On the north-east corner, on the Behmaroo heights, some thousands collected, and evidently contemplated an assault. As soon as the enemy's intention was fully developed, I determined on a counter attack with cavalry and artillery. These issued by a gorge between the Behmaroo heights, opened fire on the enemy's flank, and speedily dislodged them. The cavalry pursued, sabred numbers of the enemy, who retired from all points, and hastily retreated to the city. We have now occupied some advanced villages, particularly those on the Butkak road. General Gough's camp is visible six miles to the east."

THE VICTORY COMPLETE.

General Roberts telegraphs on the 24th :—"Our success yesterday was complete. The enemy's loss was severe. Our losses were five killed, including Capt. Dundas and Lieut. Nugent, by a premature explosion when blowing up the towers of the neighboring village. Thirty-three were wounded. The majority are doing well. Those of the enemy living at Cabul went to their houses after the defeat. The Kohistanis and Logaris remained in Cabul a few hours, but all fled during the night. Two of the enemy's leaders, Mushki Alim, priest, and Mahomed Jan, fled early in the day. Another prominent leader is reported to have fled with Yakoob Khan's eldest son towards Wardak. The cavalry are in pursuit. Bala Hissar and the city will be taken possession of this afternoon. The former will be occupied if it appears certain there is no danger from hidden mines. Yakoob Khan's wife, mother, and the daughter of the late Akbar Khan, who, it is reported, contemplate flight, and who did all in their power to incite the Afghans, will be brought to Shirpur to-day. I telegraphed General Bright to push forward detachments from Jugdullak to Lutaband and Latabund. I send a force to occupy Butkak to-morrow. Communication with India will thus be rapidly restored. Gen. Gough's brigade arrived this morning. There was a slight snow last night. All well. Akbar Khan was the principal opponent of the British in 1841. His daughter, it is reported, distributed £30,000 to incite the Afghans to the present rising."

WHAT A SUPPRESSED DESPATCH DISCLOSES.

A Cabul despatch of the 14th, hitherto withheld by the Viceroy, discloses for the first time General Robert's danger at that date. General Baker's troops sacked a Cabul suburb. This barbarity exasperated the Afghans, 30,000 of whom retook General Baker's position, and drove the English out in disorderly retreat. The English evacuated positions outside of Shirpur, but the enemy's fire was tremendous and their bravery [illegible].

STRENGTH OF THE ENEMY.

A Lahore despatch says the Afghans who attacked General Roberts, at Shirpur, on the 23rd, numbered 6,000. The ground around Shirpur is thick with the corpses slain.

HERAT PLUNDERED.

A despatch from the Viceroy of India states that the Cabulese plundered Herat during the three days of their occupancy.

THE Duke of Argyll has given a lecture in the Castle Pavilion at Inveraray on "Mahomet and the Koran." After a rapid sketch of the rise and progress of Islamism, he illustrated its peculiar doctrines and morality by copious quotations from the Koran, which he contrasted with the higher precepts and examples contained in the Jewish and Christian Scriptures.

A VERY extensive piece of ground on the Royal estate of Balmoral is about to be planted. A large force of workmen have just arrived on the ground to commence operations, which, it is expected, will extend over a period of two months, if the weather should continue suitable. The ground to be thus treated is a piece of waste ground lying along the south side of the Dee, a short distance from Invercauld Bridge, and which, at present, looks a blighted and ugly break in the otherwise beautifully wooded landscape between Braemar and Balmoral.

CAPTAIN JOHN ORR, formerly of the Black Watch, died in Edinburgh on the 7th, at the age of 90. He was latterly the only survivor of the officers who were with the gallant 42nd when it achieved distinction at Waterloo, and one of the few remaining survivors who took part in the Peninsular War. After retiring from the army, he acted for many years as superintendent of the Scottish Naval and Military Academy.

OVER AND OVER AGAIN.

Over and over again,
No matter which way I turn,
I always find in the book of life
Some lesson I have to learn.
I must take my turn at the mill;
I must grind out the golden grain;
I must work at my task with a resolute will!
Over and over again.

We cannot measure the need
Of even the tiniest flower,
Nor check the flow of the golden sands
That run through a single hour;
But the morning dews must fall,
And the sun and the summer rain
Must do their part, and perform it all
Over and over again,

Over and over again
The brook through the meadow flows;
All over and over again
The ponderous mill wheel goes;
Once doing will not suffice,
Though doing be not in vain;
And a blessing failing us once or twice,
May come, if we try again,

The path that has once been trod
Is never so rough for the feet;
And the lessons we once have learned
Is never so hard to repeat.
Though sorrowful tears must fall,
And the heart to its depths be riven
With storm and tempest, we need them all
To render us meet for heaven.

A REMINISCENCE OF OLD MONAGHAN.

ESCAPES.

My earliest impressions of an escape were made when I took to my heels, near the old market house, when a gander approached me in a menacing attitude, with outstretched neck and open mouth; when I ran from a dog who, with scowling countenance and growls, shewed me his sharp, white teeth. I made several escapes from butting rams and Billy goats, and from a wicked bull, and caretakers in Rossmore Park and other places, when hunting for wild fruits and birds' nests. The bull was a formidable enemy. When I got over a fence or up a tree, he would look dreadfully angry at me, bellow thunder, and tear up the ground with his fore feet.

In those days there were young vagabonds in the town, as there were in all communities, and especially in the vicinity of the Shamble Square, with bad precept, example and surroundings, willing slaves of the devil, by whom they were led captive at his will, a strong corroborative proof of the Scriptural teaching of the depravity of human nature. Of all mischiefs, fighting was their delight—trouncing a lonely boy without provocation, except envy and malice aforethought—because the boy was in a better position than themselves. Many an escape I made from them. One day, when returning from the Blackwater river, I saw two of them in the distance, meeting me. One said, "Here comes Walker; we'll give him a pounding." "No, its M.," said the other. "Devil a matter," said the first; "he is his cousin, and he will do as well." So I nimbly made tracks over a fence and escaped. I met some of these old townseys in after life, poverty-struck men, exceedingly glad of a little temporary relief when they deserved retaliation.

Several of them, when they arrived at the age of maturity, made their escape from Monaghan, to the relief of the inhabitants, and to avoid being too earnestly pressed to take their meals in the big boarding house on the hill, ably managed for many years successively by Messrs. Rowland, Maine, Temple, &c., under the direction of intelligent boards of superintendance, who, after long experience, observation, and research, came to the conclusion that cleanliness, active exercise and plain food are most conducive to health, and to prevent corpulency, gout, and all diseases superinduced by high living, shut the doors against epicures by adopting a bill of fare (from which they lately excluded milk,) so simple, so easy of manipulation, mastication and digestion, that the house got such a reputation for half starving their boarders, that no honest citizen could be induced, under any consideration, to board in the Mullaghadun House.

Many an escape I saw when poor men were made a burden on the community, deprived of earning means to extricate themselves and to provide food for their families, by being imprisoned for small debts as though they were criminals, which might have been avoided had the creditors refused the goods. The gripper saw the defendant in the distance and gave chase, a bystander gave the hint to the defendant, who took to his heels, through lanes, alleys, &c., got ensconced in a friendly domicile, and became non est inventus to the gripper, who oftentimes resorted to disguise and various stratagems to jail his victim.

Many worthy men, in view of their rising families and the gloomy prospects before them in the old town and vicinity, plucked up courage and made their escape to brighter scenes in this extensive country, where, by sobriety and industry, they left their families in independent positions. Of such and others from the adjoining counties many of the leading farmers, merchants, and professional men of this province are composed.

My last escape from Monaghan was rather remarkable. "God grant you a safe voyage and journey, and prosper you, so that at the last you may come to His eternal joy." Such were the last words I heard from the excellent friend of my youth, my minister and Sunday school teacher for many years in the old parish church of Monaghan, the late Rev. Henry Maffett, for many years Curate, and afterwards Rector of the parish. The occasion was, when with a young wife, we were bidding adieu to the old town of many pleasant memories. Mr. Maffett walked half a mile out of town with us, where our conveyance was in waiting. The sequel will show whether the good man's prayer was answered.

On arriving in Liverpool we very much regretted being one day too late to join an old schoolfellow, who, with his wife and two children, sailed for New York in a splendid ship called The United States. It was well for us that we were one day too late, as that ship and cargo and every soul on board, including my friend and his family, went to the bottom of the Atlantic ocean.

On the day after our arrival in Liverpool I met an old Monaghan acquaintance, named Tom ——, who brought us to a fine ship called The England, to sail for New York in four days. We examined, liked it, took our passage, and paid a deposit. Next day I called on my good friend Sam'l Hill, formerly of Glasslough street. After saying a great many things about old Monaghan, I told him what I had done. He said he could get me a much cheaper passage than I had agreed for, and in an equally good ship, that our friend Tom was a ship agent, and had a large per centage on passages procured, so I abandoned the England and deposit, went with Sam and took passage in a first-class ship, the Rochester, Capt. Britton, and it was most providential that I did so, for had we gone in the England, we would have gone to the bottom, as it was never heard of after leaving Liverpool that time.

When we got about half way across the Atlantic, a dreadful storm arose, which continued two days and two nights, carrying away a great part of our rigging and bulwarks; hatches fastened and covered with tarpaulins. The huge waves and spray drenched the deck. The lurching of the ship knocked everything topsy turvy, the passengers receiving knocks, cuts and bruises —occasionally a mad wave would thunder against the side of the ship like a sledge, the sound of the receding waters appearing as if a hole had been made in the side of the ship, and the water were pouring in. What cold and hardship those poor sailors suffered during those two frightful days and nights (it was a winter passage)—after all that could be done, we began to lose all hopes. The consternation, lamentations, and prayers of fathers, mothers, children, etc., may be more easily imagined than described.

Death under any circumstances is so awful that the strongest individuals turn pale at its approach. But how dreadful must it be to people who, in the vigor of youth, health and strength, cannot extricate themselves from positions where they are momentarily watching for its approach in its most appalling forms, as the culprit about to have the rope adjusted to his neck, the military criminal about to be shot, people in a burning building with no means of escape, or about to be devoured by ferocious [illegible], or the passengers and crew of a foundering ship in a boisterous ocean in mid-winter. With what heartfelt anguish we prayed for calm and safety, and felt that if saved we would never be discontented with anything in this life, if we only had health. This joyous feeling, when we got safe, lasted about a week or two, and then we got into the old groove like other people.

On Sunday at noon when the storm somewhat abated, the captain discovered a ship in distress, bore down within a quarter of a mile of it, and asked for volunteers, whereupon six stout, hardy seamen launched the long boat and put off, the captain strictly cautioning them to save nothing but lives. How that boat lived over the frightful waves was to me a miracle. How intensely we watched its progress, and how often we thought it was engulfed. At last it reached the ship and soon returned with sixteen women and some children, who were with great difficulty hauled on deck, where they lay in an exhausted condition. "What report, Pennel?" said the captain, to which the boatswain replied, "Masts and rigging all gone, sir, the ship water logged and in a sinking condition, pumps useless, the captain, mate, 16 seamen and 4 male passengers on board, the second mate and one seaman washed overboard." No time to be lost; that boat made three perilous trips and brought off all the passengers and crew, and the ship immediately sunk. It was the Dorchester, from Glasgow for Boston. The passengers were principally women and their families, going to join their husbands and fathers. We had them two weeks on our ship, where they were kindly treated by all and soon revived. It would not be easy to depict the suffering they went through during three days, and their joy at seeing our ship coming to their relief, and the poor creatures evinced heartfelt gratitude for the saving of their lives, and grief at the loss of all their valuables, the savings of many years that they were bringing to their husbands and fathers. An accident occurred on their transfer from the drowning ship worth noting. Mary was sent with neighbours from Scotland by her parents to avoid the earnest pressure of her sailor boy, named Tom, for marriage. Tom was a stout, handsome fellow, and one of the volunteers who went in the long boat and transferred the passengers from the Dorchester. As Tom and Mary had no notion of what became of the other when they left Scotland, their surprise may be imagined when she was handed down the side of the sinking Dorchester into Tom's arms. "Well, Mary, my darling," said Tom when she was revived in a day or two, "our meeting is most providential; you can say you came in two ships to America, and that you fell into your own dear Tom's arms when half way across. It will be the joy of my heart if you consent to be mine when we land." "As you like, my own dear Tom, you and your good comrades saved my life, and that life is yours, Tom, until death parts us. I will do all I can for you, and if you will be always sober and loving as you have been, I will be happy with you." "Amen, Mary, my angel," replied Tom, as he was called away. They got married when they landed.

When we landed in New York we found the Hudson river frozen, and there being no rail then to Albany, we were obliged to remain several weeks in New York. We took lodgings in a respectable house kept by Mrs. West. Our sleeping apartment was on an upper flat. One night about 12 o'clock we were awoke by loud knocking at the street door, and the cries of "Fire! Mrs. West your house is on fire!" We got down to the street half dressed. On enquiry, the fire was in the next house, and we had time to return and save our things before the whole place was left in smouldering ruins. In the middle of March we arrived safe in Toronto, where we met many genial friends to whom we told Mr. Maffett's prayer, and [illegible] the hardships, escapes and [illegible] of our voyage and journey. By their friendship and preparation we were well repaid for them all.

Of the numerous escapes from fire, water, prisons, battlefields, perils, dangers, etc., a few may be adverted to, as that of the 1st Napoleon from Elba and the Red Sea, the 3rd Napoleon from the fortress of Ham and other places. John Wesley, the founder of Methodism, miraculously escaped from a burning house when a little boy. Doctor Clarke, the celebrated commentator, narrowly escaped drowning when a boy.

A lighted candle forgotten in a wool room in the upper storey of a building on the bank of the Shannon was the means of saving the lives of my father and three other young men from perishing in a wide part of the Shannon on a dreadful, dark, stormy night. They lost one of their two oars, kept paddling and bailing out water with their boots, until exhausted with cold, fatigue and heavy rain, they had given up all hopes of being saved, when the flickering light attracted their attention occasionally, animated their courage, became more distinct, and finally they got to it to their great joy, as well as that of the gentleman of the house who, treated them kindly and wondered at the light which saved them, as lighted candles had been strictly prohibited in the wool rooms. Lieut. —— in his hurry to escape from the battle of Waterloo got wounded in the rear. I afterwards knew him as a J. P., and a tyrant landlord in the Emerald Isle. One day this big, angry looking J. P., when making his way through a crowd in the vestible to hold petty sessions, he overheard a smart, well dressed pensioner from the British army, using the words "upon my honor" in the course of conversation. He stopped and addressed him with a contemptuous sneer, thus: "Where did you get your honor Sir?"—The pensioner came to attention, keeping his shoulders square to the front, and placing the index finger of his left hand on the Waterloo medal suspended on his vest he fearlessly replied thus: "Your honor, I got my honor, where your honor lost your honor." In sullen silence the J. P., took his seat while the crowd attempted to chair the pensioner. My brother, a barrister, ran back for an important document to be used at the Hamilton Assizes, hurried like Jehu to the station in Toronto to find the train just gone to meet a dreadful catastrophe by falling through the bridge into the Desjardins Canal by which many lives were lost:—The mercy, goodness, and power of God are illustrated in the escape of Lot from Sodom; Moses from the Nile and Egypt; David from Saul; Daniel from the lions; the three Hebrews from fire; Peter from prison; Paul by the rope and basket; from the 40 men under oath; from many perils; and lastly from shipwreck at Malta. We have a three-fold enemy on our track; one especially, called "the Prince of this World," from which we may presume that we are in an enemy's country, from which there is only one way of escape; it is called a narrow way, by which we must be passed by "the Prince of Peace, the captain of our salvation, who has left simple rules to guide us, i.e: "Looking unto Him and keeping the Lord in our right hand." We should therefore take the warning and advice of Him and His first officers, as laid down for our guidance, and especially where He and the Apostle Paul mention the word "escape."

CHAFF.

WHY are women archers by nature?—Because the bent of their inclinations is to bend a beau.

"ALWAYS pay as you go," said an old man to his nephew. "But, uncle suppose I haven't anything to pay with?" "Then don't go."

THE hardest thing in the world for a young woman to do is to look unconcerned the first time she comes out in a handsome engagement ring.

"WHAT is that dog barking at?" asked a fop whose boots were more polished than his ideas. "Why," said the bystander, "he sees another puppy in your boots."

"MOTHER," said a little square built urchin about five years old, "why don't the teacher make me monitor sometimes? I can lick every boy in the class but one."

What all Men should Know.

To Relieve a Cough.—The troublesome cough caused by an accumulation of phlegm in the throat, especially in the morning, experienced mostly by persons affected with Chronic Catarrh, can be relieved almost instantly by taking a teaspoonful of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam, which has the advantage of being harmless to the stomach, and at the same time improving the appetite. w1d150-2w

Remedy for Hard Times.

Stop spending so much on fine clothes, rich food and style. Buy good, healthy food, cheaper and better clothing; get more real and substantial things of life every way and especially stop the foolish habit of running after expensive and quack doctors or using so much of the vile humbug medicine that does you only harm, and make the [illegible] in the greatest of all simple, pure remedies, Hop Bitters, that cures always at a trifling cost, and you will see better times and good health. Try it once. Read it in another column. d146 1y

Misery's Throne.

Of all the miserable and unhappy creatures in existence, there are none more so than the confined dyspeptic. Life is a burden, and if the sufferer does not soon obtain relief he soon sinks into a dreary misanthrope, with the germs of consumption lurking dangerously near. The only known remedy—tested in innumerable cases—is SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL combined with HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA. With this medicine the incubus is removed, and the embryo seeds of consumption scattered. It is also nearly as pleasant to the taste as sweet cream.

A Conundrum Propounded.

Why will the "small boy," persist in eating green apples? The reader may as well give it up at once, since our original parents were guilty of the "little indiscreation." Physicians say, the season in which early or unripe fruit is first introduced, is the one they are most severely taxed in cases of colic, diarrhœa, dysentery, &c. Young and old are guilty, but boys and girls are the surest victims and the greatest sufferers. There is no peace, comfort or safety in the family unless its head provides a proper remedy. A POSITIVE FACT. Nervousness is the cause of feebleness, or the lack of stability of the nervous system, as distinguished from the rest of the body. It is pre-eminently a disease, and more widely spread through the Northern and Eastern part of the United States and the Dominion of Canada than in any other part of the world. We will not stop to say why this is the case, but we do emphatically say the Victoria Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites will be found an invaluable medicine for all parties afflicted with Nervousness, Dyspepsia, Consumption, Defective Nutrition, General Debility, or weakness of the whole system. One of the first effects is an increase of the nervous or vital energy, followed by a feeling of unusual comfort and strength. For sale by all dealers.

MANHOOD:

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

WE have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

Division Grange.

The Durham and Northumberland Division Grange will meet in Peterborough on Thursday January 7th.

A Raffle.

There is to be a raffle of a tame Caribou deer, and a German Canary and cage at Phelan's Hotel this evening, (Dec. 29). The tickets were nearly all disposed of on Saturday.

School Trustees.

It should not be forgotten that the nominations for School Trustees will take place on Wednesday, Dec. 31st, at noon in the different wards. The ratepayers should make haste to select good men as candidates, if they have not already done so.

Declines the Honors.

Councillor Rutherford will not run for a seat next year, having concluded to stand for School Trustee instead. No doubt the Councillor is tired of the exhibition given by the Council, and seeks the comparative retirement offered by a place in the School Board.

Damage by the Frost.

On Saturday afternoon the main shafting of Messrs. McKee Bros., furniture factory and planing mill was broken by the action of the frost, and work had to be suspended. The damage was repaired and the mill started up this morning.

Watch Night Services.

A watch night service will be held in the lecture room of the George Street Methodist Church on Wednesday evening next, New Year's eve. The service will commence at half-past ten, and conclude at a quarter past twelve o'clock. All are cordially invited to be present.

Special Service.

On Sunday evening at St. Luke's Church, the Rev. Mr. Bradshaw gave a service for the Sunday School children, preaching an appropriate sermon especially for them. The children conducted the whole of the musical portion of the service, singing Christmas carols in place of the usual hymns. There was a very full congregation, the church being crowded.

Militia Gazette.

The Canada Gazette of Saturday contains the following:—

57TH PETERBOROUGH BATTALION OF INFANTRY. NO. 4 COMPANY.—The Head Quarters of this Company are hereby transferred from Peterborough to Keene. Erratum.—Advertising to No. 4 of General Orders (20) 5th December, 1879, for "to be Lieutenant, provisionally: William Campbell, Gentleman," read: "To be 2nd Lieutenant, provisionally: William Campbell, Gentleman, vice Dixon, retired."

No. 3 Company, 57th Batt.

The above Company will resume their drill to-morrow evening, commencing at 7.30, sharp. A full attendance is requested. There are a few vacancies for any young men wanting to join. The Drill Shed of the above Company has been very much improved, the whole shed having been white-washed, gas put in, and a very complete gymnasium fitted up for the use of members of the Company, which is also open every Thursday night, from 7 to 9 o'clock.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district, as reported from Toronto at 10 o'clock to day are: cloudy weather with local rains, followed by north-westerly to northerly winds, and colder weather with snow flurries. The thermometer indicated 40° above at noon to-day in Peterborough, snow has been wasting away rapidly. About 3 inches of snow fell on Saturday night and Sunday morning after which the weather moderated.

Church Decorations.

St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, was decorated with great taste for Christmas. The walls of the nave were festooned with evergreens, and from the bosses hung banners in various colored cloths with appropriate devices. Over the top of the windows and the chancel arch were illuminated texts. On the east wall of the chancel was placed an evergreen lattice work. The pulpit, reading desk, font, gas standards, &c., were all tastefully decorated, the general effect being greatly admired. Much credit is due to those of the ladies and gentlemen of the congregation who planned and carried out these decorations.

The Snow By-law.

The introduction of the snow by-law has produced good results and is very generally acceptable. A small minority, however, take no notice of its requirements and do not remove the snow from the sidewalks in front of their property. The constable should see that the provisions of the by-law are enforced. In one instance at least it is the corporation that is to blame, the neglect occurring in front of their property, which certainly is not a good example. A thaw like the present only increases the nuisance caused by the unremoved snow, and if followed by a frost before the slush has drained away, the inconvenience and even danger will be still greater.

The Triennial Conclave at Chicago.

The committee of arrangements of the Grand Encampment of Knights Templar in the United States, have issued their General Order to the Sir Knights giving instructions to them regarding the Triennial Conclave to be held in Chicago, in August 1880. Sir Knight, George L. Mitchell, Registrar of Moore Preceptory, No. 13 of Peterborough, has received a copy of the General Order, together with an invitation to the Sir Knights, to make a pilgrimage to Chicago, to participate in the grand celebration that is to take place there, on that occasion. The General Order gives full particulars, including hotel arrangements and expenses. The camps will be pitched in "Lake Park," on the shores of Lake Michigan. The Grand Encampment head quarters, built especially for the purpose, will be in the centre of the Park, as shown by the diagram accompanying the general order. It is intimated that a large number of Canadian Sir Knights will arrange a pilgrimage to Chicago next summer. Over $10,000 have been subscribed in Chicago to defray the expenses of the committee of reception. The Grand Trunk and other railways will issue excursion tickets. The arrangements therefore will be completed next month.

CHRONICLES OF THE COUNCILLORS.

Shewing How the Wise Men Received the Report of James and William, and How They Dealt With the same.

CHAPTER II.

1. Now, when it was noised abroad that the wise men of Peter had appointed certain parties to make diligent enquiry,

2. The people spake with one another, saying:

3. Now of surety shall it be made known who hath in times past unjustly withheld that which is due our Treasury.

4. That they may be righteously punished, seeing they have brought a reproach on the place of our habitation.

5. And it was in the latter part of the last month of the first year of James the Good, which is called December.

6. Now James had discreetly done that which was right before the people, dealing justly, being learned in the Law and things.

7. With an eye to a second term, all the same.

8. After many days, the wise men assembled together at the Hall of Judgment, which is about the market place.

9. And Thomas, the adjuster of weights and measures, presided.

10. That they might receive the report of James and William, concerning the things wherein they had been deputed;

11. And it was about the eighth hour of the night.

12. Then one of the wise men demanded that the report be read, that they might have the fullest assurance concerning these matters.

13. Whereupon, when the scroll was unrolled, were they amazed at the industry of James and William, seeing it contained much language and many figures.

14. And also a gentle intimation that there was a balance in their (James and William's) favor, for services rendered for $215 and no cents.

15. Which they would take now, rather than wait until they could get it.

16. Then the wise men held much controversy in this matter, and they spake, even each one as he chose.

17. And William, the printer, arose and looking around him, said:

18. Men of Peter: There's money in this thing or I'm a granger. We've got the bulge on these delinquents this time, and no mistake!

19. The people is lookin' at us, dye mind, and we're the axletree round which the affairs of this burgh resolve.

20. Are we a nation? And is this progress? It are, I boldly answers, it are: This investigation is a bona fide thing.

21. And if the public are satisfied, I feel gratified, and if they feel gratified I am satisfied. (Sensation).

22. But Arthur the carpenter urged that they should be cautious in making haste to be rich. Moreover he would have the matter given to the law-givers that they might examine it with due diligence.

23. Now Arthur the carpenter was beloved of the multitude, for had he not made much provision for their extremity in sundry times past,—to wit: the Smithtown hill cutting and other works.

24. But William the printer laughed him to scorn, saying:

25. What the dickens does the man mean anyhow? If he was a trifle less thick-headed he would see that one of the Town lawyers is a son of a gun—I mean of the Treasurer.

26. Howbeit others conferring together advised much caution.

27. Then William the middle-man got ready to speak, and said:

28. Most Irish Chairman! What's the use of going over this thing again, after paying $210 to have it done.

29. There's some scheming going on here but it is going to fail. I'm here to see the Town gets justice, and what is its due, if I recognize my own photograph, and I think I do. Against all doings of the kind, I shall be ready to do some judicious kicking!

30. For he doubtless esteemed this a good horse on which to ride into the Councillor's chair for another year.

31. Now at these words, so valiant, the multitude without the bar grew jubilant, and were moved to much laughter.

32. Whereupon John the peace-keeper, smote them with his stave, and they grew silent.

33. And in the end the matter was given to the lawyers that they might hold enquiry, and place their costs thereon, even as tradition saith shall be done.

34. Then James and William urged that the wise men should pay them that which they esteemed their due, saying:

35. Have we not laboured? Have we not striven? Give us we pray, that which we have justly earned.

36. Then the wise men sent the demand of James and Williom to the Committee on Moneys, to be considered and to be paid if they saw fit.

37. Which they were inclined to do, but when they heard it rumoured that the work of James and William had been imperfectly done and full of strange errors, they withheld.

RIOT IN A RAILROAD TRAIN.

Disgraceful and Violent Assault on Passengers by Roughs.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 25.—A most disgraceful riot took place, attended with violence and bloodshed on a train which left Camden station on the Baltimore and Ohio Railway at 11.15 Wednesday night. A few minutes before the departure of the train a party of eight roughs boarded it. They were evidently influenced by liquor and determined on mischief. An inoffensive colored man was seated in the car which they entered, and he at once became the victim of their violence. They drove him from the train, and would not permit him to enter it again. The train started immediately after this, and had gone but two squares when they discovered in one of the first cars another colored man, who to escape a threatened beating ran into the ladies' car closely followed by the roughs. A gentleman in the car saw the coloured man's danger, and closed the door between him and his pursuers, bolting it and preventing them from entering. On the instant of the arrival of the train at Mount Winans, however, the roughs effected an entrance by breaking the glass in the car door and drawing the bolt. On entering the car they assaulted the passengers right and left, making indiscriminate attacks upon all, unmindful of the shrieks of the ladies and children. The roughs then drew pistols and fired in every direction regardless of consequences. The greatest terror and consternation followed among the passengers. Many were prevented with the greatest difficulty from throwing themselves off the train while in motion. The stop at Mount Winans having been a brief one the trainmen were unable to render any assistance, and all efforts to expel the rioters from the train before they arrived at their destination were in vain. At the Relay House they left the train. A gentleman was severely cut in the face by a stick of wood; a colored woman was shot in the neck; a number of passengers were bruised from blows, and more or less injured. Passengers on the train recognized several of the roughs, which may lead to the arrest and punishment of the entire gang.

"German Syrup."

No other medicine in the world was ever given such a test of its curative qualities as Boschee's German Syrup. In three years two million four hundred thousand small bottles of this medicine were distributed free of charge by Druggists in this country to those afflicted with Consumption, Asthma, Croup, severe Coughs, Pneumonia and other diseases of the Throat and Lungs, giving the American people undeniable proof that German Syrup will cure them. The result has been that Druggists in every town and village in the United States are recommending it to their customers. Go to your Druggist, and ask what they know about it. Sample bottles 10 cents. Regular size 75 cents. Three doses will relieve any case. dw51-ly

POLICE COURT FEES.—Police Magistrate Denison has announced that Court of Common Pleas having decided that neither the City nor Magistrate is entitled to police court fees, he will not in future impose such fees.

FREE THOUGHT.—Another Free Thought Association has been formed with a large membership, composed to a certain extent of secessionists from the original association, and will confine itself to theological discussions. The older association is decidedly socialistic. The new organization has some respect for the rights of property, and the due ordering of things.

OTTAWA.

Special to the Review, Dec. 30.

INCREASED BUSINESS.—The South Eastern railway is about to add four new engines and two hundred freight cars to its rolling stock, on account of the increase of business.

GARROTTED.—Lewis Morris, of the firm of Morrris & Co., merchant tailors, was garrotted and robbed on Latour street near the centre of the city last night. Three men were engaged in the affair and their plunder consisted of $150 in money. Some valuable papers, two watches and a gold guard chain. After taking all their victim's valuables the ruffians abused Mr. Morris so that he became partially unconscious.

PRESBYTERIAN TEMPORALITIES.—The writ of injunction restraining the board of management of the temporalities fund from paying ministers their annuities has been quashed. Notice of appeal was at once served on behalf of the Rev. R. Dobie, the petitioner.

MISLEADING THE PUBLIC.—The author of the correspondence from this city in the New York Herald of Saturday last, representing that a strong feeling of annexation exists, is a Mr. Stittson, of the Herald's staff, specially sent on here.

A TERRIBLE OCEAN TRAGEDY.

The staunch, trim bark Francesco Donovaro arrived at New York from Savona, Italy, on Tuesday night. She showed no trace of distress from her voyage of fifty-nine days, and but for a terrible story on the ship's log, and the fact that four of the fifteen men who sailed in her failed to reach New York, there was nothing to show that the vessel's deck had been the scene of a mutiny and a bloody struggle for life in the middle of the ocean. Captain Stefano Farrando, who commands her, is a stalwart, active man, about forty years old, below the medium height, but very broad across the shoulders, and with a determined look, which is rendered almost ferocious by his huge beard and moustache.

BLOODY WORK.

The bark left Savona on October 26, laden with ballast to carry a cargo, from New York to Genoa, where she is owned. There were fifteen men on board, among whom were Gregorio Pedro Irena, of Iloilo, and Antonio Arellando, of Manilla, both seamen. Midnight of Dec. 5th, these two men mutinied. Jean Baptiste Pinchatti, the first mate of the bark, came on watch shortly before midnight, relieving the second mate or boatswain, and had only been on deck a few minutes when Gregorio sprang at him and stabbed him with a stiletto. The blow was aimed at the heart, but although there was no chance for a struggle, the mate struck the other's hand as it fell, and the blow miscarried. The blade passed in a little below the heart, inflicting a dangerous wound, but fortunately not a fatal one. The knife was raised again, but Pinchatti, with a desperate effort, flung his assailant off, throwing him to the deck a dozen feet away. Then, fearing to clinch with an armed man while unarmed himself, he turned and ran to the cabin. The noise attracted the attention of the second mate, Antonia Marchesia, who had not yet gone to sleep, and he rushed out on deck to see what the trouble was. Gregoria met him as he came out, and with a single blow of his stiletto killed him instantly. Arata Edwardo, a seaman, whose bunk was close to the hatchway, heard the noise of scuffling feet and Pinchatti's involuntary cry, and reached the deck in time to see Marchesia fall, as Gregorio drew his dripping knife from his breast. The boy Edwardo (he is hardly more than a boy) stood for an instant, horror stricken, and then, with a boy's courage, grappled the murderer. At his heart also a blow was struck, but again Gregorio missed his mark, and Edwardo was only wounded. He clung to the elder man in desperation, but was forced to let him go after being feverely cut several times, but the noise of the struggle aroused all on board, and the deck was presently alive with men. Gregorio, on releasing himself from Edwardo's grip, ran aft, towards the captain's cabin, with his stiletto still in his hand, but before reaching the cabin door he was confronted by the captain himself, who carried a revolver in his hand. The seaman saw it, and with an Italian dread of firearms turned and ran.

THE ASSASSIN SHOT DOWN.

At almost the same moment that Gregorio had stabbed the mate Aredundo had crept to the bunk where Sebastian Aquarome lay asleep, and had stabbed him to the heart. Unable to do more in the dim light before the crew were aroused bp the noise on deck, he made his way up the hatchway, and joined Gregorio on deck. for a moment there was a grim tableau on that deck. Two men had been murdered and 2 more struck down, and the murderers stood at bay. They stood so only for a moment, and then evidently realizing that it was a question of survival between themselves and the nine men before them they rushed forward with awful and inarticulate cries, that the mate described as being like the roars of wild beasts. Again they showed the instinct of men accustomed to the use of the knife. Every man before them had the knife that a sailor usually carries, but only one man had a pistol. They rushed toward the captain, fearing him the most. The fear was justified, for both men fell before reaching him. His two shots were effective, and in a few moments both the mutineers were dead. The captain says they avowed that their intention was to kill all on board and take possession of the bark and of a large sum in gold, which they supposed to be on board.

THE POLICE COURT ACCOUNTS

The Result of the Agitation Raised as to the Police Magistrate's Fees.

THE SPECIAL CASE.

The following is the special case as stated for adjudication.

IN THE COMMON PLEAS.

The Corporation of the Town of Peterborough Plaintiffs.

This is an action by the plaintiffs, against the defendant, to recover an unascertained sum of money to be ascertained, as hereinafter provided.

Should it appear that the plaintiffs are entitled to recover anything against the defendant, by reason of the matters herein after set out, and by the consent of the parties, and by the order, Mr. Robert G. Dalton, C. C., P. Q. B., dated the twenty-second day of November, A.D., 1879, according to the Common Law Procedure Act, the following case has been stated, for the opinion of the Court without pleadings.

The plaintiffs are the Municipal Corporation of the Town of Peterborough, and the defendant has been, since the year 1871, and still is, Police Magistrate, duly appointed as such, in and for the Town of Peterborough. The defendant, as such Police Magistrate, has been regularly paid by the plaintiffs, the salary, which by the Statute, in that behalf, is made payable by them to him. The defendant, in his capacity as such Police Magistrate and ex-officio Justice of the Peace for said Town and County has received fees which he has retained to his own use, and refused to account for, or pay over to the plaintiffs in the following cases, viz:—

1. Fees payable under the statute in that behalf to Justices of the Peace and their clerks in proceedings before the defendant, as such Police Magistrate and Justice of the Peace, in cases of non-payment of wages arising within the Town of Peterborough, wherein the informations were taken by him and summonses prepared by clerks paid by him.

2. Fees payable under the same Statute to Justices of the Peace or their clerks in cases before the defendant, which have not been disposed of by convictions or dismissals, but which have been abandoned or withdrawn by consent of parties, the informations having been laid before the defendant and summonses and subpoenas prepared by him and clerks paid by him.

3. Fees payable under the same statute to Justices and their Clerk on binding persons to keep the peace the information having been taken by defendant, and warrants and papers having been prepared by him or Clerks paid by him, the foregoing being matters arising from the time of the defendant's appointment to the office of Police Magistrate as aforesaid up to the third day of March, 1877, during which period there existed no clerk of the Police Court of Peterborough, save the Clerk of the town, who was under the Municipal Act Clerk thereof, but he being also Treasurer of said town refused and neglected although specially instructed by resolution of the Town Council to perform the duties of such Police Clerk, and such duties were therefore performed by defendant or persons employed by him which the plaintiffs never repudiated although duly informed thereof, during the whole of the said period.

4. Fees payable under the same statute to Justices and their clerks in all cases arising outside the town of Peterborough, but within the county of Peterborough, the defendant being, on such county cases, obliged to perform the duties of Clerk by himself, or persons employed by him.

The questions for the opinion of the Court are as follows:—

First,—Are the plaintiffs entitled to any fees in respect to such matters? or is the defendant entitled to retain the same or any part thereof to his own use? And if yes, what fees, and in what cases? And are the plaintiffs entitled to sue for and recover from the defendant any of such fees heretofore received by him?

Secondly,—In all cases other than those above mentioned, is the defendant entitled to retain to his own use the fees allowed for the following services, if performed by him, or clerks paid by him, viz.:—

(a) Fee for drawing and swearing informations. (b) Preparing and issuing summonses, warrants, subpoenas, warrants of commitment, taking recognizances of bail, hearing fees, drawing convictions, orders for sureties to keep the peace, orders for payment of wages, and warrants of distress on non-payment.

Thirdly,—A Clerk of the Police Office of said town, payable by a fixed salary, having been duly appointed on the 15th day of March, 1877, by the plaintiffs, and having performed the duties of the office since that date, and having received and paid over to the plaintiffs all fees received in cases before the defendant, including the fees for hearing and determining and drawing records of convictions, is the defendant entitled to recover the fees so paid to the plaintiffs for hearing and determining and for records of convictions?

Fourthly,—Does the Municipal Act (R.S.O. 174, Sec. 412) apply to cases arising under the Criminal Law of the Dominion, so as to deprive a Police Magistrate within its provisions of any fees in such cases, or only to fees in cases arising under Provincial Statutes?

It is agreed that the accounts between the plaintiffs and defendant shall be taken according to the finding of this Court, in the several matters above stated by Edgecombe Pearse and William Eastland, the Auditors of the town of Peterborough, whose finding shall be final and binding, and that judgment shall be entered in this Honourable Court for plaintiffs or defendant, as upon a plea of set off for the amount so found due by either of the said parties to the other, with costs on such scale as may be decided by the order of a Judge in Chambers, and that this reference may be made a rule of Court, and be subject to the clauses of the Common Law Procedure Act.

THE JUDGMENT.

The following is the judgment of the Court, given by Chief Justice Wilson, on Friday last Justices Galt and Osler concurring:—

This special case, submitting several questions for our opinion, was argued in Michaelmas term, on the 5th December last, Mr. Bethune for the plaintiff, and Dr. McMichael, Q.C., and Mr. Cameron, Q.C., for the defendant. The statutes and cases referred to were: R.S.O., ch. 77, and schedule A; Dickinson's Guide to the Quarter Sessions, 90, 91; R. S. O., ch. 72.

R.S.O., chap. 89, sec. 1, 14 and 15 Vic. C. 55, sec. 58, Oke's Mag. Synopsis 64.

There is and has been a Police Magistrate in the town of Peterborough for several years past. The defendant, as such Police Magistrate, has been duly paid his salary under the statute in that behalf, now contained in R. S. O., chap. 72, section 1. By that section every city and town having more than five thousand inhabitants shall have a Police Magistrate. By section 4 of that Act every police magistrate shall be ex officio a justice of the peace for the city or town for which he holds office, and also for the whole county or union of counties in which either for judicial or municipal purposes such city or town is situated. By section 6 the police magistrate is the only justice of the peace who has authority to act as a justice of the peace in any case for any town or city, except at the Courts of General Sessions of the Peace, or in the case of the illness, absence, or at the request of, the Police Magistrate; and by sec. 7 the Police Magistrate for any city, town or place, and sitting at a Police Court or other place appointed in that behalf, shall have power to do alone whatever is authorized by any statute in force in this Province relating to matters within the legislative authority of the Legislature of this Province to be done by two or more justices of the peace, and he shall have such power while acting anywhere within the county for which he is ex-officio a justice of the peace. By the Mun. Act R.S.O., ch. 174, sec. 411, the Council of every town or city shall establish a police office, and the Police Magistrate shall attend daily at the police office, or at such times and for such periods as may be necessary for the disposal of the business brought before him as a Justice of the Peace. By sec. 412 the clerk of the Council of every city or town, or such other person as the Council of the city or town appoint for that purpose, shall be clerk of the police office, and perform the same duties and receive the same emoluments as clerks of Justices of the Peace; and in case the said clerk is paid by a fixed salary, the emoluments shall be paid by him to the municipality, and such clerk shall be the officer of and under the Police Magistrate. By R. S. O. ch. 77, sec. 1, the fees mentioned in schedule A, and no other, shall be the fees to be taken by Justices of the Peace or by their clerks for the duties and services therein mentioned, and schedule A refers to fees to be taken, as I read it, in cases of assault, trespass, or other misdemeanours. Sec. 2 and schedule B relate to fees to be taken when such fees are not expressly prescribed by any statute, and the schedule relates to all cases before Justices. By R. S. O., ch. 89, section 1, in cases not otherwise provided for in which by any Imperial statute in force in Ontario a fine or penalty is imposed in respect to matters within the legislative authority of the Legislature of Ontario, and the whole or any part of the fine or penalty is appropriated to any purpose inapplicable to the existing state of Ontario, the same shall be paid to the treasurer of the county or city in which the conviction has taken place. The defendant claims fees payable under the statute in proceedings taken by him as Police Magistrate for non-payment of wages arising within the town of Peterborough, wherein the informations were taken by him, and summonses were prepared by clerks paid by him. These complaints are made under R. S. O., ch. 133, sec. 12, and may be made before any Justice of the Peace. It does not appear to me that the Police Magistrate can claim fees for himself as a Justice of the Peace under ch. 77, because in the case put the matter was one arising within the town of and for which he is Police Magistrate. They are claimed by him for the disposal of the business brought before him as a Justice of the Peace. The Town of Peterborough is one of those towns which it is said by ch. 72 "shall have" a Police Magistrate, and the salary provided for by that Act is and must be for his duties and services as such Police Magistrate. If it is not for these there is nothing else it can be for. Then as to the claim made for fees paid to a clerk in such cases, I am of opinion, as a general rule, no claim can be made for them, because the Town Clerk is by law the Clerk of the Police Office, and of the Police Magistrate, and if he do not act, then such other person as the Council appoints for that purpose shall be the clerk of the Police Office. The Council may attach a salary to the office which shall be in lieu of fees, and then the clerk is to deliver to the treasurer of the town the fees he receives, and if there be no salary the clerk retains the fees to his own use. Here, however, it appears the Town Clerk is also the Town Treasurer, and he could not act as Police Clerk, and the Police Magistrate from 1871 until the 3rd of March, 1877, appointed a clerk, which appointment the plaintiffs never repudiated, although they had full knowledge and notice of the same during all that time. In this case, under these circumstances, I am of opinion it may be considered as if the Council had as a body appointed the clerk. It is true such a clerk, if appointed by the Council, is required to make a declaration to execute his office faithfully, and may be required to give security for the due performance of the duties of the Office—(See Mun. Act, secs. 266, 273, 274, 276)—and it is true the declaration is to be made before entering on the duties of the office, but I cannot say that a person who does act in his office before the making of the declaration is not an officer, or acts illegally when he does so with the assent of the Corporation. Here, too, the plaintiffs must have known they had given the Clerk no salary. They must have known also he was receiving and appropriating to his own use the fees of a clerk of a Justice of the Peace, and under these circumstances the clerk is entitled to retain such fees. I do not think the defendant had or has any right to charge the fees for his clerk which the statute gives to the clerk, if he has done so, which I rather infer to be the case, and to pay the clerk a salary in lieu of them, although the Council may do so specially by statute, but if it were not for that statute the Council could not have done so.—The Corporation of Liverpool v. Wright, 5 Jur. N. S. 1156. Ex. p. Harnden, 5 Jur. N. S., 882. The like observations apply to the second and third heads of the statements. As I understand the case, the matters as under the first head arose within the town. If they did not, they will be considered under the fourth head. As to the fourth class of cases, arising without the town of Peterborough, but within the county, which cases come before the defendant as a Justice of the Peace, we say it is necessary to settle that cases do or do not arise without the town of Peterborough. A county Justice takes cognizance of all magisterial business brought before him of which he has jurisdiction, wherever the case, matter, offence, or charge may have arisen. The Police Magistrate for a town or city must do the same, as he has an exclusive magisterial jurisdiction in that particular part or section of the county which is in effect for that purpose, separate from the county. If, for instance, a servant is complaining of a master for non-payment of wages or otherwise under R. S. O., ch. 133—in which case the complaint may be made against the master in any county in which he is found—and the master is found in the Town of Peterborough, the defendant would be obliged to act, and would act as Police Magistrate of the town where the master was found, and in so doing would be doing the business of and for that town, because no other Magistrate could do it. He would not be entitled to charge the usual fees of a Justice of the Peace in such cases. I do not consider that a county case. It may not even have arisen in a county in its qualified form, but in a police town or city, Hamilton or Kingston, for instance. So if one who had threatened another in the county with bodily injury were apprehended and residing in Peterborough, and was bound over there to keep the peace, that would, in my opinion be a case in which the Police Magistrate could not charge fees; and the like as to an assault committed in the county, but the defendant was residing and taken in the town or city. In cases of extradition the Police Magistrate would not be entitled to fees if fees are payable in such a case to any Justice of the Peace. If the Police Magistrate were to go into the county in any case, there to take cognizance of and determine a charge arising in the county, and the parties resided there, he would be entitled to fees. So, if in the last case he sat in the town or city he would also be entitled to fees; and so, also, I think where the matter was local, as for an injury to property situated out of the town or city where the parties lived within the city, or to authorize the breaking open of doors in the county to enable a landlord, [illegible] to make a distress for rent under the statute, or where proceedings are taken before him under the "[illegible] Act" for infraction of that Act beyond the limits of the town or city; and if a merely county case was brought before him, the cause arising and the parties being resident there, and the summons or warrant happened to be served or executed in the town or city the magistrate would be entitled to his fees. The fourth head to which I am referring must be answered in this general manner, because it is too vague to be more specifically answered. The plaintiffs are not entitled to recover from the defendant fees received by him, whether rightfully or wrongfully received. There is a fifth class of cases stated. The plaintiffs appointed a police clerk on 15th March, 1877, and have paid him by a fixed salary, and the clerk has received and paid to the plaintiffs all fees received in those cases before the defendant as Police Magistrate, and the question is whether the defendant is entitled to recover the fees so paid to the plaintiffs for hearing and determining and records of conviction. I can only say the Police Magistrate is entitled to no fee whatever excepting, as a rule, where he is acting as a Justice of the Peace in what may be called purely county cases. What these are it is impossible to classify or to define otherwise than as before specified. We can determine whether a certain case of which we know all the facts is a case in which fees may or may not be charged by the Police Magistrate, but we cannot answer more precisely than we have done so general and undefined a question, nor can we undertake to say whether a record of conviction is prepared by the Justice or by the Clerk. We can only say, if the Justice does the work, his salary, in our opinion, covers such services, and if the Clerk does it he is to charge the fee and pay it over to the plaintiffs. There is still a sixth head of items submitted to our consideration, whether the Mun. Act, section 412, applies to cases arising under Dominion statutes, or only to cases arising under Provincial statutes? We answer, both to Dominion and Provincial Statutes. If we have not quite disposed of any matters which the parties desire to be more expressly decided, the case must be amended, or a new case stated, which will enable us more specifically to deal with it. Our opinion in the matter submitted is as we have already stated it. We cannot give it more definitely, or in a more condensed manner than we have done.

WHERE OUR BARLEY IS SHIPPED FROM.

DURING the year 1879 the receipts of Canadian barley at Oswego was 3,834,178 bushels. Of this there were shipped from the Bay of Quinte ports, 1,515,987 bushels, or nearly 40 per cent. of the whole. Of the rest there were shipped from:—

REVIEWS.

THE BYSTANDER.—We have received the first number of The Bystander, a monthly review of current events, Canadian and general. It is said, apparently on good authority, that the writer is Mr. Goldwin Smith. The discussion of Canadian politics from an independent standpoint, and with plain-speaking boldness, will, no doubt, be read with interest, even when antagonistic to the reader. It will be noticed that the writer, while so warmly advocating the absence of political parties in Canada, betrays the most bitter political partizanship whenever his pen wanders from the affairs of the Dominion. Hunter, Rose & Co., Toronto, are the publishers.

GENERAL ROBERTS' LOSS.

LONDON, Dec. 29.—General Roberts telegraphs on the 26th inst. that Butkak has been re-occupied. A force will start for Kohistan to-morrow, to punish those who participated in the recent movement there. General Roberts' total loss to date is 77 killed and 290 wounded.

AT THE BALA HISSAR.

A telegram from General Roberts on the 26th inst. says:—"A heavy snow fall on the 25th prevented pursuit of the enemy. The country about Cabul and the line of communication is now clear. The Bala Hissar magazine is emptied. There were several explosions in Bala Hissar during occupation by insurgents. One explosion is stated to have killed a hundred persons. The telegraph line was for a good part destroyed, but is being rapidly repaired."

PRESENTATION.—The talented young pianist, Miss Emily Gilmore, was the recipient, on Christmas morning, of a very handsome Russian leather purse, containing thirty-three dollars in American gold, the gift of a number of the congregation of St. John's church. An accompanying communication explained in graceful terms that the gift was in recognition of her valuable assistance in the musical parts of the church and Sunday Services, and of the cheerful readiness with which this assistance had at all times been rendered.

TWENTY-SEVENTH YEAR.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW FOR 1880.

AN ENTIRELY NEW FEATURE!

How to Obtain the Leading Papers and Save Money.

FAIR, SQUARE AND, RELIABLE OFFERS.

WITH the year 1880, the WEEKLY REVIEW will enter on its 27th year of publication. Notwithstanding the improvements which have been made upon it, and the ever increasing expenditure incurred to keep it AHEAD of any of its competitors, the annual subscription will remain as heretofore, only $1.50—postage paid by the publishers.

Splendid Clubbing Advantages.

The Proprietors of the REVIEW have great pleasure in announcing that they have made arrangements with the publishers of the following leading periodicals in Canada and the United States, by which they are enabled to club these periodicals with the WEEKLY REVIEW at remarkably low prices.

READ CAREFULLY.—Below are three columns of figures. The name of the paper or magazine is given, and the FIRST column gives the REGULAR PUBLISHER'S PRICE. The SECOND column gives the regular subscription price of the WEEKLY REVIEW. The THIRD column gives the price at which we are prepared to supply new subscribers with BOTH the paper or magazine and the WEEKLY REVIEW combined, for one year. It is certainly an object to save money these times, and it is easy to see by our Club List how it can be done.

OUR CLUB LIST.

DON'T MORTGAGE YOUR FARM.

You farmers rich and poor give ear, to what I say attend;
Don't angry get, I do not wish one farmer to offend.
The simple truth I mean to state, though some may on me frown;
'Tis: Lay no mortgage on your farm—take warning by Clark Brown.

He is but one 'mong thousands more, whose brightest hopes have waned,
By that one act the cup of ruin they to its dregs have drained.
Extravagance, their direst foe, ambition yields the charm
That draws them on till they have signed first mortgage on their farm.

When times were good, and crops likewise, prosperity [illegible],
Some [illegible] at [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] never failed,
But darker times and shorter crops their ruinous power displayed,
And not a few that lived too fast in sorrow stood dismayed.

They lived in pomp and pride at home—with dazzling show outside,
Though they [illegible] borrow cash to float them o'er fair fashion's tide.
Though living far above their means, it gave them no alarm,
They kept up style, though they should give a mortgage on the farm.

The home—spun gray is laid aside—it looked so awful mean,
The shining broadcloth takes its place, more stylish to be seen;
The rumbling waggon stands at rest, they love to ride on wheel,
The glittering carriage sets them off, it looks much more genteel.

Contracted debts, like time or tide, go swiftly rolling on;
Their reckless course shows them, too late, their hopes and farm are gone;
The day has come—around that home large crowds of neighbors swarm,
The Auctioneer sells off the stock—the mortgage holds the farm.

The picture's dark to not a few; a brighter side appears—
Thousands have labored, saved, and lived free from all mortgage fears;
Through living plain in dress and style, still happy and content
Shrewd, cautious, careful, watching well where every dollar went.

The farmer, family, frugal wife, make one industrious band;
From year to year they toil and strive a little keep on hand;
No puffed up pride can them deceive, new fashions yield no charm
Their rule is: Live within our means and mortgage not the farm.

Economy, with care and tact, their chiefest daily rule,
In spending, living, or in dress, down to the farming tool;
The boys don't put on airs, nor in their broadcloths strut about,
Nor daughters in their silks parade—they feel content without.

No dollar without care is spent by either man or wife,
No, not on costly luxuries, but needful things of life,
While Fred, and Sis, young Dick, and Kate, each lend a willing arm,
To add unto their wealth and keep the mortgage off the farm.

And not a few have hardships shared, when adverse fortune frowned,
They toiled and saved; to-day they rest; wealth has their labor crowned.
Ask their experience, they will tell words we should not forget:
"We'd sooner ride in the old ox cart than sink the farm in debt."

Yes, farmers, train your sons to work, if not to hold the plough,
To earn an honest livelihood, though sweat falls from their brow;
Teach them to save, what e'er they make 'twill never do them harm,
But keep the Sheriff from the door; the mortgage off the farm.

WILLIAM TELFORD.

Smith, Dec. 26, 1879.

A BANK TELLER COMMITS SUICIDE.

A Fatal Letter—Affecting Scene Described—Wild Rumours Afloat.

THREE RIVERS, Dec. 27.—A very sad occurrence took place here last night about 7 p.m. Mr. Stephen Black, paying teller in the Quebec Bank, being [illegible] at [illegible] and after having read a letter received by him last evening, mailed from Quebec, suddenly left the table, at which his wife was seated, and after having walked up and down the room three or four times, stopped near his wife, [illegible] his [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] good-bye, and drawing a seven shooting revolver from his pocket, aimed straight for his temple and shot himself. Medical assistance was immediately sent for by a policeman on his rounds at the time, and shortly afterwards the Coroner, Dr. Edward Badeaux, and Dr. Gilmour were in attendance, but Mr. Black was insensible, although not dead. Dr. Cassels was also sent for but on probing the wound gave it as his opinion that the sufferer could not live. At seven o'clock this morning he breathed his last. No cause as yet has been given by the family for the terrible act.

Mr. Black married a Miss McDougall, daughter of John McDougall, Esq., J. P., and merchant in this city and leaves no family. Mr. Black leaves a host of young friends behind him to mourn his untimely end, being always a happy, genial and pleasant companion.

ANOTHER VERSION.

A despatch from Three Rivers dated yesterday says:—Mr. S. M. Black, teller of the Quebec Bank in this city, shot himself about seven o'clock this evening. It appears that while at tea he received a note from the Manager of the Bank, the contents of which seemed greatly to excite him. After reading the note, he exclaimed, "I won't let this thing trouble me any longer," and immediately pulling a revolver from his pocket, shot himself in the head. He is dangerously wounded, and is not expected to recover. The wildest rumours are afloat as to the cause of the rash act, but in the absence of reliable information, fuller particulars cannot be given to-night.

IRELAND.

THE Marquis of Lansdowne has sent to his Kerry tenantry a cargo of 175 tons of the best champion seed potatoes.

MILLFIELD Mills, Belfast, with 25,000 spindles for spinning tow and linen yarns, and which have been idle for more than three years, have been purchased by the York Street Spinning Company, and will, it is said, be immediately put into work. The price is stated to be [illegible].

MR. LOWTHER, the Chief Secretary for Ireland, yesterday received a deputation representing the Dublin, Wicklow, and Wexford Railway Company, who sought a loan from the Treasury of £300,000 at a low rate of interest, so as to construct a railway from Ballywilliam to New Ross and Waterford, and thus give employment to the people.

THE reduction in rent made by Mr. Parnell to his Irish tenants is 20 per cent less than that made last year by the Duke of Bedford (who has no Irish property) to his English tenants, and less than that made by many Irish landlords.

IN Berlin last month, a horse ran away with a cart in which there was little girl. A boy of 12 seeing the situation, rolled a barrel into the middle of the road, which half stopped the horse, who was about to dodge the obstacle, when the boy seized the bit and contrived with great agility, to swing himself up and clasp his legs around the animal's neck, which very soon came to a stop. Then the brave little fellow slipped away, unknown and unnoticed.

To enjoy health, beware of every ailment, and if suffering from diseases of the kidneys, etc., use Victoria Buchu and Uva Ursi. If taken in time, this great medicine will prevent Bright's disease of the kidneys, diabetes, etc., and is a positive specific in all diseases of the urinary system. For sale by all dealers. w1d150-2w

A Good Account.

"To sum it up, six long years of bed-ridden sickness and suffering, costing $200 per year, total, $1,200—all of which was stopped by three bottles of Hop Bitters taken by my wife, who has done her own housework for a year since without the loss of a day, and I want everybody to know of it for their benefit.
d146-1y "JOHN WEEKS, Butler, N. Y."

What all Men Should Know.

To Relieve a Cough.—The troublesome cough caused by an accumulation of phlegm in the throat, especially in the morning, experienced mostly by persons affected with Chronic Catarrh, can be relieved almost instantly by taking a teaspoonful of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam, which has the advantage of being harmless to the stomach, and at the same time improving the appetite. w1d150-2w

Remedy for Hard Times.

Stop spending so much on fine clothes, rich food and style. Buy good, healthy food, cheaper and better clothing; get more real and substantial things of life every way and especially stop the foolish habit of running after expensive and quack doctors or using so much of the vile humbug medicine that does you only harm and makes the proprietors rich, but put your trust in the greatest of all simple, pure remedies, Hop Bitters, that cures always at a trifling cost, and you will see better times and good health. Try it once. Read it in another column. d146-1y

Misery's Throne.

Of all the miserable and unhappy creatures in existence, there are none more so than the confined dyspeptic. Life is a burden, and if the sufferer does not soon obtain relief he soon sinks into a dreary misanthrope, with the germs of consumption lurking dangerously near. The only known remedy—tested in [illegible] cases—is SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL combined with HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA. With this medicine the incubus is removed, and the embryo seeds of consumption scattered. It is also nearly as pleasant to the taste as sweet cream. d129w49-1m

A Conundrum Propounded.

Why will the "small boy," persist in eating green apples? The reader may as well give it up at once, since our original parents were guilty of that "little indiscretion." Physicians say, the season in which early or unripe fruit is most abundant, is the one they are most severely taxed in [illegible] diarrhœa, dysentery, etc. Young and old [illegible] [illegible] boys and girls are the surest victims and the greatest sufferers. There is no peace, comfort or safety in the family unless its head provides a proper remedy. SCOTT & BOWNE'S EMULSION OF PALATABLE CASTOR OIL. Price 25 cents. d129w49-1m

A POSITIVE FACT.—[illegible] [illegible] of feebleness, or the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] system, so [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] It is pre-eminently [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] spread through the Northern and Middle part of the United States and the Dominion of Canada than in any other part of the world. We will not stop to say why this is the case, but we do emphatically say the Victoria Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites will be found an invaluable medicine for all parties afflicted with Nervousness, Dyspepsia, Consumption, Impaired Nutrition, General Debility, or weakness of the whole system. One of the first effects is an increase of the nervous or vital energy, followed by a feeling of unusual comfort and strength. For sale by all dealers. w1d150-2w

MANHOOD:

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

WE have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Daily Evening Review

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

The Skating and Curling Rink.

The rinks were flooded last night and the depression of the atmosphere has given them a firm surface for skating and curling.

A Fine Heifer.

Mr. Wm. Croft had his two year old grade heifer weighed this morning, and she made the scales kick the beam at 1130 lbs. Not bad that for a grade.

57th Battalion.

We learn that the new clothing has at length arrived. There is some talk of having a "march out" on New Year's morning. More definite notice of this will probably be given to-morrow.

I. O. G. T.

The members of Carswell Lodge, No. 411, I. O. G. T., are particularly requested to be in attendance to-morrow evening, as matters of importance will come before the Lodge. The Lodge meets at 7.30 o'clock.

Presentation.

On New Year's evening there will be a presentation of a sword to Captain Langford by the members of Company No. 2, of the 57th Peterborough Rangers. The presentation will take place at the Drill Shed.

Curling Match.

A curling match, Canadian vs. Old Country, has been arranged for on New Year's Day, playing to commence at 10 o'clock in the morning. In former years the Canadians have come off victorious, but it is thought the "scene will be change."

New Year's Eve Service.

The usual midnight service in connection with St. Luke's Church will be held to-morrow, New Year's eve, at 11.30 p.m. The collection will be devoted to the poor. Cards bearing an appropriate motto for the year 1880 will be distributed to all who are in attendance.

Snow Shoe Tramp.

The Peterborough "Tuque Bleue" Snow Shoe Club, will meet at the Huffman House this evening at 7.30 o'clock, for a tramp. All members of the club are requested to be on hand sharp on time, to improve the opportunity of joining in the opening of the season.

The Sleighing.

The thaw of Sunday and Monday did not destroy the fine sleighing we have been enjoying, although much of the snow disappeared. It was however, renewed last night by colder weather and a fresh fall of about three inches of snow, leaving the sleighing even better than before.

Disqualified.

We are surprised to find the name of Mr. W. Mills among the nominations for the Second Ward, but we suppose he was nominated without his consent or knowledge, as he is too well posted in the law to run as a candidate when he knows that he is disqualified, owing to the fact that he is now auditor for the town, and that his claim for his valuable services is yet unsettled.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district, as reported from Toronto at 10 o'clock to day are: Fresh to brisk, north-westerly to north-easterly winds, fair decidly colder; weather snow flurries. The thaw of yesterday in Peterborough was followed last night by a north-west wind, and colder with snow. To-day partly cloudy to clear cold weather, the thermometer indicating at 8 this morning 12° above and at noon 15° with the wind north.

Sunday School Teacher's Certificates.

We have just seen the certificates issued by the Church of England Sunday School Institute, London, England, to those teachers who succeeded in passing the examination held by the Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, as local secretary, last May. All the teachers who entered from this locality succeeded in passing with one exception only. The questions were issued from the head office in London, and the answers were returned there sealed for adjudication. No doubt this will induce others to try during 1880. The certificates are very neatly prepared and engraved on cards, having a representation of Christ receiving little children at the top, and those of the first-class are signed by the Archbishops of Canterbury and York. Last year was the first that examinations were held in the Dominion in connection with this useful Institution.

TOWN COUNCIL MEETING

JUDGMENT OF THE COURT OF COMMON PLEAS AS TO OUR POLICE COURT FEES.

A Legal Opinion on the Special Audit—A Hundred Dollars Thrown away for a Worthless Document—The Taxpayers to Pay the Piper.

The Council met pursuant to adjournment on Monday evening, Dec. 29th. Present—The Mayor and Councillors Cahill, Taylor, Smith, McBain, Yelland, Douglas, Rutherford, Robertson, Denne and Griffith.

The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

The MAYOR gave a brief verbal report of the reception of the delegates to Ottawa in reference to the Trent Valley Canal, expressing his satisfaction at their reception by the Ministers.

Councillor DENNE asked if any other municipalities had contributed funds.

Councillor SMITH named some counties that had contributed, and some that were expected to contribute.

The MAYOR gave some explanation as to the cedars in dispute between the Town and County. He then expressed his intention of enforcing their rules of order.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From the Town Treasurer, as to the items streets and bridges, miscellaneous and special grants. There was no money to their credit, and as he had been asked for payments on all of them, he wished for instructions.

From Messrs. Dennistoun Bros. & Hall, enclosing the judgment of the Court of Common Pleas in the case of the Town of Peterborough vs. Hatton, which we give in another column. Referred to the Finance Committee.

From Messrs. Edmison & Wood, as to the opinion asked from them on the special audit report. To prevent the taxes of 1873 being outlawed it was unnecessary to take proceedings within a given time, as the statute of limitation did not operate, no demand having been made. But as no such demand had been made, the sum could not now be recovered from the parties. Neither could they, in their opinion, be recovered from the Clerk, but they could from the Collector, if he had received them.

From J. D. Edgar, President, enclosing a map showing the route of the Ontario and Pacific Junction R. R., and asking the Council to petition in favor of aid to the company. Referred to the Finance Committee.

PETITIONS.

From Margaret Cooly, asking for relief, her property having been seized for taxes.

From Wm. Course, asking for time to pay taxes.

From C. Vincette, complaining of over taxation.

From Sam Detober, asking for time to pay taxes.

From Stephen Jeffrey, asking for refund of costs for seizure for taxes.

From Thos. Leonard, complaining of taxes being exacted twice on the same lot.

The petitions in reference to taxes were referred to the Finance Committee.

THE SPECIAL AUDIT.

Councillor MCBAIN asked for an explanation from Mr. Edmison as to his opinion on the special audit.

Councillor ROBERTSON asked as to any taxes that had been paid to the collector though not on the roll.

Mr. EDMISON said his opinion was that they could be collected. He had only considered the year referred to him.

The opinion, with the report, was referred to the Finance Committee, with power to take Mr. Edmison's advice.

Councillor DENNE moved, seconded by Councillor ROBERTSON,—That Mr. Edwards be requested to make any explanations at the next meeting of the Council respecting Messrs. Mills and Hogan's audit, if any mistakes, what amounts paid and to whom, in writing.

He thought this was fair to Mr. Edwards. He saw a great deal in the REVIEW about errors in the audit.

The motion was carried.

FINANCE REPORT.

Councillor CAHILL brought in the report of the the Finance Committee as follows:—

1. They recommend the Council not to interfere in the matters referred to in the petitions of the following persons:—W. J. Rombough, Mrs. Barchard and Mrs. Walsh.

2. In the case of Mr. N. Laplante your committee find by the minutes of the Court of Revision that there was no reduction made in his assessment.

3. In reference to the application of Mr. Jas. Hall, of Montreal, asking for a bonus to establish a cotton factory here, your committee recommend that the Mayor be requested to communicate with him to ascertain his views more fully.

He moved the adoption of the report, which was carried.

THE SPECIAL AUDIT.

Councillor DENNE said Messrs. Mills and Hogan had asked for $100, but the Finance Committee had only given $50. He thought even if they had made mistakes, it was only what seemed to be the fashion, and they should be paid. It seemed that there was little money to be got out of it. He moved, seconded by Councillor Robertson, that Messrs. Mills and Hogan be paid $100 on account.

The motion was carried on the following division:—

YEAS,—McBain, Yelland, Robertson, Denne and Griffith.

NAYS,—Cahill, Taylor, Smith and Rutherford.

The Council adjourned for two weeks.

POLICE COURT

NEGLECTING HIS WORK.

MONDAY, Dec. 29.—In the afternoon Mr. T. G. Haslitt laid a complaint against Cornelius Ryan, charging him with having neglected his work and using and abusing his property. The evidence showed that the defendant took the complainant's horse and cutter on the 25th, remaining away all night and returning on the 26th with the cutter broken and the horse injured, and that the defendent failed to attend to his duties on the 26th. Defendant admitted that he used the horse and cutter, and said he met with an accident. The complainant requested the Magistrate to deal as leniently with the young man as the law would allow, as he desired only to show him that he could not go and come as he wished, to the detriment of his employer's business, and that it was his desire to save him from getting into vicious habits.

The Magistrate imposed a fine of $3.00, the lowest penalty the law allowed. Mr. Haslitt paid half the fine to the Clerk.

CHARGE OF LARCENY.

TUESDAY, Dec. 30.—The case of the Queen vs. Martin Walsh, came up for examination on remand. The Defendant having spent a week in the County jail, under the cold water treatment, was enabled to give an account of himself. He stated to the magistrate that he did not think he was insane; it was whiskey that had been the trouble, and he would not drink any more. He promised to do better. The Magistrate allowed the case to be withdrawn, on the complainant paying the costs to the Constable, $3.50.

THROWING STONES.

Lafayette Carpenter laid a complaint against Jos. Johnson, Wm. Jamison and John Jamison, aged about 14 years, charging them with throwing stones and damaging his property. Jos. Johnson, one of the boys, acknowledged throwing the stones, saying that the complainant had not paid the boys their wages and they wanted some satisfaction. The Magistrate, after giving the boys a good lecture, showing them what would be the result if such practices were continued, and in consideration of the feelings of their parents, he would allow them to go without punishment, although he found them guilty. Should they, or either of them, be brought before him again, the result would be different. They would then be sent to Penetanguishene.

VAGRANCY.

The case of George Masters and Elizabeth Masters, charged with being vagrants, was brought up on remand. The Mayor came in and took a seat with the Magistrate. The defendants pleaded guilty to the charge, and desired to be allowed to go to Toronto, where they had friends and could get work. After consultation with the Mayor, it was agreed that tickets should be furnished them. They were found guilty, but sentence was deferred upon the promise to leave town.

THE TAY DISASTER.

The Divers Unsuccessful—Supposed Cause of the Disaster.

INSPECTION BY ENGINEERS.

Sir Thomas Bouch, the engineer of the bridge, with a number of other engineers, made an inspection to-day. They found that the whole pier foundations were intact. The opinion of himself and others is that the train proceeded without interruption until it reached the high girders. Then one or more of the back carriages went off the rails, coming against the lattice work, and tore the structure to pieces, causing the frightful disaster. The showers of sparks seen by those on shore are believed to have been caused by the collision of the carriages with the iron work.

DIVERS AT WORK.

Public excitement over the Tay Bridge disaster is unabated. After daylight this morning steps were taken as rapidly as possible to ascertain the exact location of the train under water, for the purpose of removing the bodies, but the divers who were sent down finally returned to the surface, and reported that they were unable to find any trace whatever of the lost train. Their failure is believed to be due to the fact that if a large section of the bridge which is destroyed was carried away by the storm, the train may have fallen through any part of the total of about 3,000 feet, in which the divers might easily have missed it for several successive attempts. The divers will continue their search, being certain of ultimate success. The water is gradually becoming more quiet, and it is hoped that by to-morrow sub-marine operations can be carried on without interruption from the weather.

Special to the Review.

A CLEAR BREAK.

LONDON, Dec. 30.—The official report of the North British railway in regard to the Tay bridge casualty says:—The falling girders made a very clear break from that portion which remains standing. Almost the only signs of a smash are the ends of the rails on which the train ran, which are torn asunder. The rails remaining are wrenched out of their chairs for a few yards.

MAILS RECOVERED.

LONDON, Dec. 30.—It is reported that three more bodies have been washed ashore at the scene of the Tay bridge disaster. All the mails have been recovered.

Murdered by School Girls.

A murder near the county school-house, between Centerville and Williamsburg, Ind., two weeks since has just came to light. Two school girls about fifteen years old, daughters of wealthy parents, were expelled from the school for [illegible] a school-mate of the same age named Kite. On her way home after school they assaulted her, one knocking her down with a base-ball club, and the other jumped on her and breaking four of her ribs. Miss Kite managed to crawl away home, but died soon after communicating the facts to her mother. According to report, the parents of the assailants paid to the murdered girl's mother $3,000 to keep the affair secret. The facts, however, leaked out through the school children who witnessed the assault, and have created much excitement.

THE AFGHANISTAN WAR.

A DETACHMENT ON THE WAY TO KOHISTAN—QUIETNESS IN CABUL.

An Attack on Colonel Norman Repulsed—Re-occupation of Lataband—Destruction of the Shirpur Defences.

Press Despatches via Cable and Montreal Lines.

BECOMING QUIET.

LONDON, Dec. 30.—A Cabul despatch of Dec. 27th says General Baker has gone to Kohistan with 1,700 infantry, a regiment of cavalry and four guns to punish the insurgents there. Mohammed Jan has taken Musa Khan with him to Wardack. Cabul is rapidly becoming quiet.

AN ATTACK REPULSED.

The Viceroy of India telegraphs that Colonel Norman has been attacked at Gundamuk by Asmatullah with two thousand followers. The enemy was driven off. The British loss was one officer and one man killed. Colonel Norman will advance at once and re-occupy Lataband. The road to the latter place is the most available for military movements of any in the vicinity of Cabul, running due east in a straight line from Buthak as far as Katasing, 28 or 30 miles from Cabul, and then in a southerly direction to Jugdullak; five miles further on. On this account the value of Lataband as an outpost is appreciated by General Roberts, who has declared his intentions to hold it by an adequate garrison.

SHIRPUR ABANDONED.

A despatch from Cabul states that the enclosures which were thrown up around the Shirpur cantonments at the time the British were driven to occupy it as a base of operations, have been levelled by order of General Roberts, being no longer required for the purpose of defence and the General's position being so much strengthened by the occupation of Cabul and the establishment of outposts. The country as a whole is declared to be quieting down, none of the enemy in mass having appeared since the dispersion on the evening of the 23rd.

CABUL AND BALA-HISSAR.

A Cabul despatch says General Hills has been re-instated as Military Governor. The shops in the city have been [illegible] and [illegible]. Business is [illegible] General Gough's brigade will occupy the Bala Hissar.

ALFONSO SHOT AT.

MADRID, Dec. 30.—As the King and Queen were driving through the gate of the Royal Palace this evening, a young man dressed as a workman fired a shot from a revolver at the Royal carriage, but his aim was bad, and nobody was hurt. The ball has since been found and weighs an ounce. It passed close to the head of one of the Royal footmen. The King was driving at the time. The would-be assassin was immediately arrested. He confessed. His name is Gonzales. He is a waiter, and a native of Galicia.

QUEEN CHRISTINE ESCAPED.

MADRID, Dec. 30.—The Diareo Espanol says two shots were fired at the Royal Carriage, the second passing quite close to the Queen's face. The weapon used was a double-barrelled pistol. The diplomatic body have gone to the palace to congratulate their Majesties upon their escape. The attempt excites general indignation in Madrid. It is believed Gonzales had accomplices. Three persons have been arrested on suspicion. Gonzales has been living in Madrid some time. The King attended the opera at night.

PEASANT RISING IN RUSSIA.

LONDON, Dec. 30.—A Vienna despatch says the Russian Nihilists are circulating among the peasants the story that the Czar has issued a decree ordering the landed proprietors to divide their estates among the peasants. The peasants on the estate of Count Schouvaloff, in the Sergevskoi district, seeing the Count was not taking any steps for a division of property, gathered at the castle, seized it, expelled all the servants, and sacked it. Two companies of soldiers were ordered to disperse the rioters, and were received with showers of missiles. The affair has assumed a threatening aspect. The peasants of several of the neighbouring communities have joined the rioters, all of whom are excellently armed.

EMBASSY FROM MERV.

LONDON, Dec. 30.—A Teheran telegram reports that the Khan of Merv has sent an embassy to the British authorities in Afghanistan with orders to proceed afterwards to the Viceroy of India.

EARTHQUAKE IN JAPAN.

A Yokohama telegram of Dec. 13th says an earthquake in Tokio and vicinity, on Nov. 20, was unsurpassed in violence in the last eight years. The town of Hakodate, in Yeso, was partly destroyed by fire on Dec. 7th; 2,390 houses were burned.

AMERICAN.

THE UTE OUTRAGES.

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—A Washington special report to the Times says that yesterday Secretary Ramsey, after consultation with Sherman, directed the General to telegraph to all the military detachments in the vicinity of the Ute country to be on the alert, and those detachments which are nearest the Ouray Agency have been directed to move forward to the protection of Hatch and his party. While admitting that the present aspect is discouraging, Schurz has not abandoned the hope that guilty Indians will be surrendered. If the surrender is not made, Schurz will promptly turn over the matter to the War Department. Nothing will be done until Hatch is heard from. The statement that the women of the White River Agency were burtally outraged is true, but for prudent reasons the fact has been heretofore withheld.

JAPAN AND CHINA.

YOKOHAMA, Dec. 31.—An energetic minority of the Ministry urged the immediate resumption of the complete and entire control over the customs tariff. This was opposed by the majority under the apprehension of forcible opposition by Great Britain and other commercial powers. A compromise scheme was adopted. There is considerable irritation among the Americans over the obvious discrimination favoring English imports, which is felt to be ungracious in view of the friendship often manifested by the United States. The details of the schedule are still believed to be susceptible of modification. There is surprise at the report that the United States offers mediation between Japan and China in the Loo Choo affair. No desire to that effect has ever been expressed by either party. A strong hope is openly declared by Government officials that the telegram is unfounded or distorted. All danger of hostility from the Loo Choo trouble is ended, if indeed any ever existed. Crawford, an American engineer, sails for the United States this mail, and is authorized to make a complete purchase of the stock and material for an American railway in Yeso, to extend from the coal fields in the interior through the city of Sapporo, the capital of Yeso, to Ataria, the port of the northwestern coast, distance 53 miles. There is much opposition from European speculators to confiding this work to American hands.

WAGES DISPUTE.

LONDON, Dec. 31.—The millowners of Lancashire, Derbyshire and Cheshire have resolved that the demands of the operatives for a 10 per cent advance on wages is permature.

DISTRESS IN IRELAND.

LONDON, Dec. 31.—The Mayor of Limerick has received a letter from the President of the St. Patrick's Society at Chicago, informing him that he has forwarded $500 for the relief of the distressed poor of Ireland. At a meeting at Galway of the Committee of the Irish Land League, a report was read from the Michael Davitt Relief Commissioner on the Distress in West Ireland. A resolution was adopted, recommending the formation of branches of the League in every parish in Ireland, with sub-branches on every large estate, and land clubs in the towns and cities of Ireland, and in the centres of Irish population in England, Scotland and America.

ATTACK ON WADDINGTON.

PARIS, Dec. 31.—The Figaro contains an article by Count Bernard De Harcourt, formerly French Ambassador at Berne, but who was recalled by Waddington, while the latter was Minister of Foreign Affairs, violently attacking Waddington. The article causes much indignation.

THE SUPPOSED DIAMONDS.

LONDON, Dec. 31.—Mr. Maskelyne, of the Mineral Department of the British Museum, writes to the Times that after a thorough test of the so-called crystalized forms of Carbon, obtained by James MacLear, of St. Rollox chemical works, who supposed he had discovered a process for making diamonds, he (Maskelyne) has no hesitation in declaring that they are not diamonds at all, but consist of some compound of silica.

NO MIDDLEMEN.

GENEVA, Dec. 31.—It is reported from St. Gall that one of the consequences of the industrial crisis has been a complete revolution in the embroidery trade of Eastern Switzerland. American merchants, who are the principal purchasers of Swiss embrordered goods, instead of ordering them from the manufacturers through native agents as formerly, have established their own houses at St. Gall, and are buying materials in the cheapest markets. They give orders direct to the operatives who work at their own houses, thus dispensing with the help of manufacturers and agents.

THE EMPRESS OF RUSSIA.

CANNES, Dec. 31.—The Empress of Russia is slightly better.

AMERICAN.

GAMBLING-HOUSE RAIDS.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Dec. 31.—Eph. Holland and a fellow gambler named Arty Duffy were attacked on the street yesterday by a party of gamblers. No serious injury resulted, but it is thought the matter will not end so, as the sporting men charge Holland and Duffy with being responsible for the raids on the gambling houses.

DEATH OF A CELEBRITY.

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—George, Count Joannes, who claimed to be an actor, author and counsellor, died yesterday afternoon, aged 69.

A SUPREME ARBITER.

BOSTON, Dec. 31.—A special from Augusta says that the Governor agrees to submitt certain of Morrill's questions to the judgment of the Supreme Court. The reason why all will not be submitted is because there is such a mixture of fact supposition, that they would not be proper papers to submit.

A PUBLIC TEST.

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—Dr. Tanner, of Mineopolis, who claims to be able to live 30 days without food, proposes to prove his assertion by a public test in this city for the benefit of science.

GAS STOCKS.

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—In consequence of a cable despatch to the London Times from an American correspondent who visited Edison, and a consequent editorial based on their interview, gas stocks have fallen £5 following a drop of £10 from their price a week ago.

A PLOT SUSPECTED.

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—The Herald's Augusta despatch says that a report exists of a secret plot for the capture of the State House on New Year's Eve. The Superintendent of Public Buildings has doubled his force of men. The Governor has authorized a still further addition.

GRAIN EXPORTS.

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—The stagnation in the export demand for grain, because of high prices, has seriously affected the commerce of this port.

AN ALABAMA CLAIMANT.

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—Augustine McDonald, who was awarded $200,000 by the Alabama Claim Commission, was jailed for failure to pay Charles Howry and others for services rendered in securing his claim. It is alleged McDonald has lost six millions in copper speculations and that he is a miser.

A LIBERAL BEQUEST.

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—The balance of the estate of the late Wm. Wibio, left to the Young Men's Christian Association library reaches $150,000.

YELLOW FEVER AT SEA.

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—The brig Mendier, from Myragune, which arrived yesterday, reports one death from yellow fever on board before sailing, and two during the voyage.

BANKING FRAUDS.

John Holliard, ex-president of the Mechanic's and Laborer's Savings Bank, Jersey City, and ex-President of the State Insurance Company, and J. J. Reid, ex-Secretary of the latter Company, has been indicted for conspiracy to defraud the Jersey City Insurance Company of $3,000. Holliard has been for some time on trial for defrauding the depositors in his Savings Bank.

PARNELL'S RECEPTION.

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—The Parnell Reception Committee have received word from Henry W. Beecher and the Rev. Dr. Storrs, expressing sympathy with Parnell's visit. Two steamers will proceed down to the bay to meet Parnell.

FATAL RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Dec. 31.—Wm. Donahue and Thomas Magee were struck by a train on the Philadelphia and Reading Railway last night and were both instantly killed.

Some Hints for Molders.

Experience has shown certain facts which may be useful to observe by molders, and to be adopted as rules in regard to preparing the running of the metal. Choose if possible, the thick part of the casting for the runner. If the casting be deep, run in the metal at the bottom where the casting has a flange in the form of a pipe, it is generally preferred to run the metal in at the flang; but the metal should not be allowed to fall from any height upon a weak part of the mold. When the casting is thin, and has many ramifications, or when it is of great length it is advisable to run in the metal in the center. Care should be taken to choose a place in the mold so that the metal will have no tendency to wash any part away in its first rush.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 31, 1879.

ANOTHER VOLUME CLOSED.

WITH this issue, the labours of another year end, and the DAILY EVENING REVIEW completes its second volume. Whether the record of the year which we are now parting with has been good, bad, or indifferent, is for our readers—not for us—to say. But whatever the verdict, it has been our aim, to the best of our ability and judgment, to discharge the important and difficult duties devolving upon us solely in the interests of the public. To deny that we have said things which were perhaps better left unsaid, or have left unsaid things which should have been said, would be to claim to be more than mortal; at the same time we have during the year received so many substantial assurances of public sympathy and support, that we feel encouraged to persevere in the course which we have marked out for ourselves, and to endeavor to render the REVIEW increasingly worthy of the generous support which it now receives from all classes of the community, and for which the publishers desire to return their best thanks.

While the rapid flight of time compels us once more to say good-bye to a dying year, we trust it will be long before we shall have to say good-bye to either old or new subscribers, and that we may all long live to wish each other, as we now most heartily do, in view of the approaching morrow "A Happy New Year," and very many of them.

KEEP THE BALL ROLLING.

THE success which has attended the getting up of the deputation to Ottawa and the visit of Messrs. Kesler and Carnegie to Montreal in the interests of the Trent Valley navigation route, has certainly been such as to nerve the people along its entire course to continued and persistent agitation until their object is accomplished. That the residents of the municipalities along its course should be anxious for its early completion is not to be wondered at, although it is something very unusual to find the same unanimity upon any subject as prevails on this. But by far the most pleasing part of this canal campaign, if we may so call it, is that thus far its merits only required to be explained to meet approval, and that anything approaching to opposition only serves to show forth its merits. Approach it as you will, discuss it from whatever standpoint you like, and the Trent Valley route will come forth as the cheapest, the shortest, and the quickest route to the sea-board for the grain of the West. This being indisputably the case, and the day being not far distant when our great North-West, as well as the shipping interests of the east, will demand such an outlet, we believe all that is required is to keep it steadily before the public to ensure its early completion. Unfortunately for some reason, we wot not of, this scheme was not, along with all the others referred to the Canadian Canal Commission of a few years ago, and therefore was not even taken into consideration. The last time it was brought before the Legislature was in 1864 by the late Mr. Conger, who had the matter investigated by a committee. At the rapid rate at which the world now moves, however, information gathered 15 or 16 years ago is of little value now. Ideas which were then only coming into vogue, with regard to "ship" canals have since had their day and are now so well nigh exploded as only to require a little substantial investigation to give them a decent burial, and permit the advantages of our route to shine forth unobscured by vision of "ships" sailing direct from Chicago to Liverpool, and vice versa.

While the committee already organized must not only be kept alive, but sustained with vigour, we think the members of the House of Commons from the Valley of the Trent will fail in their duty both to their constituents and the whole county, if they do not, upon the assembling of Parliament, obtain the appointment of a committee to collect evidence bearing upon all the various points connected with such a line of navigation. It is all very well for its advocates to stuff themselves with such arguments as various public documents may afford, but what is wanted is the evidence of practical men engaged in the transport business of to-day, both pro and con, and in no way can this be so well and effectually obtained as by a Parliamentary committee.

NEW FOUNDRY FOR OSHAWA.—Messrs. Glen, Hall & Co. have purchased the property of Mr. Dickie at the west end of the new Malleable Iron Works now being erected, for the purpose of further enlarging the works in the spring. The building will have a frontage of 226 feet on William street and 150 feet each on Prince and Church street, in all equal to one building of 526 by 50 feet. The engine house, core ovens and cleaning rooms will be in a separate building in the rear of the main building. The works will then have a greater capacity than those of the present malleable iron company.—Oshawa Reformer.

NEW METHOD OF HEATING HOUSES.—The city of London is the first in Canada in which a new departure has been made in the method of heating houses. The system which has just been inaugurated there is what is known as the Lockport steam-heating system. Steam is raised at a central point, and is transmitted through mains like gas. It is of such pressure as to supply power to all ordinary engines and is of course suitable for house registers.

CHRONICLES OF THE COUNCILLORS.

Showing how the Street that is Called Stewart Needed Repairing, and What the Wise Men Did About It.

CHAPTER III.

1. Howbeit the wise men discoursed together on many things.

2. And amongst others the condition of the Street that is called Stewart.

3. Urging that moneys should be given to be spent thereon, to the end that the people should be benefitted thereby.

4. But others restrained them, saying:

5. Let those who have wrought this wrong whereby the street is impeded, repair that which is needful.

6. Now did certain of the wise men grow riotous and they used heavy words, and affirmed each other to be Simons, and Lunatics, and such.

7. Then did The Douglas arise, and looking scornfully at the others, gave utterance:

8. Aye noo, ye [illegible] are aye [illegible]. You're aye diggin', an' diggin', and deil the farthing's worth o' guid dae ye, at all.

9. Ye are naething but a creel o' daft bodies. An' as for Maister McBain, he's about three months intermission in the tap o' his ain skull, and we ken it right well.

10. Aither o' ye are also slightly off your bases, tae make sich a spectacle o' yer ainsel'ves, wantin' any reasonable provocation.

11. Now The Douglas spoke as one having the courage of his convictions, whereat the wise men marvelled, and grew distrustful of tackling him.

12. And Joseph the Baggageman, having the fear of his constituents before his eyes, oracularly saith:

13. Tell you what it is! This here is no trifle. Small matters out of great acorns grow!

14. Tis now eleven o'clock—time the ten o'clock train was in! Trunks and 'busses wait for no man! See you later! Adieu.

15. Then the wise men dispersed, each greatly pleased at what he had seen and heard.

THE PRINCE IMPERIAL'S UNIFORM.

The Natal Mercury publishes the following communication received from its "Own correspondent," who writes from near Ulundi:—"Colonel Villiers found the Prince Imperial's uniform, or at least an agent sent by him succeeded in doing so for him. Klass, for such is the agent's name, was carefully selected and instructed by the colonel for this somewhat difficult task. He is a follower of the Mamoses, and has only one eye, with which he sees further than most people do with their usual allowance of two. He was brought up in a Boer family and speaks Dutch fluently. Klass went to the neighbourhood of the kraal where the Prince was killed; here he discovered by careful enquiry, that Xabango, the man who slew him had been killed at Ulundi; he was of the Bomambi regiment. Klass had some difficulty in discovering the relatives of Xabango, who had the uniform of the prince, but by various means succeeded in finding the different parts of the uniform in different kraals. He brought a patrol jacket, riding breeches, leather waistcoat, shirt, belt, revolver, and ammunition pouch, with twenty-one rounds in it, and a small bag with some coins. All the clothes, except the breeches, were pierced in front with numerous assegai holes. There was a satisfaction in this to be able to show the Zulus that no holes were found behind; he fell like a soldier and a brave one, 'His back to the field and his face to the foe.' The revolver is smashed. It appears he was wounded first by an assegai, thrown from a distance of about ten yards. He emptied his revolver at his enemies, who closed too quickly to allow him to reload, so he shied the revolver at his nearest assailant, and drew his sword to defend himself. The Prince's what I may call 'Historical watch' has not yet been discovered. The Zulus deny ever having seen it. They have also given up the arms and ammunition belts of the men who were killed with the Prince. There can be no doubt about the identity of the uniform, except the shirt which belonged to one of the escort. Klass interviewed one of the party who attacked the Prince, and it is wonderful how any of the white men escaped at all. The Zulus discovered them approaching long before they reached the kraal; before they had off-saddled the Prince and his party were hemmed in on two sides, and affairs were brought to a climax by the [illegible] giving the Zulus [illegible]; had it not been for this none would have escaped. The Zulu stated that the Prince's horse bolted and take away as he was trying to mount."

FORFEITS FOR FUN.

In the evening games of winter gatherings of young people, and older ones too, it often becomes necessary to punish some one, or more, of the company by imposing a "Forfeit." The penance should be something that either is not easy to follow out to the letter—that is, has some catch in it, or put the person in a conspicuous and amusing light. In all cases a forfeit should be designed to amuse the company as a whole, and never to offend the person called upon to pay it. In order to illustrate our idea of a good forfeit, and also to furnish suggestions to those who enjoy and take part in such pleasant amusements, we give a few of the forfeits that may be imposed. (1) Put a newspaper upon the floor in such a way that two persons can stand on it and not be able to touch each other with their hands. This forfeit has the honour of being old, but it was not our good fortune to meet it until a short time ago, and were forced to 'give it up.' By putting the paper in a doorway, one-half inside and the other outside of the room, and closing the door over it the two persons can easily stand upon it and still be beyond each others reach.—(2) To go out of the room with two legs, and come in with six.—Not difficult if one thinks to bring a chair along on the return.—(3) To act the Dumb Servant.—The person who has the forfeit to pay must act out the answers to the questions put by the master of the ceremonies; as, How do you make bread? How do you eat soup? etc. This forfeit will cause much merriment if proper questions are put.—(4) Put one hand where the other cannot touch it.—One can get out of this difficulty by putting one hand on the elbow of the other arm.—(5) Place a pencil on the floor so that one can not jump over it.—May be done by putting it close to the wall of the room.—(6) Put a question that no one can answer with a NO!—This is not hard if one thinks to ask, What does Y-E-S spell?—(7) Push a chair through a finger ring. This forfeit is made by putting the ring on the finger and pushing the chair—any other object will do as well—with the finger. This one much resembles the next.—(8) Put yourself through a key-hole.—This was a great puzzle to us for a while, but when a piece of paper was taken with the word "yourself" written upon it, and pushed through the hole, it was all clear. There are many other of these amusing little tricks, but these given will suggest others, and help to make the social winter gatherings the enjoyable times that they should be.

JANUARY.

To the old, long life and treasure,
To the young, all health and pleasure
To the fair their face
With eternal grace,
And the soul to be loved at pleasure.

A truce to care,
To gloomy musings on the past:
[illegible];
You're twelve months older than you were,
Be wiser then! time flies so fast.
No useless looking back.

THE DEVIL FISH.

The Newfoundland correspondent of the Montreal Gazette writes as follows:—

The headquarters of the devil-fish are evidently the seas around our shores, and nowhere else are they heard of. In fact, we have quite a monopoly of the article. Every fall and winter, after heavy gales, some specimens of these gigantic cephalopods are driven ashore. In October last, after a storm the fragments of a huge one came ashore in Conception Bay, but so torn and mutilated by dashing against rocks that it was impossible to ascertain the real dimensions. Two of the shorter arms were found measuring eight feet in length. This would give for the longer arms or tentacles, thirty-two feet, as they are four times the length of the others; and the body of such a specimen would probably be about eleven or twelve feet in length. In the Harbour Grace Standard of December 6th, a letter from Musgrave Town, Bonavista Bay, appears, in which the writer describes the capture of 'a big squid' there, at a recent date. Some fishermen saw a large object moving in the water, and approaching it in a boat and striking it with an oar, it struck out for the shore and went quite upon the beach. The men succeeded in getting a rope around it and hauling it ashore. From tail to the extremity of the long arms it measured 38 feet. The long tentacles were 28 feet, the body nine or ten feet in length and six feet in circumference. With their usual facility for destruction, the fishermen ripped the body open and cut off the tentacles. Had they brought it to St. John's in a perfect condition, which they could easily have done, they could easily have sold it for a considerable sum, as there is a wonderful interest among scientists regarding these extraordinary creatures, which were believed to be mythical till 1873, when I had the good fortune to obtain possession of the first specimen, which I described in various periodicals and had had photographed. Professor Verrill, of Yale College, to whom I sent the specimen, has made an exhaustive study of the creature, and described and figured it in various scientific periodicals.

Suggestions about Shopping.

Purchasers should, as far as possible, patronize the merchants of their own place. It is poor policy to send money abroad for articles which can be bought as cheaply at home.

Do not take hold of a piece of goods another is examining. Wait until it is replaced upon the counter before you take it up.

Injuring goods when handling, pushing aside other persons, lounging upon the counter, whispering, loud talk and laughter, when in a store, are all evidences of ill-breeding.

Never attempt to "beat down" prices when shopping. If the price does not suit, go elsewhere. The just and upright merchant will have but one price for his goods, and will strictly adhere to it.

A POSITIVE FACT.—Nervousness is the cause of feebleness, or the lack of stability of the nervous system, as distinguished from the rest of the body. It is pre-eminently a disease, and more widely spread through the Northern and Eastern part of the United States and the Dominion of Canada than in any other part of the world. We will not stop to say why this is the case, but we do emphatically say the Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites will be found an invaluable medicine for all parties afflicted with Nervousness, Dyspepsia, Consumption, Defective Nutrition, General Debility, or weakness of the whole system. One of the first effects is an increase of the nervous or vital energy, followed by a feeling of unusual comfort and strength. For sale by all dealers. wld160-8w

TWENTY-EIGHTH YEAR.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW FOR 1880.

AN ENTIRELY NEW FEATURE!

How to Obtain the Leading Papers and Save Money.

FAIR, SQUARE AND, RELIABLE OFFERS.

WITH the year 1880, the WEEKLY REVIEW will enter on its 28th year of publication. Notwithstanding the improvements which have been made upon it, and the ever increasing expenditure incurred to keep it AHEAD of any of its competitors, the annual subscription will remain as heretofore, only $1.50—postage paid by the publishers.

Splendid Clubbing Advantages.

The Proprietors of the REVIEW have great pleasure in announcing that they have made arrangements with the publishers of the following leading periodicals in Canada and the United States, by which they are enabled to club these periodicals with the WEEKLY REVIEW at remarkably low prices.

READ CAREFULLY.—Below are three columns of figures. The name of the paper or magazine is given, and the FIRST column gives the REGULAR PUBLISHER'S PRICE. The SECOND column gives the regular subscription price of the WEEKLY REVIEW. The THIRD column gives the price at which we are prepared to supply new subscribers with BOTH the paper or magazine and the WEEKLY REVIEW combined, for one year. It is certainly an object to save money these times, and it is easy to see by our Club List how it can be done.

OUR CLUB LIST.

RURAL NEW-YORKER.—This is the best Agricultural Weekly in America, and every subscriber who accepts this offer will also receive a package of the new varieties of Field, Garden, and Flower Seeds, free, which itself is valued at $2.50!

HARPER'S PUBLICATIONS count among their contributors an army of the ablest writers and artists of Europe and America, are profusely illustrated, and rank among the most popular of their kind on the American Continent.

THE LONDON TRACT SOCIETIES PUBLICATIONS.—The fact that Leisure Hour, Sunday at Home, and the Boy's Own Paper are issued by this Society, is an ample guarantee of their excellence in every respect.

THE CANADA PRESBYTERIAN.—Every subscriber to this paper will receive steel engraved copies of the companion pictures of the "Death of Nelson," and the "Meeting of Wellington and Blucher."

THE MAIL.—Subscribers to the Mail will also receive The Canadian Farm Annual for 1880, illustrated with 140 Engravings, and containing valuable information and practical suggestions for every Farmer.

How to get the Weekly Review for Nothing!

Any person subscribing for the WEEKLY REVIEW, and desiring to obtain two or more of the above publications along with the REVIEW, can have them at the price quoted, less $1.50. For example:—

HARPER'S MAGAZINE and WEEKLY REVIEW	$4 50
HARPER'S WEEKLY, additional, and without the WEEKLY REVIEW	3 20
Total for the Three	$7 70

Or, 30 cents less than the regular publishers price for Harper's Magazine and Harper's Weekly, with the WEEKLY REVIEW thrown in for nothing!

HOW TO SAVE MONEY!

Suppose you wish for 1880, to subscribe for the Weekly Mail, $1.00; Rural New-Yorker, $2.00; Harper's Magazine, $4.00; Methodist Magazine, $2.00; the lot will cost you direct, just $9.00, and you have four letters to write, four money orders to buy, and four separate risks to run. THE NEW YEAR.

BY [illegible]

Into my bed in the morning so early
Comes little wee Willie. His brown head, so curly,
Is nestled all snugly [illegible]
Like a little brown [illegible] pretty [illegible].

The bells in the steeples ring loudly and clear,
Ringing out a glad chime for the Happy New Year;
And Willie says, pensively: "Tell me, Mamma,
Has the Old Year gone off from us all very far?"

So I tell my sweet boy all about it; and he
Creeps closely, and twines his dear arms around me,
While I tell how the Years each in turn come and go,
Till [illegible] a "big boy" will grow.

And I tell him that once on a time a new year
Brought safe to my arms his own [illegible];
And that each year since added [illegible] new grace
[illegible]

Then questions wee Willie, with wondering tone:
"Mamma, did the poor Year go off all alone?"
Ah! how can I answer, since God only knows
How many dear lives had gone out with it too?

And yet one more question: "Mamma, tell me when
The Old Year went off?" I answered, and then,
With a frown and a jump and a shake of his head,
Scampers little wee Willie fast out of my bed.

"Mamma, I so 'fraid it has taken away
All my pitty new p'aythings w'at came Chrismas day!"
But he found them, the rogue! all safe in their corner,
From the big wooden horse to the book with "Jack Horner."

Then into my arms, with a laugh in his voice,
Springs the dear little gift over whom I rejoice,
Asking: "Dear Mamma, ain't you as glad as tan be
That the naughty Old Year didn't tarry off me?"

Then over the floor, in his little white feet,
Patters Willie, to look at the sunshiny street;
And he lifts his blue eyes to the heavens, so clear,
Saying: "Nice world, I wish you a Happy New Year."

SKATING.

The art of skating, like the art of swimming, if learned early in life, is never quite forgotten; and while the practice is kept up, either from taste or the peculiarities of the country, old skaters generally excel young ones. In the fen lands of England we have seen men and women of seventy years of age who could easily hold their ground against youthful competitors in the mystic [illegible] of a "[illegible]," or the easy [illegible] of a "back entire."

Skating requires neither great cleverness, nimbleness, nor strength. Plenty of confidence and plenty of practice are all it demands. There is also hardly anything that has been done by one skater that may not be done by another. If some expert should begin to go through figures with his eyes shut there is little doubt but that twenty other skaters would be able to do it within a week. Skating, too, is an art preserved solely by tradition. It has no laws and rules, like tennis, and no literature, like chess. Here age and experience have the ground all to themselves; and hence one skater can generally tell or show another something which she will be glad to adopt, because chiming in with her peculiar circumstance or personality. However, there is a philosophy in skating, as in everything else; and unless it is performed on some correct system, it is likely to be a dangerous amusement in more senses than one.

The costume for skating is now as distinct as the costume for riding, and it admits of a great number of charming varieties and combinations. However pretty and picturesque the outside costume, a flannel one is indispensable underneath it; and no costume, however snug and warm, can justify a girl with a weak throat or chest in skating against the wind. It is an excellent plan to walk home after leaving the ice; many a cold would be avoided by this simple precaution; for the blood that has been racing through the veins like mercury cannot be suddenly checked without danger, and a rapid walk is the best way to bring the circulation to its normal speed again. Carry nothing in your pockets but a handkerchief; in case of a fall, a knife, or even a bunch of keys, might prove a serious matter.

Always keep a pair of boots especially for skating. They should have rather thin soles, and not very high heels. They must fit closely to the foot, especially around the ankle. Before leaving the house have the skates screwed to these boots, and slip the straps into the buckles, so that when they are to be put on there will be nothing to do but just tighten the straps. Walk to the ice if possible, but walk in [illegible] and high heels, for the change from these to the light skating boot will be a far greater relief than you can believe until you have tried the plan.

When you put on skating boots, never allow any one but yourself to tighten your straps. Let no motive of fashion or politeness tempt you to break this rule, for on it much of your safety and comfort depends. Two straps are plenty, and have none across the middle of the foot. They are of no use whatever in keeping the skate in position, and they bind and irritate the tendons of the instep. If you see a girl on the ice with stiff ankles and cramped feet, it is almost certain she has been skating with tight straps.

Many think that tight straps give a firmer hold upon the ice. Skating does not depend at all upon the straps, but on the balance, and if you feel the pressure of a strap upon the instep, be sure your balance is wrong. No one can move elegantly in tight skates, and indeed many fine skaters entirely refuse straps, and have the skates firmly fastened to the boot instead. It is an excellent plan when going on the ice to draw the straps half a hole tighter than you mean to use them, and then in about ten minutes to loosen them that far. The feet will feel the increased freedom a great luxury and an astonishing amount of confident pleasure will be induced.

Skates with peaks are a dangerous nuisance; they ought to be forbidden on ice where there are large parties, for they are only too ready to catch in the folds of a dress, or in any other obstacle with which they may come in contact. Let no steel appear in front of the skate; it does no good whatever, and it gives to the foot a very large and awkward appearance.

The more the foot is in contact with the skate, the more firmly will the two be attached. But if the heel of the skating boot is high, it gives a false ground to the placing of the foot, disturb the harmony of progression and the propulsive force of the action. If the skate is too long, the strokes will be feeble; if it is too short, the footing will be unsteady and tottering.

Remember that the closer the foot is to the ice, the less strain there will be upon the ankles; therefore have a boot and skate which allow the foot to get as near the ice as it is possible without bringing the sole of the shoe in contact with it while moving on the edge of the skate.

Never on any account be tempted to buy a fluted skate—that is one with a groove along the bottom of the steel. At first they certainly seem to take an easier hold of the ice, but they are treacherous [illegible] the ice collect in these grooves and fill them up, then a fall is inevitable. This is called "balling," and any lady who has ridden [illegible] long in loose snow, and finds her feet "balled," knows exactly what kind of a fall may be anticipated. If a lady, therefore, falls frequently, and without apparent cause, it will probably be found that she has on grooved skates on, and that they have balled. They can only be cleaned out with a strong knife.

Skates for making figures should be short in the steel, and have the edge rounded so as to form a segment of a circle. Then but a small portion of the steel will rest on the ice, and its curved form is exactly adapted to cut circles and curves. Skates for racing, however, should be long and rather low, and have the edge of the steel level from end to end.

Do not have the heel cut off square behind, so as to leave a sharp edge, but have it rounded evenly at either end. Many object to this, but it is because they have formed the clumsy habit of stopping themselves by raising the toe; and then digging the heel with this sharp square end into the ice. There is a safer and more graceful way of stopping than this, which we will explain in its proper place.

If the feet are held right, ice affords to skates a very firm hold; press the edge of a knife against a piece of ice, and you will see how much firmer it is than appears likely. But if the feet are held wrong, and go sliding away on different errands, [illegible] is impossible. Keep the ankles firm, the heels well together, the feet not far apart, and never attempt to gain the edge of the skate by bending. Incline the whole body in the direction required.

[illegible] that half the work is [illegible] done by the foot which is off the ice; when they have convinced themselves of this fact, they have made a great step. Another golden rule is that, slowness of action is indispensable to a first-rate performer, though it is apt to appear of very little consequence to a beginner. The straight knee is another cardinal maxim, though insufficiently recognised, and by many skaters practically ignored.

Running races on skates is much easier than making figures, but there is no sure way to spoil the carriage and style, and give an ungraceful action. A racer must sacrifice grace to speed, and as the passion for speed grows, such a skater is almost sure to become as awkward a spectacle as possible.

It used to be a common dictum that the arms were to be raised or depressed in unison with the corresponding feet. It was a most absurd rule and is quite as applicable to walking as to skating. Anything like attitudinising on the ice is a sign either of incompetence or vulgarity. The poise of the body is a great difficulty, but a lady surmounts it, as far as possible, without showing the effort it costs. Waving arms, a forward slope of the body, sudden jerks or exertions, have at the best an aspect of affectation. If the skater is afflicted with [illegible] she can at least clasp her hands and let them fall loosely at full length; or insert them in her muff. Almost anything is better than folding them across the breast, or holding them above the head.

German skaters fold their arms, and throw the body forward; and since it is focused over on the outside edge much more than with us, it follows that the leg which is not supporting the body must be thrown [illegible] in order to preserve the balance. The English prefer the upright body, the hands close to the side, and the pendent leg close to its fellow. In the "run" of the Dutch peasant the body is quite in front of the feet, the hands are freely worked, and the knees depended on to a very ugly extent. But even an English fen skater holds his body erect, as in a dance, and moves it massively to and fro, not obliquely. His work is therefore done mainly by the hips, which is the best and most elegant manner. Neither does this position when acquired, interfere with speed in a "run," for we have seen the skaters of Lincolnshire make half mile bursts at the rate of thirty miles an hour, and with long "runners," and a fair wind behind them, seventy miles a day was not considered any extra ordinary pace.

On the contrary, a figure skater is all compact ease and elegance. Her arms never project from her body, her back is upright as a dart, and her feet are managed as delicately as if she were dancing. Figure skating is not much over one hundred and fifty years old, though who first taught the feet to adapt themselves to "threes" and "eights," to "rolls" and "pirouettes" and "[illegible]" and "Mercury figures," etc., history does not record. Great feats in figure drawing have undoubtedly been performed. West, the painter, is said to have been able to trace in his skates the outline of any statue he had ever seen; and such marvellous tricks of letter-writing, etc., are on record, that the mind of the modern skater takes refuge in the confidence that they cannot be true. There is just as good skating in Central Park as there ever was on the Thames or the Neva, and if sketching portraits and writing letters on ice with skates was an accomplishment within the reach of mortal culture, we are inclined to believe the girls of New York would have revived or even discovered, the art.

In skating a cotillion it is well to have a thorough and common understanding as to the figures and system, or else to have some one appointed to give the word command.

Skating is a fascinating amusement, and most people are tempted to prolong it until pleasure has become [illegible] fatigue. Never skate till the ankles feel so weary that walking is a painful labour, and sleep impossible. Restrict the first day's skating to one or two hours, and gradually increase the time as the ankles become accustomed to the strain.

Never skate on doubtful ice; no pleasure is worth such a peril. Even if the water is shallow, there is great danger from a break, for the mud raised by a fall may so tint the water that the whole to which the skater must return to save her life cannot be seen. If so unfortunate as to get under ice, keep quite still and look upward to the spot where the light is strongest; then make for that spot. If the break is found, never try to get on the ice; it would be certain to break again—and the sharp edges cut like knives—but stretch the arms upon it, and wait for help.

It is best to strike from the foot and not the toe. No great speed can be obtained unless the push is made from the edge of the skate, and not by a slide of its forward part.

When you wish to stop skating, this can be done abruptly and elegantly by pressing the outer edge of one skate and the inner edge of the other against the ice, and so spinning round. A good skater, though going like a race-horse, can stop herself in this way within a circle of 6 feet in diameter.

Do not remove your skates until you reach solid land. You will have to step carefully, lift your feet perpendicularly, and plant them down flat; you might slip altogether, after your airy graceful flights, you will make a figure that can not help being mortifying to yourself. It is like crawling after flying.

BENEFITS OF ADVERTISING.

Bread is the staff of life, so is advertising the staff of business.

Blessed are they who do not advertise, for they shall rarely be troubled with a customer.

You can't eat enough in a week to last you a year, and you can't advertise on that plan either.

Business can go without advertising, so can a wagon go without greasing, but in both cases it is hard work.

No bells ring so loud as a good advertisement. People are more apt to heed what they read than what they hear.

Those who take the lead in pushing their business through the newspapers, generally take the lead in everything else.

If you don't mean to attend to your business, and prefer a slender income while your neighbors grow rich, it won't pay to advertise.

Judicious advertising is sure to bring large returns, to increase your business reputation, to add to your acquaintance.

If you haven't business, advertise. If you have business, advertise. It is a "poor rule that won't work both ways." A place well advertised is known to many, while one not advertised is known only to a few passers-by.

Quitting advertising in dull times is like pulling down a dam when the water is low. When times revive, it will rush by him who does not stay it with ready customers. The way to have cash always on hand is through advertising.

A Good Account.

"To sum it up, six long years of bed-ridden sickness and suffering, costing $200 per year, total, $1,200—all of which was stopped by three bottles of Hop Bitters taken by my wife, who has done her own housework for a year since without the loss of a day, and I want everybody to know of it for their benefit."

What all Men Should Know.

To Relieve a Cough.—The troublesome cough caused by an accumulation of phlegm in the throat, especially in the morning, experienced mostly by persons affected with Chronic Catarrh, can be relieved almost instantly by taking a teaspoonful of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam, which has the advantage of being harmless to the stomach, and at the same time improving the appetite. w1d150-9w

Remedy for Hard Times.

Stop spending so much on fine clothing, rich food and style. Buy good, healthy food, cheaper and better clothing; get more real and substantial things of life every way and especially stop the foolish habit of running after expensive and quack doctors or using so much of the vile humbug medicine that does you only harm, and makes the proprietors rich, but put your trust in the greatest of all simple, pure remedies, Hop Bitters, that cures always at a trifling cost, and you will see better times and good health. Try it once. Read it in another column. d146-1y

Misery's Throne.

Of all the miserable and unhappy creatures in existence, there are none more so than the confined dyspeptic. Life is a burden, and if the sufferer does not soon obtain relief he soon sinks into a dreary misanthrope, with the germs of consumption lurking dangerously near. The only known remedy—tested in innumerable cases—is SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL combined with HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA. With this medicine the incubus is removed, and the [illegible] seeds of consumption scattered. It is also nearly as pleasant to the taste as sweet cream. d129w49-1m

A Conundrum Propounded.

Why will the "small boy," persist in eating green apples? The reader may as well give it up at once, since our original parents were guilty of the "little indiscretion." Physicians say, the season in which crude or unripe fruit is first introduced, is the one [illegible] diarrhœa, dysentery, &c. Young and old are guilty, but boys and girls are the easiest victims and the greatest sufferers. There is no peace, comfort or safety in the family unless its head provides a proper remedy. MANHOOD:

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

WE have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that [illegible] may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

Review Carrier Boys.

The carrier boys of the REVIEW will make their annual call on New Year's Day, and will no doubt be treated as liberally as usual.

Declines.

Mr. Robert Robertson requests us to state that he declines being a Councillor for No. One Ward, and that he was nominated without his knowledge or consent.

I. O. G. T.

Carswell Lodge No. 81, I.O.G.T., will meet this evening at 7.30 o'clock. Business of importance requiring the attention of every member will come before them.

Skating and Curling.

There will be a curling match played at the rink to-morrow, New Year's day, commencing at ten o'clock. There is fine skating, and the day will be one of pleasure to the lovers of such exercise.

Auction Sale of Books.

There is to be a sale of books by auction at the auction rooms of Messrs. Gilbert & Moore, this evening. This will be a fine opportunity for securing cheap New Year's gifts. The sale commences at 8 o'clock.

Mass Meeting of S. S. Children.

We would remind our readers of the mass meeting of Sabbath School children, to be held in the George Street, Methodist Church to-morrow morning, commencing at half-past ten o'clock, and closing at 12 o'clock noon.

Wrong Impression.

In the report of the assault case of Laplante vs. Miller, recently published, the impression was created that it referred to J. Wesley Miller. This is not correct. It was Finch W. Miller, to whom the report referred to.

Anniversary Entertainment.

[illegible] Lodge, No. 166, I.O.G.T., met on Tuesday evening. Among the matters brought before the members was the question of the celebration of the anniversary of the lodge which will take place on the 20th of January, 1880. It was decided to give an entertainment. A committee were appointed to make the necessary preparations. Next week the advertisement will appear giving full particulars.

The Shaughraun Company.

E. A. McDowell's Shaughraun Vaudeville Company will perform in Bradburn's Theatre on the 1st, 2nd and 3rd of January. On New Year's night they will give a representation of Dion Boucicault's thrilling drama, "Led Astray." The new Parisian toilets made by Worth, the celebrated man milliner, are greatly admired. The dramatic abilities of this company are too well recognized to need any special mention.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district, as reported from Toronto at 10 o'clock to day are: Fresh to brisk winds; rising temperature and cloudy weather, with snow, possibly turning to rain in the southern districts. In Peterborough the thermometer indicated last night from 3° to 5° below zero, with a clear bright moon. This morning the thermometer indicated at 7 o'clock 2° below, with snow, at 9 o'clock 2° above, rising to 10° at noon, and remaining stationary for several hours; the wind north-easterly, shifting to westerly at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Proctor's Revellers.

John C. Proctor's dramatic company will give performances in Bradburn's Theatre on Friday and Saturday, January 9th and 10th. This company has had in constant rehearsal the new and sensational drama, written expressly for them, entitled, "True to Death, through Death; or, Convict Life in Canada." Mr. Proctor and Miss Sallie [illegible] sustain the principal characters. They will visit Lindsay on the 13th January, and will then proceed on their tour through the Province. The programmes give a synopsis of each act in the above drama, in which numerous stirring and exciting scenes are depicted; and as the plot is laid in the city of Kingston, it possesses a peculiar Canadian interest. We are informed by the agent of the company, Mr. H. Walgrave, that the smallest child actress in America, a little girl only three years of age, takes an important part in the piece; also, that a professor on the Irish bag-pipes accompanies the Revellers.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES.

The following are the nominations made to-day for the Board of Trustees, for the Peterborough Public School:—

THOS. MCKEIVER was proposed by M. O'Brien and seconded by John McGrath.

The [illegible] will take place on Wednesday next in this ward.

ENNISMORE.

THE RETIRING REEVE.—After the nomination on Monday last, the present Reeve, [illegible], Esq., was asked some questions regarding the time he has filled the Reeve's chair, which he answered in a lucid, straight-forward manner, reading his accounts for the years 1877, 1878 and 1879, of all moneys coming through his hands from the County. That he has seen fit to retire from public life at present, which we hope will only be for a short time, is deeply to be regretted, he having filled the position to which he has so long been elected, with credit to himself and benefit of the municipality. He has always been forbearing with any grievance, consistent with his obligations, and has been ever ready to meet any request or complaint with candor and fairness. If in any case he has failed to satisfy those who have sought redress from him, it has been done in a kindly spirit. That he has been respected in the County Council since elected no one will deny. Should he at any future time think proper to solicit the suffrage of the electors of Ennismore, no doubt he will again be placed in the honorable position from which he has thought proper to retire at present.

LIBERAL DONATION.—On Christmas day the Roman Catholics of Ennismore donated their Pastor, Rev. Wm. J. Keilty, the sum of $200. Under any circumstances this would be a handsome Christmas offering in the Parish of Ennismore. But when we remember that the people are just now engaged in erecting a magnificent Priest's House at a cost of $4,000. The gift is enhanced and speaks volumes indeed for the generosity of the Catholics of Ennismore. Their Pastor is undoubtedly proud of such a people, and can style them in the language of their immortal countryman Oliver Goldsmith:—"A brave peasantry, their country's pride."

NORTH MONAGHAN.

COUNCIL MEETING.—The Council met on the 13th Dec., at the call of the Reeve. All the members present, the Reeve presiding. Communications were received from John Burnham, Esq., Warden, and H. H. Smith, Esq., asking the Council to appoint a delegate to Ottawa to wait on the Hon. Sir Charles Tupper, in regard to the Trent Valley Canal. On motion of Mr. Howden, Mr. Butcher was heard in behalf of the Canal interest, and memorials in connection therewith were ordered to be signed by the Reeve and Clerk, and forwarded to the Minister of Railways and Canals. Mr. Collins was then appointed as delegate to Ottawa. On motion of Mr. Dunlop the following orders were given on the Treasurer:—In favor of Mr. Collins to defray his expenses in the capacity of delegate, $20. [illegible] Robertson, for printing, $2. R. Solomon, for building culvert on the quarter line on the 9th con., $6. On motion of Mr. Leary, the time for returning the Collector's roll was extended to the 15th day of January, 1880. The Council then adjourned.

ADJOURNED MEETING.—On the 29th inst. the Councillors met. Present—the Reeve and Councillors Leary, Howden and Forster. The Reeve in the chair. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. Mr. Collins gave a clear and lengthy statement of the kind reception accorded the delegates at Ottawa; the favor with which the Canal enterprise was looked upon by the Minister's, and the good prospect of its being eventually carried out. Moved by Mr. Leary, seconded by Mr. Forster—That the sum of $3 be given as charity to Matthew Close, for the purchase of 1 cwt. of flour, through Councillor Howden, commissioner.—Carried. On motion of Mr. Leary, seconded by Mr. Forster, orders were given on the Treasurer for the following accounts:—Francis Bradshaw, for taking care of Town Hall, $1.25; J. Wood, for postage, &c., $3.00, and as balance of salaries for the current year to the Reeve and Councillors as follows:—To the Reeve $8.00, Mr. Leary $8.00, Mr. Forster $7.00, Mr. Howden $8.00, Mr. Dunlop $5.00, and to Mr. Collins the extra sum of $3, to aid in defraying his expenses to Ottawa as a delegate in behalf of the Trent Valley Canal.

The council then finally adjourned.

Horse Rubbing his Tail.

W. R. inquires through your paper—"What can I do for a horse that is rubbing his tail continually?" This habit proceeds generally from an effort to relieve itching in the rectum caused by constipation, which can only be permanently cured by a change of diet. Some of the worst cases, however, of rubbing the tail proceed from incipient mange. A valuable mare of mine nearly destroyed her tail last year before I was advised to use the following very simple, but most effective remedy: Turpentine, 1 oz.; seal (or whale) oil, 3 oz.; sulphur ointment, 4 oz. Apply thoroughly by rubbing into the whole length of the dock.

TEN YEARS OF HORRIBLE TORTURE.—Mrs. Sarah [illegible], of East 23rd street, New York, for ten years [illegible] which was red and raw, [illegible] One week's application of Giles' Liniment Iodide Ammonia restored the hideous member to complete soundness.

The Markets.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS.

WEDNESDAY, Dec. 31.—The market to-day has been a meagre one, owing to the extremely cold weather, and the heavy snow storm that prevailed during the morning. The few farmers that ventured to come in, brought mostly beef, a few hogs and some poultry. Beef was in excess of the demand, and far beyond the needs of the towns people, and there being no demand for shipping, much of it had to be returned. Pork was freely taken at $5.60 to $5.80 by the packers. Turkeys were in full supply without any change in price; some very large and fine ones brought $1.00 each, others again, small and very badly dressed, sold down to 50c. Why do not our farmers take more pains with the killing and dressing of their animal products? Proper feeding for two or three weeks, allowing twenty-four hours of fasting before killing, with careful dressing, would insure the full market price, and sometimes more than the market price. Geese went at 40 to 60 cts; there being a moderate supply. Very few chickens were brought in and these found few takers at 30c. while some were asking 35c. Partridges are in abundance at 40c. per pair at Chamberlain's, as also pigeons at 20c. per pair. Lobsters, oysters and fish are also to be had at Chamberlain's. Butter in rolls sold rapidly at 20c. owing to its scarcity. Wheat came in in small quantities and was sold at $1.23 for spring; and $1.27 for fall wheat. A few parcels of peas were taken at 55c. For oats 32c. were asked and 31c. paid, and some small lots for private use were sold at 33c. Hay was offered at $8.00; the abundant supply keeps well in advance of the demand and higher prices cannot be expected. Wood still crowds the market and sells rapidly; but at the lowest rate it can be supplied for. We see no reason to change prices. Sheepskins and hides are coming in and are taken readily at $7.00 to $7.25 for hides; and $1.25 for sheeps pelts.

Wouldn't "Kiss and Make up."

AT Bellefontaine, O., lately a fifteen-year-old school girl quarrelled with her fifteen-year-old schoolboy lover. She sent him a note saying that if they did not kiss and make up she would kill herself. The boy exhorted her to do so, and he would pay the expenses of the funeral. The lovelorn lass commenced operations by drinking a bottle of black ink, which like another of red ink she drank the next day, only made her unromantically sick. She next procured a rope and retired to an outbuilding, but was discovered by some schoolmates, and the rope was taken away from her. As a last resort she went home and attempted to cut her throat with a pocket-knife, and came near accomplishing her purpose before her designs were discovered by members of the family. Beyond an ugly gash she is not seriously injured, nor has the kissing taken place.

"German Syrup."

No other medicine in the world was ever given such a test of its curative qualities as Boschee's German Syrup. In three years two millions four hundred thousand small bottles of this medicine were distributed free of charge by Druggists in this country, to those afflicted with Consumption, Asthma, Croup, severe Coughs, Pneumonia and other diseases of the Throat and Lungs, giving the American people undeniable proof that German Syrup will cure them. The result has been that Druggists in every town and village in the United States are recommending it to their customers. Go to your Druggist, and ask what they know about it. Sample bottles 10 cents. Regular size 75 cents. Three doses will relieve any case. [illegible]

BURGLARY AT OMEMEE.

A Daring Robbery on New Year's Day—A Safe Blown open and a Large Sum Stolen.

Special to the Review, Jan. 2.

OMEMEE, Jan. 2.—The store of T. Stephenson of this place was broken into last night, the safe blown open and notes, mortgages, etc., were taken therefrom, valued at twenty-five thousand dollars. The burglars broke a pane of glass in the front door and thus obtained access. The safe was rolled from the front of the store to rear, and was thrown upon four webs of cotton cloth so as to lessen the noise caused by the explosure. The door handle was then taken off and it and the key hole were filled with nitro glycerine. The lock was shattered to atoms. It is believed that the burglary is the work of a gang of burglars who are operating in the vicinity.

ST. CATHARINES.

Special to the Review, Jan. 2.

THE NATIONAL CURRENCY.—The Mayor of this city, in response to a largely signed requisition, has requested the citizens to attend a public meeting for the discussion of the National Currency question on the 8th.

TORONTO.

CRUELTY TO ANIMALS.—W. J. Smith and Wm. Fraser, exhibitors of the headless chicken, have been arrested for cruelty to animals. The prisoners swear the bird had its head cut off by a farmer in Tennessee, and running under a barn escaped and was found alive a day afterwards. This was 3 months ago and the exhibitors swear that this was the identical bird. It is thought, however, that the head was removed on purpose for the show and that a fresh bird is being constantly provided.

THE ENGLISH MAIL.—This morning the Board of Trade has received a letter from the Post-master General, stating that arrangements had been made by which after the 1st of January, the English mail will be forwarded from Montreal by special when late for the regular train. This is a great boon to Toronto.

MAHOMED JAN'S TERMS OF PEACE—RETURN OF GEN. BAKER.

The Enemy's Loss in a Fortnight—Descent on Unsuspecting Villages—Clearing Around Shirpur.

Press Despatches via Cable and Montreal Lines.

[illegible]

LONDON, Jan. 1.—A Cabul despatch says the stipulations presented by Mahomed Jan as a basis for peace were the return to India of the British force at Cabul, and that a promise be given to send back the Ameer, two British officers to remain at Cabul as hostages for the fulfilment of the promises. General Roberts reports, on Dec. 30th, that the force under the command of General Baker, which left Cabul on the 27th Dec., is returning from Kohistan, having destroyed an unopposed fort of the rebel chief Mirbatcha, which was found abandoned. Seven Kohistan and Logar chiefs have tendered their submission. The enemy's losses in killed and wounded in the last fortnight is estimated at three thousand. On the 30th Dec., General Bright made a descent upon some villages, whose inhabitants have been prominent in harassing the British outposts, and took them by surprise.

WALLS LEVELLED AROUND SHIRPUR.

A despatch from Cabul says Gen. Roberts has levelled all of the villages and walls within one thousand yards of Shirpur.

RETURNING TO CABUL.

LONDON, Jan. 2.—General Roberts reports, under date of Dec. 31st, that the country is quiet, and his communications have been restored. Numbers of people are returning to Cabul, and supplies are coming in.

YOUNG'S POINT.

From Our Own Correspondent.

TEAMS FOR SHANTIES.—A great many teams passed through here for the lumber shanties on the Burleigh Road. The village had a brisk appearance.

GOOD SLEIGHING.—There has not been such good sleighing for three or four winters until the present one, and for lumbering operations it is excellent.

CEDAR LOGS.—Mr. Geo. J. Chalmers has purchased some very fine cedar logs from Mr. Fobut. They are intended for culvert timber.

OUR BLACKSMITH.—Our genial blacksmith, G. Fitzgerald, is doing a thriving business. He is a good farrier, and farmers and others patronize him accordingly.

OUR GRIST MILL.—Harry Wells, our obliging miller, is doing a very large business in gristing. He is also buying wheat and coarse grains.

SCHOOL TRUSTEE.—Mr. R. Graham was re-elected school trustee for this section; he makes a very efficient one.

MILLBROOK.

MASONIC FESTIVAL.—On New Year's Eve, the J. B. Hall Lodge of A.F. & A.M. held their annual gathering in the Town Hall, the Temperance Hall, and in their own lodge room. It was the most successful festival they have ever had, considered over two hundred being present. Our sister village of Bethany, as usual, contributed a large number to the party. Every one enjoyed the evening's entertainment. The music was furnished by the Peterborough String Band. The supper, which was served in the Temperance Hall was furnished by Mr. Wm. Reynolds, of the Queen's Arms Hotel, and gave ample proof that he understands how to get up and attend to that sort of a thing.—Messenger.

AFTERNOON TELEGRAMS

Press Despatches to the Review via Cable and Montreal Lines.

CABLE.

DISTRESS IN IRELAND.

LONDON, Jan. 2.—The bank of England has voted £2,500 towards the fund instituted by the Lord Mayor of London, for the relief of the distress in Ireland. There were meetings yesterday at Rathdrum, Wicklow, Tully, Swine and Sligo. Several thousands attended.

FAMINE IN PERSIA.

LONDON, Jan. 1.—A telegram from Oomiah, Persia, reports that the famine in all that region is increasing daily. Unless strenuous efforts are made to send help from England and America, a great number of the population must perish. There are only two months' supply of food to sustain the people for the next seven months.

DISTRESS IN ENGLAND.

LONDON, Jan. 1.—Reports from the agricultural districts show there is considerable distress among the poorer classes of English farmers, and relief works may yet be necessary for England's own people.

SUFFERING IN IRELAND.

DUBLIN, Jan. 1.—The latest news from the stricken districts in Ireland show that the distress is very general, and is increasing, and frightful suffering is anticipated during the winter. The Society St. Vincent de Paul in France have resolved to have a special collection in its conferences to relieve the distress in Ireland.

THE TAY BRIDGE DISASTER.

EDINBURGH, Jan. 1.—Diving in the Tay at the scene of the bridge disaster has been suspended owing to the boisterous weather. The railway authorities say there is little doubt that the bodies have been washed seaward. A boat expedition is being organized to search for them.

LOADING GRAIN IN BULK.

LONDON, Jan. 2.—Samuel Plimsoll, M.P., author of the Merchants' Shipping Act, has declared his intention to make an earnest effort in the coming session of Parliament to secure legislation prohibiting the loading of grain in bulk.

A DIFFERENCE SETTLED.

VIENNA, Jan. 2.—From a long conference between Sir A. Layard, the British Ambassador, and the Turkish minister of Foreign Affairs, it is concluded that the difference concerning the affair of the German missionary and the condemned priest have been nearly settled.

AMERICAN.

EXTENSIVE CUSTOMS FRAUDS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—A Washington special report to the Herald says that extensive frauds on customs have been discovered in New York, in the importation of silks and velvets. The under valuations in the invoices in many cases have reached 20 to 40 per cent. A number of importations have been seized, and the amount recovered to the government on velvets alone, from July 1st to November 1st has been $100,000.

HORRIBLE WIFE MURDER.

NASHVILLE, Jan 2.—Richard Battle, a negro, on Wednesday evening met his wife, from whom he had been separated, and demanded that she should return with him. On her refusal he placed the muzzle of a shot gun to her mouth, blowing off the whole top of her head. Battle escaped.

A FRAUDULENT OFFICIAL.

[illegible] Jan. 2.—[illegible] of embezzling [illegible] county funds, was sentenced to two years in the state prison, and $500 fine.

FIGHTING THE POLICE.

NEW YORK, Jan 2.—Policeman Hogan, while attempting to arrest one of a party of noisy and drunken roughs early this morning, was set upon by the gang and severely beaten. The officers who came to his assistance were also overpowered, and the whole reserve of 18th precinct was called out to quell the disturbance. Two of the leaders were arrested. Others were captured, but were rescued by the mob.

LEFT TO DROWN.

ELIZABETH, N.J., Jan. 2.—Mrs. Whittemore, aged 37, fell head foremost into a cistern yesterday and was drowned. Her husband and others had been drinking, and were in no hurry to get her out.

THE IRISH VISITORS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—The Scythia arrived in port this morning, having on board Messrs. Parnell and Dillon, both of whom were received by a large delegation of prominent citizens of New York and other cities, and were heartily welcomed to America. The delegation at an early hour steamed down the bay in a revenue cutter and boarded the Scythia on her way up. An address of welcome by the citizens of New York, and another by the citizens of Chicago was presented.

DESPERATE CRIMINALS.

VAN WERT, O., Jan. 2.—Sheriff Stith, Constable Piedrup, and two others, last night attempted to arrest the men suspected of the murder of Bernard Pickens, at Delphos on Christmas Eve. The murderers secured $15,000, after torturing Mrs. Pickens until she disclosed its hiding place. When the Sheriff entered the house to make the arrest, Christopher Grosseman shot the Sheriff twice. He turned out the lights, and a general firing at once began, the Sheriff receiving two shots in the breast, and Piedrup two. Grosseman and one man escaped, the third being captured. He refused to give his name. Four hundred dollars in silver were found in his valise, and $500 in currency on his person. Sheriff Stith's recovery is doubtful, and Piedrup's death is certain. The excitement is intense.

SYMPATHY WITH IRELAND.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 2.—A sympathy for Ireland meeting was held yesterday. Ex-Governor Palmer presided. A resolution was adopted sympathizing with the Irish people in their struggle, criticizing the Irish land tenure and approving of the efforts of the Land League. The subscription realized was considerable.

REPROACHING THE PRESIDENT.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—The Times says that considerable commotion was caused at the White House reception yesterday, by Col. H. C. Deahan, formerly commissioner of Customs at Sitka, Alaska. He entered with the public, and when he reached the President, he used violent language. He claimed that he had been unjustly removed from office, and his family ruined. He was ejected by police.

PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 2.—The Socialistic Congress held its last days session yesterday, on the question of nominating a candidate for President. After four hours heated discussion Caleb Pink, Kings County, New York, A. E. Bishop, Chicago, and Osborne Ward were selected and will be referred to the party. The two names receiving the highest number of votes are to be candidates for President and Vice-President.

THE SITUATION IN MAINE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—The Herald's Augusta despatch says the State House is thoroughly guarded, and the utmost vigilance prevails, owing to a well-founded rumor that a secret military organization has been formed, composed of ex-soldiers. The Sun's Augusta despatch says the situation last night was less warlike than before for many days. It is reported that the Republicans will resort to Parliamentary tactics to attain their objects, and force will not be used.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

Press Despatches via Cable and Montreal Lines

CABLE.

RELIEF FOR IRELAND.

DUBLIN, Dec. 31.—The fund instituted by the Duchess of Marlborough for the relief of the distress in Ireland now amounts to over $41,000. Dr. McEvilly, coadjutor of Archbishop of Tuam, in acknowledging the receipt of $5,000 from the churches in Cardinal Manning's diocese in England, says that no amount of private charity can cope with the approaching famine in Ireland. A system of remunerative public works can alone be effectual.

AMERICAN.

A GANG OF BURGLARS.

HUDSON, N. Y., Dec. 31.—James Cummings was arrested at Valatie yesterday, charged with robbery at North Pownell, Vt. It is believed that the arrest will lead to the discovery of a large gang of expert burglars.

MURDER BY A SOMNAMBULIST.

Extraordinary Mystery in Boston—A Mother Shot by Her Daughter.

BOSTON, Mass., Dec. 31.—The death of Mrs. Ward yesterday continues the subject of universal comment. The daughter, who it is thought shot the mother, will probably remain in gaol until Jan. 7, when an investigation occurs in court. The medical examiner made an autopsy upon the body of Mrs. Ward to-day, which developed the fact that two shots were fired, one fracturing, but not entering the skull at the forehead, the other entering beneath the ear, passing into the brain and producing a fatal result. The bullet in the brain was probed for and extracted, and a flattened bullet, which undoubtedly caused the wound on the forehead was found on the floor of the room. This discovery involves the case in deeper mystery, as the gentleman who loaned a revolver to the ladies for their protection, states that he left one chamber unloaded for the hammer to rest in as a precaution against premature explosion. The revolver as found shows but two empty chambers. Friends of the parties testify to the affectionate relations between the mother and daughter. No motive for the deed has yet been discovered.

BAILLIEBORO'.

HOTEL BURNED.—At an early hour on New Year's morning the citizens were aroused by a cry of fire, flames having broken out in the buildings in the rear of the Victoria Hotel, the property of Joseph [illegible], and leased by W. [illegible], of [illegible]. Notwithstanding the strenuous efforts of the people to save the building, it, with the stables and outbuildings, was completely destroyed. The greater portion of the contents was saved. The loss is about $1,000; no insurance.

Animated Oats.

You can get a packet of these long-legged, bearded fellows for five cents. I must say that they are funny, and so lively that how the florists manage to get them into those little paper envelopes is more than I can tell. Just dip them in a cup of water for a minute, and lay them on the palm of you hand or on a sheet of letter-paper on the table, and they will begin untwisting their grasshopper legs, and standing on the heads, or turning somersets; in short, playing all sorts of antics. And it is real fun to try to get them into an envelope or fold them up in a piece of paper. They will be out just as quick as you put them in, and would much rather run up your dress or coat-sleeve than be packed up in paper. By getting them at the store of one of the best florists, you will be pretty sure to have them fresh and with unbroken legs; and their power of locomotion seems to lie in their beards and legs.—The Methodist.

IT is a gratifying sign of the position of the tenant-farmers that the sale on Nov. 25th, in the Land Court of an estate situate in the counties of Clare, Roscommon and Galway, the purchasers were the occupying tenants. Of eighteen lots four remained unsold, and for these two substantial offers have been privately made. Some of the lots realized nearly twenty years' purchase—quite as much as they would probably have brought before the commencement of depression.

THE Government has ordered the Board of Works to construct great sluices in all the Shannon weir mounds, and to make great auxiliary and flood channels at Meelick, to cost £60,000. The laboring men's work will commence at Meelick in ten days.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in Packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, Eng." 45-50

FRIDAY, JANUARY 2, 1880.

1880.

TO-DAY the WEEKLY REVIEW enters upon its Twenty-eighth volume, and the DAILY EVENING REVIEW upon its Third volume. Since they were first launched upon the troubled and uncertain sea of popular support, they have both grown in public favour—especially during the year just closed. To the uninitiated, the conducting of a public journal may seem an easy matter, but to the experienced, laboring under a due sense of the power which they necessarily exercise for good or evil, the duty is not only an onerous, but an anxious one. If, as has been said, the lightest word spoken never dies, but continues to bear fruit during the countless ages still to come, what must be the effect of the most trivial thought committed to paper, and read by thousands? The words may be forgotten, the hand that penned them must soon moulder in the dust, but who can tell when they shall cease to influence, either directly or indirectly, future generations. Although none of us, we fear, act up to the high principles which such thoughts should inspire, it is well that both writer and reader should remember them, and remembering them, the writer cannot fail to become imbued with a desire to eschew personalities and the insinuation of improper motives, and to cultivate that liberality of feeling which is large enough to permit men of different minds to think differently without casting doubts upon either their sincerity or honesty. And the reader will become more and more disposed to patronize and encourage those writers and papers which, while maintaining their own particular views with vigor, possess sufficient charity to permit others to think and act for themselves without questioning their motives or insinuating that they have an axe to grind.

Without public patronage no paper can long continue to exist, hence if undesirable papers continue to live without changing their ways, it is because there is a public taste which craves for the lightly spoken word, the insinuation which wounds none the less because it is without foundation, the petty scandals, whose very untruthfulness begets in time a carelessness of reputation, which lowers public and private honor and integrity, and feeds upon those depraved feelings which put the worst, instead of best, possible construction upon an opponent's every act. Charity, unfortunately, is a virtue which sadly needs cultivation among sects, as well as politicians in this nineteenth century of ours, and although we have fallen far short of what we should have been in this respect, we venture to think that the course of the REVIEW has in some degree at least, served to promote a more liberal feeling between our local political combatants than formerly prevailed, and to render it possible for rival politicians, while maintaining their opinions, to act harmoniously together in other matters. It will be our earnest desire in the future, as in the past, to promote such a state of affairs by discussing questions as far as possible upon their merits alone, and thus cultivate that liberality of sentiment which enables men to differ, and yet act together in municipal and other matters. It will be our earnest endeavor in the future, as in the past, to promote this state of affairs, and cultivate an increased liberality of sentiment between those differing from each other on any question, yet living in harmony with each other.

Having gained the advantage of another year's experience, we may reasonably hope to be able to serve our patrons better and more efficiently during the year upon which we have entered, than we did in the past. With the increase of circulation already secured and the rapidity with which names are being daily added to our subscription lists, we can undoubtedly give advertisers much better value for their money than they can get elsewhere or than they ever obtained before, while our facilities and connections enable us to fill orders in the jobbing departments at as reasonable rates as any other office at living prices.

Trusting that the year, which opens auspiciously in so many respects, may realize the hopes of our readers and ourselves, we enter upon its duties with confidence and a simple determination to discharge the duties which it may bring to the best of our ability.

TRADE NOTES.

IRON smelting works, and 20 or 30 dwellings for the hands to be employed, are proposed to be erected at Drummondville, Que., in April next by Mr. R. McDougall.

A BUILDING suitable for a glove factory has been purchased in Compton, Que., by Messrs. Land & Co., and this winter will probably witness the establishment of that industry there.

THE traffic returns of the Great Western Railway for the week ending December 12th show receipts amounting to $160,148.34 against $99,708.92 for the corresponding week last year, an increase of $60,439.42, or nearly 45 per cent.

AT a meeting in Moncton, N. B., on Saturday last, of parties interested in the formation of a sugar refining company, it was decided to form such a company with a capital of $500,000 in shares of $100 each.

THE Pioneer Beet Root Sugar Company is stated to have purchased the necessary property in Coaticook for carrying on its proposed operations, and also to have contracted for some 2,000 cords of wood for fuel. Factory work, it is thought, will be begun about next October.

THE Stormont Cotton Mfg. Co. at Cornwall, have their new brick building up, the machinery mostly in place and it is announced that work will be begun next week. The mill is to be driven entirely by water-power, and there are sufficient orders on hand to keep the establishment going for months. The capacity is 200 looms, and denims, checked and striped shirtings are to be made as well as grey cottons.

From Our Own Correspondent.

COUNCIL MEETING.

The village Council met on Friday evening, Dec. 26th ultimo, pursuant to adjournment. The Reeve, Mr. John Dinwoodie occupied the chair. All the Councillors were present.

The Trent Valley Canal Deputation addressed the Council, giving an account of their visit to Ottawa, when it was moved by Councillor Horner, seconded by Councillor McWilliams,—That having heard with satisfaction the explanations made by the Trent V. C. deputation, appointed by this Council, a cordial vote of thanks be and is hereby extended to the same.—Carried.

Moved by J. NELSON, seconded by T. HORNER—That the following accounts be paid, viz:—Expenses of T. V. C. deputation to Ottawa $33.12; W. H. Casement, nails, &c., £3.11; Dr. Caldwell, medicine for Miss Heath $2.00.—Carried.

Moved by Councillor HORNER, seconded by Councillor NELSON,—That the taxes against George Boulton ($2.20) and Mrs. Fredinburg ($2.20) be remitted as charity, and that an order be drawn on the Treasurer in favour of the collector for the same.—Carried.

A By-law to close up that part of the concession line, lying between Church and Water Streets, and also a by-law to open up a new street, called Concession Street, between those two streets in lieu of said concession line, received their several readings and were passed, and ordered to be sealed and signed by the Reeve and Clerk.

On motion of Councillor NELSON, seconded by Councillor GARBUTT, the Council adjourned to meet on the call of the Reeve.

NOMINATION.

A meeting of the municipal electors of Lakefield was held in the Council Chamber on Monday last. The proceedings began at noon, Mr. W. C. Sanders, the Village Clerk, acting as returning officer.

Moved by MR. J. P. STRICKLAND, seconded by MR. JOHN ISBISTER,—That Mr. T. J. Nelson be nominated as Councillor for 1880.

Moved by MR. JOHN ISBISTER, seconded by MR. KENNETH URQUHART,—That Mr. John H. McWilliam be nominated as Councillor for 1880.

Moved by G. DORAN seconded by DR. BELL,—That Mr. James Horner be nominated as Councillor for 1880.

Moved by MR. EDWARD SAWTELL, seconded by MR. W. HARPER,—That Mr. Kenneth Urquhart be nominated as Councillor for 1880.

Moved by MR. ISAAC WATSON, seconded by MR. JOHN ISBISTER—that Mr. Isaac Garbutt be nominated as Councillor for 1880.

Moved by MR. W. J. WALLACE, seconded by MR. W. HARPER—that Mr. John Hull be nominated as Reeve for 1880.

Moved by MR. W. COX, seconded by MR. SAMUEL NELSON—that Mr. R. C. Strickland be nominated as Reeve for 1880.

Moved by MR. G. BROWN, seconded by MR. JAMES MOORE—that Mr. W. Cox be nominated as Councillor for 1880.

Moved by MR. JAMES G. BROWN, seconded by MR. JAMES MOORE,—That Mr. Edward Sawtel be nominated as Councillor for 1880.

Moved by MR. E. SAWTEL, seconded by MR. WM. HARPER,—That Dr. Caldwell be nominated as Councillor for 1880.

Messrs. Urquhart, Caldwell, Cox and Sawtel, withdrew from the contest, leaving the field to the old Councillors, viz: Messrs. Nelson, McWilliams, Horner and Garbutt, who were declared elected by acclamation and the proceedings were adjourned until Monday next, at 9 o'clock a.m., when a pole will be opened in the Council Room for the election of a Reeve.

At the close of the formal proceedings a meeting was organized with Mr. Thomas Casement in the chair. Able and interesting speeches were made by the retiring Reeve, the Councillors elect, the two candidates for the office of Reeve and others. Everything passed off quietly and goodnaturedly. A vote of thanks having been given to the Chairman, and three rousing cheers for the Queen, the meeting broke up.

SERVICES ON CHRISTMAS DAY.

On Christmas Day, divine service was held in St. John's church, Lakefield, the Rev. Mr. Bell the incumbent officiating. The church this year was very prettily decorated, the front and channel especially so. The members of the congregation who assisted in the decorations deserve great praise. The Rev. Mr. Bell took for his text the 7th verse of the 2nd chapter of St. Luke, "And she brought forth her first born son and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because their was no room for them in the inn." On these words he founded an excellent practical discourse delivered in a clear and distinct manner. The congregation was numerous and many remained to partake of the Holy Communion.

ORANGE LODGE MEETINGS.

The old lodge meets in the Orange Hall on Monday evening next at seven o'clock, and the Young Canadian lodge meets on the evening of Tuesday next in the same place.

CHAINED AT LAST.

A wag calling into one of our village blacksmith shops one day this week thought he would crack a joke with the knight of the anvil. Seeing a large pile of boom chains he said, "And what are you going to do with all these chains?" "Well," answered the man of muscle, "I have just received authority to bind his Satanic Majesty for a thousand years, and was just expecting him here." The wag retires quickly.

SCHOOL ELECTION.

A meeting was held on Wednesday last in the Council room for the purpose of nominating candidates as members of Lakefield Public School Board. Mr. W. H. Casement acted as returning officer. Two members were required to be elected. The meeting was opened at 12 o'clock, noon, by the returning officer taking the chair and announcing that he was ready to receive nominations.

Moved by Mr. W. C. SANDERS, seconded by Mr. SAMUEL WALLACE,—That Mr. John Isbister be nominated as a member of the School Board.

Moved by Mr. T. J. NELSON, seconded by Mr. G. DORAN,—That Mr. Wm. Cox, sr., be nominated as a member of the School Board.

No others being nominated, the returning officer declared Messrs. John Isbister and Mr Wm. Cox, sr., duly elected as members of the Lakefield School Board for the ensuing term of three years.

What all Men Should Know.

To Relieve a Cough.—The troublesome cough caused by an accumulation of phlegm in the throat, especially in the morning, experienced mostly by persons affected with Chronic Catarrh, can be relieved almost instantly by taking a teaspoonful of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam, which has the advantage of being harmless to the stomach, and at the same time improving the appetite. wid150-1w

TO THE LADIES OF PETERBOROUGH.

PETERBOROUGH, JANUARY 1st, 1880.

We have much pleasure in intimating that we have accepted the agency for the sale of Messrs. E. Butterick & Co's Celebrated Paper Patterns.

In making this announcement to our numerous friends, we consider it but just that we should acquaint them with the inducements which have prompted us to become the representatives of this well known firm.

It has ever been our aim to provide our Patrons with the BEST GOODS at the least possible price. In view of this fact you will understand how absolutely necessary it becomes for us to procure not only the CHEAPEST articles in point of intrinsic value, but in addition we profess to offer only such goods as will command sale from their actual MERITS.

Under this conviction we ask you to accept the sample number of the Magazine, which can be had at our store free of charge, and simply request from you a careful perusal of its contents. The benefits which this publication offers to the Ladies of Peterborough and the surrounding country are as apparent as to render needless any enumeration. The popularity which these goods have obtained since their introduction is sufficient evidence of their usefulness; every lady can with their assistance become not only her own Dress-maker, but also superintend and direct the manufacture of every article of ladies' and children's wearing appeal required in the family.

With reference to the Patterns of Messrs. Butterick, we are fully convinced they are without exception THE BEST GOODS OF THEIR KIND. We show a great variety of styles, a larger number of Patterns, and more sizes to each Pattern than any other House. Entirely new designs are issued each month. Special attention is given to CHILDREN'S GARMENTS, each Pattern is cut with a view to economise as much as possible the material from which the garment is made.

We are authorised to guarantee d PFRFECT FIT with every Pattern, Provided proper sizes are used and directions followed.

We can supply any Pattern in any size made. Our Country friends can rely upon receiving Patterns ordered by the first return post.

ELOPEMENT.

A Baltimore Doctor Skips with a Farmer's Wife and $500 of School Funds.

The village of Baltimore has been for a fortnight in the most intense state of excitement on account of the sudden disappearance of Dr. Turnre, who had resided in that village for upwards of twenty-five years. The doctor was Sec.-Treasurer of the School Board, and the day before he left had drawn nearly $500 of school money. He had also collected a large amount of money from his customers, so that when he left he must have had on his person some one or two thousand dollars. He said he had received a telegram from some person in Toronto to the effect that he was required in that city at once. He bade a more than usually affectionate farewell to his wife and family, and said he would soon return; but shortly after the doctor disappeared, a married woman from the village of Bowmanton, of whom more than rumours of improper intimacy with the doctor had been afloat, was also missing. She left home about the same time, ostensibly to visit a brother, and it was not till several days afterwards, on her husband going to Cobourg with a load of grain that he discovered that the guilty pair had decamped together. Search was made in Toronto, and telegrams were sent to all points, but up to the present no trace has been discovered of the fugitives.

Mrs. Turner and the children have the sincere sympathy of the entire community. It was a most heartless case. The doctor is about sixty years of age, and the truant wife about twenty-five.—Port Hope Guide.

A POSITIVE FACT.—Nervousness is the cause of feebleness, or the lack of stability of the nervous system, as distinguished from the rest of the body. It is pre-eminently a disease, and more widely spread through the Northern and Eastern part of the United States and the Dominion of Canada than in any other part of the world. We will not stop to say why this is the case, but, we do emphatically say the Victoria Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites will be found an invaluable medicine for all parties afflicted with Nervousness, Dyspepsia, Consumption, Defective Nutrition, General Debility, or weakness of the whole system. One of the first effects is an increase of the nervous or vital energy, followed by a feeling of unusual comfort and vivacity. For sale by all druggists. wid[illegible]

A MAN'S A MAN FOR A' THAT—A NEW VERSION.

BY CHARLES MACKAY.

"A man's a man," says Robert Burns,
  "For a' that and a' that;"
But though the song be clear and strong,
  It lacks a note for a' that.
The lout who'd shirk his daily work,
  Yet claim his wage and a' that,
Or beg, when he might earn, his bread,
  Is not a man for a' that.

You see yon brawny, blustering sot,
  Who swaggers, swears, and a' that,
And thinks, because his strong right arm
  Might fell an ox and a' that,
That he's as noble, man for man,
  As duke or lord, and a' that;
He's but a brute, beyond dispute,
  And not a man for a' that.

A man may own a large estate,
  Have palace, park, and a' that,
And not for birth, but honest worth,
  Be thrice a man for a' that:
And Donald herding on the muir,
  Who beats his wife and a' that,
Be nothing but a rascal boor,
  Nor half a man for a' that.

For a' that and a' that,
  The soul and heart and a' that,
That makes the king a gentleman,
  And not his crown and a' that,
And man with man, if rich or poor,
  The best is he, for a' that,
Who stands erect, in self-respect,
  And acts the man for a' that.

A GREAT MISTAKE.

It is a great mistake to suppose that because our neighbor lives in elegance we must do the same, whether we can afford it or not. It is a poor ambition to strive to emulate those whose purses are better filled than ours. If my neighbor's children are dressed in silk—a material I cannot afford to dress mine in—why should I give myself any unhappiness on that account? Why should I pinch and starve to appear that which I am not? My children in calico are as good as my neighbor's children in silks, and why should I make any effort to dress them better than I can afford? It does not elevate them really, nor bring them any great benefit. If I struggled to give them a good education, or to fit them with a trade, there would be reason and respectability in my self-sacrifice; but it is simply contemptible to try to outshine those to whom fortune has given the means with which to shine. Outward display is not worth an effort, yet how many agonize to attain it; how many a man and woman lose reputation that they may ascend some giddy elevation which can only be reached through fraud, and the sacrifice of the best hopes of this life, and the life to come.

The best kind of courage is the courage to appear poor, not to seem to be what really we are not. There is but poor satisfaction in giving a feast to our acquaintances to-day, that we may seem to be not as poor as we are and as they know us to be, and then make up for the vain and foolish display by starving a month. It is poor comfort to make a show at a cost like this. It is like building a palace of ice that it may look dazzling, but which can only last and delude a while, until the sun of reality drives the elegant phantom away.

We see this foolish ambition in weddings, funerals, equipages, dress and household display. The costly outfit must be given to our daughter, because our wealthy neighbor's daughter had the same. We cannot think of letting a more pompous funeral cortege wind from our neighbor's door than from our own.

HARDENING CHILDREN.

Children are by ignorant mothers often forced into cold water (from which they have not a sufficiently active circulation to recover) as part of that much-abused system of "hardening" the child off the face of the earth, or checking its growth.

"Hardening," it must be understood, should be strengthening, not "roughing," and many people with the best intentions think very erroneously that to make a child strong consists in causing it to undergo more physical hardships than they, with their perfectly matured strength and age, would dream of doing.

As people in conclusions generally rush to extremes, it might be well to remark that we do not at all recommend coddling; but no wise mother will put her young children into quite cold water in winter time, nor with a cold, and above all, will never allow them to be washed and bathed in a draught, on the same principle of consistency that plenty of fresh air is good when it is not damp or foggy, but draughts are most injurious.

How wonderful are the inconsistencies of mothers who aspire to hardening children! We know one who, being told that her delicate child needed plenty of fresh air about its limbs, thought the best way to attain this was simply to half clothe it; so its little shoulders and arms were left quite bare, and its petticoats so shortened that in no way did its clothes touch it, except at the waist; and this in bitter winter weather. Another instance comes to our mind of a lady who, in her desire to harden her eight-months baby, had it put into summer clothes in the bitter weather we have had in March this year, astoundingly blind to the inconsistency of the fact that she, strong and grown-up, found the cold too great to put off any of her own warm winter clothing.—Cassell's Magazine.

Seasonable Economy.

We do not like stinginess. We do not like economy when it comes down to rags and starvation. We have no sympathy with the notion that the poor man should hitch himself to a post and stand still while the rest of world moves forward. It is no man's duty to to deny himself every amusement, every luxury, every recreation, every comfort, that he may get rich. It is no man's duty to make an iceberg of himself, to shut his eyes and ears to the sufferings of his fellows, and deny himself the enjoyment that results from generous actions, merely that he may horde wealth for his heirs to quarrel about. But there is an economy which is especially commendable in the man who struggles with poverty—an economy which is consistent with happiness, and which must be practised if the poor man would secure independence. It is almost every man's privilege, and it becomes his duty, to live within his means; not up to but within them. Wealth does not make the man, and should never be taken into account in our judgment of men, but confidence should always be secured when it can by the practice of economy and self-denial only to a tolerable extent. It should be secured, not so much for others to look upon, or to raise us in the estimation of others, as to secure to us the consciousness of independence, and the constant satisfaction which is received from its acquirement and possession.

A Curiosity.

A great curiosity is reported from Ohio, in the shape of a child of two years of age, who is gradually petrifying—a term which is used by the press of that section apparently because of the lack of a better one. Last July a sudden hardening of the limbs was noticed, and since that time it has gradually spread over the whole body. The head, neck, arms and legs of the child are said to be so hard that not the slightest indentation can be made upon them, and the limbs seem to be bloodless and are as cold as marble. [illegible] thus hardened, and medical men are said to be unable to explain the cause of the singular phenomenon.

THE Spring Hill Coal Company have received large orders for coal from Toronto.

ACCORDING to the Sherbrooke Gazette, the Continental knitting mills have turned out $300,000 worth of goods during the past twelve months.

THE TAY BRIDGE.

The project of building a bridge over the Tay, so as to shorten the way from Dundee and the north-east of Scotland to the south, was conceived very early in railway history. A meeting of the shareholders of the Northern Railway (now merged into the North British) was held in September, 1845, and the Board empowered to take all the necessary steps to construct a bridge at or near Newburgh. The intention of the time took the form of a high level-bridge, but was never carried into effect. Previously proposals had been made for a low-level bridge near the same spot, making use of Mugdrum Island in the Tay, and in consequence of opposition to this scheme, another project to construct a swing bridge was formed, so as to accommodate the river traffic. The question rested in abeyance till 1863, when the initiatory steps for the promotion of a bridge were taken by an independent Company, but this also came to nothing. In 1866 the North British Company promoted a Bill for the bridge and railway connection at Dundee, substantially agreeing with the bridge just destroyed, but this project also fell aside owing to financial difficulties. It was not till the session of 1870 that an Act for the bridge was obtained, the project being promoted as a separate undertaking, but being warmly supported by the North British Company. The capital of the Bridge Company aggregated £466,000. The work was begun in June, 1871, and the foundation stone was laid on July 22nd of that year. The stone abutment for the land end and the two brick piers before the water was reached were quickly erected, and the cylinder to form the foundation of the first water pier was floated into position in October of the year named. The entire length of the bridge contract was 10,142 feet, but some small spans on the north side of a series of brick arches, 34 in number, included in the land line contract, brought up the total length of the bridge to a little over two miles. From the end of 1871 till September, 1877, the bridge works progressed with varying speed, the death of the contractor, Mr. Bergue, delaying it for a time. After 14 piers nearest the south end had been laid down a change was made in the construction; instead of using brick for the portion of the piers above high water it was determined to use iron. Some minor accidents occurred during construction, and on the 2nd of February, 1877, a premonition of the recent fate of the structure, was given by the blowing away of three girders in a terrific gale. Of the 85 spans the last to be completed was No. 28 from the south side, the last of the 145 feet girders, and one-half of which was blown down in 1877.

Starting from Dundee on a wide radius, to change the direction from the shore line to the straight flight on the river, the bridge rose by a gradient of 1 in 73 to the summit level, at the north end of the large spans, where the roadway was 88 feet above high water and about 100 feet above mean tide level. The descent to the south was 1 in 362, or to the eye nearly level. The 13 spans of 245 feet each—11 of which has been destroyed—in the centre of the river, formed of themselves a great work. Approaching from either side there was a distance of about 3,000 feet where the line was laid on the top of the girder, and where the train travelled in the open. When the 245 feet girders were reached the trains ran on their bottom, and the long straight lines of the structure gave the roadway the appearence of a tunnel or tube. This tube it is which fell before the recent hurricane.

The rails were laid double along the whole bridge, a guard rail ran inside the service rail, both keyed into a double chair, and laid on a continuous sleeper of pitch pine. The platform of the bridge was laid in asphaltum. The tests of its strength made by General Hutchinson on the 26th April, 1878, and following days, were in every way satisfactory, though no trial was made of the lateral endurance of the structure

A DUKE'S ECCENTRICITIES.

The late Duke of Portland loved burrowing like a mole. He constructed underground passages from the cellars to the servants' department, and an underground railway to convey the dishes from the kitchen to the dining-room. A few years back he constructed an underground library, consisting of 3 rooms 14 ft. in height, 32 ft. in width, and in all 236 feet in length, the roof being level with the surface of the ground. Twenty-four skylights provide for light in the day-time, which is softened by silk curtains made in France. The library is built with double walls, to protect the books against damp. At Welbeck Abbey everything is on the most magnificent scale; there is a picture gallery with glass walls, which may be lighted at night with many hundreds of gas burners, and a riding-school with gas jets numbered by thousands. The stables have stalls for nearly 100 horses, every stall being fitted with tiles and polished brass. When his friends had a battue, he had an iron kitchen dragged out on wheels, so that they might enjoy a hot meal without having the trouble to walk to the house for it. He had laid the foundations of a subterranean church near the mansion, which was to be 174 ft. long by 64 ft. wide, but we do not know whether it was ever completed. The park contains about 60 lodges, each with underground outhouses lighted with skylights. A right of way existed across one part of it, so the Duke accommodated the public by constructing a tunnel a mile and a half long, lighted from the top by circular windows of plate-glass.

MISCELLANEOUS

"SIX days a week he's invisible, and on the seventh he's incomprehensible," was the account which a dissatisfied old lady gave of her pastor and his ministrations.

THE Detroit Free Press makes the statement that "people will yet learn that one of the most dangerous things in the world is an empty shot gun." Folks will find there's something in it.

"WHAT are you crying for, Sally?" Girl—"Cos I got the toothache." Boy—"You go round to my grandmother; she'll show you what to do; she knows how to take her's out and put'm back whenever she wants."

A SCHOOL boy lately asked his father the difference between civilization and barbarism. "It is very simple, my boy," replied pater familias "Civilization kills an enemy with a cannon-ball at 6,000 yards; barbarism cuts off the head with a sword-stroke."

"How did I know that you wanted to swear first?" was, according to the Amherst Student, the retort of a Freshman in attendance upon a baseball game when the professor exclaimed to him: "How dare you swear before me sir?"

COLERIDGE when a young man was lecturing to a critical audience, and was violently hissed on account of some of his novel propositions, but nothing daunted, he retorted: "When a cold stream of truth is poured on red hot prejudices, no wonder they hiss."

A ROCHESTER pastor, a widower, proposed to a young lady a short time since, but was rejected. His feelings had the second severe test yesterday, when a widow neighbor sent him the following text to preach from:—"You ask and receive not, because you ask a miss."—James iv., 3.

HORACE GREELY—he used to tell the story himself—once sent a claim to a western attorney for collection; the attorney to keep half the amount for his fee. After a while Mr. Greely received the following note from the lawyer: "Dear Sir, I have succeeded in collecting my half of that claim. The balance is hopeless."

The Markets.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS.

FRIDAY, Jan. 2, 1880.—The first business day of the new year has been signalised by an increase in the price of wheat on the Peterborough market. Several loads were received and taken by shippers at $1.23 @ $1.24 for spring, and $1.27 @ $1.29 for fall wheat. The competition between buyers became very sharp, which is seemingly the only cause for the rise. It is not thought to be permanent. Some rye was brought forward and sold at 72cts., there being a slight rise. A few lots of peas were offered, and taken at 65c. This constituted the market except a few loads of hogs which went cheaply at $6.00. The wood market was quite lively and many loads were sold, but at low prices; hardwood green, unsawed at $2.00 @ $2.25; sawed $2.50 @ $2.75 per cord; long $2.25 @ $2.50 unsawed, and $2.75 @ $3.00 per cord for sawed.

A Good Account.

"To sum it up, six long years of bed-ridden sickness and suffering, costing $200 per year, total, $1,200—all of which was stopped by three bottles of Hop Bitters taken by my wife, who has done her own housework for a year since without the loss of a day, and I want everybody to know of it for their benefit."

A Conundrum Propounded.

Why will the "small boy," persist in eating green apples? The reader may do well give it up at once, since our original parents were guilty of the "little indiscretion." Physicians say, the season in which early or unripe fruit is first introduced, is the one they are most severely taxed in cases of colic, diarrhoea, dysentery, &c. Young and old are guilty, but boys and girls are the surest victims and the greatest sufferers. There is no peace, comfort or safety in the family unless its head provides a proper remedy. Ten Years of Horrible Torture.—Mrs. Sarah Hanlon, of East 23rd street, New York, for ten years bore as patiently as she could, the agony of a leg swollen to four times its natural size, which was red and raw, and from which constantly oozed a blistering secretion. One week's application of Giles' Liniment Iodide Ammonia restored the hideous member to complete soundness.

Misery's Throne.

Of all the miserable and unhappy creatures in existence, there are none more so than the confined dyspeptic. Life is a burden, and if the sufferer does not soon obtain relief he soon sinks into a dreary misanthrope, with the germs of consumption lurking dangerously near. The only known remedy—tested in innumerable cases—is SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL combined with HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA. With this medicine the incubus is removed, and the embryo seeds of consumption scattered. It is also nearly as pleasant to the taste as sweet cream. d130w49-1m

Remedy for Hard Times.

Stop spending so much on fine clothes, rich food and style. Buy good, healthy food, cheaper and better clothing; get more real and substantial things of life every way and especially stop the foolish habit of running after expensive and quack doctors or using so much of the vile humbug medicine that does you only harm, and makes the proprietors rich, but put your trust in the greatest of all simple, pure remedies, Hop Bitters, that cures always at a trifling cost, and you will see better times and good health. TWENTY-EIGHTH YEAR.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW FOR 1880.

AN ENTIRELY NEW FEATURE!

How to Obtain the Leading Papers and Save Money.

FAIR, SQUARE AND, RELIABLE OFFERS.

WITH the year 1880, the WEEKLY REVIEW will enter on its 29th year of publication. Notwithstanding the improvements which have been made upon it, and the ever increasing expenditure incurred to keep it AHEAD of any of its competitors, the annual subscription will remain as heretofore, only $1.50—postage paid by the publishers.

Splendid Clubbing Advantages.

The Proprietors of the REVIEW have great pleasure in announcing that they have made arrangements with the publishers of the following leading periodicals in Canada and the United States, by which they are enabled to club these periodicals with the WEEKLY REVIEW at remarkably low prices.

READ CAREFULLY.—Below are three columns of figures. The name of the paper or magazine is given, and the FIRST column gives the REGULAR PUBLISHER'S PRICE. The SECOND column gives the regular subcription price of the WEEKLY REVIEW. The THIRD column gives the price at which we are prepared to supply new subscribers with BOTH the paper or magazine and the WEEKLY REVIEW combined, for one year. It is certainly an object to save money these times, and it is easy to see by our Club List how it can be done.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, JANUARY 2, 1880.

Carrier Boys' Supper.

The carrier boys of the REVIEW will give their annual supper to the employees of this office this evening at the Croft House.

Ashburnham School.

The school will re-open on Monday morning under the head mastership of Mr. W. J. Hallett, when a full attendance is particularly requested.

Masonic.

There will be a regular communication of Peterborough Lodge, No. 155, A. F. & A. M., held in the Masonic Hall this evening. All the members are requested to be punctual.

The Colleen Bawn.

This famous Irish drama is by Dion Boucicault, author of the Shaughraun, and will be presented to-morrow evening by the McDowell Company, with new scenery, a prominent feature of which will be the water-cave scene.

Christmas Donation

On Christmas Day the donation to the Rev. Father Lynch was $452. This handsome amount shows the esteem which is felt for him by his congregation, and speaks well for their liberality.

A Lively Day.

There has been a lively business done in town to-day for the second of January. Many farmers have come in to make purchases, and the streets have presented an animated scene. It has been the subject of considerable comment by the merchants.

Theatre To-Night.

McDowell's Shaughraun Company will to-night perform Lester Wallack's comic and exciting drama of "Rosedale; or, The Rifle Ball." A company of the 57th will represent the troops in the exciting scene of the capture in the gipsy's dell.

The Melting Snow and the Sidewalks.

The sidewalks to-day have been in a horrible condition, especially for ladies. When the snow began to yield to the gentle influences of the genial sun, they should have been cleaned off. It would seem to be very little trouble to use a broom, to say the least.

The Opening of Our Schools.

The public schools in both town and county will open after the holiday vacation on Monday, January 5th, when it is expected the children will begin the new year with greater zeal than heretofore. The Collegiate Institute will open on Wednesday, the 7th of January.

A Warning.

The boy who goes round putting out the gas lamps, was stopped and interfered with on New Year's eve, while in the discharge of his duties by an idle young rowdy, who is advised not to repeat the offence again, or the Gas Company will have him figuring before the Police Court.

The Band and the Holidays.

The Peterborough Fire Brigade Band have been making their usual round of calls since Christmas. All day yesterday was devoted to this custom. They were everywhere received with a hearty, substantial welcome, more so than ever before, for which they return their sincere thanks.

Vital Statistics.

The number of registrations made with C. D. Macdonald, Town Clerk, Division Registrar, for the month of December, were as follows:—Births, 15; Marriages, 16; Deaths, 4. The total number of registrations made during the half-year ending December 31st, 1879, were:—Births, 60; Marriages, 30; Deaths, 28; and for the whole year 1879:—Births, 188; Marriages, 71; Deaths, 76.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district as reported from Toronto at 10 o'clock to-day are: Fresh to brisk, south-westerly to westerly winds, partly cloudy weather. The weather in Peterborough on New Year's Day was clear, mild and delightful. To-day seems to be a counterpart of yesterday, if anything, milder. The sleighing is rapidly disappearing. The thermometer indicated at 8 o'clock 32° above, and at noon 38°, with a strong westerly wind.

A Dream of the Orient.

The Royal Japanese Troupe and Great 4 Novelty Company will appear at Bradburn's Opera House on Wednesday and Thursday, Jan. 7th and 8th. This celebrated company of artists from the Orient, have had crowded houses where-ever they have appeared. Their term of absence from their native country will expire in June, when they must return. The few months left to them will be passed in giving representations in Canada and the United States. Their appearance in Peterborough will be their first and last. The immense show-bills on the bill-boards will indicate the performance of these wonderful artists.

Chas. Stapleton's Coming Sales.

The following auction sales are advertised to take place at the dates and places mentioned below:—

On Saturday, Jan. 3.—General Auction Sale of new and second-hand furniture, horses, harness, sleighs, &c. Sale at 11 a.m. Terms Cash.

On Thursday, Jan. [illegible]—[illegible] sale of 600,000 feet of good common pine lumber of Messrs. Irwin & Boyd, at Nassau Mills, about 3 miles from Peterborough, on the Midland Railway. Terms easy. Sale at 10 a.m., sharp. No reserve.

On Tuesday, Jan. 13.—Chancery sale of valuable saw mill and timber land, in the township of Burleigh, in the matter of Cochnear v. Thompson. Further information can be had from Dennistoun Bros. & Hall. Sale at the Stewart House at 1 p.m.

On Thursday, Jan. 15.—Third annual sale of lumber at Harwood. Over [illegible] feet of different kinds, all assorted lumber, at the mills of McDougall & Lodgate. Terms easy. Sale at 12.15 sharp.

Matinee at the Theatre.

The performance of the play of "Led Astray" by the McDowell Company last night was excellent, and was well received by the audience. The management, owing to the number of persons who wished to witness the performance, but were prevented by New Year's night engagements, have resolved to repeat the play at a matinee on Saturday at 2.30 p. m., with one charge of 25 cents all over the house. There will thus be an opportunity for those who were absent last night to see this thrilling, but moral play admirably performed, and what will interest the ladies almost as much, to view the magnificent dresses procured especially from Worth, the great Parisian milliner.

SUNDAY SCHOOL MASS MEETING

The George Street Methodist Church Filled with Children, Teachers and Parents—Interesting Services.

On New Year's Day a Sunday School mass meeting was held in the George Street Methodist Church. The church was crowded with the children of the various Sunday Schools in Peterborough, their teachers, parents and friends. The scene was an inspiriting one. There was none of the old style formal classification of schools, the various classes of each school entering the church and taking their seats permiscuously, so that there was an intermingling of the various denominations taking part in the exercises. It was truly a mass meeting.

The New Year greetings as they assembled were hearty, and a radiance was visible upon the countenances of the vast number of upturned faces as the exercises were being held.

Mr. R. H. ROPER, Superintendant of St. Paul's (Presbyterian) Church School, the master spirit in the organization of this mass meeting, presided. After making a few appropriate remarks regarding the reasons for the assembling and offering the congratulations of the season to those present, he proceeded to read the opening hymn entitled, "All hail the power of Jesus' name," which was sung by the children and audience, under the lead of Messrs. David Galletly and George Johnston, of St. Paul's, and A. Davis, of the George Street Methodist, with Mr. Heathfield at the organ.

The Rev. E. F. TORRANCE, of St. Paul's Church, offered prayer. Then followed the scripture reading by the chairman, the children, teachers and audience joining in the responses. "What a friend we have in Jesus" was then sung, after which the Rev. Mr. Roberts, of the Bible Christian Church, addressed the children in an interesting and instructive manner. Among the many happy illustrations he presented were the following:—He asked to know how many of the children understood and felt in their hearts the new year greetings as they met each other on this, the morning of the New Year; whether they, in passing from the old to the new year, felt thankful to God for the beautiful new year, and were desiring to live a new life in return for the blessings which had been vouchsafed to them. Suppose their house should be on fire, their first impulse would be safety in flight, and as soon as they knew or felt that they were safe, would they not feel thankful to God for their deliverance from the devouring elements? He followed with an illustration of relief from a sinking ship in mid-ocean, and of a company of soldiers who were being overtaken by a prairie fire; death and destruction were inevitable unless some effort was made for deliverance. The commander, contemplating the situation, advanced some distance in the opposite direction, and setting fire to the tall prairie grass, returned to his command, and after awaiting a sufficient time for the fire to approach, commanded his men to advance and escape through the approaching flames to where the grass had been burned. Thus the men were saved from a horrible death. For a moment they stood beholding the fire sweeping in a vast circle away from them, to meet the advancing fire and arrest its further progress. They then knelt in humble prayer and thanksgiving for their safe deliverance. The speaker wanted the children to think of the dangers to which they were ever exposed, and in this new year resolve to place an entire dependance upon God and fight the fires of sin with the weapons he had given them, and on this beautiful New Year's Day to return thanks for a safe deliverance from the evils that had surrounded them during the old year.

Mr. Davis sung a solo "Hark the voice of Jesus &c"., with happy effect, calling forth a hushed applause which could be seen and felt if not heard.

The teachers were then addressed by the Rev. Alex. Bell of St. Andrews', Kirk, which was interesting and instructive to the general congregation as well as to the teachers. He said the child was born in sin and it required the utmost care to guard and guide it to the better state. It was the duty of the teachers to bring the children under their care to Jesus, and this they could not do unless they themselves had the love of Jesus in their hearts. The teachers must first prepare themselves for the work, and then they would be prepared to teach the young mind the way. They must remember that the associations of their scholars during the seven days had to be combatted by but one hour, and that the labour was greater than we were disposed to consider. It would require the greatest care and attention to counteract in one hour the evil influences surrounding them during the seven days, and hence it was all-important that the teacher should carefully prepare for the work beforehand. He was afraid that the cares and allurements surrounding the teachers would deprive them of the necessary devotion to study during the week to prepare their minds for the great work they had to perform. The work of bringing the young mind to Christ and His Church could not be done without preparation.

The hymn, "What Shall the Harvest be," was then sung, which was followed by the Rev. E. B. Harper, of the George Street Church, in an address to the parents. After alluding to the gathering, and paying a compliment to Mr. Roper for his conception and carrying out of the plan of a mass meeting, and referring to one of a like nature held in Belleville, he addressed himself to the parents in a happy strain which seemed to meet a pleasurable response in the minds of his hearers. He treated upon the fearful responsibility that rested upon parents in the care and control of their children, either for good or evil. He was, he said, in favour of these gatherings on New Year's Day. They were intended to do good and would result in a better Christian life throughout the year.

Mr. Roper read a communication from the Rev. W. C. Bradshaw of St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, regretting his inability to be present. He was holding a service in his own church which prevented his accepting the kind invitation to participate with them in their New Year greetings. The Chairman announced that there was also a service being held in St. John's Church.

Mr. Roper before proceeding with the closing exercises, asked the children and the teachers if they would like to have these gatherings continued, and if they would they could signify it by holding up their hands, he would include the parents and friends as well. There was an almost unanimous hand-raising signifying a desire to inaugurate each New Year with a Sunday School mass meeting.

The long metre doxology was sung by the congregation, and the Rev. Mr. Mulherne closed the exercises with the benediction.

DOURO.

PRESENTATION.—On Monday Dec. 22nd, the pupils of S.S. No. 3, Douro, presented their teacher, Arthur Emmerson, with a bible, as a token of their regard for him. Mr. Emmerson resigns his position which he has had for two years to attend school.

ASPHODEL.

IN this township the electors wisely set aside all their petty differences, and elected their old Reeve, Deputy Reeve and Councillors by acclamation. There was but little interest manifested in the proceedings, and the attendance was not large.

NORWOOD

MASONIC.—At the regular meeting of Norwood Lodge of A. F. & A. M., held in their lodge room on Tuesday evening, the 23rd ult., the following brethren were elected officers for the current masonic year:—W. Bro. W. E. Roxburgh, W. M.; Bro. S. P. Ford, S. W.; Bro. S. J. Griffin, J. W.; W. Bro. P. P. Cope, Chaplain; W. Bro. W. H. Stephenson, Treas.; Bro. Thomas Burke, Secretary; Bro. Isaac Powel, Tyler. The lodge met at high noon on St. John's Day, the 27th, as it is customary on that day to instal the newly elected officers, but that time-honored festival falling on Saturday, this ceremony was postponed until the next regular meeting of the lodge, when the usual festivities indulged in on these occasions will be partaken of.

FOR REEVE.—J. B. Pearce, P. M. Grover.

FOR COUNCILLORS.—S. J. Griffin, Hiram Reynolds, David Askey, Wm. Sedgwick, P. P. Cope and James Greenbanks.

MANHOOD:

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

WE have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞ Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞ This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Address,—

The CULVERWELL MEDICAL Co.,

Post Office Box 4586. wd-1y 41 Ann St. New York.

Cut this Out—It May Save Your Life.

There is no person living but what suffers more or less with Lung Disease, Coughs, Colds or Consumption, yet some would die rather than pay 75 cents for a bottle of medicine that would cure them. Dr. A. Boschee's German Syrup has lately been introduced in this country from Germany, and its wonderous cures astonish every one that try it. If you doubt what we say in print, cut this out and take it to your Druggist, and get a sample bottle for 10 cents and try it, or a regular size for 75 cents. dw51-1y

FLOODS ANTICIPATED.

VIENNA, Jan. 2.—The sudden thaw causes apprehensions that Vienna and Pesth will be flooded.

DAMAGE TO SHIPPING.

LISBON, Jan. 2.—The news from the Azores represents that heavy storms have caused much damage to shipping.

FAMINE IN RUSSIA.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 2.—The country between the rivers Volga and Don is famine stricken, and many persons have already perished. The Prefect of Taszurtin arrived at St. Petersburg to urge contributions for the relief of the people of that place, where famine and typhus fever has appeared.

THE DIPLOMATISTS SPEAK.

PARIS, Jan. 2.—At President Grevy's reception to the diplomatic representatives on New Year's day, Prince Hohenlohe, the German Ambassador addressing DeFreycinet, the new president of the Council and Minister of Foreign Affairs in a loud tone said:—"I am charged by Bismarck to tell you in the name of my Government, that notwithstanding the regret we felt at the departure of the Count De St. Wallier from Berlin, we see no reason why our relations with the present Cabinet should not bear the impress of the same sentiments of cordiality and peace we felt and manifested with regard to the proceeding Cabinet." The Papal Nuncio addressing DeFreycinet, said:—"I rejoice to see placed at the head of the Cabinet a man whose broad conciliatory views, lofty character and sentiments of toleration are well known; on whom we can rely to wield his power in the most equitable and sincerely liberal manner, and in whom we are certain to find a strictly impartial support." De Freycinet in the course of his reply said he cherished no hostility to the Catholic religion; he profoundly respected it and he only wished to remove its too close contact with political affairs so as to rescue it from the confusion which paralizes its efforts, creates difficulties and embarrassment and causes regrets.

Note.—De Freycinet is a Protestant.

THE ARTIFICIAL DIAMONDS.

LONDON, Jan. 2.—Mr. MacLear, of the St. Rollox Chemical Works, writes to the Times affirming that he has produced carbon in diamond modification, and asking that a suspension of judgment on the letter of Mr. Maskelyne of the Mineral Department of the British Museum, pending an interview appointed for the sixth, in which MacLear hopes to convince Maskelyn that his conclusions are premature.

THE PANAMA CANAL.

PANAMA, Jan. 2.—M. DeLesseps was met at Matachin yesterday by a delegation, and all along the road from Aspinwall to Panama he was received at the stations with the greatest enthusiasm. The government of the State of Panama proclaimed a three days' holiday on the occasion. Wild excitement prevails. There will be a bull fight, a grand parade of troops with a banquet. DeLesseps says he has made arrangements for the complete verification of the surveys, which will require about six months' work, constructing the canal will then begin. The verification of the surveys has been undertaken by M. Dircks and work was inaugurated yesterday afternoon at the mouth of the Rio Grande, near Panama, by Dircks and DeLesseps. DeLesseps adheres to his plan as adopted at Paris of a sea level canal, he says:—"It is the only practicable plan and I will carry it through." He declares he is quite sure of the money necessary to complete the work.

FLOODS IN EUROPE.

LONDON, Jan. 2.—A Wiesbaden despatch says the rivers Rhine and Main have swollen in consequence of the ice blocking their currents. The towns of Russelsheim, Rostheim, Bieberheim, and Rudesheim, are inundated. There is great alarm in the neighboring districts.

AMERICAN.

PARNELL'S SPEECH.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Mr. Parnell replied to the address presented to him on his arrival, as follows:—"I regret my power of language is not sufficient to convey my appreciation of your kindness, and the honor done me. It has always been a great pleasure to me to come to the United States. I could have wished that the circumstances attending our native land were of a more happy and prosperous character, but we must hope and believe that the time is approaching when we may be able to speak of Ireland as other men speak of their own country, as really and truly among the nations of the earth. Our task is of a double character; we have to war against a system which causes discontent and suffering in our country, and we have to endeavor to break down the system, and with God's help we are determined to break it down. We have also to see that the victims of the system are not suffered to perish in the meanwhile. The physical suffering, misery and starvation of large portions of the population of Ireland have not been exaggerated. We have been calling upon the Government for eight months to relieve the distress, but only within the last few days the English Government has agreed to admit that there is any distress. Now that it is too well spread for almost any effectual remedy, do those rulers in England appear to understand their responsibility. We, who have been working at this great land question, have not made any appeal to the Government for the relief of the destitution. We cannot any longer shut our eyes to the terrible peril approaching, and we think we ought to put the case before our own countrymen, both at home and here in America. We know our countrymen in America will do their duty, as they have in every clime, to their suffering brothers at home. I confidently anticipate that the result of our mission will be of such a nature as to give pleasure to us, and also to give help to our people at home." Dillon was called upon, and also spoke referring in complimentary terms, to the generosity of America to their suffering brothers at home.

AFTERNOON TELEGRAMS

GENERAL SKOBELOFF'S REPORT

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 2.—Gen. Skobeloff has presented a very long report upon the German army to the Czar, who has been going through it carefully for several days.

OPENING OF PORTUGUESE CORTES.

LISBON, Jan. 2.—The Portuguese Cortes was opened to-day. The King, in his address, promised financial, colonial, electoral, military and educational reforms and the establishment of ministerial responsibility.

BOERS IN COUNCIL.

LONDON, Jan. 2.—A despatch from the Town says the great Boer meeting at the Transvaal was a failure. Only 2,000 men and 500 waggons were present. The fighting faction were in a minority. All returned home peacefully after passing a resolution demanding their independence.

THE SEINE RISING.

PARIS, Jan. 2.—The flood in the Seine is becoming very serious. Great blocks of floating ice have made a clean breach of 200 feet in the temporary wooded bridge opposite the Invalides. The river is still rising fast.

EXPECTED INUNDATION OF VIENNA

VIENNA, Jan. 2.—A Vienna despatch says the danger from flood in the Danube is increasing. Merchants are trying to carry corn to places of safety. The towns of Krems and Stein have been partly flooded. Thousands of people have been watching all Thursday night and Friday, expecting the river to flood Vienna.

A DENIAL FROM THE PORTE.

LONDON, Jan. 2.—The Porte has sent a despatch to its representatives abroad, denying the statement that the Albanians were expressing dissatisfaction at the cession of Gusinje and Plevna to Montenegro by plundering and burning the Greek churches and houses of Christians in Prizrend. The despatch says perfect order reigns in Prizrend, and in the town nearest the Montenegrin frontier.

NIHILIST ARRESTS IN RUSSIA.

LONDON, Jan. 2.—A Vienna despatch confirms the statement that a number of Russian officers were recently imprisoned on a charge of complicity in the Nihilist movement, and cites various instances of arrests of officers. The Polish newspapers report the recent arrest of over one hundred Nihilists in Warsaw.

TROOPS DISAFFECTED.

BERLIN, Jan. 2.—In consequence of the revolutionary agitation having extended to the troops, the Russian military authorities have ordered that henceforth no regiment shall be stationed in the district where it was recruited.

A MENACE TO ITALY.

ROME, Jan. 2.—Imbriani, Vice-President of the Italian Irredenta Committee has published a pamphlet justifying the action of his party in refusing to allow their flag to be displayed at the funeral of General Avezzana, the late President of Italia Irredenta Committee, asserting that the Ministers had declared to him that the cause of the Italia Irredent was dear to them but that it was absolutely necessary to prevent Austria from having any opportunity of seeking a quarrel with Italy. Imbriani also affirms that the ministers characterized the military law recently passed by Austria as a constant menace to Italy. Dinstra, a member of the Chamber of deputies, has given notice of an interpellation on this subject on the meeting of the Chamber despatches from Leghorn report that tumults occurred there on the occasion of the funeral of this old Garibaldian officer.

THE BOERS DISSEMINATED.

CAPE TOWN, Dec. 16.—Sir G. Wolsely has telegraphed to Sir Bartle Frere not to believe the alarming reports from the Transvaal. He says there was a great want of unanimity among the Boers at the recent meeting at which a resolution was adopted in favor of maintaining the demand for the independence of the Transvaal.

A VETERAN SALESMAN.

PARIS, Jan. 2.—Count Bachasson De Montalivet, a life senator, is in a critical state of health. Count De Montalivet was formerly Minister of the Interior under Louis Phillipe.

THE EMPRESS OF RUSSIA.

CANNES, Jan. 2.—The Empress of Russia will for the present remain here, her physician advising that course.

SHOEMAKERS' WAGES.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—The Shoemakers' Protective Union has agreed to demand an increase of wages of 15 per cent. Every shoe manufacturer in the city and neighborhood has been notified.

IRON AND COAL.

The Sun says the coal stocks, though not buoyant, are firmly held on the expectation that the demand for iron during the year will furnish a large and steady demand for coal, and as the yield cannot be increased over that of last year, an increase in price is anticipated.

CANDIDATE FOR PRESIDENT.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—The Sun says there is a growing impression that Horatio Seymour is the real candidate for President.

HOSPITAL SUBSCRIPTIONS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—A check signed Olephant & Co., for $1,000, was found in the contribution box in the hospital on Saturday, together with explicit instructions for its disposition. The check was yesterday discovered to be a forgery. The aggregate subscriptions to the hospital fund received directly by the Treasurer amount to $8,772.

THE PANAMA CANAL.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—The World's Panama correspondent telegraphs:—I am informed De Lesseps has requested overtures for a fusion of his canal with that through Nicaragua. He states that he has no fears of any competition to be inaugurated under General Grant. It is asserted that Derricks will be ready to make his report on the validity of the surveys within two days.

COUNT JOANNES REMAINS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—The statement that the friends of the late Count Joannes had provided a costly casket and were arranging for his funeral are untrue. No friends have come forward, and as the Count died penniless, his remains will probably be consigned to the care of the authorities.

INTER-STATE RAILWAYS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—A Washington special report says that the Bill upon which the Committee on Inter-State Commerce has agreed, aims to prevent four things; first,—unjust discrimination in freight rates in all inter-state commerce; second,—all rebates and drawbacks; third,—pooling of earning by different corporations; fourth,—charging more for carload freight for a short distance than for a long distance on the same haul. The Bill does not meddle with the question of rates at all. Regan thinks that a United States Railway Commission will ultimately be found necessary.

A FATAL ACCIDENT.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Jan. 2.—A large iron shute at Scranton coal docks fell this morning. Patrick Dunn was instantly killed. Much damage is done to the timber.

MAINE LEGISLATURE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—The Herald's August despatch says it appears that the idea of forcible resistance to the constituted authorities has been abandoned by the Republicans, but another significant scheme has been unearthed. The counted out candidates, as they are called, have all received summons from some person in Augusta, which have an appearance of legitimacy, requesting them to appear at Augusta, on the first Wednesday in January, and assist in organizing the Legislature. The certificates are headed "people's certificate," and bear on the bottom this sentence: "come and you will be protected." The object of this move seems to be to set up a Rival Legislature, and otherwise prevent a quorum. Several brokers of New York and Boston, who hold and negotiate Maine State bonds, have written to offer them to the Treasurer. They have dropped in value about 3 per cent.

WILL NOT BE COUNTED IN.

FARMINGTON, Me., Jan. 2.—Louis Voter, a Democrat counted in by Fusionists as representative, has returned his certificate to the Governor, believing that the reason given for the disfranchisement of Farmington is not sufficient to justify his acceptance.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—The Journal of Commerce in its review of the dry goods trade, says the opening of 1879 marked the lowest prices for domestics since 1862, and raw materials were accordingly depressed. With the resumption of specie payments assured, and the currency expanded to the extent of the hard money realized, and the coinage of a large sum monthly. Early in the year every commodity began to show an improvement in value and demand. The distributors of merchandise became persistent in their request for supplies and, the close of the year exhibited a remarkable showing of stocks between manufacturers and consumers lighter than ever. There were no supplies with the agents. The production was largely sold ahead. December prices were the highest of the year. The market closing firm thereat, with an advancing tendency. Orders for goods to arrive were taken at value only, and the outlook for 1880 was most encouraging. Clearances imports of foreign dry goods for December much larger than for the corresponding months in either of the five past years, and this with the very low cost of foreign merchandise.

RETURNING TO THEIR HOMES.

CALCUTTA, Jan. 2.—Official despatches from Cabul state that since the decisive engagement on the 23rd of last month, and the occupation of Cabul by the British troops, the Afghans exhibit a disposition to abandon the struggle for the present, and are disbanding and returning to their homes. Several leading chiefs have either tendered their submission or intimated that they intended to do so, on account of the increased strength gained by Gen. Roberts through his late victories, and by reason of the expected early arrival of reinforcements. The proposition of Mohammed Jan for peace on the conditions specified by him is treated as absurd. Supplies, chiefly in form of commissariat stores, are arriving at Cabul by way of Sukkur and Quettah, and it is said that the stringency which has been so lamentably felt in this direction for many weeks will soon be entirely relieved.

TRIAL OF THE EMBASSY MURDERERS.

A Cabul telegram says the Military Commission has re-assembled to try the prisoners, several of whom have been sentenced to be hanged on the 30th inst. One was proved to have killed Jenkyns, Secretary to Major Cavagnari's Embassy.

"MALICIOUS STATEMENTS."

IT is curious to note what different meanings are put on the same words by different persons. Mr. Mills thinks it a "malicious statement" for the REVIEW to express the opinion that by reason of his having a claim against the Council for the audit, which he has just assisted in completing, he is disqualified as a candidate for the Council. Well, we have yet to learn that the facts are wrong, whatever the opinion expressed may be worth. Mr. Mills certainly has a claim against the town—at least he put in one to the Council, upon which a payment on account has been made, and we fail to see wherein the statement of that fact can be termed "malicious," unless it be "malicious" to say that Mr. Mills could have any claim for any audit which he might assist in making. Although it was generally supposed that the fact of one having a claim against a municipal corporation constituted a disqualification, we are informed that it is asserted that a late decision has removed this ban on gentlemen in the position of Mr. Mills, and that he is therefore "qualified" to receive the votes of the free and independent on Monday. Mr. William Mills has also taken the trouble to announce over his own signature that he is "in every respect competent" to fill the position of Town Councillor. His competency or incompetency is, of course, a matter of opinion. Mr. Mills is entitled to his, and he, no doubt, is the most "competent" judge—in his own estimation. Although, after the events of the past year, and the splendid "bull's run" which this same Mr. Mills made from the Council a few months ago, one would have supposed he would have had some doubt of his own "competency" to deal with the weighty matters devolving upon a Councillor for Ward No. 2. However, as the lovers of fun who frequent the Council meetings have sadly missed this "competent" gentleman and his carpet bag since the "bull's run" referred to, he will doubtless be re-returned for No. 2 on Monday next by an overwhelming majority.

JOHN B. GOUGH, the lecturer, has a family which consists of a wife and four nieces. He makes about [illegible] a year, but has saved only about [illegible], and has a nice farm near Worcester, Mass. He has a very large collection of Cruikshank caricatures, [illegible] ten-pins. After a lecture he is rubbed down like a prize fighter.

THE ELECTRIC LIGHT.

Menlo Park Streets Lights With Electric Lamps—Grand Electric Display.

NEW YORK, Jan. 1.—On New Years' Eve forty street lamps, lighted with electricity, illuminated the little hamlet of Menlo Park, and to-night the display was repeated. In addition to the street lamps, there were two electric burners in operation in Professor Edison's laboratory and MacPine buildings, and in private residences. The number of lights will be increased daily until it reaches about 800. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company carried people to and from the Park at a reduced rate of fare, and multitudes availed themselves of the opportunity to witness the illuminations. The street lamps are globular in form, and are mounted upon slender wooden posts. As the passengers stepped from the cars, they were confronted by the rays from the lamps which lighted the stairway leading from the depot to the plateau of ground upon which the village stands. Wednesday night's display was the first general street illumination at Menlo Park, although half a dozen outside lamps and a number of houses had been previously lighted with electricity. Since the village was first lighted up a week ago, workmen have been busy erecting additional lamp posts in the streets, and last night the illumination was pronounced a complete success. Professor Edison was very much elated with the success of the experiment, but he will preserve his quiet and unassuming demeanor. The two-storey laboratory was especially brilliant, about 30 burners, up-stairs and down-stairs, being in operation. Among the visitors was a committee from the Brooklyn Gas-light Company, who seemed especially anxious to see how Edison's invention worked, and a cloth manufacturer of Pennsylvania, who came to see what arrangement he could make for having his mill supplied with several hundred of these burners. He said at present there was great danger in his mill from gas. It was stated to-day that the original $100 shares in the Edison Electric Light Company had changed hands for $4,500. A new electric generator, in addition to two that had been erected several months before, is now in motion. The generators are each about four feet high, and three in thickness, and comprise a huge U magnet, with the usual apparatus for creating electricity by friction. It is Professor Edison's intention to try the experiment of using chemical electricity at some future date, but he is confident that the frictional method is by far cheaper and better. During the past six or eight days thousands of persons have visited Menlo Park to investigate the new light; among them were several well-known scientific men, who pronounced the discovery that slips of carbon paper placed in a globe from which air had been exhausted, a complete solution of the problem of retaining electric sparks long enough to give a steady light. Menlo Park will be illuminated to-morrow evening.

SCOTLAND.

NOT less than 200 young men and women sailed from Greenock for New Zealand on the 12th December.

MR. DUGALD MACEACHRAN, sugar refiner, has intimated his intention to present a gymnasium to Greenock.

THE number of cattle despatched from Aberdeen to the London Christmas market was this year 2,077, or 257 fewer than last year, and the sheep were 44 fewer.

THE returns of the shipping engaged in the Clyde and foreign trade for the month of November show a considerable improvement, there being 13,000 tons in the arrivals more than in November last year.

NOT less than thirteen men were convicted of a breach of the Tweed Fisheries Acts at Jedburgh on the 9th December, and were severally fined in sums ranging from £1 to £5 and expenses.

A DEEP feeling of discontent prevails among the hitherto submissive and well-behaved crofters and tenant-farmers of Skye county, owing to the great and uncalled for rise made on their rents of from 20 to 50 per cent.

A TOWN Hall, containing separate sets of municipal chambers for the burghs of Govanhill and Crosshill, has been handed over free of cost to the magistrates, by Mr. W. S. Dixon, of the Govan Ironworks. The building cost £20,000.

EDWARD MAJORIBANKS, Esq., has presented the Dunse Curling Club with a silver tea-kettle, to be competed for amongst the members of that club, and the club generously gave it to be competed for by the representatives of the curling clubs in Berwickshire.

THE steamer Buenos Castle arrived in the Clyde on the 13th Dec., with a large number of pigs from Montreal, which have been condemned by the Government inspector as suffering from malignant typhoid fever, or hog cholera. Out of 265 some 144 died on the passage, and 12 since. This is the first outbreak among Canadian imported swine.

WHILE some of the employees of Forrest, Frew & Co. were at work recently on the banks of the Clyde, near Rutherglen Bridge, they discovered a British canoe, made from a solid trunk of oak. The discovery is regarded by Antiquarians as of great interest.

THE tenantry of the Duke of Richmond in the upland districts of the Cabrach have drawn up a memorial, thanking his Grace for postponing the rent day from Martinmas till 1st of March, but representing that, so great have been their losses through past bad harvests, and so deep is their present distress, further measures of relief will be needed to meet their difficulty.

DOMESTIC AND USEFUL.

PLACE FOR FLOUR.—Flour, like milk, though not so much so, is affected by bad odors of any kind, which it readily absorbs. Hence it should never be kept where vegetables, onions, etc., or fish, and such odorous things are stored. Flour should always be kept in a sweet, dry, cool, and airy room.

ORANGE CAKE.—5 eggs, 3 cups sugar, 1 cup butter, 1 cup milk, 1 quart flour, 3 teaspoonful baking powder. Bake in round tins like thin Washington Cake. Take the grated rind and juice of 2 oranges, the whites of 3 eggs, and sugar to taste—usually less than 1 cup. Mix well and spread between each 2 surfaces of cake, and it will flavor the whole.

WHITE MOUNTAIN CAKE.—Butter, ½ lb; sugar 1 lb.; flour, 1 lb.; milk, 1 cup; yolk of 6 eggs; whites of 3 eggs; soda, half teaspoonful; cream of tartar, one teaspoonful. Put the soda into the milk, and cream of tartar into the flour. Put in a little milk, and then a little flour, and so on. Add the whites of the eggs the last thing. Flavor with lemon. Bake in thin layers, every layer iced, and the top covered with icing. Make the frosting with the whites of 3 eggs and ¾ pound of sugar. Eight layers will be sufficient for ordinary cake.

TEA CAKES.—"Miss. A. R.," Grand View, Iowa, recommends the following as very nice. Two cups sour milk, half a pint each of shorts and rye flour, three eggs, well beaten, one teaspoon each of soda and salt, butter the size of a hen's egg, mix and bake in gem-pans, those of iron being the best.

What all Men Should Know.

To Relieve a Cough.—The troublesome cough caused by an accumulation of phlegm in the throat, especially in the morning, experienced mostly by persons affected with Chronic Catarrh, can be relieved almost instantly by taking a teaspoonful of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam, which has the advantage of being harmless to the stomach, and at the same time improving the appetite. wid149-fw

TO THE LADIES OF PETERBOROUGH.

PETERBOROUGH, JANUARY 1st, 1880.

We have much pleasure in intimating that we have accepted the agency for the sale of Messrs. E. Butterick & Co's Celebrated Paper Patterns.

In making this announcement to our numerous friends, we consider it but just that we should acquaint them with the inducements which have prompted us to become the representatives of this well known firm.

It has ever been our aim to provide our Patrons with the BEST GOODS at the least possible price. In view of this fact you will understand how absolutely necessary it becomes for us to procure not only the CHEAPEST articles in point of intrinsic value, but in addition we profess to offer only such goods as will command sale from their actual MERITS.

Under this conviction we ask you to accept the sample number of the Magazine, which can be had at our store free of charge, and simply request from you a careful perusal of its contents. The benefits which this publication offers to the Ladies of Peterborough and the surrounding country are as apparent as to render needless any enumeration. The popularity which these goods have obtained since their introduction is sufficient evidence of their usefulness; every lady can with their assistance become not only her own Dress-maker, but also superintend and direct the manufacture of every article of ladies' and childrens' wearing apparel required in the family.

With reference to the Patterns of Messrs. Butterick, we are fully convinced they are without exception THE BEST GOODS OF THEIR KIND. We show a great variety of styles, a larger number of Patterns, and more sizes to each Pattern than any other House. Entirely new designs are issued each month. Special attention is given to CHILDREN'S GARMENTS, each Pattern is cut with a view to economize as much as possible the material from which the garment is made.

We are authorized to guarantee a PFRFECT FIT with every Pattern, Provided proper sizes are used and directions followed.

We can supply any Pattern in any size made. Our Country friends can rely upon receiving Patterns ordered by the first return post.

TWO FISHERS.

One morning, when Spring was in her teens—
A morn to a poet's wishing,
All tinted in delicate pinks and greens—
Miss Bessie and I went fishing.

I in my rough and easy clothes,
With my face at the sun tan's mercy;
She with her hat tipped down to her nose,
And her nose tipped—vice versa.

I with my rod, my reel, and my hooks,
And a hamper for lunching recesses;
She with the bait of her comely looks,
And the seine of her golden tresses.

So we sat us down on a sunny dike,
Where the white pond lilies teeter,
And I went fishing like quaint old Ike,
And she like Simon Peter.

All noon I lay in the light of her eyes,
And dreamily watched and waited;
But the fish were cunning and would not rise,
And the baiter alone was baited.

And when the time for departure came,
My bag hung flat as a flounder;
But Bessie had neatly hooked her game—
A hundred-and-fifty-pounder.

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.

THERE are 257 Roman Catholic religious houses in the United Kingdom of Great Britain.

THE Free Will Baptists will celebrate in 1880 the centenary of the existence of their denomination.

THE Methodist women of the city of Philadelphia have established an orphanage at a cost of $[illegible]5,000, and it is nearly paid for.

A RESIDENT Anglican clergyman is to be settled in St. Joseph Island, where there are now four Anglican churches being built.

A. J. DAVIS, one of the pioneer Spiritualists of the United States, expects to live until men drive fiery chariots in the air and there is no need of doctors.

THE Catholic Register is not far wrong when it states that from the Ritualistic churches of London alone two thousand persons pass over to the Roman fold every year.

PROFESSOR MAX MULLER recently said:—"Though there are one hundred and ten million Brahmins in the world, I do not shrink from declaring that their religion is either dying or dead."

AT the consecration of Dr. Manning as Roman Archbishop of Westminster, fully one hundred priests of those who were gathered around him on the occasion were, like himself, seceders from the Church of England.

THE Interior (Presbyterian) says:—The whole Evangelical Church has waked up to the duty of converting the nations to God as it has never done before. The latter half of this period, since Whitby's day, is distinctively the Age of Missions, and it has done more to fulfil Christ's great command in preaching the Gospel to every creature, than had been accomplished in any preceding age since the Apostles.

RECOMMENDATIONS have been officially issued with regard to the Divinity School, Dublin, proposing that it shall still be part and parcel of Trinity College, that the Divinity Professorships shall be opened to clerical graduates of the Church of Ireland, and that the amount now expended on the Divinity School shall be secured to the uses of maintaining a Theological Faculty and a Divinity School in Trinity College.

THE Presbyterian Church in Canada contains 860 pastoral charges; 1,200 congregations; 75,000 families; and about 120,000 communicants. The average stipend is $650 per annum. Its contributions for missionary and college purposes last year reached $241,000, while for all purposes, including ministers' salaries, etc., there was raised nearly $[illegible]. Six theological colleges are connected with the Church, besides the two ladies' colleges at Ottawa and Brantford. The missionary work is divided into the home, French and foreign departments, each under the care of a separate committee.

ANOTHER branch of Methodism has come into existence, under the title, "The Annual Conference of the Methodist Church." Its principles, however, are more distinctive than its name. The Methodist gives them as no bishop, no time-limit of the pastorate, and the English Wesleyan system of making appointments. Already this Church has twelve appointments, ten of which are in Philadelphia, and nine ministers.

THE Rev. H. Appleby (Anglican) writes from Sault Ste Marie:—"I have about 7,000 in my mission, and the population keeps on increasing very fast. I have now fourteen white congregations and one Indian station, and only a young deacon to assist me. We have 100 miles [illegible] line now, and as people come in we follow them up. There are large interior settlements forming as well, and most of our travelling has to be performed on foot."

THE bishops of the Episcopal Church of Scotland (in Synod) have passed the following resolution, which bears upon the case of the Bishop of Edinburgh, who participated in a communion service at Berne, with the Old Catholic bishops and Father Hyacinthe, a few months ago:—"That this Synod declares, without reference to anything passed, that no bishop of this Church is authorised to recognise any body of Christians not recognised by canon as in communion with ourselves, unless it be after deliberation and assent of the bishops in Synod."

OVERWORK.

Unwise above many is the man who considers every hour lost which is not spent in reading, writing, or in study; and not more rational is she who thinks every moment of her time lost which does not find her sewing. We once heard a man advise that a book of some kind be carried in the pocket, to be used in case of an unoccupied moment—such was his practice. He died early and fatuous. There are women who, after a hard day's work, will sit and sew by candle or gas light until their eyes are almost blinded, or until certain pains about the shoulders come on, which are almost insupportable, and are only driven to bed by physical incapacity to work any longer. The sleep of the overworked, like that of those who do not work at all, is unsatisfying and unrefreshing; and both alike wake up in weariness, sadness and languor, with an inevitable result, both dying prematurely.

Let no one work in pain or weariness. When a man is tired he ought to lie down until he is fully rested; when, with renovated strength, the work will be better done, done the sooner and done with a self-sustained alacrity. The time taken from 7 to 8 hours' sleep out of each 24, is time not gained, but time much more than lost; we can cheat ourselves, but we cannot cheat nature. A certain amount of food is necessary to a healthy body, but if less than that amount be furnished, decay commences that very hour. It is the same with sleep; anyone who persists in allowing himself less than nature requires will only hasten his arrival to the mad-house or the grave.

Swallowed a Baby.

When Thackeray visited our shores for the first time and was invited to partake of a dish of oysters, the the size of our noble rocky astonished him. Accustomed to the small copper-tasted oysters of his side the water, [illegible] he opened. But only for an instant, and in one gulp it slid down. "How do you feel?" asked a friend. "I feel as though I had swallowed a baby," was the reply. The Markets.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS.

SATURDAY, Jan. 3.—Contrary to the general prediction there was a fine market to-day. A large number of farmers were in attendance with a greater variety than for some time, and there was a lively competition instituted, although the absence of buyers was noticeable. The morning was a lovely one, although cold, and the inducement to come to town was great. Wheat did not come in in quantities as was expected, yet there was a fair business done at a slight advance on yesterday's quotations. Fall Wheat was taken at $1.27 @ $1.29, yesterday's figures, while Spring advanced a [illegible] selling at $1.24 @ $1.25. Oats advanced to 31 cts. @ 32 cts., with an increased supply. Rye advanced to 75 cts., taken for shipment. A few lots of peas were offered, which were taken for shipment at 65 cts. Potatoes were more plentiful to-day, and a reduction of 5 cts. was the result, the demand being light. Turnips, 20 cts. per bag. Cabbages, 45 cts. @ 55 cts. per dozen. Fresh butter was plentiful to-day at 18 cts. @ 20 cts. Keg do., at 16 cts. @ 18 cts.; prime do., at 15 cts. @ 16 cts. Small quantities were brought in mostly in crocks and firkins. Eggs were more plentiful, and the price broke, returning to 15 cts. @ 16 cts. per doz. Beef was again abundant, far in excess of the demand, with a better price than heretofore, advancing to $3.50 @ $4.00 for the fore quarter and $4.50 @ $5.00 for the hind quarter. Mutton was in fair supply at 5 cts. @ 6 cts. per pound. Corn-beef sold at 7 cts. per pound. Pork made its appearance in larger quantities than for several days, with very little change in prices to note; cut pork, 5½ cts. @ 6 cts. per pound. Sausages sold at 10 cts. Lard at 9 cts. Chickens were in better supply at 20 cts. @ 30 cts. per pair. Turkeys were plenty, and sold at 50 cts. @ $1.00 each, according to size. Some very fine ones sold at 80 cts. Geese in good supply at 40 cts. @ 50 cts each. Hay was plentiful at $6.00 @ $6.50. Straw, @ $2.50 $3.00 per ton. Wood sold freely to-day at quotations. Hides advanced to $7.50. Wool mitts, hand-made, very fine, were sold at 35 cts. @ 40 per pair. Mr. Wm. Cavanagh, of Dummer, brought in 9,000 hand-made shingles, which he offered at $1.50 per thousand.

WINDOW-BOXES FOR FLOWERS.

There is no prettier way of growing flowers in summer or winter than in boxes attached to the outside or the inside of the windows; and, with a few trailing vines and creepers, mingled with some plants of fuchsias and geraniums and heliotropes, the effect is charming, whether the boxes are of elaborate manufacture, or are roughly nailed together and covered with oil-cloth, securely tacked on. Indeed, there are a variety of ways of making these boxes that are both cheap and pretty, and any ingenious boy or girl can make them.

Common white pine boards can be dove-tailed together finely, or a soap or starch box can be made to answer the purpose; and it can be covered with strips of virgin cork, or pieces of rough bark, by gluing them closely over the sides of the box, or birch boughs can be split in halves and sawed into sections to cover the box.

A strong shelf must be placed outside the window to hold the box; or brackets can be nailed to the house and the box nailed upon them.

Young ladies who can paint tiles can ornament window-boxes very effectively; or an oil-cloth patterned like tiles can be nailed on the box, and black walnut mouldings arranged at the top and bottom of the box and between the squares of the oil-cloth.

Select the sunniest window, with a south-eastern exposure, for sunshine is very needful for the beauty of your window-garden. Fill the box to the depth of two inches with charcoal, broken into fine bits and mingled with the dust; then fill it up to within an inch of the top with rich but mellow loam, for if it is not friable and sandy it will bake and crack under the influences of sunshine and shower. If you live in a city, and cannot obtain good soil at the florists for your boxes, take the soil from the streets, mixing with it at least one-half of animal ordure and a small quantity of coal-ashes. In such soil you can grow many plants luxuriantly; but they must be well showered every night, and if the weather is hot and dry, also in the morning, but before the sun strikes hotly upon them, for if plants are watered in the blazing sunshine it is an injury to them.

Foliage plants are always charming additions to these gardens, especially the crimson-leaved varieties of coleus and achyranthes, petunias and nasturtiums alone will make a good show. German and English ivies and Maderia vines will do well as climbers, and can be trained upon cords fastened to the box and house by nails. Between the larger plants, annuals—such as mignonette, sweet alyssum, lobelia, and pansies—can be planted, to fill up all the interstices, and make a tangle of sweet things which will perfume the air.

An excellent way to water such boxes is to use a small whisk-broom, first dipping it into a [illegible] of water and then shaking it over the plants. Sponges that have been used to [illegible] for the plants. If a little warm so much the better, as cold water fresh from the pipes is too cold for their roots to drink in healthfully.

Now is good time to plan and make the boxes for adorning the house in the spring.

Ten Years of Horrible Torture.—Mrs. Sarah Hanlon, of East 23rd street, New York, for ten years bore as patiently as she could, the agony of a leg swollen to four times its natural size, which was red and raw, and from which constantly oozed a blistering secretion. One week's application of Giles' Liniment Iodide Ammonia restored the hideous member to complete soundness.

Among the Luxuries of Life.

But a brief period has passed since when a month's time was necessary to accomplish a journey of few hundred miles and then we went lumbering over the rough country, highways on springless seats. Now the same journey is made in sumptuous drawing room cars, with all the comforts and many of the luxuries brought to us by servants. Once upon a time when we found it necessary to our health we set apart a brief period to "doctor up" and then came a struggle with that awful Castor Oil. Now we sip it from the bottle while we continue regularly at our vocations. But it is SCOTT & BOWNE'S PALATABLE CASTOR OIL we take. It is one of the luxuries of life that is afforded at 25 cents. w2d1-1m

A POSITIVE FACT.—Nervousness is the cause of feebleness, or the lack of stability of the nervous system, as distinguished from the rest of the body. It is pre-eminently a disease, and more widely spread through the Northern and Eastern part of the United States and the Dominion of Canada than in any other part of the world. We will not stop to say why this is the case, but we do emphatically say the Victoria [illegible] for all parties afflicted with Nervousness, Dyspepsia, Consumption, Defective Nutrition, General Debility, or weakness of the whole system, [illegible] of the nervous or vital energy, followed by a feeling of unusual comfort and strength. THE WEEKLY REVIEW FOR 1880.

TWENTY-EIGHTH YEAR.

AN ENTIRELY NEW FEATURE!

How to Obtain the Leading Papers and Save Money.

FAIR, SQUARE AND, RELIABLE OFFERS.

WITH the year 1880, the WEEKLY REVIEW will enter on its 28th year of publication. Notwithstanding the improvements which have been made upon it, and the ever increasing expenditure incurred to keep it AHEAD of any of its competitors, the annual subscription will remain as heretofore, only $1.50—postage paid by the publishers.

Splendid Clubbing Advantages.

The Proprietors of the REVIEW have great pleasure in announcing that they have made arrangements with the publishers of the following leading periodicals in Canada and the United States, by which they are enabled to club these periodicals with the WEEKLY REVIEW at remarkably low prices.

READ CAREFULLY.—Below are three columns of figures. The name of the paper or magazine is given, and the FIRST column gives the REGULAR PUBLISHER'S PRICE. The SECOND column gives the regular subscription price of the WEEKLY REVIEW. The THIRD column gives the price at which we are prepared to supply new subscribers with BOTH the paper or magazine and the WEEKLY REVIEW combined, for one year. It is certainly an object to save money these times, and it is easy to see by our Club List how it can be done.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

Music at the Theatre.

The Fire Brigade Band will perform several popular selections between the acts at the theatre to-night.

Curling and Skating Rink.

The ice at the rink still remains good and the Curling Rinks are in splendid condition. Should the weather remain favourable the skating rink will be flooded to-night for a new surface, and the outside rink will get a covering of water.

Runaway.

Last evening as Dr. Kincaid was approaching town from Otonabee, his horse became frightened and broke into a run while crossing the bridge. The cutter is said to have been badly smashed, while the Doctor, we are glad to say, escaped without injury.

Municipal Elections.

On Monday the polling will take place for Councillors for the several wards of the town. Wednesday is the polling day for Public School Trustees. We beg to remind our readers of the extreme importance of their making a good choice of those to whom will be confided such important trusts.

An Old-time Market Day.

The streets of Peterborough have presented a very pleasing view to-day. They have been full of country people moving from store to store seeking such things as they needed for home use, including many presents. This state of things was entirely unlooked for by the towns-people, who were not out in so large numbers as usual.

Mr. Vennor and the Weather.

The following letter from Mr. H. G. Vennor appears in the Montreal Witness:—

If the basis or theory upon which I have built my predictions this year is sound, we should now have immediately and with the commencement of the new year, [illegible] mild spell in the winter, lasting probably for about a week. During this period rains and slush may be expected. As previously stated, the second severe "dip" is probable about the 9th or 10th of January. I write at 8° below zero, but ere this appears in print the anticipated moderation may have begun.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district as reported from Toronto at 10 o'clock to-day are: brisk, south-easterly to south-westerly winds; cloudy, warmer weather with snow areas. Peterborough has experienced another change; the warm weather of yesterday being followed by a cold snap. The thermometer fell from 30° at 12 o'clock to 10° at midnight. There has been an easterly to southerly wind to-day, with the thermometer at 14° at 9 o'clock, rising to 27° at noon, with a prospect of rain or snow.

Colleen Bawn.

The Shaughraun Company will to-night perform at Bradburn's Theatre, Dion Boucicault's celebrated Irish drama, "The Colleen Bawn." The cast is a strong one, and this beautiful play is sure to be well represented. They have brought with them new and beautiful scenery, that of the water cave especially forming an appropriate frame for the thrilling scene. During the play some popular Irish ballads will be sung, and those who attend may expect a rich treat. This will be the last appearance here of this talented company prior to their departure for the West Indies.

Sabbath School Conference.

The Presbytery of Peterborough will hold a conference with Sabbath School Superintendents and Teachers within its bounds in St. Paul's Church, Peterborough, on Wednesday, January 21st, 1880.

PROGRAMME.

MORNING SESSION.—From 9 to 12 o'clock, "The preparation of the lesson at home." Discussion opened by the Rev. A. Bell. "The relation of the Sabbath School to the Session," Rev. D. Sutherland, M.A.

AFTERNOON SESSION.—From 2 to 5 o'clock, "Teachers' Meetings," Rev. J. Cameron, M.A. "The teaching of Presbyterian doctrine and Government in the Sabbath School," Rev. A. McFarlane.

EVENING SESSION.—From 7.30 to 10 o'clock, "How Parents may help the Sabbath School," Rev. W. Bennett. "The claims of baptized children upon the Church," Rev. F. R. Beattie, M.A.

Written questions upon the subjects of discussion, handed in at any session, will be answered at the close of the following one. Speakers opening the discussion of any subject will be limited to 15 minutes—other speakers to 5 minutes. The hospitality of friends in Peterborough enables the committee to invite the attendance of all engaged in Sabbath School work within the bounds of the Presbytery.

The Newspaper Carriers Supper.

The REVIEW Carrier Boys gave their twenty fifth annual supper to the employees of this office last evening at the Croft House. Several seats at the festive board were vacant owing to the absence of a number who found it impossible to be present. The proprietors were represented by Mr. Toker. Mr. Croft furnished a bountiful repast, the table being well provided with varied and enticing viands, including oysters raw, stewed, fried and roasted, all of which were served to the entire satisfaction of his guests. After partaking of the substantials, the pleasures of the evening were intermingled with songs and speeches. Mr. Toker offered a few words of encouragement and advice to the employees, thanked them for their faithfulness and zeal shown in the past, and urged them to a continuance of interest in the business of the firm as they would thereby be studying their own interests. Mr. Kelsey the local reporter, of the staff, addressed some serious words to the boys on their responsibility to the patrons of the REVIEW for the regular delivery of the papers, which were well appreciated. Several songs were sung by Mr. A. D. Browne, Master J. Menzies and others, and Mr. Frank Dobbin the "Mark Twain" of the office, kept the party amused with his jocular remarks and comicalities.

Theatrical.

Last night, according to announcement, the McDowell Company performed "Rosedale" at Bradburn's Theatre, and made a most favourable impression. The play is full of interest, and is well fitted to display the dramatic talents of this excellent company. Mrs. McDowell, as Rosa Leigh, charmed her audience as usual, and she was well supported by Miss Douglass, as Lady Florence May, Miss Vincent as Tabitha Stork, and by the other ladies taking part in the play. Little Miss Lennox, as the young heir, also deserved a special word of praise. Mr. McDowell as the gallant officer and lover, Elliott Gray, acted with great discrimination and finish. Mr. Ferd. Hight gave a very forcible representation of the ruffian of the piece, while Mr. Arnold well depicted the more polished villain, Colonel Cavendish May. The comical role of Squire Kobb in the hands of Mr. Waldron drew constant peals of laughter from the audience, so irresistably ludicrous were his gesticulations. The scenes in the "Gipsey's Dell," including the reception of the disguised officer, his discovery of the stolen child, and the culminating scene of the timely rescue by the troops, represented by some of the 57th Peterborough Rangers, were especially good. The scene between Rosa and her lover, when he is learning from her his decoy song, was admirable, and the ball, with its combination of graceful grouping and motion, and the comicalities of Squire Kobb with his dancing book, made a most effective finale.

THE WEEK OF PRAYER.

The following is the programme for the week of prayer:—

SUNDAY, Jan. 4.—Sermons on "The Fullness of Christ's Salvation."

MONDAY, Jan. 5.—At St. Andrew's Church, (Presbyterian.) Address by the Rev. M. Harper. Thanksgivings for the blessings of the past year, and prayer for their continuance.

TUESDAY, Jan. 6.—At Baptist Church. Address by Rev. Mr. Bell. Confession of sins and humiliation before God.

WEDNESDAY, Jan. 7.—At the George Street Methodist Church. Address by Rev. Mr. E. Roberts. Prayer for the Church of Christ, its ministers, its growth in grace, and its enlargement, and for revivals of religion throughout the country.

THURSDAY, Jan. 8th.—At St. Paul's Church, (Presbyterian.) Address by the Rev. Mr. Starr. Prayer for Christian education, for the family, and institutions of learning, for Sunday Schools and Christian associations.

FRIDAY, Jan. 9.—At the Bible Christian Church. Address by Rev. Mr. Muldhern. Prayer for nations, rulers, and people; for peace and religious liberty.

PORT HOPE.

THE BALTIMORE ELOPEMENT.—The Guide says:—It seems our information in some respects was incorrect in reference to Dr. Turner's paramour. The woman's name was Mulligan, wife of a well-to-do farmer living at Bowmanton, a smart, active, well-educated, good-looking dame, aged 47 years, without children. She went into Cobourg the day previous to her departure, and contracted debts in her husband's name of over a hundred dollars, in purchasing furs, &c., and started with the intention, she said, of visiting a cousin who lived at Fort Erie.

FINDING THE SHEARS.

Detroit Free Press.

Mrs. Major Wheelock, wife of the old pioneer, an eminently respected citizen of that name, leaned over the banister the other morning and answered him:

"The shears? Why, they are right down there somewhere. I was using them not five minutes ago."

The Major wanted them to trim off a horse blanket at the barn, and he marched into the sitting-room and up to the family work basket. Of course they were there. He tumbled a ball of yarn, a paper of pins, a half-made garment, a button-box, and a pin cushion on the floor, made a dive among bodkins, worsted, threads, and darning-needles, and the shears did not turn up. He stood the work-basket on its head, but it was no good. Then he went over to the what-not and raked off three or four photographs rattled down a lot of shells, and knocked off two books, but the shears were not there. He was red in the face as he went into the hall and called out:

"I can't find hide nor hair of 'em and I don't believe you ever had any!"

"Now, look again—that's a good man," she replied. "I know they are right there."

The Major got down on hands and knees and looked under the lounge. No shears. Then he stood up and looked on the mantel. The nearest approach to shears there was a bent hair-pin. Then he walked around and surveyed each window-sill and gave the work-basket another racket.

"I tell you there ain't no shears here, or else I'm blinder'n a bat!" he shouted from the hall after giving the hall-tree a looking over.

"Why, Major, how impatient you are!"

"There's no impatience about it! I tell you the shears ain't here! No one can ever find anything [illegible] straight [illegible]"

"If you don't see them in the bedroom I'll come down."

He entered the bedroom, glanced over the bureau and stand, pulling the shams off the pillows and [illegible] then back down [illegible] bottle from a [illegible] and looked into it. The shears were not in the bottle nor anywhere else. Stay! They might have been carried under the bed by that mysterious household tide which carries articles from room to room in an invisible manner. He crawled under, bumped his head on the slats, got dust in his throat, and was backing out with blood in his eye, when his wife called out:—

"Why, what on earth are you after?"

"After! After!" he shouted, as he almost coughed his head off. "I'm after them infernal shears."

"Why, here they are! They were lying in my sewing chair, right in plain sight."

"I don't believe it—I'll never believe it! I looked into that chair over ten thousand times."

"Well, there they are."

"It's no such thing! You've lost 'em or pawned 'em or traded 'em for gum. You've no more order in your house than an old cooper shop!"

He walked past the chair into the hall and was going out when she called:—

"Dear, aren't you going to take the shears?"

"Shears? What shears? I'm going over to to the store and buy me a pair of shears, and if any human being in this house ever puts a finger on 'em they'll suffer for it! I'll see if I can't have a pair of shears in my house after being married for upwards of 43 years!"

And he pulled down his hat and slammed the door with all his might as he went out.

THE CARROT-BASKET.—A very pretty hanging-basket can be made from four or five inches of the top, or crown part of a large carrot. The inner portion of this upper end of the carrot is to be removed with a knife, leaving a shell about half an inch thick. Three or four cords are fastened to the rim, and the basket is ready to hang up at a window. The cavity of the basket is to be kept filled with water, and care taken that it does not become dry. After a while the carrot will start into growth, and as the delicate, finally divided leaves appear, they will turn upward on all sides, and soon cover the little basket, with here and there the orange-color of the carrot showing through with good effect. Should the leaves need "training" to arrange them satisfactorily around the basket, it may be easily done by means of a thread passed around them, or a bent pin stuck into the carrot may be used to hold a leaf in place.

SPLITTING PAPER.—In selecting articles for a scrap-book, it sometimes occurs that one wishes to save the matter that is on both sides of the clipping. This may be done by splitting the paper. Place the paper under a piece of glass, so that it will be smooth, after which it is thoroughly soaked with water, when, with a little care, the upper surface of the paper can be entirely removed. The process is as much a matter of curiosity as utility.

A Good Account.

"To sum it up, six long years of bed-ridden sickness and suffering, costing $200 per year, total, $1,200—all of which was stopped by three bottles of Hop Bitters taken by my wife, who has done her own housework for a years since without the loss of a day, and I want everybody to know of it for their benefit."

d146-1y "JOHN WEEKS, Butler, N. Y."

Cut this Out—It May Save Your Life.

There is no person living but what suffers more or less with Lung Disease, Coughs, Colds or Consumption, yet some would die rather than pay 75 cents for a bottle of medicine that would cure them. Dr. A. Boschee's German Syrup has lately been introduced in this country from Germany, and its wonderous cures astonish every one that try it. If you doubt what we say in print, cut this out and take it to your Druggist, and get a sample bottle for 10 cents and try it, or a regular size for 75 cents. dw51-1y

MANHOOD:

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

WE have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

MYSTERIOUS DEATH.—Mr. Stephen Ellis was found dead in his barn yesterday. He went out in his usual health to perform some household duties, and a short time afterward was found as stated.

GODERICH.

Special to the Review, Jan. 5.

DAMAGE BY A FRESHET.—A severe rain storm on Saturday resulted in a heavy freshet on the Maitland river, which destroyed a large amount of mill and other property, including a number of cows, horses, and other animals. The loss is very large. The breakwater was defective, the mouth having become so narrow that there was not room for the ice and water to escape.

TORONTO.

Special to the Review, Jan. 5.

MUNICIPAL VOTING.—The municipal election is progressing quietly. The voting on the frontage tax local improvement and the Irish relief schemes, up to 1 o'clock, was strongly against them. The vote is open.

RECEIVER AND THIEF.—Thompson and Bennett, who were employed in Hay & Company's factory, were sent to the Central Prison to-day for four months for stealing furniture from their employers. Allen, a dealer, who purchased the property, received a similar sentence.

OTTAWA.

Special to the Review, Jan. 5.

A SAD CASE.—A young girl wearing the costume of a repentant of the Good Shepherds, applied at the Hull Police Station yesterday morning for relief. She gave her name as Davis, and said that she had neither friends nor relatives in Canada, and that she had run away from the Good Shepherds' home in Ottawa. The Police left her in the station, and on their return a few minutes after, they found her in an epileptic fit, which lasted nearly three hours. A doctor was called in who attended to her. In the evening she started for Aylmer, hoping to be taken into jail for the winter.

THE GRAND JUNCTION BY-LAW.—The Intelligencer says that by the failure of the Council to pass a by-law extending the time for the completion of the Grand Junction Railway, it may be that complications may be caused. We have hopes, however, that if the Council pass the by-law at its next meeting the Legislature, taking into account the delays which have occurred in the Council because of lack of a quorum on different occasions, will legalize the by-law and thus carry out the wishes of the ratepayers.

THE AFGHANISTAN WAR.

THE AFGHANS HANGED—PRETENDER CONTEMPLATING A COUP D'ETAT.

Attack on a Flying Tribe—Effect of General Roberts' Victory on Politics in England—The Russian Gold Find.

MURDERERS EXECUTED.

LONDON, Jan. 4.—By a cable error a correspondent at Cabul was made to say that the Afghans who had been sentenced to death by the Military Commission would be hanged on the 30th inst. It was intended to say they were hanged on December 30th. Among these was one of the murderers of Jenkyns, the Secretary of Major Cavagnari.

THE PRETENDER'S INTENTIONS.

A St. Petersburg despatch says Abdul Rahman Khan, the Afghan pretender, has arrived at Balkh and joined his friends. He will probably raise a force disciplined on the system of the Russian army. Otherwise his contemplated coup d'etat will fail.

ATTACKED BY A FRIENDLY TRIBE.

A Cabul telegram says the Wardok tribe when fleeing from Cabul were attacked by the Hazaras, who hold Ghurni, in the name of the British.

THE RUSSIAN GOLD.

A letter from St. Petersburg says it is presumed the Russian gold recently found at Cabul belonged to Abdul Rahman, the Afghan Pretender.

OBJECTS OF THE WAR.

A Calcutta despatch says the Viceroy, at a state banquet, said the New Year opened under happier auspices than the old one, but the soldier's work in Afghanistan could not be relaxed until the object sought had been completely attained. That object was not the acquisition of territory, but securing the future peace of India, and solid guarantees for good behaviour in India's Afghan neighbours.

FIFTY CAVALRYMEN KILLED.

A despatch from Cabul says there is much excitement in the neighborhood, as the Cabulese are besieged by the country people, who are murdering all stragglers, and have killed fifty cavalrymen, who were out on a foraging expedition. The Kohistan expedition has returned to Cabul after a fruitless mission. Gen. Roberts is short of ammunition.

THE FATE OF THE CONQUERED COUNTRY.

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—The London despatches say the [illegible] arising from Gen. Roberts' unexpected victory, grave political complications untouched. Every Government speaker denies that annexation is intended, but nobody offers a solution of the problem how British prestige can be maintained without a permanent military control over Afghanistan.

LONDON, Jan. 3.—Lord Salisbury has approved the arrangement between Sir Austin Layard and the Sultan. The papers of Koelor, the German Missionary, have been handed to Sir Austin Layard.

DESPOTIC GOVERNMENT AT ODESSA.

LONDON, Jan. 3.—General Todleben, the Governor of Odessa, has ordered all the inhabitants to hand over to the police their private and personal documents, passports, etc., for examination. Numerous arrests continue to be made.

MACLEAR'S DIAMONDS.

LONDON, Jan. 3.—Mr. John MacLear has exhibited his entire process for making diamonds and the results obtained by him are certainly marvellous. He expresses complete confidence in the success of his work, and many others are also equally confident.

THE TICHBORNE REVIVAL.

LONDON, Jan. 3.—The revival of the Tichborne case has attracted much attention, and Sir John Holker, the Attorney-General, has been almost universally blamed for granting a writ of error. The hearing is set down for an early day.

TERRIBLE EXPLOSION.

LONDON, Jan. 4.—A fearful calamity occurred at Doncaster to-day, causing the death of three persons and the destruction of a large amount of property. An explosion took place in a gunsmith's shop on one of the streets of the city. The cause of the explosion is unknown. There was supposed to be only a small amount of powder on the premises, but its force was so great that the proprietor of the shop, his wife, and a lady living next door, were killed. The shop was blown to fragments and many houses adjacent on each side of the street demolished.

PREPARING FOR WAR.

ATHENS, Jan. 4.—It is stated on high official authority that the Government of Greece is unwilling to appeal to the Powers for mediation on the pending difficulties between Greece and Turkey. The Government believes that it can best end these difficulties if left alone to fight out its own quarrel. The Turco-Greek diplomats are preparing for a rupture of the negotiations that have been so long in progress, and for a resort to arms.

REVOLUTION IN PERU.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—The Herald Panama correspondent telegraphs that Gen. Nicolas de Pierola was proclaimed Dictator of Peru on Dec. 23rd. The army of reserve at Lima and Callao and the navy accept his Government. He has promised to effect the salvation of Peru in the present crisis. His Cabinet is presided over by the distinguished jurist, Dr. Pedro Calderon. President Prado has fled. He arrived at Panama on the 27th. The Peruvian torpedo boat which sailed in November from Panama under Hawaiian colours has been captured by the Chilians.

ANTI-RENT MEETING.

LONDON, Jan. 5.—An anti-rent meeting was held at Claremore, County Galway, on Sunday. There were 3,000 present.

SERIOUS AFFRAY.

LONDON, Jan. 5.—A very serious affray occurred on Friday between the Royal Irish Constabulary and some peasants, of Galway. The police fired on the people, but nobody was injured. Galway county is in a very disturbed condition, and 200 extra policemen have been drafted there.

AN OFFICER'S PETITION.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 5.—Adjutant Baranoff, the Russian commander of the gunboat Vesta during the Russo-Turkish war, who was court-martialed and dismissed for insulting language in reference to the ministry of marine, has appealed against the judgment of the Court. It is said that the minister of Marine has presented a petition for remission of sentence, and his own resignation simultaneously.

ABYSSINIA AND EGYPT.

CAIRO, Jan. 5.—At his interview with the Khedive of Egypt mentioned on the 30th, Gordon Pasha said the King of Abyssinia hated and was hated by all who came in contact with him. Abyssinia, he said, was surrounded on all sides by discontented tribes and rulers. To the east-ward, King Menelek of Shoa was sullenly opposing King John, but was afraid to show overt hostility. To the south, Recondell was also in open rebellion. In other quarters six or more chiefs were in actual revolt. Placed in this position, Abyssinia could not attack Egypt. If the Khedive would supply the malcontent tribes with arms the second son of the late King Theodore would soon be placed on his father's throne. King John now regretted his exorbitant demands. Gordon Pasha stated that he should soon quit Egypt for good, and declared that it would be advantageous for the country that a ruler really interested in its welfare should directly control its affairs himself. The slave trade in the Soudan has entirely ceased.

THE TROOPS DISAFFECTED.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 5.—The punishment for carrying on a political propaganda among the troops has been increased in consequence of the recent disclosures showing the activity of the revolutionists in the army.

PROTECTING WOMEN AND CHILDREN.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Jan. 5.—Two mill companies were convicted on Saturday on the charge of violating the statute limiting the hours of work for women and children to 60 hours per week. They were each fined $50 and costs. These are the first convictions under the statute.

AN ANNEXATION SCHEME.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—The Herald's Washington despatch says that Whittlethorne, of Tennessee, believes that Grant's visit to Mexico is with the purpose of advancing a scheme for annexation, and that the plans were arranged at San Francisco, the headquarters of the filibustering element. He thinks that success in this direction would bring him a large and enthusiastic following throughout the Southern States, where the annexation question is very popular.

THE DUTY ON STEEL RAILS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—The Tribune's Washington report says that Chairman Wood declares the House will devote considerable time to the discussion of the tariff. A strong effort will be made to reduce the duty on steel rails.

SHAKESPEARE'S NEW POEM.

NEW YORK Jan. 5.—Henry Kiddle, whose recent publication of a book advocating spiritualism, was followed by his removal from the position of Superintendent of Public Schools, yesterday presided over a congregation of spiritualists. Kiddle delivered a long address, avowing his conversion, and read a long poem, claimed to have been written in the spirit world by Shakespeare, and dictated through a lady medium.

THE MAINE ELECTION.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—The Herald's Augusta despatch says: Eugene Hale, speaking of the decision of the judges said yesterday that there was no where an intimation that the Court acted in a partisan spirit. Speaking of the future policy of the Republicans he says that under this decision the twelve men from the five disfranchised cities must receive their certificates. They will appear to-day and demand them. The Republican representative elect from Farmington will be entitled to a certificate, and formally demand it to-day. The Republican representatives from Skowhegan, Webster, Ashland, Princeton, Fairfield, Searsport, Guildsboro and New Castle, who were counted out, must, when they make a demand to-day, receive their certificates. The Republican Senators thrown out will demand their rights and will insist on being here. Hale thinks the decision will afford the Governor an honorable retreat from his position.

FORGED SECURITIES.

The Herald says the statement that the Greenwich Bank loaned money on securities now proved to be forgeries, is warranted by the investigation. $75,000 of these securities had been deposited by Haigh, the wire contractor, and the discovery of the forgeries precipitated the bank's suspension. It is stated that the Chatham National Bank holds similar securities deposited by Haigh as collateral.

EXPLOSION OF SEWER GAS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—A terrific explosion of sewer gas last night shook several houses on Forty-second street. It blew off the covers of the man holes in five sewers, and hurled them to great distances. The elevated railway was shaken up, and the passengers were frightened, but no one was hurt.

A TERRIBLE FIRE.

Four Persons Burned to Death and others Injured—Vainly Imploring Aid.

By Telegraph to the Review.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—A fire broke out this morning in the Turner Hall, Fourth street, occupied by Wm. Winckle as a ball room. The building was owned by the Turner Society. The loss is $12,600. After the fire Wm. Gibb, aged 10, Louis Schmidt, aged 30, Henry Glwetler, aged 25, and Teresa Erhardt, aged 25, were found on the top floor, all dead. Winckle and his wife were badly burned and were sent to the hospital. Annie Bauer received internal injuries by jumping from a fourth storey window and was badly burned also. An unknown woman had both her legs broken by jumping from the top floor.

The fire was discovered about 5 this morning. It was known that Winckle, the proprietor, with his wife and employees, slept in the building, and before the heavy doors could be broken open, several of them appeared at the upper windows imploring help. Even after the doors had yielded, the unfortunate inmates could not be reached, as the flames swept up the broad and only stairway. The firemen went to the roof of an adjoining house, hoping to release the imperilled people by means of a scuttle, but there was no scuttle to the building in which they were confined. A hole had to be cut through the roof and by this means only they were reached. By this time 4 persons had been burned or suffocated to death. The fire burned out inside of the building and the firemen were forced to crawl through the smoke, in some instances on their hands and knees to recover the corpses that were found within.

The origin of the fire is unknown. It broke out in the restaurant in the lower floor, and swept up the broad stairway like a flash of lightning. During the night there had been a wedding celebration in the building, but the guests had all departed by 3 o'clock.

A Good Account.

"To sum it up, six long years of bed-ridden sickness and suffering, costing $200 per year, total, $1,200—all of which was stopped by three bottles of Hop Bitters taken by my wife, who has done her own housework for a year since without the loss of a day, and I want everybody to know of it for their benefit."

THOSE NEW BUILDINGS.

THE Examiner of last week is troubled about our having questioned the wisdom and economy of the proposal to spend a million dollars on Parliament buildings for the Legislative Assembly of this Province. We have not, as the Examiner says, questioned the propriety of erecting new buildings in toto; nay, we said we approved of the proposal to erect new ones in the University Park and to dispose of the present site, and did our contemporary not see things so much through Toronto spectacles, it would be able to distinguish between the two issues raised. Were we opposed to the erection of any kind of buildings, of course any amount of expenditure would be unnecessary in our estimation, but on the other hand, because we are in favor of the erection of new buildings, it does not follow that any amount of expenditure thereon must be economical. We have already stated that Mr. Mowat has not as yet made any announcement as to the amount he proposes to spend thereon, but both the Mail and the Globe did name a million as their probable cost, and we consider we were quite justified in entering our protest against the expenditure of any such sum for such a purpose, and we believe a majority of the Examiner's readers will endorse our view of the matter. But perhaps the most amusing and tell tale part of the Examiner's whole article is that portion of it which talks about the "munificent" gift of the site by Toronto. Is the Examiner so blinded with Toronto ideas as to have forgotten that this same park is part of the endowment of the Toronto University set apart in days of yore for the support of superior education. It is true that the city of Toronto obtained a lease of it at a nominal rent, for a certain period, and that all they have therefore done is to surrender a lease which the Legislature would be perfectly justified in cancelling at any time the interests of the Province might demand it—and yet this is the nature of the "gift" which the Examiner assures its readers will be the means of saving the Province "many thousands of dollars." In conclusion, we have only to observe with reference to the last paragraph of the Examiner's article, that it is a matter of just as much indifference to us what course the Mail takes on any question, as is that of the Globe. The REVIEW, unlike some of our country contemporaries that we wot of, is neither inspired by or filled with articles penned in close proximity to either the Mail or Globe offices. One thing is certain, however, and that is, if the proposed buildings do not cost a million of dollars, the Province will have neither the Globe or Mail, or their echoes in the provincial press to thank for it, but those who, like ourselves, have spoken out against such a proposition.

THE SPECIAL AUDITORS.

We publish to-day a letter from Mr. Hogan, not because we agree with it, but in accordance with our usual custom of favoring full and free discussion. As to the portion that relates to Mr. Teele, that gentleman is well able to defend himself. As to the reported blunders editorially announced in the REVIEW, we are surprised that, as they had "all been noticed by the auditors when examining the rolls," they allowed such blunders to remain in their report. When Mr. Hogan admits that "they did not consider it their duty to find out who had or who had not paid taxes, but to report the condition of the rolls as they found them," he gives the strongest possible testimony in favour of our contention that the report is utterly valueless from its inaccuracies. The public idea of their duty was for them to examine who had and who had not paid taxes, and the amount thus lost by the town. But apart from this, all the blunders of the auditors which we mentioned, with the exception of two, might have been avoided by an intelligent inspection of the rolls without going outside of them for information, even if they considered their duty to be thus limited.

IMPETUS TO TRADE.

In its review of the past year the Monetary Times says:—

"About the beginning of October a decided turn for the better began to be taken. This affected nearly every department of business. The great impetus given to trade in the United States by the immense production of that country, the excess of the exports over imports and vast accumulations of money have had a marked effect in the revival of the demand for lumber. During the whole of the fall months it was evident that a complete change for the better had taken place. The demand was good, prices was better, hopefulness prevailed where absolute stagnation had been the rule, and every man in the trade looked up and looked forward with confidence. The effects of the National Policy began to tell forcibly in the gradual rise of many articles of foreign production and in the very great development of manufacturing industry. What has been called the "boom" is an undoubted reality for the present, whether it last long or not. The rise in prices, however, is not perhaps mainly due to the working of our new system of duties. Its source is in England, where a turn in the tide of depression seems actually to have arrived. A great rise in iron is only the most potent sign of what undoubtedly will prove to be a general revival of business. The revival has already reached our timber trade. From the depths of depression that characterized the summer months there is already a considerable recovery."

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

VISIT OF THE MINISTERS TO THE TRENT AND MURRAY CANAL REGIONS.

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 2.—As mentioned in my despatch, Sir Leonard Tilley proceeded to Belleville on his way to Gananoque, and Sir Charles Tupper and Mr. Bowell to Campbellford, the latter being accompanied by Mr. Keeler, M.P., Mr. Hector Cameron, M.P., Senator Read, Mr. D. B. Robertson, Secretary of the Grand Junction Railway Company, and Mr. Luttrell, Superintendent of the road. The Ministers were met at the Windsor Hotel by the leading men of Campbellford, and under their direction visited the manufactories and the magnificent water power of the Trent river. The Trent woollen mills have commenced operations since the N.P., went into force. They possess a magnificent stone building, and employ at present forty-two hands on full time. Owing to the demand for their goods, so Mr. Senior, the superintendent, informed Sir Charles Tupper, it is their intention to double their capacity next summer. The machinery used is entirely Canadian, having been manufactured in Galt. The water power of the Trent at this point is perhaps the finest on the continent, and the inmates of Campbellford naturally expect, and doubtless their anticipations will be realized, that under the fostering care of the new policy they will soon witness a large increase in the number of manufactories in their fortunately situated town, which now has an outlet by the Grand Junction Railway.

The party then proceeded to Hastings, which is the terminus at present of the Grand Junction railway, and were met by a number of the leading men of the locality. The object of visiting this place was to afford the Minister of Railways an opportunity of seeing the works that were begun forty years ago in connection with Trent navigation. There are several locks at this point which are as sound as though built a year ago. Interesting facts and information were communicated to Sir Charles by those familiar with Trent navigation.

On its return to Belleville, the train left Hastings at 10.30 a.m. After a delay at Belleville, a special train on the Grand Trunk conveyed the Ministers to Trenton. From Belleville they were accompanied by the Mayor, Mr. Alex. Robertson, Mr. John White, M.P., and other prominent gentlemen. On the arrival of the train at Trenton, a large number of persons were in waiting to receive the visitors, and the band of the fire brigade was also in attendance. The Grand Trunk engine and cars were switched on to the track of the Prince Edward Railway, and a start made for the Carrying Place, where it is proposed to effect a junction of the waters of Lake Ontario with those of the Bay of Quinte. Three routes have been surveyed, each of which was examined by the Ministers. The distance to be overcome is something less than a mile. On the return to Trenton a procession was formed, and headed by the band the party proceeded to one of the public halls, which was soon filled by a large audience, composed largely of the prominent men of Trenton and the Townships of Sydney and Murray. The following address was presented to Sir Charles Tupper:—

To the Hon. Sir Charles Tupper, Minister of Railways and Canals:—

We, the undersigned inhabitants of Trenton and vicinity, welcome you to Trenton, and thank you for the deep interest you take in visiting a portion of the route of the Trent Valley and Murray Canals in our immediate vicinity.

The Trent Valley Canal scheme is an old one, and some forty years ago received the approval of the Government and country, and a large sum of money was appropriated for its construction. The work was commenced, and a large sum expended in building locks, dams, etc., on the Trent river. The trouble of 1837 in the country unhappily put a stop to the further progress of this work, and when the trouble subsided, public attention set in strongly in favour of the improvement of the river St. Lawrence, from which time the Trent Valley canal work has been suspended. The scheme is very dear to our hearts, believing, as we do, that the building of this canal will be not only of much benefit to the localities through which it passes, but also to the commerce of the Dominion generally.

[illegible] seems to have destined that the large portion of the great grain and other products of the great North-West should find its way to the sea-board by the waters of the Trent river, and when we think of the great boon this canal would be to the trade and commerce of this Dominion, the comparatively small sum required to complete so important a work, the great necessity for the work, and the lively interest you and your colleagues take in every subject calculated to benefit and bless the people, we have great hope that the Government of which you are a distinguished member will not only concede the desirability of this great work, but at no distant day undertake the construction of the Trent Valley Canal.

The Murray Canal, as it called, is much desired, and its construction will thereby render the Bay of Quinte one great harbour of refuge, thereby lessening in a great degree the record of wrecks and consequent destruction of life which unfortunately occurs every fall on the southern coast of Lake Ontario. So far back as 1796, a grant of some 6,000 acres of land was made for the purpose of its construction, which grant was afterwards repeatedly acknowledged and confirmed. These lands have been sold by the Government, and it is confidently believed the sum realized, with interest since accrued, will now suffice to complete this desirable work, while the construction of a canal connecting the waters of Lake Ontario with those of the Bay of Quinte would, in addition to the important commercial advantages bestowed to the trade and navigation of the country, afford important facilities for the safe transport of men and munitions in the time of war. The construction of this latter canal we hope to see at no distant day.

Again thanking you for your visit to Trenton and vicinity, we sincerely wish you a safe return to Ottawa, and that you may be spared many years of health and usefulness to the Dominion of Canada.

Sir CHARLES TUPPER in responding, spoke of the pleasure and instruction his visits afforded himself and his colleagues, the Minister of Finance and the Minister of Customs. When looking at the site of the proposed Murray Canal he wondered that the work had not been carried out long ago. The development of the North-West, and the consequent increase of the carrying trade of the country would choke all the outlets which now existed, and it was the duty of the Government to provide full facilities to meet the demands of the future. The two schemes to which the address had alluded he had no hesitation in saying commended themselves to the Government, and he could safely say that as soon as the finances of the country would warrant it, when an equilibrium had been established between revenue and expenditure, it would be his duty in the interest not of this locality alone, but in the interest of the carrying trade of the whole Dominion, to ask from Parliament permission and the means for prosecuting these great works. Sir Charles spoke for half an hour, and referred to the Canadian policy which the Government had inaugurated, and which was already working wonders for the country.

Mr. BOWELL pointed out that his colleagues had left Ottawa during the holiday season to see the objects in which they were so deeply interested. Speaking as a resident of this section, he congratulated them upon the interests which the Minister of Railways and Canals had shown in these great works. He went on to speak of the Government's policy in regard to the industries of the country, and the feeling of hope in the future which was now everywhere apparent.

Mr. Keeler, M.P.; Mr. White, M.P.; Mr. Robertson, Mayor of Belleville; Mr. Francis, Reeve of Trenton; Mr. Murphy, and other local gentlemen followed in short speeches.

Sir Charles Tupper remained in Trenton, the guest of Mr. R. D. Murphy. Mr. Bowell returned to Belleville. Both gentlemen return to Ottawa immediately.

GUSTAVE DORE is at present engaged in illustrating Shakespeare. He is so completely absorbed in the study of the great poet that he can think and talk of nothing else but Shakespeare, and is putting forth his whole artistic power in the endeavor to interpret him in a worthy manner.

IN the course of a few days, about three thousand salmon, frozen by an artificial process, made their appearance on the quays of the Thames. On reaching the London market they were in admirable condition, costing not more than a third of those coming from Holland.

Canadian Dairy Produce.

The success of Canadian exhibitors at the recent International Dairy Fair in New York, is something to be proud of, and should stimulate our dairymen to renewed effort. Professor Willard, in an address at the gathering of the American Agricultural Association said "The turn in the fall trade will undoubtedly stimulate the extension of business in new districts, especially in Canada, which has become a formidable competitor for English trade. The real prosperity of the American dairymen is not promoted by high prices. Low prices mean a reduction of make in England, and an outlet for increased exportation from America. American cheese makers have made some mistakes in devoting all their energies to one style of product, and in looking forward too exclusively to a foreign market. The home market is the best in the world, if properly supplied with a variety of goods."

The Hottest Spot on Earth.

One of the hottest regions on the earth is along the Persian Gulf, where little or no rain falls. At Bahrin the arid shore has no fresh water, yet a comparatively numerous population contrive to live there, thanks to the copious springs which break forth from the bottom of the sea, the fresh water is got by diving. The diver, sitting in his boat, winds a great goatskin bag around his left arm, the hand grasping its mouth; then takes in his right hand a heavy stone to which is attached a strong line, and thus equipped he plunges in and quickly reaches the bottom. Instantly opening the bag over the strong jet of fresh water, he springs up the ascending current, at the same time closing the bag, and is helped aboard. The stone is then hauled up, and the diver after taking breath, plunges again. The source of the copious submarine springs is thought to be in the green hills of Oman, some five or six hundred miles distant.

Antidote to Poison Ivy.

Dr. J. M. Ward, in the Medical Record, makes another addition to the already extensive list of remedies for poisoning by Rhus radicans, or "poison ivy." He recommends the profession to use, in all cases of poisoning by this plant, Labarraque,s solution of chloride of soda. "The acid poison," he remarks, "requires an alkaline antidote, and this solution meets the indication fully. When the skin is unbroken it may be used clear three or four times a day; or in other cases diluted with from three to six parts of water. After giving this remedy a trial, no one will be disposed to try anything else. It is one of the most valuable external agents known to the profession, yet seldom appreciated and but rarely employed. It will sustain its reputation as a local application in erysipelas, burns and scalds."

Remedy for Hard Times.

Stop spending so much on fine clothes, rich food and style. Buy good, healthy food, cheaper and better clothing; get more real and substantial things of life every way and especially stop the foolish habit of running after expensive and quack doctors or using so much of the vile humbug medicine that does you only harm, and makes the proprietors rich, but put your trust in the greatest of all simple, pure remedies, Hop Bitters, that cures always at a trifling cost, and you will see better times and good health. Try it once. Read it in another column. d146-1y

Harper's Young People

ILLUSTRATED.

The evils of sensational literature for the young are well known, and the want of an antidote has long been felt. This is supplied by Harper's Young People, a beautifully illustrated weekly journal, which is equally devoid of the objectionable features of sensational juvenile literature and of that moralizing tone which repels the youthful reader.

The Volumes of the Young People begin with the first Number, published in November of each year. When no time is mentioned, it will be understood that the subscriber wishes to commence with the Number next after the receipt of order.

MANHOOD:

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

WE have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife: pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

WHICH IS IT?

I will take the liberty to send another poetical curiosity. Read as written and it gives one view of a certain matter. Read alternate lines, that is, first and third, and second and fourth and thus to the end; this gives another view:—

The man must lead a happy life
Who is directed by his wife;
Who's free from matrimonial chains,
Is sure to suffer for his pains.

Adam (we read) could find no peace,
Until he saw a woman's face;
When Eve was given for a mate,
Adam was in a happy state.

In all the female hearts appear
Truth, darling of a heart sincere
Hypocrisy, deceit and pride,
Ne'er known in woman to reside.

What tongue is able to unfold
The worth in woman we behold?
The falsehood that in women dwell
Is almost imperceptible.

Fooled be the foolish man, I say,
Who will not yield to woman's sway;
Who changes from his singleness,
Is sure of perfect blessedness.

FOREVER!—A STORY OF THE HEART.

BY THE LATE HARRY HAREWOOD LEECH.

"Promise!"

"I do solemnly,"

"Forever?" continued the solemn, broken voice.

"Forever." echoed the weeping maiden by the bedside.

The wasted hands were raised over the heads of the kneeling figures; the pale lips of the dying woman parted, the tongue tried to utter a blessing; but all brightness faded from the eyes. The woman was dead.

The young girls knelt at the bedside. Constance Owen was the name of one, with sallow skin and large brown eyes, and Edith Ormond, she was called, with ringlets of gold floating around her fair neck, and whose head was leaning upon the shoulders of Constance, who had promised the dying woman to be a sister, protector—mother even—to the fair maiden at her side.

The strong, faithful, homely girl called Constance was an adopted daughter of the dead lady—one of those waifs of the street, whose only hope of life is in the charity of some tender-hearted stranger. She, however, repaid her protector by a love and regard as filial as that of her own daughter, and when upon her death-bed Mrs. Ormond bade Constance Owen make her the solemn promise recorded, the brave girl not only did not falter, but whispered once more to the stricken girl at her side:

"Yes, Edith, for the sake of the love your dear mother gave to the orphan will I love you better than myself for ever." * * * * *

Two years passed—two years since Edith the beautiful and Constance the brave had lost their best early friend. The former had grown more lovely even than the promise of the dawn of her radiant maidenhood; the latter more homely, larger featured, in the face, but with two years an added dignity of mien, a more intelligent light in the quiet, tender brown eyes, and force of character better defined in every movement. There came many suitors to Bonnybrook—so the little country-seat belonging to Edith was called—but, so far, the little coquette did not pay much heed to any of them. She was chasing the butterflies of fancy around the Garden of Eden—first youth. But at length her beauty, grace and perhaps high social position, brought one day to the gates of Bonnybrook one Dr. Paulding, a superior and rising young physician, who lived in the city close by, and when he had found his way to that pleasant country nook, somehow he discovered patients in that vicinity very frequently. Was it Edith's fair face that made him take that blooming highway so often?

He was indeed fascinated by her bright, girlish beauty, and one evening after he had been wandering in the gardens, under the moon, soft pleasant words must have been spoken, for after he had gone, Edith, with a flushed face, dashed into the room where Constance was awaiting her and throwing her arms around her, said in a happy, trembling voice:

"O! darling, I am so happy. He has told me he loved me."

Constance spoke not a word; Edith was held a moment to the beating heart, a soft kiss touched her forehead, and the next moment she was alone.

"He loves me! He loves me!" And Edith looked out over the gardens from which the dews of night were distilling all their odors; she gazed at the round, beautiful moon, and peopled the shadows with the image of the man who had first stirred her young life with the divine music of love.

A month after the pleasant confession had been made, Edith was called to the mountains of Vermont to attend a dying aunt, the only sister of her dear mother, and she had to proceed alone, as Bonnybrook would have lacked a guardian if Constance had accompanied her—Dr. Paulding's duties utterly denying him that pleasure.

Constance was engrossed in her home duties and saw but little society, save a few rustic neighbors, who only recommended themselves by their goodness of heart, and certainly not by the brilliancy of their wit or understanding. Once in a while Dr. Paulding would ride out to Bonnybrook, as Constance told him, "from the force of old habit," but soon it seemed that the man of medicine and science did not carry on the conversation with the old ease, grace and spirit. What had come between Constance Owen and himself? Something inexplicable. The noble woman found a strange, rare pleasure in the society of the gifted man; the scholarly man a sympathy with the large-hearted, intellectual woman which he had never known or experienced in any of her sex. "True," he said to himself, "she is not beautiful; indeed, measured by the rules of beauty, she is positively ugly. But who can gauge the charms of a melodious voice, or define the tenderness of an honest, kindly eye?"

And she, too, mused in this wise: "This Dr. Charles Paulding is a marvellously gifted man. What powers of language, what treasures of imagination he possesses! What a noble career he has before him; and Edith"—here she would pause and think of that clinging tendril, not as helping the growth of the oak, but as drawing from its strength. Yet from all such thoughts as these her staunch and loyal heart would resolutely turn away—yet for all this her speech would not come as "trippingly on the tongue" as in the old days, and he would oftentimes finish a sentence in the middle of it, and then lose himself in vague glances at the ceiling or out into the gardens.

Oh, it was a dangerous time for both of these awakening hearts. But they glided on this treacherous stream and seemed only conscious that the hours were sweet and that the sun shone on the waves. There was no thought of disloyalty in either heart. He was above all a man of honour, and she of all else a loyal woman. Yet how hearts delude themselves. In the very pride of his strength Samson was shorn of his locks.

One quiet evening in July, Dr. Paulding had taken tea at Bonnybrook, and Constance—his "hostess" only, she called herself—strolled down to the gate with him. His impatient horse was biting the rough old hitching-post and throwing up clouds of dust with his fore feet. He had been kept there four hours, and he seemed more eager than his master to leave Bonnybrook behind him. The doctor idly plucked some heliotropes as they strolled down the rose-bordered paths, and mingled with the flowers some dainty mignonette and a pale bud or two of the tea rose. At last he placed the bouquet in her hands and said dreamily:

"Read the emblems, Constance—you who are a priestess in Flora's beautiful temple."

She quickly looked over them."

"Ah," she said, "you choose well, Sir Botanist. Here you have 'beauty in retirement,' 'constancy'—that is good—and 'I am not a summer friend'—that is better than all. But you flatter with your flowers nevertheless."

"Not you," he replied eagerly, almost tenderly, and in a voice that somewhat frightened her.

She replied almost coldly—although her heart was strangely beating and a warm, unusual color was in her face:—"My best friends will tell you, doctor, that I am ugly and commonplace. Believe them, I beg of you, and do not let your imagination invest me with any charms."

He seemed all at once to be carried away by his passion. He leaned over her and replied, warmly:—"I say you are beautiful, Constance Owen. I feel your beauty in my very soul." But he said no more.

The face of Constance was a study; the flush that before had crimsoned her cheeks had died out, and she became ghostly pale. Her fingers, which had clasped the flowers slowly opened and they dropped to the ground at her feet. All at once the vision of the dead woman seemed to present itself to her mind, and the trust she was violating struck cold to her heart. Was this the "Forever" she had spoken? She staggered and would have fallen; the arms of Dr. Paulding were about her, but she waved him away in a moment with such a piteous, despairing gesture that he obeyed her without a word. She only had strength to falter:—

'Go—and remember Edith'—and she staggered back towards the house, leaving him standing there, bent and trembling.

She stood for hours white and motionless, looking out at the sunset and the gathering gloom of evening, with wild thoughts chasing themselves through her brain and a dumb, aching pain in her heart; every hope trailing in the dust, like those sweet flowers he had given her. She laid her head after a while upon her hands, upon the window casement of her room, and wept softly through the long, long, hours, until she heard the village bell strike the hour of midnight. She had prayed and wrestled with her grief and agony, and rose up at length quiet and calm. She had yielded to duty and her promise to the dead.

Somehow Constance Owen seemed to grow prettier as the months passed by; there was some refining change which was softening her rugged features and rounding every line in her stately form. The summer and autumn had flown, and still Edith Ormond had not returned to Bonnybrook. Her aunt had died, and letters came from time to time saying that ere long she would be home, yet she came not. Could she suspect the disloyalty of her lover.

It was late in the fall, when the woods had put on their pomp of glory, and the chill winds sent the fallen leaves through the valleys near Bonnybrook, when Dr. Paulding rode up to the house and asked for Constance. She had only received him twice before since the summer evening, and had then contrived by womanly tact not to be alone with him—although she no longer doubted her strength. Constance, on this occasion, received her guest alone; there seemed a strange embarrassment in his manner. After the first greeting was over, he said:

"Constance, I have much to say to you to-day. Do you think you can listen to me calmly?"

"Yes," she replied. "If it is upon a subject on which you should speak—and" she added tremblingly—"to which I should listen."

"Both," he said. "When first I saw Edith Ormond I was captived by her beauty and girlish graces; I thought I loved her."

Constance would have stopped him by a gesture but he begged her to listen—"for you can do so now," he said, "in all honor and reason."

"I had never had my heart stirred by the full knowledge of love, however, until I knew you and discovered the breadth of your sympathies and the womanliness of your character. I never respected you more than when you rejected me, knowing I was the engaged husband of Edith. But fate has been kind to us both." His voice was trembling with emotion. "Read the last part of this letter."

He handed a folded paper to Constance, who took it as one in a dream.

"From Edith?" she said.

"Yes."

"So you see, dear Dr. Paulding, it is better I should tell you now that I have met one here—my cousin Ray—whom I feel that I love better than anybody in the world. I have promised to be his wife and I am sure you will forgive me, for you are so noble and grand and all that, and I should feel, I know, that I never could fill worthily the exalted sphere of Dr. Paulding's wife—"

Constance could read no more; a mist gathered over her eyes, but this time a strong arm was about her and a voice, deep and melodious, whispered to her: "Dearest Constance, will you be mine at last?" Their lips met for the first time in one long kiss of love, and her answer was: "Yes, thine—Forever!"

IRELAND.

The Shannon drainage works are to be commenced shortly.

The Empress of Austria has intimated her intention of visiting Ireland next spring for the hunting season.

Commander Cheyne has succeeded in forming influential committees in Ireland to assist in starting the new Arctic Expedition.

Mr. Reginald Digby, of Geashel Castle, King's county, agent for Lord Digby's large estates, has received an anonymous letter warning him, as he values his life, not to press the tenantry who are unable to pay their rents.

On Dec. 7th, two young lads, named Walsh and Edwards, were drowned at the Bannfoot, through the giving way of the ice. The river Bann was crowded with skaters.

It is stated that the Earl of Portsmouth has granted the Enniscorthy Building Society sites for the erection of laborers' dwellings at one penny a foot, and given a lease for 999 years, but declines to take any shares in the society, or render any pecuniary assistance.

Distress amounting to actual starvation, prevails amongst a large class of cottiers who live by fishing on the west cost of Sligo. The poor-law guardians consider the proffered loans are not properly available. Sir Henry Gore Booth is urging on the Government to commence public works in the district.

The Gait.

One may judge of the spirits and disposition of a man by his ordinary gait and mien in walking. He who habitually pursues abstract thought looks down on the ground. He who is accustomed to sudden impulses, or is trying to seize upon some necessary recollection, looks up with a kind of jerk. He who is a steady, cautious, merely practical man walks on deliberately, his eyes straight before him, and even in his most musing moods observes things around sufficiently to avoid a porter's knot or a butcher's tray. But the man with strong ganglions—of pushing, lively temperament, who though practical is yet speculative—the man who is emulous and active, and ever trying to rise in life—sanguine, alert, bold—walks with a spring, looks rather above the heads of his fellow-passengers, but with a quick, easy turn of his eyes, which is lightly set on his shoulders; his mouth is a little open; his eye is bright; rather restless, but penetrative; his port has something of defiance; his form is erect, but without stiffness.

"Teaberry," the new powder for whitening the teeth, stimulating the mouth and purifying the breath; the brightest, neatest, coolest little toilet gem extant. Ask your druggist for "Teaberry." Price 35 cents. dw31-1y

TO THE LADIES OF PETERBOROUGH.

PETERBOROUGH, JANUARY 1st, 1880.

We have much pleasure in intimating that we have accepted the agency for the sale of Messrs. E. Butterick & Co's Celebrated Paper Patterns.

In making this announcement to our numerous friends, we consider it but just that we should acquaint them with the inducements which have prompted us to become the representatives of this well known firm.

It has ever been our aim to provide our Patrons with the BEST GOODS at the least possible price. In view of this fact you will understand how absolutely necessary it becomes for us to procure not only the CHEAPEST articles in point of intrinsic value, but in addition we profess to offer only such goods as will command sale from their actual MERITS.

Under this conviction we ask you to accept the sample number of the Magazine, which can be had at our store free of charge, and simply request from you a careful perusal of its contents. The benefits which this publication offers to the Ladies of Peterborough and the surrounding country are as apparent as to render needless any enumeration. The popularity which these goods have obtained since their introduction is sufficient evidence of their usefulness; every lady can with their assistance become not only her own Dress-maker, but also superintend and direct the manufacture of every article of ladies' and childrens' wearing apparel required in the family.

With reference to the Patterns of Messrs. Butterick, we are fully convinced they are without exception THE BEST GOODS OF THEIR KIND. We show a great variety of styles, a larger number of Patterns, and more sizes to each Pattern than any other House. Entirely new designs are issued each month. Special attention is given to CHILDREN'S GARMENTS, each Pattern is cut with a view to economize as much as possible the material from which the garment is made.

We are authorized to guarantee a PFRFECT FIT with every Pattern, Provided proper sizes are used and directions followed.

We can supply any Pattern in any size made. Our Country friends can rely upon receiving Patterns ordered by the first return post.

Antidote to Poison.—If a person swallows any poison whatever, or has fallen into convulsions from having overloaded the stomach, an instantaneous remedy, most efficient and applicable in a large number of cases, is a heaping teaspoonful of common salt, and as much ground mustard, stirred rapidly in a teacupful of water warm or cold, and swallowed instantly. It is scarcely down before it begins to come up, bringing with it the remaining contents of the stomach, and lest there be any remnant of the poison, however small, let the white of an egg or a teaspoonful of strong coffee be swallowed as soon as the stomach is quiet, because these very common articles nullify a large number of virulent poisons.

Among the Luxuries of Life.

But a brief period has passed since when a month's time was necessary to accomplish a journey of few hundred miles and then we went lumbering over the rough country, highways on springless seats. Now the same journey is made in sumptuous drawing room cars, with all the comforts and many of the luxuries brought to us by servants. Once upon a time when we found it necessary to our health we set apart a brief period to "doctor up" and then came a struggle with that awful Castor Oil. Now we sip it from the bottle while we continue regularly at our vocations. But it is Scott & Bowne's Palatable Castor Oil we take. It is one of the luxuries of life that is afforded at 25 cents. w2d1-1m

A Positive Fact.—Nervousness is the cause of feebleness, or the lack of stability of the nervous system, as distinguished from the rest of the body. It is pre-eminently a disease, and more widely spread through the Northern and Eastern part of the United States and the Dominion of Canada than in any other part of the world. We will not stop to say why this is the case, but we do emphatically say the Victoria Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites will be found an invaluable medicine for all parties afflicted with Nervousness, Dyspepsia, Consumption, Defective Nutrition, General Debility, or weakness of the whole system. One of the first effects is an increase of the nervous or vital energy, followed by a feeling of unusual comfort and strength. For sale by all dealers. [illegible]

Hagyard's Yellow Oil is one of the surest remedies in the world for the cure of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Spinal and Bronchial Complaints, Deafness, Ear-Ache, Cramps, Sprains, Bruises, Galls, Stiff Joints, Swelled Hands, Sore Nipples, Stiff Neck, Chilblains, Tetter, Frost Bites, Chapped Hands, Wounds, Cuts, Sore Throat, Stings of Insects, Shortness of Breath, or any Disease that are painful or sore. We have no hesitation in recommending it for any of the above complaints, and believe it the quickest and most perfect combination known to remove pain from almost any cause, and can be used either internally or externally. For particulars see wrapper accompanying each bottle. For sale by all dealers, price 25 cts. w1d150-2w

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, JANUARY 5, 1880.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

School Board Election.

The poll for the new Public School Trustees will be open on Wednesday morning.

I. O. G. T.

The meeting of Peterborough Lodge, No. 340, I.O.G.T., this evening will be unusually interesting, and every member should attend. Good Templars are invited to be present.

New Post Offices.

Saturday's Canada Gazette contains the names of two new post offices opened in this county, both being in the township of Monmouth, viz.: at Hotspur, Postmaster, Thos. Clarke; and at Wilberforce, Postmaster, Wm. Riley.

Pushing Along.

Mr. F. E. Burnham's name appears as solicitor for the applicants to two notices in the Gazette of applications for acts authorising the construction of a bridge across the Red River at Emerson, and of a railway from Emerson to Souris River, N.W.T.

A Liberal Gift.

Procter's Revellers intend devoting the proceeds of their performance on Saturday, after paying the expenses of the evening, to assist the poor of Peterborough. With this view they will hand over to the Mayor the net proceeds of the evening.

Schools Opening.

The public schools were opened to-day, when most of the children resumed their studies. It is to be hoped they have determined upon renewed zeal in their various studies. The Collegiate Institute school will be re-opened on Wednesday.

The New Fire Brigade.

The Firemen are reminded that there will be a meeting to-morrow evening, for the enrollment and completion of the organization of the new volunteer fire brigade. It is important that all who are to take part in the new organization, should be present promptly at half-past seven o'clock.

Runaway.

This morning as a lad was driving Mrs. Alex. Smith's team down George Street, with several children in the cutter, they became unmanageable, and started upon a run. They were finally caught by Mr. Geo. Davis at the corner of Hunter Street, and were calmed down. No damage was done. The little fellow did all he could, but the horses were too much for his light weight.

The Week of Prayer.

We would remind our readers that the services for this evening, in connection with the week of prayer, will be held in St. Andrews' Presbyterian Church. An address will be delivered by Rev. E. B. Harper, and the special subject will be—"Thanksgiving for blessings of the past year, and prayer for their continuance." All are invited.

The Japanese.

If you wish to secure a seat to the Japanese entertainment on Wednesday or Thursday evenings, you will have to be early, as they are being taken up rapidly. Everybody is talking about them, and crowded houses may be expected. There will be a matinee on Thursday afternoon, giving opportunity to the children to see these wonderful people. Read their advertisement in another column of the REVIEW.

Cheap Bran and Mill Feed.

Mr. Geo. C. Rogers, Otonabee Mills, has on hand a large quantity of bran which he is offering at a greatly reduced price. All other mill feed in abundance at low prices. Flour, oatmeal, cornmeal, pot barley, buckwheat, etc., cheap, and delivered free to all parts of the town. Now is the time to secure a supply at exceedingly low figures for cash. Wheat and oats gristed or exchanged, and cash paid for oats, wheat, &c.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district as reported from Toronto at 10 o'clock to-day are: Fresh easterly to southerly winds; partly cloudy, mild weather. Peterborough has experienced several changes of late. On Saturday the wind was easterly to south-easterly, with snow, moderating to rain in the evening with a warm atmosphere on Sunday, carrying off a large quantity of snow, but not destroying the sleighing. Last night was again cold. This morning at 8 o'clock the thermometer indicated 20°, and at noon 27°; wind east and a clear sky.

A Team of Horses and the Cars.

On Saturday as Mr. Vance, of Cavan, was returning home, he encountered the moving cars at the corner of Simcoe Street, and believing he could manage his team he drove up along side; but he had counted without his host. The team imagined they could annihilate the cars, and went for them. But steam proved too much for the team, which was landed upon the sidewalk. No damage is known to have been sustained by the team or the owner. Mr. Vance has become satisfied that a team of spirited horses are better off at a distance from a train of cars while in motion.

A Leap Year Suggestion.

Chambers' Journal contains the following timely hint for the present year:—

If ladies sin against propriety in taking the initiative, they can hardly be blamed for bringing a shilly-shallying or over-bashful lover to the point when a good opportunity presents itself. Such an opportunity sufficed to end what has been a somewhat tedious courtship. The young man paying his usual evening visit, asked his lady love how she got along with her cooking. "Nicely," replied she; I'm improving wonderfully, and make splendid cake now. "Can you?" said the young fellow, ignorantly rushing on his fate. "What kind do you like best?" "I like one made with flour and sugar, with lots of raisins, currants, and citron, and beautifully frosted on the top," responded she. "Why, that's a wedding cake!" cried he. "I meant wedding," said she; and there was nothing left for him but to say he meant wedding too.

The Election.

The election was progressing quietly at noon to-day. There was little interest manifested at any of the polling places. In the First Ward where so many candidates were to be voted for, it was remarkably quiet at 11 o'clock. It was reported that Mr. McDonald had requested his name to be dropped from the list. There were many persons who were sure that McNaughton in place of Butler would be the only change in this ward. The Second Ward was also very quiet, little canvassing being done by any of the candidates. In this ward the names of Smith, Dunsford and Paterson were most prominent. The Third Ward at 11 o'clock had polled about 40 votes, with the impression that Douglass, Yelland and Toole would be the successful candidates. In the Fourth Ward only Mr. Sawers seemed to be canvassing. He had two teams moving in a lively manner after voters. The other candidates were seemingly indifferent as to the result. At 11 o'clock 25 votes had been polled.

DISTRESS IN IRELAND.

Meeting to Take Steps for the Relief of the Distressed Poor in Ireland.

Immediately after mass in St. Peter's Church on Sunday, Jan. 4, 1880, a meeting was called for the purpose of considering the best means to devise obtaining relief for the distressed poor in Ireland. During mass on Sunday the Rev. Father Lynch said that he had been considering for some time past the best means to devise to obtain relief for the distressed poor in Ireland. He said it was a matter of interest to every Irishman, both Protestant and Catholic alike. He would therefore request the male portion of the congregation to remain after mass and call a meeting.

On motion Dr. J. O'Sullivan was called to the chair, and Mr. Thos. Kelly requested to act as Secretary.

The CHAIRMAN briefly stated the purpose for which the meeting was called, and pointed out the wide-spread destitution that existed in Ireland, and the interest taken in Montreal, Toronto and other places for the relief of the distressed poor of that unfortunate country.

The REV. FATHER LYNCH, addressing the Chairman, said that he would be only too glad to co-operate in any plan that might be adopted to raise funds for the relief of the poor in Ireland.

Messrs. Hogan, John Moloney, T. Dolan, J. Dolan, Hackett, Cahill, Delaney, Garvey, Shirley, Doherty, Morrow, and other gentlemen spoke, expressing sympathy for the poor in Ireland.

Moved by Mr. THOS. SHIRLEY, seconded by Mr. JOHN CORKERY,—That a Committee be appointed to wait on the Mayor and request him to call a public meeting for the purpose of devising a means for the relief of the distressed poor in Ireland.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. THOS. CAHILL, seconded by Mr. C. MCGRATH,—That Mr. Jas. Dolan and Mr. James Hogan be appointed to request the Mayor to call a public meeting at as early a date as possible.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. JAS. DOLAN, seconded by Mr. JOHN MOLONEY,—That this meeting adjourn in order to await the action of the Mayor and citizens.—Carried.

The meeting then adjourned.

MR. TOOLE'S LETTER.

To the Editor of the Review:

SIR,—I noticed in the REVIEW of the 29th of Dec. a letter appearing over the name of Mr. Wm. Toole, in which it is charged that the recent special audit was dishonestly made, and as he intimates with a view to injure his popularity at the present time. To this seemingly presumptious and very incorrect statement, I feel it my duty as a member of that commission, and for the information of the ratepayers of the town generally, to give a most dignified denial. In that portion of the report referring to the settlements during the several years between the Collector and Treasurer, the statements given are exact copies from the accounts fyled in the Treasurer's office, and can be seen on application.

Now, Mr. Editor, such being the case, and if Mr. Toole's name appears in these settlements as having passed a due-bill in lieu of cash for taxes in any year, and that the same is entered as such, I fail to see why he should attack the reputation of any person and try to injure them for what must have been an act of his own. With reference to the reported blunders which are officially announced in the same letter of the REVIEW, I find on examination that they have all been noticed by the auditors when examining the Rolls, but they did not consider it their duty to find out who had or who had not paid taxes, but report the condition of the Rolls as they found them. I might here also state in connection with Mr. John Elder's taxes, that it is only on the Cash Book of Mr. Elder that his taxes are entered as paid in full by cheque for the year referred to in the report, and it is a very great satisfaction for the auditors to know, however incompetent they appear, that they were appointed to examine the town Rolls, and not the accounts of Mr. Elder. It is, Mr. Editor, with very great reluctance that I am forced to reply, but am compelled to do so from a sense of duty to the public, as well as in defence of my own reputation.

I am, respectfully yours,
JAMES HOGAN.

REVIEWS.

GOVERNMENT IN CANADA.—D. A. O'Sullivan, M.A., Barrister-at-law, has written a work entitled "A Manual of Government in Canada, or the Principles and Institutions of our Federal and Provincial Constitutions," the publishers being J. C. Stuart & Co., of Toronto. Mr. O'Sullivan only claims to have written the work for the use of students, but it will undoubtedly be found of use by others, its usefulness as a book of reference being greatly facilitated by a very full table of contents and index, which are too often neglected. In forty-one chapters, Mr. O'Sullivan treats of the history of our constitution, of its present development, and in detail of the legislative, administrative, and judicial officers of our Dominion and its various Provinces. Among other things he clearly points out the differences between our system of government and those of the mother country and the United States. Similarly he shows the distinctions between the powers of the Governor-General and the Lieutenant-Governor, and between those of the Federal Parliament and the Provincial Legislatures. There is a valuable fund of information collected in this work, which will be found useful and instructive to those who desire to know, as all should, the system by which we are governed. Considerable research is shown, and the work does credit to the ability and industry of Mr. O'Sullivan.

Why People go to Sleep in Church.

A medical man writes—about this time the church sexton becomes especially vigorous in building fires. The weather is not cold enough to need a very hot fire; but the sexton has not been working at the furnace for some months past, and now he takes hold of it with all the pleasure that attends the doing of a new task which has not yet become monotonous. But though he shovels on the coal and keeps the draft clear, he does not feel satisfied till he closes up all the ventilation in the building and gets the double window on the outside and putties every little crack. Of course, this makes the matter worse; but the average sexton is not supposed to know it. If the ventilators were left open the hot air would rise up through the registers, expel the cold air, and afford a tolerably comfortable atmosphere for the congregation to breathe. But with no vent whatever the temperature does not rise very readily, and so the sexton tries to make the furnace as fiery as Nebuchadnezzar's; the ascending air is not only hot but deoxygenated, foul with carbonic acid and carbonic oxide, and odorous with the smell of rusty iron common to all newly lighted stoves. The next thing is that the congregation gets drowsy, and there are headaches and faintings; and then the minister gets dull, and is unable to stir up his people even if they were capable of being stirred; and then the more devotionally and spiritually inclined lament over those who are asleep in Zion. This is exaggerated, you think? Perhaps so; but I have been there.

What all Men Should Know.

To Relieve a Cough.—The troublesome cough caused by an accumulation of phlegm in the throat, especially in the morning, experienced mostly by persons affected with Chronic Catarrh, can be relieved almost instantly by taking a teaspoonful of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam, which has the advantage of being harmless to the stomach, and at the same time improving the appetite. d&w

Swallowed a Baby.

When Thackeray visited our shores for the first time and was invited to partake of a dish of oysters, the the size of our middle necks astonished him. Accustomed to the small copper-tainted oyster of his own native isle, he paused. But only for an instant, and in one gulp it was down. "How do you feel?" asked a friend. "I feel as though I had swallowed a baby," was the reply. To the benighted foreigner our oysters are a revelation as is also SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL combined with the HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA, which for debility, all bronchial affections and consumption stands unrivalled. It is also acceptable to the most delicate stomach. wd61-1m

TWENTY-EIGHTH YEAR.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW FOR 1880.

AN ENTIRELY NEW FEATURE!

How to Obtain the Leading Papers and Save Money.

FAIR, SQUARE AND, RELIABLE OFFERS.

WITH the year 1880, the WEEKLY REVIEW will enter on its 28th year of publication. Notwithstanding the improvements which have been made upon it, and the ever increasing expenditure incurred to keep it AHEAD of any of its competitors, the annual subscription will remain as heretofore, only $1.50—postage paid by the publishers.

Splendid Clubbing Advantages.

The Proprietors of the REVIEW have great pleasure in announcing that they have made arrangements with the publishers of the following leading periodicals in Canada and the United States, by which they are enabled to club these periodicals with the WEEKLY REVIEW at remarkably low prices.

READ CAREFULLY.—Below are three columns of figures. The name of the paper or magazine is given, and the FIRST column gives the REGULAR PUBLISHER'S PRICE. The SECOND column gives the regular subscription price of the WEEKLY REVIEW. The THIRD column gives the price at which we are prepared to supply new subscribers with BOTH the paper or magazine and the WEEKLY REVIEW combined, for one year. It is certainly an object to save money these times, and it is easy to see by our Club List how it can be done.

OUR CLUB LIST.

RURAL NEW-YORKER.—This is the best Agricultural Weekly in America, and every subscriber who accepts this offer will also receive a package of the new varieties of Field, Garden, and Flower Seeds, free, which itself is valued at $2.50!

HARPER'S PUBLICATIONS count among their contributors an array of the ablest writers and artists of Europe and America, are profusely illustrated, and rank among the most popular of their kind on the American Continent.

THE LONDON TRACT SOCIETIES PUBLICATIONS.—The fact that Leisure Hour, Sunday at Home, and the Boy's Own Paper are issued by this Society, is an ample guarantee of their excellence in every respect.

THE CANADA PRESBYTERIAN.—Every subscriber to this paper will receive steel engraved copies of the companion pictures of the "Death of Nelson," and the "Meeting of Wellington and Blucher."

THE MAIL.—Subscribers to the Mail will also receive The Canadian Farm Annual for 1880, illustrated with 140 Engravings, and containing valuable information and practical suggestions for every Farmer.

How to get the Weekly Review for Nothing!

Any person subscribing for the WEEKLY REVIEW, and desiring to obtain two or more of the above publications along with the REVIEW, can have them at the price quoted, less $1.50. For example:—

HARPER'S MAGAZINE and WEEKLY REVIEW	$4 50
HARPER'S WEEKLY, additional, and without the WEEKLY REVIEW	3 20
Total for the Three	$7 70

Or, 20 cents less than the regular publishers price for Harper's Magazine and Harper's Weekly, with the WEEKLY REVIEW thrown in for nothing!

HOW TO SAVE MONEY!

Suppose you wish for 1880, to subscribe for the Weekly Mail, $1.00; Rural New-Yorker, $2.00; Harper's Magazine, $4.00; Methodist Magazine, $2.00; the lot will cost you direct, just $9.00, and you have four letters to write, four money orders to buy, and four separate risks to run. Now look at our price above; ALL WE ASK for the same periodicals, WITH THE WEEKLY REVIEW INCLUDED, is $7.90, and your papers and magazines will come promptly direct from the publishers, just the same as if you had ordered them yourself.

PLEASE OBSERVE.—All Postage is paid in full in Canada and United States.

ANOTHER SCHEME.

The WEEKLY REVIEW for 1880 will be sent (postage paid) to any person who has been a subscriber for the last twelve months, who sends us his renewal subscription—

With that of ONE other person not a subscriber for the last six months for	$2 50
With that of TWO " " "	3 00
With that of TEN " " "	10 00

Any one is at liberty to get up a Club. Each Club paper may be addressed separately.

Parties making up Clubs may send in the names as they receive them, and credit will be given for the whole number sent in when the Club is completed. Address all Communications and Money Orders to

CANADIAN TELEGRAMS.

MILLBROOK.

Special to the Review, Jan. 7.

A NARROW ESCAPE.—Last night, between the hours of seven and eight o'clock, an unoccupied frame building standing about twelve feet from Captain Howden's grain house, took fire, and but for the lively exertions of our citizens, it would have ended in a very heavy loss, as all the grain houses stand beside each other, and are full of grain. Incendiarism is supposed to be the cause.

QUEBEC.

Special to the Review, Jan. 7.

THE LUMBER TRADE.—It is reported that a large milling establishment in this district has concluded the sale of the whole or of a large portion of its manufacture of pine deals for the coming season to a London firm. The prices are 10½ shillings for first quality, and two-thirds and one-third for second and thirds. There is a brisk enquiry for this market. Large transactions have also taken place in spruce deals at high figures. The prospects for this trade are satisfactory.

EXPLOSION.—An explosion of gas occurred this morning at Jalbert's foundry by the bursting of a main. The fire brigade was called out, but fortunately no damage was caused.

MONTREAL.

Special to the Review, Jan. 7.

MONTREAL TELEGRAPH CO.—The annual report and statement of accounts of the Montreal Telegraph Company has been issued in advance of the annual meeting, which takes place to-morrow. The number of messages was increased, chiefly in the last two months, by 41,686. The number of miles of wire is increased by 177½ over the previous year. The net profit on the year was $142,861, being an excess of $764 over 1878. The balance of the contingent fund is $144,468 as against $171,482 in 1878, the diminution being attributed to the cost of new lines constructed.

NO ANNEXATION.—A letter appears to-day from Sir Francis Hincks on the questions of annexation and independence. He maintains the views which he stated lately in the New York Herald, and affirms that annexation could only be accomplished after a civil war. He thinks the present position of Canada an enviable one, and any attempt to give effect to the principles of independence or annexation would lead to civil war.

THE AFGHANISTAN WAR.

Press Despatches via Cable and Montreal Lines.

MAHOMED JAN'S DEFIANCE.

LONDON, Jan. 6.—A Cabul despatch says the city is perfectly quiet. Supplies are plentiful. An amnesty has been offered to the insurgents, except to a few leaders. Before evacuating Cabul, Mahomed Jan wrote to General Roberts, saying although for the present retiring, the Afghans would not cease hostilities until the English were driven from Afghanistan. A flying column of a thousand men has been formed for service in the Khyber Pass.

PYCTURES OF SOCIETY.

No. 3.—Ye Young Polytician.

Ye young Polytycian if possible knows more than ye old one, but as a rule strange to relate he follows on whatsoever side of Polytics his father doth happen to favour, although he always doth aver that ye old man doth not influence his ideas one jot or tittle. He doth attend meetings of ye electors, at which he oftentimes maketh himself conspicuous by his remarks on ye opinions of ye speakers, and ye interruptions thereof with ye noise of stickes on ye floor, and other means by which he doth manifest his disapproval of ye sentiments of ye orators.

He is puffed up with vanity, and doth entertain a most high opinion of himself and his abilities. He doth generally have one man in polytics whom he professeth to honour above all others, and then he will swear with great oathes that that man is always right in whatsoever he doth. Sometimes indeed ye being argued with he doth thinke hath not the means of controverting his opponent and then he doth close the controversy by averring that what the other man said, "is alle rotte."

In this manner he doth dispose of his antagonist, and doth gain the admiration of all beholders. At ye elections he doth go forth with canvassing-book in hand, and if perchance ye section that he importuneth in, doth give to his candidate a majority of votes, he doth vauntingly and boastfully claim ye whole credit for himself, and doth assert that it was he who carried ye wards.

After ye elections ye young Polytician as a rule imbibe freely of bock and other wines, and doth loudly praise his own side and abuse ye other in round terms.

He doth longingly look forward to ye time when he shall be returned as a member of ye Parliament of ye King, and doth give his fellows to understand what measures he would inaugurate were he there. But alas! such is the fallacy of human hopes and wishes, that ofttimes he doth sink down to ye level of what is called a Warde Polytycian, and even sometimes falleth so low as to become an alderman.—Ye Kaper [illegible] Grip.

Cut this Out—It May Save Your Life.

There is no person living but what suffers more or less with Lung Disease, Coughs, Colds or Consumption, yet some would die rather than pay 75 cents for a bottle of medicine that would cure them. Dr. A. Boschee's German Syrup has lately been introduced in this country from Germany, and its wonderful cures astonish every one that try it. If you doubt what we say in print, cut this out and take it to your Druggist, and get a sample bottle for 10 cents and try it, or a regular size for 75 cents. [illegible]-1y

THE SITUATION IN BULGARIA.

BERLIN, Jan. 6.—The Czar has summoned Prince Dondonkoff Korsakoff to St. Petersburg to discuss the threatening condition of affairs in Bulgaria. It is considered a modification of the Bulgarian constitution is necessary.

BUSINESS IMPROVEMENT.

LONDON, Jan. 6.—Business in the city continues to improve, and, notwithstanding the croakers, there is every prospect of brighter times. New joint stock companies are cropping up, which is very significant. Some are floated. Those who have been stung in bygone days look upon them suspiciously; nevertheless, there are others dipping their capital.

AN UNRELIABLE DECISION.

LONDON, Jan. 6.—Sir W. Palliser has now proved beyond a shadow of doubt, that the decision of the Court of Inquiry into the cause of the explosion of the one hundred ton gun on H. M. ship Thunderer, is not to be relied upon.

GENERAL IGNATIEFF IN ITALY.

ROME, Jan. 6.—It is reported that General Ignatieff will be the successor of the present Russian representative at the Italian Court, Baron D'Uexkull. This report finds no credit in Austro-Hungarian official circles, as the General has made himself notorious in Italy of late by his frequent conferences with members of the Italia Irredenta party.

TURKISH OPPRESSION IN ARMENIA.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 6.—The Armenian Patriarch, Monsignor Narses, has addressed a letter to the representatives of the great Powers at Constantinople, in which he describes further cruelties committed on the Armenians in the district of Van, and urges that an international commission should at once be sent to Armenia in order to carry out the right of surveillance granted to the Powers by Article 61 of the Treaty of Berlin. He declares that nothing is being done in Armenia to improve the condition of the people, and that the insurrection in Kurdistan, of which they know nothing, serves the Turkish hordes as a pretext for oppressing the Armenians.

CONTROL OF THE DANUBE.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 6.—Russia claims the sole control of the Kilia branch of the Danube. The Danube Commission strongly oppose the claim as being contrary to the Treaty of Paris.

GERMANY'S NEW TARIFF.

BERLIN, Jan. 6.—The new tariff caused wheat to rise 33½, rye 55, barley 25, and oats 40 per cent. The German shipping trade has appreciably declined in consequence of the tariff.

A TREASONABLE BOER.

LONDON, Jan. 6.—A Cape Town despatch says Bok, Secretary of the Boer Committee, has been arrested on a charge of high treason, but liberated on bail.

DISTRESS IN LONDON.

LONDON, Jan. 6.—A large meeting of the unemployed workingmen of London to-day adopted resolutions urging the authorities to provide them with temporary employment, also asking contributions for relief during the present great distress. A resolution in favour of emigration was rejected.

THE SEINE FLOODS SUBSIDING.

PARIS, Jan. 6.—The flood in the Seine has decreased. Traffic over the bridges has been resumed. The destruction of property at Paris is now represented as insignificant. In the provinces the damage by floods is serious.

THE "TIMES" ON EMIGRATION.

LONDON, Jan. 6.—The Times this morning in a leading article, deprecates promiscuous emigration to the United States.

THE TALK OF THE DAY.

BERLIN, Jan. 6.—The Russian troops are again permitted to speak of the impending war against Austria and Germany. The coming campaign is the talk of the day in the military coffee houses of Keiff, Kaminiec, Podolek, Zhitomeer, and other garrison towns near the Austrian frontier.

RECONNOITERING ON THE FRONTIER

Two Russian Generals with twelve staff officers are reconnoitering on the German frontier in the Buchovina districts.

MONTENEGRO AND THE PORTE.

VIENNA, Jan. 6.—The Austro-Hungarian Cabinet has expressed its entire approval of the attitude of Montenegro in its conflict with the Porte as to the new Montenegrin frontier, such attitude being in absolute conformity with the Treaty of Berlin. That treaty clearly grants to Montenegro the district of Gusinje, and the Porte is evidently striving to evade the treaty.

EXPERIMENTAL TEA FARM.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Commissioner Leduc, in his estimates to Congress, will include an estimate for the establishment of an experimental tea farm, probably in South Carolina. The Commissioner says nearly every attempt at tea culture within the latitude where it is expected tea will grow has been successful.

DEATH OR DISHONOUR.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 6.—A special from Alamosa, Colorado, confirms the rumour that the Meeker women were violated while in the custody of the Ute Indians. This fact was given with details to the Commission, but the women begged that it might not be made public. Mrs. Meeker publishes a letter telling the whole story, from which it appears the choice was given them of submitting to the fiendish designs of their captors or suffering death.

It is stated that the introduction of a bill for a tax on bourse operations, and the re-introduction of the brewing tax bill were announced yesterday in the Bundesrath as shortly intended.

AN AUTHOR'S DEATH.

PARIS, Jan. 7.—Jean Joseph Poujoulat, the historian and critic, died at the age of 72.

IRISH TOWN RENTS.

DUBLIN, Jan. 7.—The Irish rent agitation has entered on a new phase, and has extended from the rural to the urban localities. A movement is afoot to agitate for the remission or reduction of rents on the part of the poorer [illegible] tenants in Dublin and other large towns.

SOUTH SEA TRADE.

BERLIN, Jan. 7.—Bismarck has definitely approved of the scheme for granting a Government subvention to a joint stock company which shall buy the factories and plantations of Godfrey & Sons, Hamburg merchants, who suspended recently, and continue their business at the settlements of that firm in Samoa and other South Sea Islands.

WARLIKE INDICATIONS.

LONDON, Jan. 6.—The Pesth correspondence which denies the reported movements of the Russian army towards the Austrian frontier, is not an authority of sufficient weight to justify the acceptance of its contradiction of the detailed reports of Russian military preparations, which come from various points of the Austrian and German frontiers. These reports are beginning to excite attention throughout Europe. A pamphlet has just been issued by a Berlin publisher, entitled "Fortifications of the German Frontier," wherein the defences of each country are elaborately discussed, and the advantages of different plans of invasion on either side are canvassed. The author is evidently a German military man, and the appearance of such a pamphlet under the present circumstances is regarded at Berlin as highly significant. The writer expresses his belief that the German eastern frontier is sufficiently defended, and that the German forces can be easily and quickly mobilized and thrown upon the important points in sufficient strength, even on the shortest notice, to hold the Russians at bay on the frontier until measures of resistance in the interior can be thoroughly organized. The following passage closes the treatise:—"Should those restless statesmen and generals, notwithstanding their experience in the Russo-Turkish war, venture to satiate their thirst for glory by an attack upon Germany, they may perhaps find their object a trifle more difficult of attainment in this country than it proved in Turkey."

AMERICAN.

NEW TELEGRAPH COMPANY.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—The American Union Telegraph Company promises to commence business in a few days. Its field of operations at first will be the New England States.

INCREASED BUILDING.

The report of the Building Department shows that more money was spent in New York last year for new buildings than in any year since 1871. The sum aggregates $22,000,-00[illegible].

DUTY ON STEEL RAILS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—The Texas and St. Louis Railway Company has petitioned Congress for the reduction of the duty on steel rails from $28 to $10 a ton. The petitioners assert that the profits of the business have become so great that the owners of the mills, which control the Bessemer process, pool their energies and pay the mills which do not run enormous prices, to be idle in order to reduce production and increase prices.

AN UNFORTUNATE CITY.

MEMPHIS, Jan. 7.—Four stores on Main Street were burned last night. The loss is $15,-000.

MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 7.—There is considerable excitement at Chester over the mysterious disappearance of Miss Mary Ash. The last seen of her was near Dr. Buchanan's office, and the doctor is also missing. The father of the girl alleges that she was decoyed to Philadelphia by Henry Groff, taken to the doctor's office, and is there either dead or dying as the result of malpractice.

DISASTROUS FLOODS.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Jan. 7.—The flood is doing great damage in this region. A million and a half feet of lumber has been carried away. Five bridges on the Grand Rapids and Newaygo road are swept away. The damage to other bridges in the vicinity is estimated at $50,000. A number of cattle have been drowned. Ten dams on one stream were washed out.

CIVIL RIGHTS.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 7.—James Vinte, a colored boy, yesterday filed a petition in the United States Court under the Civil Rights Law, claiming $20,000 damages from the teacher and trustees of a school district in Clermont county for ejecting him from school and refusing to allow him to attend because he was colored.

RAILWAY AMALGAMATION.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 7.—The stockholders of the Pittsburg, Titusville and Buffalo Railway Company to-day assented to the proposition to control the Pittsburg, Chautauqua Lake and Buffalo Railway, and merge it into their own.

FLOUR MILLS BURNED.

WILMINGTON, Del., Jan. 7.—The two large flour mills of Penny, Parker & Co. were burned last night. The loss is $50,000.

PLYMOUTH CHURCH SALE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—The annual sale of the Plymouth Church pews realized $5,419 less than last year.

POLYGAMY IN THE LEGISLATURE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—The Ladies Anti-polygamy Society of Utah have sent to the House of Representatives, a memorial, asking the expulsion of Cannon, the Delegate from Utah. The memorial states that he has four wives and twenty children.

COLLIERS' STRIKE.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 7.—The coal miners of Belleville, Ill., district, yesterday unanimously resolved to strike for 4 cents a bushel for digging. They also resolved to work but 8 hours per day. This action involves seventeen hundred miners.

FATAL RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

UNION CITY, Ind., Jan. 7.—On the railroad six miles from here, a bridge over a swollen stream gave way yesterday, precipitating the engine and eleven freight cars into the stream. The engineer was fatally injured, and the fireman and brakeman were killed.

A Good Account.

"To sum it up, six long years of bed-ridden sickness and suffering, costing $200 per year, total, $1,200—all of which was stopped by three bottles of Hop Bitters taken by my wife, who has done her own housework for a year since without the loss of a day, and I want everybody to know of it for their benefit.

THE FIRE BRIGADE.

Disbandment of the Old Fire Brigade and Re-organization of a New One.

Last evening the last monthly meeting of the Fire Brigade, under the old system, was held in the Firemen's Hall, Mr. S. H. Henderson, Captain, in the chair. After reading the minutes of the preceding meeting the brigade proceeded to dispose of the funds in the treasury. By a vote of the meeting it was distributed among the members. This matter disposed of and no other business appearing, the Captain declared the Fire Brigade of the Town of Peterborough, under the paid system, disbanded from this date.

THE RE-ORGANIZATION.

Immediately after the declaration by Captain Henderson of the disbandment of the old brigade, those who were to form the Hook and Ladder Company retired to another portion of the premises to complete their organization, while those who were to become members of the Hose Company remained.

PROTECTION HOSE COMPANY NO. 1.

Captain Henderson resumed the chair, and called upon the men to come forward and enroll their names under the new system. Twenty-two names were thereupon enrolled. There was no business of interest to the public transacted further than to appoint a committee to revise the constitution and arrange the by-laws. The meeting adjourned until Tuesday, January 13th, when the organization will be fully completed and the command will be put in regular working order. Before the close of the meeting there were 30 names signed to the roll.

HOOK AND LADDER COMPANY NO. 1.

The members of the Fire Brigade who are to compose the Hook and Ladder Company assembled, calling Mr. Wm. Roberts to the chair. Twenty-three came forward and signed the roll, after which the business of completing the organization was proceeded with. Mr. Edward Hughes was elected Captain; Mr. Geo. Pappin, Lieutenant; Mr. John C. Robertson, Secretary; and Mr. Wm. C. Cooke, Treasurer. A committee was appointed to revise the constitution and prepare by-laws for the use of the company. This company have not yet determined upon the night of meeting, but will probably do so at the next session, which will be called as soon as the committee on the constitution and by-laws are ready to report.

AQUATICS.

COURTNEY PUTS UP HIS MONEY AT LAST.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Blaikie, the referee in the oft contemplated race between Hanlan and Courtney, some time ago forwarded articles to Courtney for the proposed race, to take place on the Potomac River in April next. This morning Blaikie received Courtney's reply. Courtney has made a number of alterations in the text of the articles of agreement, but has signed them, and his signature is attested by a notary public. Among other changes which he has made, Courtney has inserted after the words "the Potomac River at Washington," "or such other course as may be mutually agreed upon," and he has also changed the date of the proposed race from the 29th of April to the 20 of May. In his letter to Blaikie he gives as his reason for making this change that he has heard that in April there are often spring freshets and variable winds at Washington, and he has changed the date so as to be certain of good weather and of requiring no postponement. In his letter Courtney enclosed $500 forfeit money. The money is in draft by the cashier of the City Bank of Rochester on the American Exchange National Bank of this city, to the order of James S. Lowry, who has endorsed it in favour of Blaikie. Lowry is Courtney's backer. Blaikie was very joyful this morning at the brightening prospects of a race. He said he certainly thought Courtney meant business now. He had not heard from Hanlan, but he understood that he had refused to speak of the matter until Courtney had put up his money. Now that this had been done he should this afternoon forward the articles to Hanlan for his signature, and hoped to have a favourable answer from him soon.—Globe.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

OPENING OF THE FIRST SESSION OF THE FOURTH PROVINCIAL ASSEMBLY.

A New Speaker Chosen Without Dissent—The Arrangement of the Members—The Speech from the Throne To-Morrow.

Special to the Review.

TORONTO, Jan. 7.—At 3 o'clock, when the Attorney-General and the rest of the members of the Government filed into the Chamber, there was a pretty full muster, but this being only the preliminary opening for the election of a Speaker, the attendance of the public was very limited. No ceremony was observed before commencing the proceedings, but all entered the chamber in a most unostentatious way, the Ministerial party flowing over half way into the seats nominally allotted for the Opposition, whose numbers, however, are too limited to occupy all the desks to which they are entitled. Messrs. Merredith, Morris, Lauder, Parkhill and Bell occupied the front benches to the left of the Speaker's chair, while on the right of course the members of the Government were in front, all their old followers being in near proximity to them, while the new members sat behind the retired desks. The Hon. R. M. Wells, ex-Speaker, was seated on the third row in the rear of Hon. Messrs. Wood and Fraser.

After a few minutes had been spent in handshaking, introductions, and social conversation, the members took their seats, and shortly after three, the Clerk of the House called the Members to order.

Mr. MOWAT rose and addressing the Clerk pointed out that the first duty of a new elected Legislature was to elect one of their number to preside over their Councils, or in other words to choose a Speaker. He paid a high compliment to the Hon. R. M. Wells for the satisfactory and impartial manner in which he had fulfilled the duties devolving upon him in the two terms for which he had occupied the Chair. Mr. Mowat then gave several reasons why he thought it was advisable to make a change, and concluded by nominating Col. Clarke, the member for Centre Wellington for the speakership. In doing so the Attorney General pointed out the many years experience Col. Clarke had had as a legislator, and said he felt sure that not only his own friends, but hon. gentlemen opposite would unite with him (Mr. Mowat) in the opinion that there was no hon. gentleman in that House more eminently qualified for the position.

Mr. Mowat resumed his seat amidst great applause from both sides of the Chamber.

Col. Clarke then advanced to the Speaker's Chair and thanked the members for the honor done him. He promised, that he would discharge his duties impartially, and to the best of his abilities.

The House then adjourned, to meet to-morrow at three o'clock for the formal opening by the Lieutenant-Governor, who will then deliver his speech.

This evening the members of the Government entertain their supporters to a dinner at the National Club.

CANADIAN SALMON IN GLASGOW.

One of our enterprising fish merchants has now on sale fresh salmon (Salmo Salar) brought all the way from Canada—a twenty-two pound fish which we examined yesterday being in excellent condition, and apparently nothing the worse for its long journey. Having partaken of part of a cooked fish, we can vouch for the gastronomic qualities of the Canadian salmon as being much superior to those of the Dutch and Norwegian fish which we usually receive in the winter season, and of the former of which, owing to the Rhine being frozen over, there is this season no supply. The Canadian salmon are brought to Europe on the same plan as has been adopted for the carriage of American dead meat—in refrigerated chambers—a cargo which reached Billingsgate some weeks ago on another plan having proved a failure. The fish now being sold in this city are, we believe, taken in the Bay of Chaleurs, a wide inlet of the Gulf of St. Lawrence, and are in every respect equal to our good clean salmon. The bay in question receives the waters of the Restigouche river, which will doubtless afford the fish a prominent cradle during their spawing season, which, in the case of the samples we have examined, does not appear to be within the limits of the close-time appointed for our British rivers, and gives us further proof that what has been asserted in the Herald is something more than theory, namely, that we ought to be able to capture clean salmon in the Tay or the Tweed all the year round. A large number of salmon are annually captured in the Bay of Chaleurs, the take of last year having been computed at 500,000 lb. weight, the fish averaging from 15 lb. to 20 lb., one or two of 50 lb. weight being occasionally captured. Canadian salmon will never, however, become cheap.—Glasgow Herald.

Interesting Relics.

There have been lately sold in Edinburgh some interesting relics of Burns, being his Masonic apron, and the mallet and minute-book of the Lodge of St. Andrew, Dumfries, of which the poet was an affiliated member. The minute-book bears his signature to the by-laws. There was a keen competition, but the lot was knocked down to Mr. Murray Lyon, grand secretary of the Grand Lodge of Scotland (acting for Sir Michael R. Shaw Stewart, Bart), for twenty guineas. The relics will be presented to the Grand Lodge, by Sir Michael, the Grand Master.

EVE was the first, and we reckon the only woman who did not gather up her dress in both hands and yell at the sight of a snake.

A Trained Thief.

The Halifax Herald says a lady going along Granville street felt something tugging at her pocket, and looking down saw a retriever dog just in the act of taking out her purse, and it was only after a considerable struggle that she succeeded in regaining possession of it. The dog then ran over to a boy, seated on a packing box near by, and after whining a short time made off along the street, and tried the same dodge on another lady. Failing in this also, he repeated the same performance as on the former occasion, i.e., whining at the feet of the boy. Several persons have reported the same thing happening them on Saturday night, and all give a similar description of the dog. Some young scamp has evidently trained the animal to pick pockets, and ladies had better be somewhat careful during their stopping expeditions, else they may be victimised.

Preservation of Wood.

The improved French method of preserving wood by the application of lime is found to work well. The plan is to pile the planks in a tank, and to put over all a layer of quicklime, which is gradually slacked with water. Timber for mines requires about a week to be thoroughly impregnated, and other wood more or less time, according to its thickness. The material acquires remarkable consistence and hardness, it is stated, on being subjected to this process, and the assertion is made that it will never rot. Beech wood prepared in this way for hammers and other tools for ironwork is found to acquire the hardness of oak, without parting with any of its well known elasticity or toughness, and it lasts longer.—Amer. Building News.

Remedy for Hard Times.

Stop spending so much on fine clothes, rich food and style. Buy good, healthy food, cheaper and better clothing; get more real and substantial things of life every way and especially stop the foolish habit of running after expensive and quack doctors or using so much of the vile humbug medicine that does you only harm and makes the proprietors rich, but put your trust in the greatest of all simple, pure remedies, Hop Bitters, that cures always at a trifling cost, and you will see better times and good health. THOUGHTS ON NEW YEARS DAY.

Eighteen hundred and eighty, how time flies;
A few more years 'tis measured, and time dies,
And death shall be no more; strange, to believe
That those who now are dead, again shall live.
We deem it strange this truth by nature taught,
And unbelief springs up for want of thought.
Emerging from its grave, each sweet spring flower,
Silent proclaims the resurrection hour.
Where sleep those myriad insects, soon to rise,
When winter cold gives place to summer skies?
Each from its self-made tomb, the crawling world
Springs into life with beauteous wings unfurled.
A death like sleep protects the shaggy bear
From winter's chilling frost and meagre fare.
When all is changing here, why deem it strange
That ever restless man should also change?
Change rules the world, a stern unyielding power;
Our very hearts will change within us [illegible].
Our love will turn to hate, our joy to grief,
Canst thou explain the cause proud unbelief?
Grand is this hope divine; our dead shall rise;
Our loved and lost ones meet us in the skies,
Where joy no more can change to grief or pain,
Or sin pollute, or grieve our souls again.
Oh for the hope that changes still might be
In the dark future; that the soul might flee
From the refiner's fire; a grain of gold
Purged from its dross, to shine in Heaven's fold.
But here we dare not tread, no chart have we,
No light to guide us on this [illegible].
Wait not to solve the mystery of fate,
Lest waiting lead to this—too late, too late!
"Now, is the accepted time," be wise to-day,
To-morrow you may be—where? None can say.

THE REPUBLICAN COURT.

The Pall Mall Budget thus talks of the miseries experienced by M. de Courbette, vice-introducer and vice-organizer of official receptions at the Republican Court in France. Le Vicompte de Courbette was Vice-Chamberlain under the Empire, and on its fall, was requested to continue in the same position, with a change of title :—

"But, alas, since M. Grevy accepted the Presidency, that most urbane of gentlemen has had much to put up with. A well-bred butler can only keep beggars from the door if his master will second him in the endeavor, and so it is with chamberlains, who must positively have some control over presentation lists if they are to maintain a Court at a proper standing of gentility. To a casual eye it may seem that Parisians are as gay now as at any time of the monarchial eras; for Ministers give as many parties, and the milliners apparently complain of no slackness in their trade. But M. de Courbette will tell you, with a woeful shake of the head, that for every private carriage you may meet in the Bois de Boulogne you will now encounter seventy cabs, and that these pretentious, semi-genteel folks who take their pastime in hackney carriages, are the same who flood the Elysee and the drawing rooms of Ministers on reception nights. Moreover, the ladies wear plain cut dresses of sober hues, and the male guests are so benighted with regard to fashions as to think that double-soled boots and round felt hats mate well with dress suits if the weather be rainy. Such a thing as a pair of knee breeches has not been seen in official regions since the present political dispensation began, and some Senators and Deputies have been known to come to the President's parties on foot with their trousers turned up and galoshes over their boots, to save cab hire. What refinement can be expected of a society made up of such persons as these? The gentle banter of courtly tongues, the epigrammatic wit, the strict but graceful punctiliousness which came of the respect which politely bred people entertained towards one another have all disappeared, and in their place you have crowds of loud talking, vulgar people who jostle each other over the threshold of the supper room—the place whither their footsteps always hasten to speed. When not stuffing themselves with gratis refreshments—and what refreshments!—furnished per contract with a pastry cook at about 3s. per head, these republican guests behave as if they were in the saloons of a casino. The men talk politics, the women stare supercilliously at each other, and wonder "Who yonder creature is?" or "How Mme. Unetelle came to get an invitation?" But, to crown all, some of the Republican dignitaries who are bachelors, like Gambetta, have not scrupled to give entertainments to which men only were admitted, and at these political orgies cigars have been smoked by the thousand and strong wines have been tippled by the hogshead. Now, Mr. De Courbette loathes tobacco, and its introduction into court spheres is a thing which he dreads as destructive of good manners as it is physically [illegible]. The poor man asks himself, with dismay, whether there is to be any end to the free and easy philosophy which seems to abolish all the self-restraint suggested by the regard of men for one another. He marvels whether a day will not come when the formalities of introducing an ambassador to the President will not be reduced to the simple ceremony of the pair shaking hands and exchanging cigars; and he has a misgiving that he will live to see even the Papal Nuncio lounging, cross-kneed, in what was once the throne of Rome, and twirling a cigar while discussing the terms of a new concordat with a beer-drinking minister of public worship."

Her Age.

There is a good deal of amusement in the following table of figures. It will enable you to tell how old the young ladies are. Just hand this table to a young lady, and request her to tell in which column or columns her age is contained; add together the figures at the top of the columns in which her age is to be found, and you have the great secret. Thus, suppose her age to be 17, you find that number in the first and fifth columns; add the first figures of these two columns. Here is the magic table :—

A Use For Blast Furnace Cinder.

The following method of utilizing blast furnace cinder in jacketing steam pipes is recommended by Mr. Franz Buttgenbach: Mix 150 parts of cinder dust, 25 parts by weight of fine coal dust, 200 parts of fire clay, and 200 parts flue dust, with 10 parts of cows' hair, add 600 parts of water, into which 10 or 15 parts of raw sulphuric acid has been poured, and make a stiff dough of the whole. This is thrown in small amounts upon the warmed pipe, hardening rapidly. Upon this rough coat a second, third, etc., is laid, according to the thickness which is to be used. By the action of sulphuric acid, gypsum is formed, and the silica, rendered free, hardens. The mass becomes as hard as porcelain, and is still porous. It adheres firmly, and never cracks. Mr. Buttgenbach states that he has tested its merits by ten years' use, and has found it to meet all requirements.—Scientific American.

A MORNING SKETCH.

He wanted his razor-strop. He had just lathered his chin in the most exhaustive manner and was preparing to put a finer edge on his razor. Now, the razor-strop was always kept in the wash-stand drawer, the one nearest the wall. He fancied he always put it there himself; certainly he had made a rule to do so. He had already taken out the razor, and he now put his hand mechanically into the drawer for the strop. No strop was there! His hand only came in contact with air of a peculiarly exasperating thinness.

"By Jove!" he thought to himself, as he was opening the other drawer, "what a singular quality of the female mind that! Not to be able to distinguish between two drawers for two days consecutively. Yet I would wager anything Fanny would swear I had put the strop in here myself." He was groping discursively among what appeared to be the stock-in-trade of a small friseur, palpable as a razor-strop resisted his couch through the silky softness of the general contents.

"Where is the confounded thing?" he exclaimed, staring about the room vaguely, but like a man whose angry passions are very near the surface. "Why can't they leave my things alone, I should like to know! Fanny! Fanny!" he called over the banister, with more accent than was absolutely necessary. "What the deuce have you done with my razor-strop?" The serene voice of conscious rectitude was heard in fluty tones replying:

"In the washstand drawer, love—the one nearest the wall." Now there was something in these fluty tones of Fanny's just at that moment that suggested to her husband a second trial of the drawer. For when Fanny threw a certain timbre into her voice, he usually found that she had the maddening quality of being right in regard to the subject under discussion. Back he strode into the room, with an uncomfortable stiffness about his chin as of dry soap, and pulled the drawer out—nay, pulled both drawers out, and turned them upside down upon the floor. Positively no strop! By this time there was a grimness in the man's demeanor visible to the meanest capacity, and particularly noticeable in his walk, as he strode a second time to the head of the stairs.

"Fanny!" he shouted in loud, impetuous accents. "I tell you again it isn't there! What in thunder do you mean by always meddling with my shaving things?"

The answer was perhaps a trifle more staccato than before. "Your strop is in the drawer, my dear. I put it away myself yesterday morning, when I found that as usual you had left everything on the dressing table."

"Drawer!" he is believed to have muttered at this point. "I'll drawer her!" and he fairly jumped back into the room, and dashing at the bureau, he began throwing the contents of each drawer, one after the other, out upon the floor, with an awful impartiality that knew no distinctions. But after exhausting these receptacles, and shaking, and stamping upon each article they had contained, no razor-strop presented its simple proportions to his blazing sight. "Fanny!" he yelled over the banister for the third time, in a voice of thunder that curdled the blood in the veins of his little children as they sat at their early porridge.

"Fanny!"

And then his wife came up stairs and stood at the door while he danced upon the scene of devastation, and brandished a curious weapon in his hand, after the fashion of a fearful Feejee or other untamed denizen of wilds too gruesome to name.

"This is past believing," he observed. "This is the kind of method and order you would expect in Bedlam. Look round this room, will you? By Jove! it is too much. Look you, madam, I'll dine at the Club after this—and sleep and breakfast there, too! Then perhaps my razor-strop, ha! ha! will be forthcoming when I dare to treat myself to the luxury of a shave! Ha! I'm a monster, of course, to presume to want to shave in my own house. I admit that, but for mere curiosity's sake now, I should like to know where the strop is! The coffee's done by this time, and the bacon sodden, so a few moments spent in cheerful conversation can't hurt the breakfast. Did Freddy take it for a hammer, or has Flossy dressed it up for a doll? Or did you give it to an æsthetic tramp, as you did that file of Grip?"

Pausing an instant for breath, Fanny took the opportunity of making a single remark.

"Are you speaking of the razor-strop in your hand," asked she softly, "[illegible]"

A peculiar tingling sensation seemed to creep along his arm as he heard these words, and he appeared to shrink together, and to measure several inches less than usual in every direction. But as he vigorously resumed the operation of sharpening his razor, which he remembered now he had dropped while he applied the lather, he returned angrily,

"Why the deuce didn't you say so before?"
—Grip.

Good Pressed Beef.

We commend to our many new house-keeping readers the following, which has been partly given in former years. Take any fresh lean beef—the cheaper pieces, as the upper part of the leg above the "soup pieces," answers very well; that containing tendons or plenty of gelatine is even preferable, and some of the round steak or any other lean portion may be used with it. Boil closely covered until so tender that the meat will fall from the bones. (It is better to keep a closely fitting pan of cold water over the cooking kettle, to condense and cause to fall back the rising steam containing the escaping flavor.) Use only so much water as is needed to prevent burning. Take out the meat, mix and chop it fine. Put it into a tin pan or other deep dish. Skim off any excess of grease from the cooking liquor, and add to it a tablespoonful of Cooper's or other good gelatine for each 3 or 4 lbs of meat. When dissolved pour it into the chopped meat; put on it a large plate or tin that will fit into the dish, and place upon this 12 to 20 lbs. weight—flat-irons will answer. When cold it is a solid mass, from which thin or thick slices may be cut, that are marbled in appearance, and are very excellent for sandwiches, or for a tea or breakfast dish, and it will keep several days even in warm weather if set in a cool place. It is tender, juicy, digestible, nourishing, convenient and economical withal.—American Agriculturist.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The boy sat in the gallery
  Of the female minstrel show,
"I'm too far back," he sadly said,
  In tones both soft and low,
"I'm too far back" he sighed again,
  But he could no further go;
For he saw his sedate father's head
  Loom up in the forward row.

"Kissing a factory girl is a mill-privilege," when she is a satis-factory girl.

After a Texas jury had stood out for ninety-two hours the Judge got a verdict out of them in two minutes by sending them word that a circus had come to town.

An Englishman travelling in Ireland, remarked to the driver of a coach upon the tremendous length of the Irish miles. "Confound your Irish miles! Why, there's no end to them!" "Sure, sir," said the coachman, "the roads are bad about here, so we give good measure."

"How it does remind me of my courting days!" exclaimed Mrs. Goodington, remarking the blush that the delicately-turned compliment of Araminta's young man had brought to the girl's cheek. "In those halcyon days, when I was young and perceptible, how frustrated I used to feel when Daniel paid me a compliment, as he always was adoing! Yes," she continued, stopping to brush off the tear that trembled at the tip of her attenuated nose, "yes, Daniel was one of a thousand. And he never changed during all our years of patrimony."

The Markets.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS.

Wednesday, Jan. 7.—The market was fully up compared with what was expected, although not by any means a large one. The general offerings were beef, mutton, pork, potatoes, apples, onions, butter, hay and wood. Beef was again a drag, at $3.50 @ $4.50., outside prices. Mutton, no change, and in fair supply. Pork was in light supply, and readily taken at $5.50 @ $5.90, the latter figure being for very choice hogs. Some roll butter made its appearance, but the demand was equally light, and 18 @ 19 cts. became the price. Potatoes sold mostly at 5 cts. advance with higher prices asked, with some takers.; the supply being beyond the demand, a lower price had to be accepted. Onions were steady at $1.00 per bushel. Apples were in fair supply, and of a better grade, bringing 75 cents per bag. Corned beef, 6 @ 7 cts. per pound. Sausages, 10 cts. per pound. Hay was held at $7.00, without takers. Wood was plentiful, and there was no change to note. A few loads of wheat were brought in, but the high figures of the past week do not seem to be maintained, and there was a decided weakening; from one to two cents lower was paid.

Woman Not the Lesser Man.

Illustrating the peculiar form which the idea of feminine progress takes in some minds, Mr. Parkman, in the January North American says: "Nothing is more obvious than that many of the suffrage agitators are impatient of purely feminine work and eager to imitate a man; and even those who are most forward to disclaim this imitation are apt to give practical contradiction to their words. Some of the enthusiasts among them regard the object of their longing, the ballot, as the destined agent of a sort of miracle in nature. The most pronounced case of this sort that we know is that of two maiden ladies who insist that, after a few years of voting, women will be as large and strong as men, and like them in other respects. A disposition to ignore differences of sex is so common that few persons can fail to observe it. Sometimes it takes curious forms. A few days ago a distinguished and much respected gentleman told us the following:—Being on the examining board of a school in a country town he asked the pupils what was meant by gender in nouns and pronouns. As they could not answer he looked to the teacher for explanation, whereupon she said, with flushed cheeks and some sharpness, 'Nothing is taught about gender in this school!'"

Milking Cows.—In regard to milking cows oftener than twice a day, as a general rule it seems unnecessary, but there are cows in nearly every dairy that suffer extreme pain if allowed to go twelve hours between milking, as their anxious watching for the milkman and their bellowing and moanings indicate.

The hungry dream of feasts, the thirsty of water, the dropsical of drowning, the sick of health. To enjoy health, beware of every ailment, and if suffering from diseases of the kidneys, etc., use Victoria Buchu and Uva Ursi. If taken in time, this great medicine will prevent Bright's disease of the kidneys, diabetes, etc., and is a positive specific in all diseases of the urinary system. Church Music.—The finest music provided by any church in the country is to be heard on Sundays and holidays at St. Francis Xavier's in New York. Its organ and its choir are alike famous, and its services are crowded by both the religious and the critical. The credit of this superb preeminence belongs to the organist, Professor Wm. Berge, music doctor, who but a little while ago, ruptured an artery in his arm, and had to abandon his profession until cured by Giles' Liniment Iodide Ammonia.

Among the Luxuries of Life.

But a brief period has passed since when a month's time was necessary to accomplish a journey of few hundred miles and then we went lumbering over the rough country highways on springless seats. Now the same journey is made in sumptuous drawing room cars, with all the comforts and many of the luxuries brought to us by servants. Once upon a time when we found it necessary to our health we set apart a brief period to "doctor up" and then came a struggle with that awful Castor Oil. Now we sip it from the bottle while we continue regularly at our vocations. But it is Scott & Bowne's Palatable Castor Oil we take. It is one of the luxuries of life that is afforded at 25 cents. w2d1-1m

A Positive Fact.—Nervousness is the cause of feebleness, or the lack of stability of the nervous system, as distinguished from the rest of the body. It is pre-eminently a disease, and more widely spread through the Northern and Eastern part of the United States and the Dominion of Canada than in any other part of the world. We will not stop to say why this is the case, but we do emphatically say that Victoria Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites will be found an invaluable medicine for all parties afflicted with Nervousness, Dyspepsia, Consumption, Defective Nutrition, General Debility, or weakness of the whole system. One of the first effects is an increase of the nervous or vital energy, followed by a feeling of unusual comfort and strength. For sale by all dealers. w1d130-6w

Hagyard's Yellow Oil is one of the surest remedies in the world for the cure of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Spinal and Bronchial Complaints, Deafness, Ear-Ache, Cramps, Sprains, Bruises, Galls, Stiff Joints, Swelled Heads, Sore Nipples, Stiff Neck, Chilblains, Tetter, Frost Bites, Chapped Hands, Wounds, Cuts, Sore Throat, Stings of Insects, Shortness of Breath, or any Disease that are painful or sore. We have no hesitation in recommending it for any of the above complaints, and believe it the quickest and most perfect combination known to remove pain from almost any cause, and can be used either internally or externally. For particulars see wrapper accompanying each bottle. For sale by all dealers, price 25 cts. wd130-6w

TWENTY-EIGHTH YEAR.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW FOR 1880.

AN ENTIRELY NEW FEATURE!

How to Obtain the Leading Papers and Save Money.

FAIR, SQUARE AND, RELIABLE OFFERS.

With the year 1880, the WEEKLY REVIEW will enter on its 29th year of publication. Notwithstanding the improvements which have been made upon it, and the ever increasing expenditure incurred to keep it AHEAD of any of its competitors, the annual subscription will remain as heretofore, only $1.50—postage paid by the publishers.

Splendid Clubbing Advantages.

The Proprietors of the Review have great pleasure in announcing that they have made arrangements with the publishers of the following leading periodicals in Canada and the United States, by which they are enabled to club these periodicals with the Weekly Review at remarkably low prices.

Read Carefully.—Below are three columns of figures. The name of the paper or magazine is given, and the first column gives the regular publisher's price. The second column gives the regular subscription price of the Weekly Review. The third column gives the price at which we are prepared to supply new subscribers with both the paper or magazine and the Weekly Review combined, for one year. It is certainly an object to save money these times, and it is easy to see by our Club List how it can be done.

Rural New-Yorker.—This is the best Agricultural Weekly in America, and every subscriber who accepts this offer will also receive a package of the new varieties of Field, Garden, and Flower Seeds, free, which itself is valued at $2.50!

Harper's Publications count among their contributors an army of the ablest writers and artists of Europe and America, are profusely illustrated, and rank among the most popular of their kind on the American Continent.

The London Tract Societies Publications.—The fact that Leisure Hour, Sunday at Home, and the Boy's Own Paper are issued by this Society, is an ample guarantee of their excellence in every respect.

The Canada Presbyterian.—Every subscriber to this paper will receive steel engraved copies of the companion pictures of the "Death of Nelson," and the "Meeting of Wellington and Blucher."

The Mail.—Subscribers to the Mail will also receive The Canadian Farm Annual for 1880, illustrated with 140 Engravings, and containing valuable information and practical suggestions for every Farmer.

How to get the Weekly Review for Nothing!

Any person subscribing for the Weekly Review, and desiring to obtain two or more of the above publications along with the Review, can have them at the price quoted, less $1.50. For example :—

HARPER'S MAGAZINE and WEEKLY REVIEW	$4 50
HARPER'S WEEKLY, additional, and without the Weekly Review	3 20
Total for the Three	$7 70

Or, 30 cents less than the regular publishers price for Harper's Magazine and Harper's Weekly, with the Weekly Review thrown in for nothing!

HOW TO SAVE MONEY!

Suppose you wish for 1880, to subscribe for the Weekly Mail, $1.00; Rural New-Yorker, $2.00; Harper's Magazine, $4.00; Methodist Magazine, $2.00; the lot will cost you direct, just $9.00, and you have four letters to write, four money orders to buy, and four separate risks to run. Now look at our price above; all we ask for the same periodicals, with the Weekly Review included, is $7.60, and your papers and magazines will come promptly direct from the publishers, just the same as if you had ordered them yourself.

Please Observe.—All Postage is paid in full in Canada and United States,

ANOTHER SCHEME.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 7, 1880.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

The Japanese.

The Japanese Troupe arrived by the noon train to-day and will perform this evening as announced. Go early and secure eligible seats.

The Batchelors' Assembly.

The Batchelors of Peterborough and Ashburnham give an assembly at the Town Hall, Ashburnham, this evening.

C. O. F.

Court Peterborough No. 23, of the Canadian Order of Foresters, will meet at their hall this evening, when the newly elected officers will be installed.

A Big Day's Work.

Wm. Hetherington and his two assistants, on Monday last, put on 172 horse shoes at his shop on Aylmer Street. This is considered a heavy day's work, and is hard to beat.

A New Railway Board.

We notice that the name of Mr. Geo. A. Cox, President of the Midland Railway, appears among the newly elected Directors of the projected Ontario and Pacific Junction Railway.

Fine Pork.

Mr. W. J. Miller, of Otonabee, brought to market this morning two hogs, 20 months old, weighing respectively 423 and 434 pounds, or a total of 857 pounds. Mr. Harry Winch became the purchaser at $5.20 per cwt.

The Provincial Legislature.

Mr. W. H. Scott, M. P. P., for the West Riding of Peterborough, and Mr. T. Blezard, M. P. P., for the East Riding, went to Toronto last evening to attend the opening of the Provincial Legislature to-day.

Horticultural Society.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Horticultural Society for the election of officers and other business, will be held in the Town Council Chamber, on Thursday evening, Jan. 8th, at half-past seven o'clock.

Tenders for Farm Properties.

The Shea and Benj. Nicholls properties not having been sold at the recent sale, tenders for the purchase of the same will be received by Mr. Weller, the Master in Chancery, up to the 10th of January inclusive.

Realistic.

We are informed that the dresses to be worn in the play of "True to Death, through Death," to be performed in Bradburn's Theatre on Friday and Saturday by Procter's Revelers, will be precisely the same as those worn in the Penitentiary. All the scenes of the play, we are told, are equally realistic.

I. O. G. T.

In the face of the unpleasant weather and walking, and the religious services taking away the members, Friendship Lodge, No. 144, held a very interesting meeting last evening. It was determined to give a literary and musical entertainment on their 22nd anniversary, which will come off on the 20th January. Tickets and advertisements will be issued in a few days, with full particulars.

Butterick & Co's Patterns.

Messrs. Fairweather & Co. are now agents for E. Butterick & Co's Paper Patterns, which are said to be the best of their kind, and to afford the largest variety of styles. The Ladies' Quarterly Review is a complete resume of European and American fashions, representing the latest and most popular styles of garments. Ladies calling at Messrs. Fairweather's can obtain a specimen copy of this magazine free of charge.

Grangers' Meeting.

The annual sessions of the Northumberland and Durham Division Grange are being held in Friendship Hall, Peterborough. The first session was convened at 2 o'clock this afternoon. There will be an evening session at 7 o'clock, open to all members of the fourth degree. There will be another session to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock. There are about 150 delegates present from the several Granges in the district.

Doings at the Rink.

Last night Mr. Stewart flooded the skating rink on the strength of the prediction made by probabilities. The curling rink ice is still good, and there is no interference with the curlers. This morning the Misses Ulliots and Menzies visited the rink for a skate, but the ice not being in condition, they threw the curling stones with much success, Miss Menzies taking the lead. The young ladies found curling a more exhilarating exercise than skating.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district as reported from Toronto at 10 o'clock to-day are: moderate to fresh winds; cloudy to partly cloudy mild weather, with rain areas. There has been another break in the predictions made by probabilities yesterday. The wind passed round west, north and east, instead of cold north-west wind as predicted. To-day Peterborough has had easterly winds, cloudy, mild weather, the thermometer indicating at noon 40°, with prospects of [illegible].

Fire at Millbrook.

Last evening about 5.30 the storey and a half frame plastered dwelling, owned by Mr. W. H. Gordon, situated immediately west of the Midland Railway Station, at Millbrook, was burned. It was the work of an incendiary, as the dwelling was unoccupied. It was formerly occupied as a furniture factory. Constable Johnston, of Peterborough happening to be near at hand, rendered assistance in preventing the spread of the fire to the depot buildings. The President of the Midland, Mr. G. A. Cox, delayed the up-train until all danger to the railway property was passed.

Week of Prayer.

The "Week of Prayer" services now being held in the different churches of Peterborough are largely attended, and a deep interest is manifested by the worshippers. The first of these services was held on Monday evening in St. Andrew's Kirk, the pastor, the Rev. Alex. Bell, presiding. Last evening the second of the series was held in the Baptist Church, on Aylmer Street, the Rev. Mr. Mulhern presiding. The Church was crowded, and the services were peculiarly interesting. The Rev. Mr. Torrance, of St. Paul's, Presbyterian, Church, offered prayer; the Rev. Mr. Harper, of the Methodist Church, read a portion of the Scriptures, and the Rev. Alexander Bell addressed the congregation on the subject, "Confession of sin and humiliation before God." The Rev. Messrs. Roberts and Starr added a few remarks. The next meeting will be held in the George Street Methodist Church this evening, when the Rev. Mr. Roberts, of the Bible Christian Church, will address the congregation upon the subject, "Prayer for the Church of Christ, its ministers, its growth in grace, and on revivals of religion throughout the country."

Presentation.

On New Year's Day a number of the pupils attending the Ashburnham Public School, called at the residence of Mr. John Wood, their late teacher, and presented him with a large pair of handsome vases beautifully figured, and an appropriate motto, as a token of their respect and esteem for him as their teacher. The following address accompanied the gifts:—

To Mr. John Wood, late Head Master of Ashburnham School:

DEAR SIR,—On behalf of the pupils lately under your charge, we beg to present you with the accompanying vases and motto, as a slight token of our esteem and gratitude for your long and arduous labors on our behalf. We have to thank you most sincerely for the warm interest you have ever displayed in the welfare, moral and intellectual, of your pupils, and we trust, though you have severed your connection with our school, that you may long be spared as a resident of our village. Wishing you, Mrs. Wood and family all the compliments of the season and a bright and happy new year. We are yours truly,

ALICE SHIELDS, } On behalf
LILLIE CRAIG, } of the JENNIE MOWRY, } pupils.

1st January, 1880.

Mr. Wood thanked his pupils for their gifts and for the kindly feeling which prompted them. He also took occasion to address a few words of thoughtful solicitude for their future school conduct and welfare. Mr. Wood's resignation of his position as head teacher of the Ashburnham Public School, will be felt as a loss to a good many. He has taught school for the last thirty-three years, twelve having been spent in Ashburnham, and is now taking a good respite from the arduous labour of the past. We learn also that Mr. Wood was the recipient of a beautiful inkstand from the assistant teachers of the above school, at the close of the exercises previous to the Christmas holidays.

A DOG'S MOVEMENTS PHOTOGRAPHED.

From the San Francisco Call, Dec. 28.

It will be remembered that some two or three years ago Mr. Muybridge, the photographer, took a series of pictures of ex-Governor Stanford's celebrated horse Occident, wherein was delineated the position of the limbs of the animal at every stage of the step, the likeness being struck so instantaneously that, although the horse was going at a 2.20 gait, the fine line of the whip was not even blurred. The same principle has recently been applied to the coursing of greyhounds, Mr. Muybridge having been experimenting at ex-Governor Stanford's mansion, Mayfield Grange, Menlo Park, on the action of the celebrated dog Bull-dozer, belonging to Nat Brooks, of this city. The cramped and improbable positions of the dog, as shown in the negatives would scarcely be believed by any one who had not seen the fact recorded by the "unerring finger of light." It is usual to delineate a greyhound extended, but these negatives, among other positions, give the animal with its [illegible], gathering its strength for the spring. The dog is got at speed by holding him on one side while an attendant takes a rabbit across a line drawn in front of the camera, the ground being strewed with a sheet of India rubber to prevent any dust or pebbles flying up to impair the clear cut lines of the picture. The [illegible] passes the front of the camera the fine wire is broken, the electric circuit is complete, and the trustworthy collodion has put the fleeting vision on permanent record. The Occident photographs took all horsemen by surprise, they having no conception of the cramped attitude of the animal in certain stages of his stride, and the ungraceful aspect shown when he is gathering his strength for the bound, and these dog pictures will create a like surprise in the [illegible] the ideal greyhound [illegible] picturesque grace.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

BURLEIGH, &C.

Reeve.—Jas. Golbeene. Councillors.—Brown, McGill, Scott, Wilson.

SOUTH MONAGHAN.

Reeve.—Joseph Barnard. Councillors.—John Lightfoot, John Riddell, Wm. McAllister, Jas. Wood.

BETHANY.

Reeve.—Samuel Grandy; by acclamation; Deputy Reeve, John Kennedy. Councillors.—John Cairns, James Clarke, John Barnicott.

CAVAN.

Reeve.—George Campbell; by acclamation; Deputy Reeve, Samuel Staples. Councillors.—Isaiah Best, W. T. Donaldson, Samuel Ferguson.

CAMPBELLFORD.

Reeve.—Samuel Fraser. Councillors. G. Chew, R. N. Nickerson, S. Chew, N. Courtemanche.

ENNISMORE.

The vote this year was the largest ever polled in the township. At the close the count stood as follows:—For Reeve.—Jeremiah McCarthy, 108; Paul Costello, 56. A good number did not vote for Reeve. For Councillors.—Patrick Crough, 127; Cornelious Conners, 125; John Telford, 105; James Scollard, 56; Robert Calvert, 42; Merlain Darin, 30; Wm. Cummings, 23. The first four were declared to be duly elected. Patrick Brick, Timothy Twoomy, John Corkery and Merlain Leonard resigned before the opening of the poll.

BELMONT.

For Reeve.—Wm. Barges, 177; Porter Preston, 81. For Councillors.—John Vansickle, 160; Robert Anderson, 133; John Turner, 130; Robert Johnston, 129; John Wright, 89; John L. Williamson, 87; William Mathieson, 80; David Lewis, 27. The first four were declared duly elected.

MINDEN.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mr. S. S. Peck, M. P. P., for North Victoria, who had gone to Toronto to attend the Legislature, received a telegram announcing the sudden death of his daughter, and has returned home.

FENELON FALLS.

ACCIDENT.—On Monday of last week, as Mr. Peter Perdue, of Fenelon, was chopping wood, his axe struck a clothes line overhead, and in consequence entered his right foot, inflicting a very bad wound from which the blood flowed so copiously that Mr. Perdue fainted three times. Dr. Bryson, who was sent for, bound up the foot, and the patient is, we hear, doing well.—Gazette.

COBOURG.

NEWSPAPER CHANGE.—The Sentinel and Star are to be combined. The plant of both offices has been purchased by Messrs. E. H. Fogarty & Co., of the Port Hope Times. The new paper will be called the Sentinel-Star. This is a good change, for three papers were too much for a town like Cobourg, and Mr. Fogarty, coming from the office he does, is likely to be able to conduct a newspaper efficiently, even if the rumor be unfounded that Mr. J. B. Trayes himself has a share in the enterprise.

The World's Commercial Marine.

According to the Repertoire General, Bureau Veritas, for 1879-80, the sailing tonnage of the civilized world has decreased from 14,218,073 to 14,168,605—a falling away which shows the decided tendency which now prevails to give steamers the preference over sailing vessels. The total sailing tonnage of Great Britain, which includes colonial tonnage, is 5,804,128, so that considerably more than one third of the tonnage which sails the sea is under the British flag. When we come to steamships, Great Britain takes a still prouder position. The total number of steamers which can be classed as seagoing is 5,587, of which Great Britain has 3,143; and the total net tonnage of steamships is 4,621,[illegible], of which Great Britain has 2,163,575 tons, or about three fifths of the whole. Counting sailing vessels and steamers together, the civilized world has [illegible] tons afloat, of which [illegible], or not [illegible] less than half are under the British flag. Canada occupies the fourth position among nations. The leading nations are Great Britain, United States, Norway, Canada, Germany, Italy and France.

What all Men Should Know.

To Relieve a Cough.—The troublesome cough caused by an accumulation of phlegm in the throat, especially in the morning, experienced mostly by persons afflicted with Chronic Catarrh, can be relieved almost instantly by taking a teaspoonful of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam, which has the advantage of being harmless to the stomach, and at the same time improving the appetite. w1d150-2w

When Thackeray visited our shores for the first time and was invited to partake of a dish of oysters, the size of our middle sized astonished him. Accustomed to the small copper-tainted oyster of his own native isle, he paused. But only for an instant, and in one gulp it was down. "How do you feel?" asked a friend. MANHOOD:

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

WE have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Harper's Young People

ILLUSTRATED.

The evils of sensational literature for the young are well known, and the want of an antidote has long been felt. This is supplied by Harper's Young People, a beautifully illustrated weekly journal, which is equally devoid of the objectionable features of sensational juvenile literature and of that moralizing tone which repels the youthful reader.

The Volumes of the Young People begin with the first Number, published in November of each year. When no time is mentioned, it will be understood that the subscriber wishes to commence with the Number next after the receipt of order.

THE AFGHANISTAN WAR.

Press Despatches via Cable and Montreal Lines.

THE OBNOXIOUS RULES ABOLISHED.

LONDON, Jan. 7.—The Indian Government has decided that the rules respecting war correspondents shall no longer be enforced, but the military commanders will be allowed to impose such restrictions as may be deemed necessary.

INCITING A RISING.

A Jellalabad despatch says the Mollahs are unceasing in their attempts to incite the Mohmunds to rise. Dahoud Shah, Commander-in-Chief of the army of the ex-Ameer, has been sent a prisoner to India.

CORNWALL.

Special to the Review, Jan. 8.

CORNWALL ELECTION.—The writ for Cornwall is in the hands of the Returning Officer. The nomination will be on the 19th and the polling on the 26th of January.

From the Morning Papers.

WINNIPEG.

AN OLD LANDMARK.—Tenders are called for the demolition of the stone walls of Fort Garry, the material being required for the foundations of the new building which the Hudson Bay Company intend erecting.

BELLEVILLE.

IRON ORE.—Sixteen car loads of iron ore formed part of the train over the North Hastings Railway on Tuesday. The product of other mines besides the Seymour and Dufferin is now being shipped.

MONTREAL.

THE QUICKEST TRIP.—The Allan steamer Peruvian made the quickest passage on record in crossing the Atlantic last trip from Halifax to Liverpool. Time—7 days, 2½ hours.

A RUINED RAILWAY.—Over 1,660 men are actively employed in the Grand Trunk workshops here at present, many being engaged in working extra time to meet the pressure. At no former period has so many skilled mechanics been employed by the Company, the highest number in former years, and in the palmiest days of the railway, was 800. The workshops are being lighted with electricity.

SCOTLAND.

LONGEVITY.—The parish of Banchory is remarkable for persons attaining long lives. Last week three of the parishioners, whose united ages amounted to 257 years, passed away. There are still several very old persons in the district. Two are over 90 years of age, and both hale and hearty; and there are four whose ages range from 80 to 90—two of whom may be seen any day following regular employment.

A "WIDDOWS" ROW IN SCOURINGBURN.—A woman named Young was the cause of a little excitement in the town. It came out in evidence that the woman Young had got "a little elevated," and, being an admirer of Mr. Widdows, she proclaimed her opinions of that gentleman too freely in the regions of the Scouringburn. The consequences were that she was surrounded by an excited mob of women, who swore and threatened to do violence to the poor woman. To escape the vengeance of the mob, Mrs. Young took refuge in a shop, but from that she was hunted out, and pursued down Horsewater Wynd towards Guthrie street, where she was attacked and beaten. The police hearing of the disturbance hastened to the scene and arrested the disturbers of the peace.

IN PRISON SINCE CHILDHOOD.—At Edinburgh recently a prisoner, John Murphy, while being sentenced by Lord Young, was addressed as follows:—"Although you are only twenty-five years of age, there are six previous convictions of theft against you. You seem to have begun early. Twelve years ago you had five years in an industrial school, ten years ago you were sent to a reformatory for five years, in 1873 you had six months' imprisonment, in 1875 you had twelve months' imprisonment, in 1876 you had fifteen months' imprisonment, and in 1878 eighteen months' imprisonment; so that since your childhood you have been chiefly in gaol. I must now send you into penal servitude; but I know not whether I am justified in making it the shortest period allowed at law, and I sentence you to five years' penal servitude."

Liberal Faggot Votes.

After the recent outpouring of Gladstonian wrath on the subject of faggots, it will be interesting to hear what the Liberals will have to say explanatory of the anomalous operations which have just been started in a western suburb of Edinburgh called Tynecastle. This out-of-the-way spot has been suddenly converted into a centre of abnormal activity by the operations of some 300 men employed in the construction of eight large blocks of buildings. These blocks contain a total of 132 dwelling houses, which, it is stated, have all been purchased by Liberal workingmen, the purchase-money having been advanced by two investment companies. The work of building is to proceed by night and day; four contractors are under heavy penalty to complete the masonry within thirty-nine days, and should the weather continue favourable the houses will be ready for occupation by the 30th of January, in time to be put on the valuation roll. Without commenting on the tactics of the party as thus revealed, we may rest assured that in the face of such vigorous operations, the Liberals in Midlothian are by no means confident of victory.

Cut this Out—It May Save Your Life.

There is no person living but what suffers more or less with Lung Disease, Coughs, Colds or Consumption, yet some would die rather than pay 75 cents for a bottle of medicine that would cure them. Dr. A. Boschee's German Syrup has lately been introduced in this country from Germany, and its wonderous cures astonish every one that try it. If you doubt what we say in print, cut this out and take it to your Druggist, and get a sample bottle for 10 cents and try it, or a regular size for 75 cents. dw81-ly

Press Despatches via Cable and Montreal Lines

CABLE.

THE TAY BRIDGE ENQUIRY.

LONDON, Jan. 7.—The Board of Trade investigation on the recent disaster on the Tay will, it is thought, end in a mild recommendation to increased care in the construction of bridges, as the Board approved of the bridge when it was built.

LONDON, Jan. 7.—The Pope has written to Bishop Melckers, late of Cologne, exhorting the German bishops and clergy to obey the laws of the State so far as their religion will permit.

MENOTTI GARIBALDI CHALLENGED.

ROME, Jan. 7.—Signor Imbriani, Vice-President of the Italia Irredenta Committee, has challenged Menotti Garibaldi, on account of a letter published in the Roman newspapers of the 4th, in which the latter denied the assertions contained in the pamphlet of Imbriani to the effect that the Ministry were in secret sympathy with Italia Irredenta, and acted from politic motives in seizing the flag displayed at the funeral of General Avezzana. Other duels growing out of this are pending.

FATAL LAND DISPUTE.

LONDON, Jan. 7.—A despatch from Balligary in Tipperary county says that in a land dispute in that parish an affray occurred in which two men named Ryan attacked and killed a man named Bruton.

A WARNING AGAINST EDISON.

PARIS, Jan. 7.—The news of Edison's discovery in electric lighting produced some sensation. Count Dumoncel, recognized as the highest authority on electric science, writes that Edison's lamp is not new, and warns the public against the pompous announcement from the new world.

A BULGARIAN OUTRAGE.

PHILIPPOPOLIS, Jan. 7.—The Bulgarian militia have seized and closed the Greek church, and there is great excitement thereat.

THE TICHBORNE CASE.

LONDON, Jan. 7.—A correspondent to a Liverpool paper says that Judah P. Benjamin has been retained for the claimant in the Tichborne case.

THE RUSSIAN POLICE.

LONDON, Jan. 7.—The police force of St. Petersburg, and other cities of Russia is undergoing reorganization, owing to the fact that Nihilism has rendered it useless. Numbers of officers are suspected of complicity in Nihilist plots and have been arrested.

GERMANY'S MILITARY FACILITIES.

LONDON, Jan. 7.—The Augsburg Allgemeine Zeitung says the German army requires nine days for mobilization and for transport to the Eastern frontier. It would have at its disposal ten railways. Thus, with the greatest imaginable speed, the German armies would appear on the Polish frontier, and be able to cross it sooner than the enemy.

SHOT IN THE WOODS.

WATERTOWN, N.Y., Jan. 7.—Wm McMinn, aged 40, was shot while chopping in the woods near his home, near Rensselaer Falls, yesterday by an unknown man. He crawled a hundred rods towards his house and was found dead last night.

RUNAWAY CARS.

FITCHBURG, Jan. 7.—Twenty-two cars of a freight train got loose this morning at Athol, and ran down grade half a mile till they met an extra freight engine and six cars. The latter were wrecked. A brakeman was slightly, and and unknown man badly injured.

AN HONORED NAME DISHONORED.

BOSTON, Jan. 7.—Stephen Longfellow, a nephew of the poet, Henry W., was to-day held for trial for forging the name of the latter, to a cheque for a thousand.

THE ARTIFICIAL DIAMONDS.

LONDON, Jan. 8.—Mr. MacLear, of the St. Rollox Chemical Works, writes to the Times, certifying that experiments have been made by various persons, who have been able to scratch diamonds, and to engrave two rubies, two sapphires, an amethyst and a cairngorm with the crystalized carbon sand obtained by him.

AN IMPERIAL MEMORIAL.

PARIS, Jan. 8.—The subscription for a memorial to the late Prince Imperial is closed. The amount subscribed is $40,000. The Memorial Committee propose to erect a chapel on an elevated point between the Arc de Triomphe and the Hotel des Invalides.

COMBATTING DIPHTHERIA.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 8.—The Local Red Cross Society of Kharkoff, in view of terrible distress prevailing in the province through the ravages of diphtheria, have formed three medical and sanitary detachments to assist the Government to combat the epidemic.

THE QUEEN OF SPAIN'S HEALTH.

PARIS, Jan. 8.—It is stated that the health of the Queen of Spain has required a severe shock owing to the attempted assassination of King Alfonso. She has been attacked with epileptic fits.

DIRT AND YELLOW FEVER.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 8.—President Porter will not withdraw his resignation, unless every recommendation by the Sanitary Committee, who visited Memphis, be carried out. He says: "If the most important sanitary work is to be neglected, I will not be responsible for the consequences, and if we should have the fever next summer, by reason of neglect, I could not make a successful appeal for money or supplies. Unless the privy vaults are filled up, Memphis will not be safe from a return of yellow fever." Many prominent Memphians have telegraphed to him, urging him to withdraw his resignation.

WHOLESALE GRAVE ROBBERIES.

RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 8.—Another body interred in Oakwood Cemetery on Monday at noon was removed by Resurrectionists the same night. The excitement over the wholesale grave robberies is intense. It is evident that it is the work of medical students. The bodies removed were mostly those of colored people and the colored Legislators here are becoming excited. They threaten to cut off the usual appropriations for the medical college.

BANKRUPT RAILWAYS.

CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—The Railway Age publishes an interesting article on the railway foreclosure sales during 1879. It gives a list of sixty-five roads sold with a mileage of 4,900 miles representing $163,000,000 of bonds and debts, and $80,000,000 of capital stock, being $243,000,000 of capital investment affected. In 1878 forty-eight roads were reported sold; in 1877 fifty-four; 1876 thirty, the total for the last four years being a hundred and ninety seven roads with a mileage of 16,500 miles and a capital investment of $672,000,000 which has been brought to the auction block. This is about a fifth of the entire railway mileage and capital of the United States. Very few new foreclosure suits were begun during the year, showing that the era of bankruptcy is ended. Only six roads were placed in the hands of receivers against twenty-seven in 1878, thirty-eight in 1877, and forty-two in 1876.

STRANGE HALLUCINATION.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 8.—Two weeks ago on Saturday, Mrs. Margaret Tumey, wife of a wealthy bookbinder of this city, who has been ill for five months, was taken with spasms. The only food she has taken since is two ordinary white beans. She is possessed with the hallucination that she has no stomach, which she believes has been rotted away by dyspepsia. Until a week ago she was growing rapidly thinner and weaker. Since then the physicians note no appreciable change in her condition. During most of the time she is kept unconscious by morphine. The unfortunate woman is reduced to a skeleton and wishes to die.

THE MAINE LEGISLATURE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—The Herald's despatch from Augusta, Maine, says the Republicans feel that Eugene Hale made a fatal mistake in qualifying in the House, and they abuse him accordingly. It is believed that a number of Republicans will qualify to-day so they may be strong enough to demand the yeas and nays and so filibuster to keep the fusionists from electing a Governor until the contested cases are settled.

THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—The World's Utica despatch reports an interview with Seymour. He says there is every reason to hope for the success of the Democratic ticket at the coming Presidential election.

ELEVATED RAILWAY COLLISION.

At 9 o'clock this morning two trains of the Elevated railway collided on Ninth Avenue and Sixtieth street. The engines were wrecked but no injury was done to the passengers or employees. The trains were saved from falling into the street by the guards.

IRELAND.

IT is announced that the sum about to be expended on the improvements of the Shannon will be about £300,000.

IN a house in Rutland Square, Dublin, no less than 254 sovereigns were found recently in one of the mansions on the north side of the square by a a locksmith.

DEATHS from drowning has been unusually numerous throughout Ireland, with parties skating or sliding. The frost is reported intense, but evidently not waterproof.

MICHAEL BALL, farmer and bailiff on the estate of Lord Ventry, at [illegible], who was shot in the back by an assassin, has died from the effects.

THE American Fresh Meat Co., of Cork, placed at the Mayor's disposal 1,000 lbs. of meat, (beef and mutton), for the Christmas dinners for the poor of the city.

THE Marquis of Waterford fell off his horse while out fox-hunting on Dec. 19, near Bessborough, Kilkenny. The place where the accident occurred is near where the third Marquis fell and sustained fatal injuries. His lordship is severely cut, but the full extent of his injuries are yet unknown.

WANT is noticeable among the crows in Ireland as well as the people, from the fact that a farmer shot three wild ducks on the River Barrow recently. He had no way of retrieving them, the ice being too thin to bear his weight, but they did not remain long there until several crows came along and greedily devoured them.

A Shot at a Viceroy.

Lord Lytton himself gives the following account of the attempt recently made to shoot him:—'As I entered Calcutta this evening a drunken East Indian fired two shots at my carriage and one at the carriage following. No one hurt. The man was apprehended by my staff.' The man is an Eurasian, belonging to a respectable family and was formerly in the government employ. As the Viceroy was driving in his carriage from the Hooghly Bridge, the man fired twice at His Excellency. The shots were apparently unnoticed by all but Colonel Colley, the private secretary to Lord Lytton, who was in the next carriage to the Viceroy. Hearing the sound of shots, Colonel Colley looked around and saw the would-be-assassin take deliberate aim and fire at him. He and Captain Rose immediately jumped down and followed the man, who had in his hand a revolver. On their seizing him he made no resistance. It is stated that the prisoner had recently been discharged from the Allahabad Lunatic Asylum, and when arrested was in a state of intoxication. All the accounts given of the attempt substantially agree with this one.

Cold in Europe.

In France, where the snow has been much deeper than in England, the winter caused a great deal of inconvenience. The mails were delayed, the streets blocked, the very milkmen could hardly supply their patrons, and were beset in the streets by people wildly athirst for cafe au lait. The Seine was entirely frozen over, as the Upper Thames was the other day, and the consequences were more grave than the mere postponement of the races between the University Trial Eights. Vegetables and fish were scarcely to be purchased. The snow in the streets overcame the exertions of a whole "army of industry" who tried to clear it away; and, in short, miserable as London was, Paris was much more unhappy.

A Good Account.

"To sum it up, six long years of bed-ridden sickness and suffering, costing $200 per year, total, $1,200—all of which was stopped by three bottles of Hop Bitters taken by my wife, who has done her own housework for a year since without the loss of a day, and I want everybody to know of it for their benefit."

THE PETERBOROUGH CENTRAL.

On Tuesday last a final balance sheet was made up of the financial results of the Central Exhibition held in Peterborough last autumn, and we are glad to be able to say that it is one of which the management have every reason to be proud.

Commencing with the nominal sum of $131 on hand, but really only $91, as they had to pay a prize of $40 from the Cobourg Exhibition, and without one dollar of outside aid of any kind, the receipts of the Exhibition came within $210 of paying every cent of expenses connected with it, outside of the preparing of the grounds, which fell upon the local society. Even at Lindsay, where the most successful Central Exhibition outside of Peterborough was held, they received from the previous Exhibition $656, and $723 from contributing societies, making in all $1,379, out of which they handed over to Cobourg $879, leaving their drawing upon outside sources $500, as compared with $300 at our own Exhibition.

At Port Hope they received in the way of contributions from societies no less than $1,160, and drew on the old Peterborough surplus to the extent of $400, making their Exhibition cost, over and above receipts, no less than $1,500. At Cobourg they received $875 from societies, and received from Lindsay $879, leaving the cost of their Exhibition, after deducting the amount sent out to Peterborough, over and above their receipts, more than $1,300. Evidently our Port Hope friends will either have to take a leaf out of the Lindsay and Peterborough book, or abandon their Exhibition next year, as the guarantee fund, without improved management, will be inadequate to make up a deficiency of $1,500.

It is, however, fair to our frontier friends to point out that the chief difference in the financial results of their shows, as compared with those in the north, arises from the unnecessarily large prizes offered to, and taken up by a few breeders of fancy cattle in the front. The prize lists at Cobourg and Port Hope were too much framed in the interests of these breeders for the good of the association, and we very much question if the same cause does not contribute to the depletion of the treasury of the Provincial Association.

OUR AGRICULTURAL EXHIBITIONS.

The rapid multiplication of annual exhibitions which in a greater or less degree rival the Provincial, and the success which has attended the efforts of their promoters, combined with the unfortunate results of the Provincial Exhibition at Ottawa, would almost seem to have alienated all sympathy from the council which manages the affairs of the latter. Whatever the real cause, it is not unnatural that people should complain when they find that by judicious management, these Central Exhibitions can be made almost self-supporting, while the Provincial, notwithstanding its annual subsidy of $10,000, shows a deficiency of some $11,000 at the close of 1879. It is not travelling beyond the record to say that the Provincial has never been financially well managed, and that if it is to continue to exist as a Provincial institution, the council must turn over a new leaf. Although really elective, the members of the council have hitherto been elected in a sort of a hap-hazard manner, and without any reference to their experience or personal qualifications for the discharge of the important duties entrusted to them. Owing, however, to the manner in which the Central organizations have been bringing the working men in exhibition matters in the several districts together, and the experience thus gained in the working of such exhibitions, combined with an improved method of election, we may reasonably hope to see men of experience and energy elected in the future as members of the council—men who, whether for better or for worse, will have energy enough in them to depart from the beaten track of the past, and make the council a live institution. In our own division a free choice will be afforded, as our late representative, Mr. Wilmot, of Newcastle, has declared in the most positive terms that he will not again be a candidate for re-election, and it will be the fault of our agricultural societies if they do not send a live man to the council as their representative, as during the past five years they have had ample opportunities of judging of the merits of the representative men in each county for such a position, and there can therefore be no excuse for not making a good selection.

A PROJECTED RAILWAY.

Ontario and Pacific Junction Railway—Appointment of a Board of Directors.

The first general meeting of the shareholders of the Ontario and Pacific Junction Railway was held at noon on Monday. After the adoption of several by-laws the following gentlemen were elected as a Board of Directors:—Hon. F. Smith, President Northern Railway; Mr. Geo. A. Cox, President Midland Railway, Peterborough; Mr. Edward Gurney, Vice-President Hamilton and North-Western Railway, Hamilton; Mr. James Holden, Managing Director Whitby, Port Perry, and Lindsay Railway, Whitby; Hon. Alex. Morris, M.P.P., Toronto; Adam Brown, Merchant, Hamilton; A. T. Fulton, Director Whitby, Port Perry, and Lindsay Railway, Toronto; Robert Jaffray, Director Midland Railway, Toronto.

At a meeting of the new Board, held subsequently, Mr. J. D. Edgar was elected President and Hon. Frank Smith Vice-President of the Company, and Mr. Andrew Green, Toronto, was appointed Secretary.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

OPENING OF THE FIRST SESSION OF THE FOURTH PROVINCIAL ASSEMBLY.

Lieutenant Governor's Speech—Programme for the Session—Law Reforms—Tax Exemptions—Legislative Buildings.

Special to the Review.

Toronto, Jan. 8.—At 15 minutes past two the formal opening of the Ontario Legislature took place. The House was literally crammed with ladies and prominent public men. The Speaker notified his Honor of his election, and expressed the hope that he would on the part of the House enjoy all the privileges to which his predecessors had been entitled.

His Honor having assured him that such would be the case, proceeded to read as follows:—

Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly:—

I have great pleasure in meeting you on this the first occasion of the Legislative Assembly being convened since the general election of the past year. The deep interest manifested in the opportunity then afforded for a full discussion of public affairs, and the quietness and order with which the elections were everywhere conducted, were striking proofs of the intelligence and public spirit of the people of this Province.

I am happy to be able to congratulate you on the beneficial effects upon the country, arising from last years abundant harvest, and on the fact that an increased demand for certain classes of lumber has indicated some tendency to revival in that long depressed industry.

I had the pleasure last summer of paying an official visit to the Thunder Bay district, and to the territory declared by the late award to be part of the province of Ontario, lying between Lake Superior and the Lake of the Woods, and I have reason to believe that my visit was not without public advantage. I commend to your attention the reports relating to the resources of this and other sections of the north-western and northern portions of the province, received from the stipendiary magistrates appointed under the provisions of an act of last session, and which will be laid before you.

The existence of gold deposits in the islands of the Lake of the Woods has lately attracted much attention, and should this circumstance, as is anticipated, occasion a considerable influx of population to that locality during the ensuing spring and summer, some additional measures for the preservation of peace and order may be necessary. Some correspondence has taken place between my Government and the Government of Canada, respecting the award of the boundary arbitration. I trust that at the approaching session of the Dominion Parliament the award will receive from that body legislative recognition.

The attention of my Government has recently been directed to the duty of bringing the management of the Reformatory for boys at Penetanguishene more thoroughly in harmony with the original design and intention of such an institution. The system it is proposed to pursue is modelled on the improved method adopted at the most successful establishments of this kind elsewhere, and with the view of substituting for penal discipline a treatment and influence of a strictly reformatory character, a bill will be submitted to you for this object, and your assent will be asked to an appropriation to cover some necessary outlay in connection with the changes contemplated.

The Ontario Agricultural College has been so far a success as to justify, in my opinion, legislation providing for its permanent management. I trust a measure framed with that object will meet with your approval.

The intimate connection between the prosperity and advancement of the agricultural interests of Ontario and the welfare of all other classes of the community is universally recognized.

You will be asked to provide for the appointment of a commission to enquire into various matters affecting this great industry, and especially to ascertain by what means increased efficiency may be given to the efforts of the Government and Legislature in its behalf.

Experience in the working of the Free Grant Acts has shown that the absolute relinquishment of the rights of the Crown to the pine timber upon the lands of the patentee has encouraged a wasteful treatment of our pine forests, and has been attended with loss to the revenue without corresponding benefit to the locatee. You will be asked to consider a measure designed to protect the public interests in these respects.

The depressed condition of the agriculturists of Great Britain leads to the expectation that a considerable immigration of farmers and farm laborers to Canada may be anticipated during the present year. Care will be taken by my Government to place the claims and advantages of the Province of Ontario favorably and prominently before that portion of the population of the United Kingdom.

In view of the satisfactory results that have attended past efforts towards the fusion of law and equity procedure in this province, you will be invited to consider a measure which by consolidating the Superior Courts of law and equity, and providing for the adoption of a uniform and an improved system of practice and pleadings, will complete the work of assimilation.

Some extension, with due safeguards, of the jurisdiction of the Division Courts appears to be called for by public opinion, and a bill will be laid before you.

From the proceedings in the Dominion Parliament at its last session, the early abolition of the Dominion Insolvency Law appears to be imminent, and in view of that event it may be desirable that a measure for the equal distribution of the property of insolvent debtors should be placed on the statute book of Ontario without delay.

The frequent serious accidents, attended in many instances with loss of life to brakesmen employed on railways, suggest the importance of some legislation making it the duty of railway companies to provide means by which the dangers of this necessarily perilous avocation may be diminished. I invite your earnest attention to this subject.

Certain of the statutory exemptions from the burdens of municipal expenditure have been felt to be a grievance in some of our municipalities. A bill on this subject will be proposed for your acceptance, and at the same time you will be asked to consider some other changes in the incidence of local taxation.

The requirements of the Legislature and Public Departments have long since outgrown the accommodation afforded by buildings erected at a time when the population of Ontario comprised but little over 500,000 souls, and when the business transacted was proportionately limited. As long since as the year 1872, and again in 1877 the Government architect called attention in his reports to the Commissioner of Public Works to the necessity on the grounds of health, safety and economy, for the early erection of a new Legislative Chamber and public offices. For some years it has been necessary to secure a hired house for the business of two of the Departments, while that of a third is transacted at a distance of nearly a mile from the main building. Meantime large sums have been unavoidably expended in repairs incidental to the deterioration effected by time. The public records, constantly accumulating, have been in great peril from insufficient security against fire, and increasing inconvenience has been experienced year by year owing to the want of the space demanded for proper departmental arrangements.

The report of the architect with plans and estimates for the construction of new buildings on a more eligible and more healthy site will be laid before you. The value of the present site for other purposes will materially reduce the cost of the new structure, while the price of material and labour is favourable at this time for such undertakings. It appears to me therefore to be worthy of your very serious consideration, whether the erection of an edifice commensurate with the needs of the public service and creditable to the province should be longer delayed.

The annual reports of the several departments will be submitted for your information. In connection with the report of the Minister of Education, it is satisfactory to observe that the improvements introduced within the last two years into the system of training teachers through the agency of the Normal and County Model Schools, has been attended with the best results to the great cause of public school education.

The Public Accounts of receipts and expenditure will be laid before you.

The estimates for the current year will on an early day be presented for your approval. They will be found to be framed with all due regard for that economy which is consistent with the demands of the public service.

I trust that in this, the last session of the Legislative Assembly during which I am likely to occupy the position of Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, the work accomplished may be of so permanent and useful a character as to leave in the minds of all who are engaged in or identified with it a feeling of true and lasting satisfaction.

Dr. Guthrie on Porridge and Prayers.

Mr. Tweedrail's last meeting with Guthrie was in Amsterdam, in 1867, at the Evangelical Alliance Congress in that city. The Doctor gave an account of his Ragged Schools to a vast audience, chiefly composed of foreigners. Many were able to follow him, though he spoke in English, and their astonishment was indeed great. Even the undemonstrative Dutch were roused by his stirring appeals, and their enthusiasm rose to a high pitch when he closed by saying, "Now, if you mean to take this work in hand, and try and rescue these forsaken ones, mind that ye provide plenty of soap and water. Begin by washing and scrubbing them well, that they may know, it may be for the first time in their lives, the feeling of being clean. Then feed them with a bountiful meal of milk and porridge; and then prayers! Porridge first, mind; prayers afterwards." The people fairly shouted as they listened to this quaint but sensible advice from the eloquent Scotchman.

Remedy for Hard Times.

Stop spending so much on fine clothes, rich food and style. Buy good, healthy food, cheaper and better clothing; get more real and substantial things of life every way and especially stop the foolish habit of running after expensive and quack doctors or using so much of the vile humbug medicine that does you only harm, and make the proprietors rich, but put your trust in the greatest of all simple, pure remedies, Hop Bitters, that cures always at a trifling cost, and you will see better times and good health. Try it once. Read it in another column. d168-1y

LAKEFIELD NEWS.

From Our Own Correspondent.

THE ELECTION CONTEST.

The Municipal Election contest in Lakefield was an exciting one. The battle was fought earnestly and energetically, and at the same time fairly. On Monday the streets of the village presented a lively appearance in the vicinity of the poll. Crowds of people lined Queen street during the whole day, and excitement ran very high during the counting of the ballots, but every thing passed off quietly and good-naturedly. The public generally are very well satisfied with the result. Those who are beaten acknowledge their defeat and hope for the best. The candidates were both looked upon as good men for the position. Mr. Hull cannot take defeat very badly when the majority is so small. The following is the state of the poll:—

John Hull	[illegible]
R. C. Strickland	[illegible]

On Tuesday, at noon, in the Council Room, Mr. Sanders, the Village Clerk, declared the result of the Municipal election to be as follows:—Mr. R. C. Strickland, Reeve; and Messrs. T. J. Nelson, J. Garbutt, Jas. Horner, and J. H. McWilliams, Councillors, elected by acclamation.

SCHOOL BOARD.

The regular meeting of the Lakefield Public School Board will take place on the evening of Tuesday next, in the Council Chamber.

REEVE OF BURLEIGH, &C.

The many friends of Mr. Golborne in and around Lakefield are pleased at his triumphant election again as Reeve. It is quite apparent that a great deal of Mr. Golborne's opposition came from outside influence. Mr. Golborne is an excellent Reeve, and an unflinching friend of the settlers in the back country.

MISSIONARY SERVICES.

The Missionary Services in connection with the Bible Christian Church, will begin in this village on Sunday, the 18th instant, in the evening by the Rev. Mr. Roberts, of Peterborough. A collection will be taken up at the close of the sermon in aid of the Bible Christian Missionary Society. On the following Thursday evening, a platform meeting will be held and addresses delivered by the Revs. Messrs. Roberts, Motherell, and others. No doubt a large gathering will greet the reverend gentlemen, as an oratorical treat may be expected.

MOOSE DEER.

Mr. D. Nelson, of Muskoka District, brought to Lakefield last week, the head of a large moose deer, which was killed in the above named district. It was quite an interesting sight, and a large number availed themselves of the opportunity offered for an inspection. The head was placed in a box which required to be over five feet in width in order to contain the horns. The head measured 2 ft. 6 in. in length, from the nose to the top of the skull.

BURLEIGH ROAD.

On Thursday last Dr. Bell passed and met over 60 teams while going from Lakefield to Mount Julian. The traffic of all kinds is very brisk at present on this thoroughfare.

MARRIAGE MANIA.

It is said that no less than five couple were married on Wednesday last, in Lakefield. Your correspondent cannot vouch for the truth of the statement, but has no reason to doubt its correctness, because there are so many bachelors in the village just turning into the "Sere and Yellow leaf," that the number, five a day, could be kept up for some time. Speed the cause.

SCHOOL DEBT.

The debt still remaining on the Lakefield School House is $2,200, which will be paid off in three years, as follows—1881, $700; 1882, $700; 1883, $800. In addition to this, interest at 7 per cent. per annum will have to be paid.

SLEIGHING.

Sleighing is still very good, notwithstanding the late rains and thaw, which have left our streets and roads solid beds of ice.

COUNCIL MEETINGS.

The last meeting of the old Village Council will be held on Monday evening next in the Council Chamber on Queen street. The first meeting of the new council will be held on the Monday following.

SCHOOL.

The Public School of Lakefield opened on Monday last, all the teachers being on hand to begin their work after the holidays. As usual a very large number of pupils were present.

A MILLION PEOPLE STARVING.

Archbishop Lynch, who has recently returned from a visit to Ireland, has published the following letter in the Toronto papers:—

SIR,—Permit me to assure the public that from personal observation there is a wide-spread distress in Ireland and in the countries mentioned in the letter of Her Grace the Duchess of Marlborough. Starvation stares the people in the face if they are not succoured. The bishops of Ireland testify to the general distress in those countries. There appears to be a vague notion in the minds of some that there is no destitution in Ireland unless the people there die of starvation. There are at least a million people in that unhappy country who do not get the nourishing food of peasants of their class in the other nations of Europe, and they are certainly worse clothed. I have seen more women and children barefooted in Ireland than in England, Germany, France and Italy together. I visited the schools in more than one city in Ireland and found the children miserably clad. The majority barefooted and hunger clearly depicted on their otherwise interesting countenances. And this is the state of the majority of the poor schools of Scotland. The nuns who taught those schools have assured me that it sickens them to enter the class rooms to teach the children disheartened with hunger. They curtail their own means to share with them. One said: "Our children are very good, they always share their lunch with their poorer companions, but it shames us to see those poor little ones devour the little bread they get." This want is so general that in a fertile country it is a disgrace to a civilized nation. Such a state of things cannot last long in the 19th century. It is quite true, as has been said, that the [illegible] know it to be rather from national pride and [illegible] than because there is no grievous distress. Yours &c., John Joseph Lynch, Archbishop of Toronto.

SCHOOL IS IN.

Gathering at the portals,
  Gliding through the doors,
Seated on the benches,
  Little ones by scores!
Marching to the music
  Of familiar airs,
Tells the common story,
  "School life and its cares."

Blessed little faces,
  Pictures in a row;
Buds of coming [illegible]
  How the [illegible] grow!
Mark each brow [illegible]
  To subdue the will,
Smiling fun and frolic,
  Trying to keep still.

Rosy little fingers,
  Toying with the books,
Lately picking berries
  In the shady nooks;
Feet that prove [illegible]
  [illegible]
Yesterday a-romping
  Through some snowy bed.

Soon you'll take it kindly,
  Merry little men;
Fighting bloodless battles,
  With the book and pen,
Little men and maidens,
  You are sure to win—
Hark, the bell is ringing,
  Heed it "School is in."

IMAGINATION IN DISEASE.

Dr. Tuke says, "As in health certain mental states may induce disease, so in disease certain mental states may restore health," and he gives some remarkable illustrations of the influence of will, imagination, fear, hope, faith and other attributes on physical conditions. The story is given of the doctor who left his prescription on the table for a lady who suffered from pleurodynia, saying, "Put this to your side;" the patient literally did so, instead of obtaining the prescribed plaster, but in spite of this mistake, derived great benefit from the application. A parallel case is mentioned by Dr. John Brown, of Edinburgh. He ordered a laboring man some medicine, and giving him the prescription, said, "Take that, and come back in a fortnight and you will be well." As he returned at that time hearty and well, free from colic and sinking at the stomach, of which he had complained, and with clean tongue, cool hand and happy face, Dr. Brown was very proud of the wonders his prescription had effected, and said, "Let me see what I gave you." "Oh," said the patient, "I took it." "Yes," said the doctor, "but the prescription?" "I took it, as you bade me; I swallowed the paper itself."

Sir Humphrey Davy relates a cure of paralysis due to aroused hope and expectation. He placed a thermometer under the tongue, with the intention of administering afterward nitrous oxide, which had been recommended as a specific for paralysis. The paralytic man, wholly ignorant of the process to which he was to submit, but deeply impressed by the doctor with the certainty of its success, no sooner felt the thermometer between his teeth than he concluded the talisman was in operation, and in a burst of enthusiasm, declared that he already experienced the effects of its benign influence throughout his whole body. The opportunity was too tempting to be lost. Davy did nothing more, but desired his patient to return on the following day. The same ceremony was repeated, the same result followed and at the end of a fortnight he was dismissed, cured, no remedy of any kind except the thermometer having been used.

Dr. Rush gives his testimony to the good effects of inspiring confidence, even in active disease. "I have," he says, "frequently prescribed remedies of doubtful efficacy in the critical stage of acute disease, but never till I had worked up my patients into a confidence bordering upon certainty of their probably good effects."

Dr. Tanner, in recommending a certain remedy, remarks, "It is all important, before you apply it, to convince your patient that he will be cured, for if you fail in your powers of persuasion, it is probable the result will not be satisfactory." This almost amounts to a confession that the cure is really effected by powerful appealing to the imagination. The power of the will in resisting disease is unquestionable. "Oh, if I could once make a resolution and determine to be well!" exclaimed the German physician Walderstein. The poet Churchill said:—

> "The surest road to health, say what they will,
> Is never to suppose we shall be ill;
> Most of those evils we poor mortals know
> From doctors and imagination flow."

An authentic example of the controlling power of the will is given in the case of Andrew Crosse, the electrician, who was bitten by a dog that died the same day of hydrophobia. He appears to have thought little of the circumstance at the time, and was certainly not nervous about it. Three months after, he felt one morning great pain in his arm, with extreme thirst. He called for a glass of water. To use his own words:

"As I was about to raise the tumbler to my lips, a strong spasm shot across my throat; immediately the terrible conviction came that I was to fall a victim to hydrophobia. The agony I endured for one hour is indescribable; the contemplation of such a horrible death was almost insupportable. The pain passed up to the elbow and from thence to the shoulder, threatening to extend. I felt human aid was useless, and believed I must die. At length I began to reflect on my condition. I said to myself, either I shall die or I shall not; if I do it will be only a similar fate which many have suffered and I must bear it like a man, but if there is any hope of my life my only chance is in summoning my utmost resolution, defying the attack and exerting every effort of my mind. Accordingly I took my gun, shouldered it and went out for the purpose of shooting, my arm aching the while intolerably. I got no sport but walked the whole afternoon, exerting at every step a strong mental effort against the disease. On returning I was decidedly better, and able to eat some dinner and drink some water as usual. Next morning the aching had gone down to my elbow, the following it went down to the wrist, and the third day left me altogether. I mentioned the circumstance to Dr. Kinglake, who said he certainly considered that I had had an attack of hydrophobia, which probably would have proved fatal had I not struggled against it by a strong effort of the mind."

Dr. George M. Beard, in discussing the power of the will not long since, said:—

"The force of will is a potent element in determining longevity. This single point must be granted without argument, that of two men every way alike and similarly circumstanced, the one who has the greater courage and grit will be the longer lived. One does not need to practice medicine long to learn that men die who might just as well live if they resolved to live, and that myriads who are invalids could become strong if they had the native or acquired will to vow they would do so. Those who have no other quality favorable to life, whose bodily organs are nearly all diseased, to whom each day is a day of pain, who are beset by life-shortening influences, yet do live by will alone. —Laws of Life.

American Turkeys.

An Irish correspondent of a Dublin paper writes:—"The arrival is expected in England of 10,000 turkeys from the United States. Ireland has always been a great source of supply to the London Christmas market, and the foreign competition will heavily affect the prices in the home trade. I have seen fifty shillings paid for a big turkey in Leadenhall Market, and [illegible] charges are certainly exorbitant. If the American fowl [illegible] here in good condition it will be a sad blow to the hopes of the poultry producers in Ireland."

The Markets.

REVIEW OFFICE,
THURSDAY, January 8th, 1880.

Now that the holidays are about over, and the fate of the municipalities and school sections decided for another year, attention will once more revert to "business," and the "probabilities" with regard to the price of wheat become a very important question to many of our readers. In view of the always stagnant state of the markets at this period of the year it is too soon to predicate probabilities. We may however call attention to the attempt which is now being made, with apparent success, by a ring of speculators in New York and Chicago, to control the wheat market of these cities—which means practically of the United States.

We see it stated that in a single day last week the financial agents of this ring in Chicago, paid out $1,650,000 in gold in settlement of the balances against them on account of the purchases of the ring. This state of affairs show the fallaciousness of looking to western markets as a regulator of our own. So long as the ring referred to is in the ascendant, Chicago prices must be relatively higher than Canadian, and while it lasts the Globe will be afforded many opportunities of proving (?) that the N. P. has reduced the price of Canadian wheat as compared with American. But a break must come sooner or later, and the fortunate will be those who have sold before it does come. In the meantime it will enhance prices more or less in the other markets of the world, and although we cannot name just the day and still less the "hour" when to sell, we know were we holders of wheat, we should try and get it off our hands before the 1st March next. It should always be borne in mind that increased prices means decreased consumption, and that to speculate on the price of wheat next June is not only to speculate on the quantity already harvested throughout the world, but also on the coming crops. So far as the English market is concerned the tendency just now is decidedly downward.

Swallowed a Baby.

When Thackeray visited our shores for the first time and was invited to partake of a dish of oysters, the the size of our saddle rocks astonished him. Accustomed to the small copper-tainted oyster of his own native isle, he paused. But only for an instant, and in one gulp it was down. "How do you feel?" asked a friend. "I feel as though I had swallowed a baby," was the reply. To the benighted foreigner our oysters are a revelation as is also SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL combined with the HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA, which for debility, all bronchial affections and consumption stands unrivalled. It is also acceptable to the most delicate stomach. w2l1-1m

Church Music.—The finest music provided by any church in the country is to be heard on Sundays and holidays at St. Francis Xaviers' in New York. Its organ and its choir are alike famous, and its services are crowded by both the religious and the esthetical. The credit of this superb preeminence belongs to the organist, Professor Wm. Berge, music doctor, who but a little while ago, ruptured an artery in his arm, and had to abandon his profession until cured by Giles' Liniment Iodide Ammonia.

Among the Luxuries of Life.

But a brief period has passed since when a month's time was necessary to accomplish a journey of few hundred miles and then we went lumbering over the rough country, highways on springless seats. Now the same journey is made in sumptuous drawing room cars, with all the comforts and many of the luxuries brought to us by servants. Once upon a time when we found it necessary to our health we set apart a brief period to "doctor up" and then came a struggle with that awful Castor Oil. Now we sip it from the bottle while we continue regularly at our vocations. But it is SCOTT & BOWNE'S PALATABLE CASTOR OIL we take. It is one of the luxuries of life that is afforded at 25 cents. w2l1-1m

A POSITIVE FACT.—Nervousness is the cause of feebleness, or the lack of stability of the nervous system, as distinguished from the rest of the body. It is pre-eminently a disease, and more widely spread through the Northern and Eastern part of the United States and the Dominion of Canada than in any other part of the world. We will not stop to say why this is the case, but we do emphatically say the Victoria Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites will be found an invaluable medicine for all parties afflicted with Nervousness, Dyspepsia, Consumption, Defective Nutrition, General Debility, or weakness of the whole system. One of the first effects is an increase of the nervous or vital energy, followed by a feeling of unusual comfort and strength. For sale by all dealers. wd4l20-6w

TWENTY-EIGHTH YEAR.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW FOR 1880.

AN ENTIRELY NEW FEATURE!

How to Obtain the Leading Papers and Save Money.

FAIR, SQUARE AND RELIABLE OFFERS.

WITH the year 1880, the WEEKLY REVIEW will enter on its 28th year of publication. Notwithstanding the improvements which have been made upon it, and the ever increasing expenditure incurred to keep it AHEAD of any of its competitors, the annual subscription will remain as heretofore, only $1.50—postage paid by the publishers.

Splendid Clubbing Advantages.

The Proprietors of the REVIEW have great pleasure in announcing that they have made arrangements with the publishers of the following leading periodicals in Canada and the United States, by which they are enabled to club these periodicals with the WEEKLY REVIEW at remarkably low prices.

READ CAREFULLY.—Below are three columns of figures. The name of the paper or magazine is given, and the FIRST column gives the REGULAR PUBLISHER'S PRICE. The SECOND column gives the regular subscription price of the WEEKLY REVIEW. The THIRD column gives the price at which we are prepared to supply new subscribers with BOTH the paper or magazine and the WEEKLY REVIEW combined, for one year. It is certainly an object to save money these times, and it is easy to see by our Club List how it can be done.

RURAL NEW-YORKER.—This is the best Agricultural Weekly in America, and every subscriber who accepts this offer will also receive a package of the new varieties of Field, Garden, and Flower Seeds, free, which itself is valued at $2.50!

HARPER'S PUBLICATIONS count among their contributors an army of the ablest writers and artists of Europe and America, are profusely illustrated, and rank among the most popular of their kind on the American Continent.

THE LONDON TRACT SOCIETIES PUBLICATIONS.—The fact that Leisure Hour, Sunday at Home, and the Boy's Own Paper are issued by this Society, is an ample guarantee of their excellence in every respect.

THE CANADA PRESBYTERIAN.—Every subscriber to this paper will receive steel engraved copies of the companion pictures of the "Death of Nelson," and the "Meeting of Wellington and Blucher."

THE MAIL.—Subscribers to the Mail will also receive The Canadian Farm Annual for 1880, illustrated with 140 Engravings, and containing valuable information and practical suggestions or every Farmer.

How to get the Weekly Review for Nothing!

Any person subscribing for the WEEKLY REVIEW, and desiring to obtain two or more of the above publications along with the REVIEW, can have them at the price quoted, less $1.50. For example:—

HARPER'S MAGAZINE and WEEKLY REVIEW	$4 50
HARPER'S WEEKLY, additional, and without the WEEKLY REVIEW	3 20
Total for the Three	$7 70

Or, 30 cents less than the regular publishers price for Harper's Magazine and Harper's Weekly, with the WEEKLY REVIEW thrown in for nothing!

HOW TO SAVE MONEY!

Suppose you wish for 1880, to subscribe for the Weekly Mail, $1.00; Rural New-Yorker, $2.00; Harper's Magazine, $4.00; Methodist Magazine, $2.00; the lot will cost you direct, just $9.00, and you have four letters to write, four money orders to buy, and four separate risks to run. Now look at our price above; ALL WE ASK for the same periodicals, WITH THE WEEKLY REVIEW INCLUDED, is $7.90, and your papers and magazines will come promptly direct from the publishers, just the same as if you had ordered them yourself.

PLEASE OBSERVE.—All Postage is paid in full in Canada and United States.

ANOTHER SCHEME.

The WEEKLY REVIEW for 1880 will be sent (postage paid) to any person who has been a subscriber for the last twelve months, who sends us his renewal subscription—

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, JANUARY 8, 1880.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

Board of Education.

There will be a meeting of the Board of Education at the Collegiate Institute this evening being the first sitting of the new Board for this year.

A Mayor for Lindsay.

An old Peterborough resident, Mr. F. C. Taylor, has been elected to the Mayoralty at Lindsay, where Peterborough men have before now been duly appreciated.

Quick Threshing.

Mr. John Dobbin this week threshed in eleven hours, with Mr. Sutton's clover machine, fifty bushels of clover seed, from the first years crop of clover.

Good Hams.

Mr. J. W. Flavelle is offering to his customers a brand of hams cured by himself according to a special receipt, and he is confident that purchasers will be well satisfied with their excellent quality.

I. O. G. T.

Carswell Lodge No. 411, I. O. G. T., meet this evening at Friendship Hall, George Street. All the members are requested to be present as business relating to the coming entertainment is to be transacted.

The Rink and Skating.

The mild weather of the past few days has softened the ice at the rink so that there is no skating. The curling rink still holds good. One night of a severe frost would fit the ice for use again.

The Pensioners.

On Monday next Major Milligan, the Pension Staff Officer of Toronto, will be in Peterborough, and pay the pensioners of the British army, residing in this district. He will proceed from here to Bobcaygeon and pay the pensioners in that district.

Horticultural Society.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Horticultural Society, will be held in the Town Council Chamber this evening, at half-past seven o'clock. As the officers for the current year are to be elected, and there is other business of importance to transact, all the members should be in attendance, if possible.

Proctor's Revelers.

Last night's train brought to town Miss Sallie Woodruff, Miss Hattie Stanley, and Mr. Harry Lindsay, accompanied by Mr. Thomas Allen, all members of Proctor's Revelers. Miss Woodruff has, we learn, been a favourite with the people of the States for years, and brings with her a reputation which guarantees to the public a careful and finished rendering of the role entrusted to her care.

The Wheat Market.

The wheat market has weakened greatly. A decided downward tendency is noticed at all the great wheat centres, and our own market is in sympathy. There is very little wheat coming in, probably owing to the bad weather; yet what little comes forward is reluctantly taken at our quotations. The buyers are all nervous over the condition, and hesitate to pay the ruling price, and it is thought that a general break will follow speedily.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district as reported from Toronto at 10 o'clock to-day are; Moderate winds, cloudy to foggy, continued mild weather with rain areas. At Peterborough the wind has been easterly to north-easterly, cloudy, foggy and occasional rain. The sleighing is fast disappearing and unless we have a change, wheels will soon have to be resorted to. Sleighing still holds good on the country roads.

No. 3 Company, 57th Battalion.

The above Company met on Tuesday evening last in their Drill Shed, Ashburnham, and had a very good turn out. They are improving very much in their drill, and if they keep it up regularly, and pay attention to it, will soon be hard to beat. After the drill was over Sergeant Billings put a squad through the single stick exercise, which is both very amusing and instructive. They drill again to-night for an hour, from eight to nine.

Mission Services.

On Sunday next the services at the Bible Christian Churches in Peterborough and Ashburnham, will be unusually interesting. Sermons upon the subject of missions will be preached by ministers from abroad. On Monday evening, Jan. 12th, a missionary meeting will be held in the Peterborough church, Murray Street, at 7.30 o'clock. On Tuesday evening, the 13th, the missionary meeting will be held in the church at Ashburnham.

The Batchelors' Assembly.

The Batchelors of Peterborough and Ashburnham gave an assembly at the Town Hall in Ashburnham, on Wednesday evening, which proved a very successful affair. The large company present assembled at an early hour, enabling them to separate at a much more reasonable time than is usually the case at such gatherings. The supper was furnished by Mrs. Calcee in her well known ability. The decorations were very attractive and were as follows:—At the west end of the hall the oars of the Boat Club were crossed with the monogram P.C.B. The first panel on the south side was taken up with the colors of the 57th Battalion, and between them was a stand of crossed rifles and bayonets. The next panel was devoted to the Cricket Club, bats, wickets, &c., with the monogram of the club, and a scroll bearing the motto, "The Noble Game." At the east end was a brilliant star of cavalry swords, with a Union Jack for a back ground, and a bright silver helmet in the centre. On the north side a panel each was given to the Lacrosse, Curling and Snow Shoe Clubs, their paraphanalia being tastefully arranged. In the centre of the hall two glittering crystal chandeliers were suspended. The whole when lighted up caused an expression of admiration to escape from the guests. The party was a brilliant one, and reflects credit upon all engaged in the work of management and decorating.

The Royal Jackite-Chy Japanese.

Last evening Irving's Royal Jackite-Chy Japanese Company appeared for the first time in Peterborough at Bradburn's Opera House, in connection with the Novelty 4. There was a fair audience present, who evidenced their approbation in loud applause and with roars of laughter. The programme opened with the laughable farce of "A Jealous Wife," by the Novelty 4. The Japanese followed with many of their wonderful feats which received hearty applause. The Whitneys in a double jig, and a German sketch by Mr. Lester Howard and Miss Lizzie Hunter entitled "Fritz's Return," and Mr. Matt Green in his contortion posturing, followed in succession and met with the approbation of the audience. The Japanese then gave some of their most difficult feats, in which they were very clever, and this was the great attraction of the entertainment. They give an entire change of programme this evening, including some more wonderful feats than those given last evening. The ceiling of the Opera House is too low for them to give two of their important feats; they propose, however, to substitute others no less startling. The entertainment concluded with the new and original burletta, entitled "Rehearsal in the Parlor," by the Novelty 4. To-night will be the last appearance of the Japanese in Peterborough, as they are to return to their own country early in the coming season.

POLICE COURT.

VAGRANCY.

THURSDAY, Jan. 8.—At the Police Court this morning, Mr. James Edwards, J.P., presiding, the case of Constable McGhee vs. John Rodgers was up for a hearing. The complaint charges the defendant with having no visible means of support, contrary to the by-law in that behalf. The defendant pleaded guilty to the charge and was remanded until Monday, January 12th.

THE GRANGERS.

Election of Officers of the Northumberland and Durham Division Grange.

The Northumberland and Durham Division Grange, No. 14, P. of H., holding their annual sessions at Peterborough, met again this (Thursday) morning in Friendship Temperance Hall, at 9 o'clock, the hall being filled with delegates from the various subordinate Granges in the district. The morning session was mostly taken up with reports of committees. The following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing year:—

Jesse Prull, Oshawa	Master.
T. Johnston, Otonabee	Overseer.
D. Kennedy, Otonabee	Lecturer.
T. B. Carlaw, Warkworth	Steward.
D. A. McFarlane, Otonabee	Asst. Steward.
Ira Brisbin, Baltimore	Chaplain.
S. Caldwell, Perrytown	Treasurer.
N. Peters, Canton	Secretary.
Wm. Sullivan, Baltimore	Gate-keeper.
Mrs. H. Davidson, Smith	Ceres.
Mrs. Job Humphries, Ashburnham	Pomona.
Mrs. Ira Brisbin, Baltimore	Flora.
Mrs. D. Kennedy, Otonabee	Lady Asst. Steward.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

S. Parsons	Baltimore.
I. J. Mallory	Cobourg.
H. Davidson	Smith.
D. D. Henderson	Otonabee.
H. Middleton	Newcastle.
Levi Van Camp	Bowmanville.

The afternoon session was devoted to the reception of the reports of committees and the disposal of unfinished business.

YOUNG'S POINT.

From Our Own Correspondent.

PATH MASTERS.—There are great complaints about the path masters appointed by the Council of Smith on the road to Burleigh Bridge from Anglesey's corner. The same parties are appointed from year to year whether they are fit or not. Why not employ younger and more energetic men! Let the Councillors see to this on making appointments this year, and have the roads better looked after than at present.

SAW MILL.—Mr. Geo. Chalmers' saw mill is in thorough going order, so farmers and others wanting custom sawing done, come along with your logs, and they will be attended to by our genial sawyer, P. P. Young.

SLABS.—Mr. Chalmers is having 100 cords of slabs cut up and piled this winter for the use of the steamers in summer.

ASPHODEL.

BIRDSALL v. ASPHODEL.—A suit is pending in this matter to quash a by-law of the township closing up a road. Mr. Marsh on behalf of the defendants, the township, obtained a summons to examine Forrer, one of the plaintiffs, before the County Court Judge at Peterborough, as to his knowledge of the facts, he having refused to make an affidavit in the matter. The summons was granted under R. S. O. ch. 50, sec. 179.—Globe.

☞TIME EXTENDED TO FIRST FEBRUARY.

Not a few of our old subscribers have sent us the names of one or two new subscribers along with their own for 1880, and thus have made one dollar go as far as one and a half did last year. Finding that those who have tried it, fully realize that "a penny saved is two earned," and that others are still anxious to reap the same advantage, we have determined to receive new subscriptions from old subscribers up to the first of February upon the following terms, viz:—

THE WEEKLY REVIEW.

Any person now, and for the last twelve months a subscriber to the WEEKLY REVIEW, who sends us his renewal subscription with that of another person not now or for the last twelve months a subscriber to it, will have the TWO sent to any separate address for $2.50! Or if accompanied with the names of two other such, such persons may have the THREE sent to separate addresses for $3.00!

THE DAILY REVIEW.

Any person now a subscriber to the DAILY EVENING REVIEW who sends us his renewal subscription with that of another person not now on our subscription list, may have the TWO delivered or sent to any separate address for six months for $3.50, or for twelve months for $6.00!

Any one is at liberty to get up a club. Each club paper may be addressed separately. Parties making up clubs may send in the names (accompanied by the money) as they receive them, and credit will be given for the whole number sent in when the club is completed.

OUR CLUB LIST.

We are also enabled to announce that the very liberal advantages offered in our Club List will be kept open until the first of February. Parties who may yet be desirous of subscribing for the REVIEW along with any one or more of the leading papers or magazines contained in our Club List, can therefore avail themselves of the opportunity offered all through the month of January. We would again direct attention to our "Entirely New Feature"—"How to Obtain the Leading Papers and Save Money." See advertisement in another column of this paper. The Canadian Illustrated News

The only ILLUSTRATED and purely LITERARY weekly in the Dominion of Canada. Its artistic department is devoted to the illustration of all current events of interest within our borders and abroad. A number of new features will be introduced in the literary department, the design being to make it the especial exponent of Canadian literature, unsectarian in religion and non-partisan in politics, though neutral in neither; it treats of all subjects that engage public attention, and aims to be a welcome guest in every family of the Dominion.

MANHOOD:

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

WE have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Harper's Young People

ILLUSTRATED.

The evils of sensational literature for the young are well known, and the want of an antidote has long been felt. This is supplied by Harper's Young People, a beautifully illustrated weekly journal, which is equally devoid of the objectionable features of sensational juvenile literature and of that moralizing tone which repels the youthful reader.

The Volumes of the Young People begin with the first Number, published in November of each year. When no time is mentioned, it will be understood that the subscriber wishes to commence with the Number next after the receipt of order.

TORONTO.

Special to the Review, Jan. 9.

ESCAPED RUSSIAN PRISONER.—A Russian, just arrived in town, who gives his name as Paul Korousky, says that five or six months ago he escaped on his way to the Siberian mines, to which he had been sentenced on suspicion of being concerned in a Nihilist plot. He hails from a good sized town called Pocrow, eighty miles in a south-easterly direction from Moscow, on the line of railway on which the attempt was recently made to blow up the Czar. He gives harrowing details of the cruelty to which prisoners are subjected, and shows a number of scars, which he declares are those of wounds inflicted by his brutal gaolers. His experience and adventures after his escape from the soldiery, who were guarding the prisoners would fill a volume, and as they have to be sifted through an old Prussian resident of this city, who himself speaks very poor English, they are a little difficult to understand. The man, who is a fine military looking fellow, is rather over than below the middle age. He is destitute of funds at present, but some sympathisers who have heard of his presence in the city, propose to raise sufficient funds to get him to Chicago, where he says he has a relative.

A FAILURE.—The attempted organization of a Republican Club has proved a failure. A meeting was called for a night or two ago, but not enough to elect officers of the proposed club attended, and the movement for the present at any rate has collapsed.

DELIBERATE SUICIDE.—At the inquest this morning on the body of Thomas Lane, who was found dead on the railway track last night, a verdict was returned to the effect that he threw himself in front of a train, and so caused himself to be instantly killed, he being at the time of unsound mind. The letter found on his person was written on the back of an application to Sir Alexander Campbell for the position of letter-carrier. It declared that he was tired of life. It bore testimony to the excellent qualities of his wife, on whom, with his children, the writer prayed God repeatedly to shed his mercy.

From the Morning Papers.

VITAL STATISTICS.—Returns of deaths in Toronto during the year, filed at the city hall, show only 1,440; the number of interments at the various cemeteries during the year reaches to 1,6[illegible], but these include re-interments, the interments of unattended remains and interments from localities outside of the city.

ACCIDENT TO A BOY.—On Monday evening, while a number of newsboys were playing in the mail-room of the Telegram office one of them named Downs, struck another named James Orr in the stomach with a broom, knocking him insensible. Orr had a twenty-five cent piece in his mouth at the time, and he swallowed it, which had the effect of half choking him. He is seriously hurt.

CHIEFS SURRENDERING.

LONDON, Jan. 8.—A Cabul despatch says nearly all the Kohistani Loghmani and Logar chiefs are surrendering.

ANOTHER CLOUD.

Russia's military preparations in Asia are attracting general attention. The relations between England and Persia are very cordial.

A BANQUET was given at Montreal last night to the Hon. Mr. Chapleau, Premier of the Province of Quebec, by the Junior Conservative Club of that city. It was a splendid ovation, more than 300 being present, among whom were many members of the Provincial and Dominion Governments, and others holding a prominent position.

"German Syrup."

No other medicine in the world was ever given such a test of its curative qualities as Boschee's German Syrup. In three years two million four hundred thousand small bottles of this medicine were distributed free of charge by Druggists in this country to those afflicted with Consumption, Asthma, Croup, severe Coughs, Pneumonia and other diseases of the Throat and Lungs, giving the American people undeniable proof that German Syrup will cure them. The result has been that Druggists in every town and village in the United States are recommending it to their customers. Go to your Druggist, and ask what they know about it. Sample bottles 10 cents. Regular size 75 cents. Three doses will relieve any case. dw11-1y

BISMARCK'S ILLNESS.

BERLIN, Jan. 8.—Prince Bismarck is so unwell that he cannot come to Berlin. He is suffering from a new and violent attack of rheumatism, and Princess Bismarck has been summoned to Varzin.

AMERICAN COMPETITION.

LONDON, Jan. 8.—Lord Derby, in speaking at Huddersfield on the competition of America, complained that Americans did not face the English in an open manner, but fight intrenched up to their eyes behind their protective tariff. America, he said, now influences the British colonies, but when America changed her policy, which she was certain to do, sooner or later, the colonies would follow her example.

GONZALES, THE WOULD-BE REGICIDE

MADRID, Jan. 8.—The preliminary examination of Gonzales, the would-be regicide, has been concluded. Counsel will be nominated to defend him on Saturday if he fails to select any.

RELIEF FROM FAMINE.

BERLIN, Jan. 8.—The German Government vote for the relief of sufferers by famine in Upper Silesia amounts to six million marks.

ONLY SMOKE.

LONDON, Jan. 8.—A Berlin correspondent asserts that the reports of a heavy concentration of Russian troops in Poland are unfounded, and the fortresses on the frontier are merely being repaired.

GOVERNMENT RELIEF WORKS.

DUBLIN, Jan. 8.—The Government have made an important change in their policy in respect to the condition of Ireland. They have resolved to grant loans for the construction of drainage works in the distressed districts which are now on a schedule annexed to a circular of the Board of Works, or which may be scheduled from time to time. These loans are to be made upon more liberal terms than heretofore proposed, namely to be payable in thirty-five years, or perhaps in a longer time. The number of years before repayment is to begin is to be extended, and the Government are to bear the preliminary expenses of such works themselves. They will also offer an increased inducement to boards of guardians for the execution of sanitary works. If these measures be found inadequate to meet the exigency the Government will apply to Parliament to sanction an appropriation of two and a half million pounds out of the Church surplus for the prosecution of relief works, to be carried on by the Board of Works, and to authorize the formation of baronial sessions to determine the nature of such works.

A MONTENEGRIN VICTORY.

CETTINGE, Jan. 8.—The Albanians, of Gusinje, marched out to oppose the Montenegrins. The latter having strict orders to avoid a conflict retired, but the Albanians attacked them. The fighting resulted in a victory for the Montenegrins, who, although but 3,000 strong, defeated 12,000 Turks.

IS IT CRYSTALISED CARBON.

LONDON, Jan. 8.—Mr. MacLear, of the St. Rollox chemical works, writes to the Times, certifying that experiments have been made by various persons who have been able to scratch diamonds, engrave two rubies, two sapphires, amethyst and Cairngorm with the crystalised carbon sand obtained by him. Professor Maskelyne, of the Mineral Department of the British Museum, states that he worked with Mr. MacLear [illegible] for the [illegible] investigation. While he has yet no evidence of the existence of crystaline carbon among Mr. MacLear's specimens, he feels that his request for a suspension of judgment regarding the ultimate result of the experiment is reasonable. A portion of the material submitted is very hard, and Professor Maskelyne believes it has scratched a topaz and a sapphire, and that a diamond has been abraded by it. The specimens submitted by Mr. MacLear are very small, being merely dust.

CONTRACT SCANDAL IN ROUMANIA.

LONDON, Jan. 8. The Roumanian Chamber of Deputies have asked the Government for all the papers relating to the recent award of a contract for 30,000 Martini-Henry rifles to an Austrian establishment which never made any of these weapons, whereas the Providence Tool Company, Providence, R. I., offered to deliver them for one franc less per rifle. Remarkable disclosures are expected.

AMERICAN.

A COWARDLY MURDER.

LEBANON, Ky., Jan. 8.—Milton White, aged 70, keeper of a toll-gate near Mackville, and Phillip White, his relative, aged 17, quarreled last week. As Phillip was passing the toll-gate on Monday, Milton came to the door with a shot gun and threatened to shoot. Phillip threw open his bosom, and told him to fire away. He fired, killing the boy instantly. Milton was arrested, and there are fears of his being lynched.

A MINER'S STRIKE.

MORRISTOWN, N.J., Jan. 8.—The miners of four mines near Dover have struck for an advance of wages. It is thought that the strike will become general and that the men will get the advance demands.

RESUMED WORK.

READING, Pa., Jan. 8.—The employees in the hat factory of Mohn Bros. resumed work this morning, the firm granting the advance demanded. It is expected that the remainder of the hat factories here will resume shortly.

CHARGES OF CORRUPTION.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—The Herald's Augusta despatch says the bribery cases will come up in the House to-day, when Clark will make a speech declaring that he was approached by a prominent Republican and offered $1,000 and his choice of two positions under the United States Government to stay away from the House. He asserted that his reply was that Blaine had not enough money to buy him up. He will ask for a committee of investigation. A member of the Council said in an interview last night:—"I could have made $30,000 by changing my policy in this matter." He also hinted, and the same intimation came from other sources, that even the Governor himself had been approached with pecuniary inducements, but it is impossible to verify the statement. These, and all other previous charges of corruption, will be closely investigated as soon as a complete organization is effected.

AFTERNOON TELEGRAMS

Press Despatches to the Review via Cable and Montreal Lines.

CABLE.

THE REV. MR. MACKONICHIE.

LONDON, Jan. 9.—It is stated that the Bishop of London has signed letters of request to the Dean of the Arches Court of Canterbury in a fresh suit against the Rev. Alex. Mackonichie, for deprivation of priesthood.

THE HOME RULE LEAGUE.

DUBLIN, Jan. 9.—The Home Rule League has resolved to hold a public meeting on the 21st to consider the state of the country.

THE LAND QUESTION.

A conference of Farmers' Clubs has been held at Mallow, County Cork, to consider the land question. Several members of parliament were present. Shaw, the Home Rule member of the House of Commons for Cork, said the question involved was whether a million people who might live comfortable in Ireland were to be driven to the poor house or swept away to America.

SCOTLAND'S IRON TRADE.

EDINBURGH, Jan. 9.—The revival in the iron trade continues to make itself felt in commercial circles in Scotland. The demand from America for Scotch pig iron has increased, and several heavy contracts are in process of negotiation. One has already been concluded for 10,000 tons of rail and pig iron for New York. Freights are 15s. a ton from Leith to New York.

ITALY AND AUSTRIA.

LONDON, Jan. 9.—A Vienna correspondent, discussing Italian affairs, says nobody suspects any real intention on the part of Italy to pick a quarrel with Austria, but the matter excites distrust, which, in the long run, must tell on the relations of the two states.

ANOTHER BOER LEADER ARRESTED.

LONDON, Jan. 9.—A despatch from Pretoria of the 8th says Pretorius, ex-President of the Transvaal, has been arrested on a charge of high treason, the specification being that he addressed a letter in conjunction with Bok to Sir Garnet Wolseley forwarding the resolutions passed at the late meeting, thus giving proof of their connection with a treasonable project. Bail for Pretorius was refused. The Boers are stopping despatch bearers.

THE TRANSVAAL.

CAPETOWN, Jan. 9.—A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Paul Kruger, president of the committee appointed at the meeting of Boers on the 10th December, which adopted the resolution to maintain the demand for the independence of the Transvaal, and instructed Paul Kruger to summon the Volksraad.

THE FRENCH CABLE.

LONDON, Jan. 9.—The authorities of the French Cable Company deny the report that the Syndicate which controlled the shares of the company had thrown them on the hands of the contractor in consequence of the discovery of a flaw in the contract. They say that as soon as the cable is laid to make a connection between Brest and England, their cable, which is in perfect working order, will be opened for traffic certainly not later than the first week in February.

AMERICAN.

MEMORIAL CHURCH.

NEWPORT, R.I., Jan. 9.—The building of a memorial church in this city, which is the birthplace of Dr. Channing, is contemplated. The residents of this city have already subscribed $50,000 conditionally, upon $200,000 more being raised outside.

STRUCK BY A TRAIN.

STAMFORD, Conn., Jan. 9.—This morning a train approaching the depot struck a carriage containing T. B. Richards, father of Prof. Richards, of Yale, and Miss Eva Tweedy. Richards was fatally injured. Miss Tweedy was unhurt, and the coachman was seriously cut.

SUICIDE FROM LOVE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—The officers of the Bremen steamship Weser, which arrived yesterday, report that while at sea a young man named Carl Heinrich committed suicide in his cabin by cutting his throat. Before he died he confided to a passenger that he had committed suicide because he had been discarded by his intended bride.

CHALLENGE ACCEPTED.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Weston has accepted O'Leary's challenge. He names $5,000 as the stakes, prefers London as being neutral ground, and will walk 142 consecutive hours. He says he is ready and the sooner the better.

UNLICENSED HOUSES.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—The Excise Commissioners have prepared a list of 883 places where liquor is sold in this city without a license.

THE MAINE LEGISLATURE.

BOSTON, Jan. 9.—An Augusta report says the feeling of doubt and distrust has increased. The military power, though no troops are called out, is becoming unusually conspicuous. General Chamberlain is in constant consultation with the civil authorities and is gradually becoming an important figure. General Brown, of his staff arrived from Portland this morning, and other old army officers are expected to-day. The conference at Blaine's House lasted to a late hour this morning. When the House met no Republican was in the hall, and Locke was the only one in the Senate. This gave a clue to the Republican policy. As soon as the reading of the journal was finished, Swan, of Mechanic Falls, rose to a question of privilege, and gave the story of the attempt to bribe him. The name of the accused party is Wallace R. White, of Winthrope, a Republican lawyer.

DEFALCATION AND SUICIDE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—The Finance Committee of the Produce Exchange at its last meeting, ordered that $31,800 deposited in one bank be removed to another. The Treasurer, Benj. C. Bogert, promised to sign a check yesterday, but when called upon in the afternoon he could not be found. Just before the Exchange closed yesterday it was made public that Bogert had been proved a defaulter to the amount of $215,000. Bogert died suddenly at the residence of a friend in this city yesterday afternoon, and it is thought that he committed suicide. He had been Treasurer of the Exchange ever since its organization, with the exception of a single year. He was a highly respected merchant and possessed the entire confidence of the community. It is supposed that he used the money of the Exchange in his private business.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, JANUARY 9, 1880.

THE SPEECH.

Stripped of the multiplicity of words with which the Government [illegible] for the first session of the fourth Provincial Assembly is surrounded, the subjects promised to be dealt with are briefly stated as follows:—

1. A measure relating to the management of the Reformatory at Penetanguishene.
2. One relating to the Agricultural College.
3. The appointment of a commission to enquire into the Agricultural interests of the Province is recommended.
4. A bill to protect the timber interests of the Crown from the waste caused under the Free Grant Act is proposed.
5. The further fusion (or confusion) of the Courts is proposed.
6. The jurisdiction of the Division Courts is to be extended.
7. A bill is promised for the proper distribution of the estates of insolvents, in the event of the repeal of the Insolvency laws.
8. A measure for the protection of railway brakesmen is promised.
9. Some of the present exemptions from taxation are to be removed.
10. And lastly, plans and estimates for New Legislative and Departmental buildings, commensurate with the needs of the public service and creditable to the province, are to be submitted.

That there is room for dealing judiciously with nearly every one of the subjects mentioned cannot be denied, and if the Legislature does during the present session deal in a thorough and satisfactory manner with all of them, it will have performed a session's work of which its [illegible] need not to be ashamed. We must confess we are somewhat at a loss to discover the object and necessity of the Agricultural commission, still we are disposed to patiently await explanations before condemning it, inasmuch as we agree with his honor that Agriculture is intimately connected with the interests of the Province, and ought to be fostered by every means in the power of both the Local and Dominion Governments. When the several measures are before us in detail will be the time to discuss them, not now, and we may be permitted to express the hope that as the Government have a good six months to prepare them, they will be submitted without delay, so that their various details may receive the fullest possible consideration.

TRENT NAVIGATION.

The deputation that visited the Dominion Ministers last week was perhaps the largest ever assembled for a similar purpose, giving evidence of the great interest taken in this national work. The [illegible] of the deputation was as full as regard to the feelings of the Ministers would [illegible] of so [illegible] a nature as to call forth from the Premier and Minister of [illegible]. The replies, however, of the Ministers were [illegible] and [illegible] must be [illegible] so far as pledging their colleagues and supporters are concerned; but they should have been more explicit as to what they would do individually in the matter. Of course they could not aver that their recommendations would be accepted by their colleagues, but we think they would only be paying due deference to the request of the deputation by declaring that they would ask their colleagues to sanction an expenditure this year for complete surveys, plans and specifications, so that tenders could be laid before the Legislature a year hence. Less than [illegible] up of the Great North West and is entitled to this small consideration in order to reap some return for the enormous outlay on the Pacific Railway. If we do not get this Canal we are contributing largely to cut ourselves off from the trade of the Great N. W. 2nd. We learn from the Canada Gazette that the H. Bay Co'y are applying for a charter to connect the Hudson Bay with Lake Winnipeg, and are converting their ships into ice breaking steamers to take the produce of the North West by that route to Europe, and lessen our chances of profitable trade with that country.

3rd. Large sums of money are given as subsidies to vessels to cultivate trade with foreign countries, but here is commerce that properly belongs to the Dominion going a roundabout way and in consequence lost to us, for the most of it finds its way by the Erie Canal to New York.

We could enlarge in the above strain, but that is not the object of this article. Our purpose is to say that we have destiny in our own hands if so disposed to use it. There are [illegible] members of Parliament along the route of this public enterprise whose constituents would be benefitted by millions if the canal was built, and who can make or break any Government that refuses their reasonable request. The delegation have shown that [illegible] grounds to contend it as a public enterprise and that it is not merely a local matter but of Dominion importance, no less than four provinces and a territory large enough to make twice as many more provinces being directly interested in the increased facilities for cheap transportation. It is therefore for these representatives to choose between the interests of their constituents and a government that will disregard their just claims.

We do not suppose that the Government of Sir John would hesitate for an hour to undertake the construction of this work if assured in no unmistakable terms by the representatives of both sides of politics along the proposed canal, that they meant to have that canal built, and delay is displeasing to them. We hope there are enough in earnest in their desire to have those works constructed as will embarrass the Government if they do not [illegible] to so reasonable a request and complete so great a public work at so small an outlay. The Toronto papers and the Ottawa papers are trying to belittle the scheme by speaking of it as of local importance. But the veil of the covering is too thin to deceive any one and only earns for these journals [illegible] of dishonesty. They drop all local [illegible] they speak of the Toronto and Ottawa [illegible] as if one was not of equal [illegible] with the other but preferable on account of difference of cost and construction. [illegible] have every faith in the construction of this canal at no distant day and then Trenton [illegible] become a city of no mean importance.

The canal will give us water power to grind all the wheat of the Saskatchewan Valley, a forwarding [illegible] will be carried on here that will rival Buffalo or Oswego and make Trenton a [illegible] centre for the mineral region and the North West.—Trenton Courier.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

THE LAST MEETING OF THE SCHOOL BOARD OF 1879.

An Able Finance Report—Other Reports—The Douro School Tax—Fees of Non-Resident Pupils.

The School Board of 1879 held their last regular monthly meeting at the Collegiate Institute on Thursday evening, Jan. 8.

Present—James Stevenson, Esq., Chairman, W. A. Morrow, Secretary, and Messrs. Dumble, Shaw, Errett, Munro, Toole, Carlisle, Wrighton and Cook.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

On a motion of Mr. D. W. Dumble, the Board went into a Committee of the Whole on the examination of the returns of the late election for School Trustees, with Mr. Cook in the Chair.

Whereupon it was moved by Mr. Dumble, and seconded by Mr. Shaw,—That this Board, having counted up the votes cast for School Trustees on the 7th of January, 1880, do declare the result of the election to be as follows:—That is to say, that James L. Hughes is elected School Trustee for the First Ward; John McClelland, for the Second Ward; D. W. Dumble, for the term of two years, and George Burnham, jr., for one year, Trustees for the Third Ward; and Henry Dennis, for the Fourth Ward.—Carried.

The Secretary was directed to make the necessary publication required by law.

Mr. Toole inquired what steps had been taken to collect the school tax in the township of Douro.

The Chairman replied that the Collector had been ordered to make collections, and had now entered upon the discharge of that duty. He had experienced some difficulty in the matter by the action of the Reeve, Mr. Moloney, who had advised several not to pay the taxes, [illegible] that they would be called upon again next year for the same. He was happy to say that a large proportion of the parties assessed had either complied, or had promised to do so at an early date.

ACCOUNTS.

The following bills were presented:—

John McClelland, cleaning clock in South Ward School .... $ 75

Mr. Errett wanted to know who ordered the clock cleaned, and when. He knew nothing about it. As Chairman of the Property Committee, before whom all such matters should be done, he could say that he had never heard of a clock being ordered to be cleaned.

W. S. Robertson, advertising $7 00

Referred to the Finance Committee with power to pay if found correct.

J. R. Stratton, paper and printing $19 30

Referred to the Finance Committee with power to act.

The following communication from Clinton, in response to a request to appoint a Committee to prepare a memorial to the Minister of Education, in relation to the difficulties in the High Schools was received:—

CLINTON, Jan. 5, 1880.

SIR,—Your letter was duly received, but has been mis-laid. Our Board will unite with yours in attending a convention of delegates from the High Schools and Collegiate Institutes, and if you would get up the necessary circular or whatever may be considered necessary to send to the different High Schools and Collegiate Institutes. I am fully of opinion with you that a convention of delegates from the different schools to meet the Minister of Education would do more than anything else to secure the object in view.

I have the honor, &c.,
Very truly yours,
A. WORTHINGTON.

To the Secretary of the Collegiate Institute, Peterborough.

Mr. Shaw explained the object mentioned in the letter just read.

Mr. Dumble thought that memorials to the Minister of Education from the several Boards would accomplish the object [illegible] at little expense. The convention would cost on an average to each delegate about $10, and one hundred delegates would make $1,000. He [illegible] this was not economy.

Mr. Errett favored the delegation, as the Minister of Education receiving so many petitions would be apt to take little notice of such memorials, while a delegation would meet the Minister and discuss the question with him.

Mr. Errett brought forward his notice of motion with reference to salaries of teachers and a reduction of the staff in the Collegiate Institute.

By request of the Chairman, the subject was laid over until the next meeting.

FINANCE REPORT.

Mr. Shaw, Chairman of the Finance Committee, submitted the following valuable report, which was on motion adopted:—

Your committee in presenting their report for the year ending 31st December, 1879, beg leave to submit, for the approval of the Board, the following statistical information as taken from the books of the Secretary-Treasurer:

It will be observed that, after making the necessary allowance for the debit balance brought forward from last year, and the amount standing at the debit of Building Fund account, together with all other expenses incurred during the past year, we have a balance on hand of ninety over liabilities, amounting to thirteen hundred and nineteen dollars and ninety-five cents, to be carried forward for the maintenance of schools for the ensuing year.

No doubt the question will be asked, Why were the ratepayers assessed for more than the actual requirements? Your committee make the following explanations in reply:—From the estimate made at the beginning of the year, we find that the following items were over estimated, viz:—

Teachers' Salaries	$ [illegible] 00
Fuel	100 00
Incidental Expenses	100 00
Also increase in grants for Public Schools	875 00
Making a total of	$1,475 00
Deducting for items under estimated	155 00
Leave the balance above mentioned about	$[illegible] 00

to be carried forward.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Chairman.

REPORT OF THE PROPERTY COMMITTEE.

Mr. Errett, Chairman of the Property Committee, submitted the following report:—

To the Board of Education of the Town of Peterborough:

The Property Committee of this Board, to whom was referred the application of Cole Barrett, Janitor of 3rd Ward School, for an increase of salary, and also the matter of the salaries and allowances of the several janitors in your employ, having duly considered the same, report as follows, viz.:—

1. That your Committee are of opinion the salaries now paid the several janitors are greater than [illegible] a considerable saving can be effected without at all impairing the service.

2. That as the janitors are all subject to a month's notice to quit, your Committee recommend that the Secretary forthwith give notice in writing, to each janitor, that his term of service will expire in one month from the date of service of said notice, as regards their contracts with the Board.

3. That in future the several janitors shall be requested, as part of their duties, to keep the snow cleared off the sidewalk in front of these several school lots.

4. That your Committee be empowered to advertise for applications from competent parties willing to accept the situation of janitors, and to perform the work required, and report at the next regular meeting of this Board.

5. That in the opinion of your Committee, the salaries and allowances of the various janitors should not exceed the following, viz.:—First and Third Ward janitors, one hundred dollars per annum. Central School janitors, four hundred dollars per annum.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

R. W. ERRETT,
Chairman.

The report, after a slight amendment, was adopted.

REPORT FROM THE COMMITTEE ON APPOINTMENTS.

Mr. Errett, in presenting a report of the Committee on Appointments, said that owing to the absence of Mr. Dumble, he had prepared the following report as Chairman of the Committee pro. tem.

To the Board of Education of the Town of Peterborough:—

The Committee on Appointments of your Board having considered the matter of filling the place of Miss Hall, vacant by reason of her attending the Normal School at Toronto, for the purpose of obtaining a certificate to qualify her as a teacher, as by law required, report as follows:—

1. That your Committee are of opinion that Miss Hall stands in the same relation to the Board that Miss Ellsworth and Miss Beggaly did, and that her application be treated in the same manner as was theirs. Her claims to a situation after she obtains a certificate should be considered by the Board when a vacancy occurs, and Miss Hall makes an application for such situation.

2. That the application of Miss Dowling, (who is well known to the Board) for an engagement be accepted and that she be appointed to fill Miss Hall's place at a salary of two hundred and twenty-five dollars a year, and your Committee have taken steps to notify Miss Dowling of such appointment, subject to the approval and confirmation of this Board. Miss Dowling has accepted the same and entered on her duties.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

R. W. ERRETT,
Chairman pro. tem. Com. on Ap.

The report was adopted.

NON-RESIDENT PUPILS.

Mr. Errett on behalf of the Special Committee, to whom was referred the communication of J. P. Methven, presented the following report:—

The Special Committee to which was referred the communication of J. P. Methven, regarding the payment of monthly fees by pupils whose parents reside outside the town limits, but who are ratepayers in the town, beg leave to report:

That they cannot interpret the statute in such a way as will permit the Board to admit the children of non-resident ratepayers to the Public Schools of the town, without payment of the quarterly fee mentioned in the Act; nor does it appear to the Committee that the Board have any power to discriminate between non-resident ratepayers and non-residents who are not ratepayers, and for these reasons consider it useless to recommend any action to be taken until the school law be so amended as to enable the Board to deal equitably with all such cases; and the Committee recommend that if in the opinion of the Board any such amendment should be made in the law that such steps may be taken as may be necessary to have the matter brought under the notice of the Minister of Education.

R. W. ERRETT.

The report was adopted.

After some desultory conversation the Board adjourned.

HASTINGS.

RATHER MIXED.—The Star says:—"The driver of a sleigh which contained a large party of young folks who were returning from a social gathering in Asphodel on Monday evening last, took rather a novel method of discharging his load. As the horses swung gracefully round in front of the Royal Hotel, the sleigh struck a hitching post, upset, and dumped its contents on the platform of the hotel. For a few seconds nothing was to be seen but a confused mass of legs, arms, straw, buffalo robes and blankets. Fortunately no one was hurt."

BADLY SQUEEZED.—Mr. Stanton, conductor on the Grand Junction, and Kerr, a brakesman, were badly squeezed on while coupling cars last Wednesday. They are in a fair way for recovery.

Old London Vanishing.

London has no Baron Haussman to rase whole colonies to the ground and replace them with new buildings, but in the place of such, a prince amongst builders [illegible], and numerous persons who are constantly buying property and clearing away the existing old buildings. Amongst the old spots—recently marked for destruction is a curious nest of houses situated in White Lion-court and Wych-court, and including Nos. 17 and 18, Wych street, Strand. This relic of old London, so close to the modern buildings now rising in the Strand, cannot boast of any association with Kings and Queens or noble ladies, but is of interest as being the resort of the notorious Jack Sheppard, "the prince of cracksmen, with whose deeds and misdeeds Mr. Harrison Ainsworth has made everyone familiar." It was in White Lion-passage, now known as White Lion-court, that the inn of the White Lion stood, and there in the tap room Jack Sheppard was wont to nightly meet his professional friends and acquaintances. The interesting panelling, staircase and other old wood-work make the interior as curious as the exterior. In Wycher Court Jack Sheppard served his apprenticeship with Mr. Wood, the carpenter. It was in White Lion Court that the meetings of the Fetter Lane Baptist congregation were held after the destruction of the building in Fean Place, Fetter Lane, in 1799. Wych street, it may be mentioned, retains a portion of its old name, Via de Aldwych, the ancient designation of what is now Drury Lane, of which it is a continuation.—City Press.

A ROMANTIC LIFE.

The Extraordinary Adventures of an Extraordinary Beauty.

The romantic vicissitudes of the early life of the [illegible] Solange de Kramer have [illegible] become the talk of the Paris salons, and they are indeed so extraordinary that [illegible] a novel [illegible] would spoil the book by their lack of verisimilitude. One night, in 1801, a little girl about one year old was deposited in the drawer of the foundling asylum at Brest. She was [illegible], and a note attached [illegible] her [illegible] Solange [illegible] father. [illegible] was never made, however, and in due time the child was transferred to the orphan asylum, to be educated there. As she grew up she developed a most extraordinary [illegible] her [illegible] to be very [illegible] from [illegible] fits. When she was 12 years old she was sent out into the street to sell flowers, and her beauty and modesty attracted many [illegible], but she grew weaker and weaker, and at last she died. According to French customs she was buried in an open casket, and, as it was winter, and the ground was frozen, she was laid into the grave only covered with a thin layer of sand. During the night she awoke and, pushing the sand away, she crept out from this grave. Not exactly understanding what had taken place, she was not so very much frightened, but in crossing the glacis between the cemetery and the fortifications, she was suddenly stopped by the outcry, "Qui vive," and as she did not answer, the sentinel fired, and she fell to the ground. Brought into the guard-house, her wound was found to be slight, and she soon recovered [illegible] great beauty, and made so deep an impression on a young lieutenant of the garrison (Kramer), that he determined to be her protector, and send her to one of the most fashionable educational establishments in Paris. During the next few years Kramer was much tossed about by the war, but when in 1816 he returned to Paris, he found Solange a full grown woman, not only beautiful, but accomplished and spirited, with no more trace of [illegible] weakness or nervous fits. He married her, and for several years the couple lived happily in Paris. Meanwhile investigations were made concerning the girl left, in 1801, in the Foundling Hospital at Brest, and as these investigations were made by a Swedish Ambassador, and in a somewhat official manner, they attracted some attention. Capt. Kramer heard about the affair, and took a note to the ambassador, and a month later on, the ambassador came in state to bring Mme. Kramer a formal acknowledgment of her father, the former Gen. Bernadotte, the present King Charles XIV. of Sweden. Capt. Kramer and his wife went immediately to Stockholm; they were ennobled, etc., and their son has just now been appointed attache to the Swedish Legation at Paris.—N. Y. Times.

USEFUL TABLES.

To Measure Corn in Cribs.

If the sides of the crib are perpendicular, multiply the length, breadth and height in feet together, and this product by [illegible], the result will be bushels of corn. If you want the number of shelled bushels [illegible], multiply by [illegible] instead of [illegible]. If the crib has flaring sides, multiply half the sum of the top and bottom widths, in feet, by the perpendicular height, in feet, that by the length, and then by the 63 or the [illegible], as before. These decimals are the fractional parts of a heaped bushel in a cubic foot.

To Measure Grain in Bins.

Multiply together the length, breadth and depth, in feet, and that product by [illegible]. Suppose your bin is 20 feet long, 4 feet wide, and 5 feet deep; this will give you, when multiplied together, 400 cubic feet. To reduce this amount to bushels, multiply by [illegible], and you get 320 as the answer. It takes 2,150 cubic inches to make a bushel, and a cubic foot has 1,728 cubic inches, hence the bushel is to the foot as 2,150 to 1,728, or about 4-5, which is the explanation of the use of the fraction 45.

ANOTHER WAY.

Multiply the length by the width, and their product by the height in inches; divide by 2,150 (the number of square inches in a bushel), and the product will give the number of bushels in the bin.

To Measure Roots in the Pit or Root-House.

To estimate the quantity of potatoes, turnips or other roots in a pit, or bin, or root-house, ascertain the cubic dimensions, either in inches or feet, as in the case of small grain or corn, making allowance for the slope of the ridge by measuring only half the height, or so much of it as would be required to level the top and have a solid cubic heap. Of the amount estimated as for small grain take three-quarters, which will give the quantity of roots; or if measured in feet according to the rule for corn in the crib, add one-half the amount, and the sum will be the quantity of roots. Thus the space that would hold twenty bushels of corn in the ear, would hold thirty bushels of roots and forty of grain.

To Measure Hay.

Thoroughly cured, air-dried and well-pressed timothy hay, in the stack, requires 11 to 12 cubic or solid yards to weigh a ton; and clover hay, equally dry and pressed, takes [illegible] to 15 solid yards to weigh a ton. Hay, in a large mow or barn, is usually a little heavier than the stack, becoming more closely packed, so that one or two less number of [illegible] are required to weigh a ton.

To ascertain the number of tons of hay in a mow or building, multiply the length, breadth and depth together, and divide the product by the number of solid yards in a ton, and the result or quotient will be the number of tons in your mow; for instance—you mow of clover is 7 yards long, 5 yards wide, and 3 yards deep 7 x 5 x 3 = 105 solid yards; this divided by 15 solid yards in a ton gives 7 tons in the mow; if the hay be timothy, which is a little heavier, divide the 105 by 12, and you have 8¾ tons; but having the above rule, any schoolboy can work out all required results.

ENGLAND.

THE Rowland Hill memorial fund now amounts to £5,100.

THE Duke of Edinburgh has purchased Morris Castle, near the Queen's Palace at Osborne, for [illegible].

IT is reported that Lord Napier, of Magdala, will be recalled from Gibraltar, and sent to Ireland as Commander-in-Chief.

A SCARLET FEVER epidemic [illegible] in the district of Wigan just now. The disease broke out in the township of Aspull, which adjoins Wigan, but soon spread to the borough and to the surrounding townships. In Aspull alone between six hundred and seven hundred persons have been attacked, and here, as elsewhere in the district, there has been a large number of deaths.

A PAINFUL sensation was caused at a funeral at the Leicester Cemetery recently, by one of the bearers dropping down dead. Last week Miss Ada Brain, daughter of Councillor Brain, was drowned while skating on the ice, and one of the bearers at her funeral was a middle-aged gentleman named Joseph Blockley. After the service at the chapel, the procession had just started for the grave, when Mr. Blockley suddenly fell down on the snow, and when he was lifted up life was found to be extinct.

AN UNDESIRABLE WIFE.

A Girl of Seventeen Tries to Murder her Husband, Child, Relatives, and Herself.

LONDON, Jan. [illegible].—A young married woman named [illegible], aged seventeen, of [illegible], was brought to this city under arrest as a dangerous lunatic. She had before her marriage been suspected of a tendency of [illegible], and after marriage she made several attempts to take her husband's life. He abandoned her without support in consequence, and she went home to her parents. There she [illegible] her murderous propensities [illegible]. Once she boiled [illegible] put poison in the porridge, threw her baby out of a window, and swallowed a large dose of Paris green herself, from which she was saved by the timely aid of Dr. [illegible]. She then declared her intention of hanging herself, and [illegible] to an out-of-the-way shed for that purpose. Her friends could bear with her conduct no longer, and had her locked up. She will be examined by the medical authorities next Tuesday. The woman strenuously denies that she is insane, but says that her temper is so ungovernable that at times it appears she is insane.

ECONOMICAL COOKING.

"How to Gather up the Fragments that Nothing May be Lost."

We believe that the French cooks have the reputation of being the most economical cooks of all nations, and the subjoined extract from a very gossipy and interesting article in an exchange shows how matters are looked after in the French kitchen:—

"Suppose that one egg is left, or one potato. Here, Bridget, or the housewife herself says, 'one is not worth keeping,' and throws them into the swill-tub. The French housewife is not tempted by that happy institution always yawning at hand. On the contrary, suppose the egg is soft-boiled; she drops it into a tin cup, and makes it hard boiled at once. One hard-boiled egg chopped fine is what she needs in composing a salad; and the French housekeeper is wise in behalf of good health, of good taste, and of the beauty and variety of her table, to have salads innumerable—as many kinds of salads as Bottom had of wigs. There is the egg—the salad shall grace the tea-table. Or, there is the one potato. Your French housewife knows the value of soup. She does not make a huge soup and expect her family to dine upon it; she does not have her soup always of one kind—she varies the kind; and she has a small dish of soup as a prelude to our dinner; here she serves health a variety. The potato nicely cut in wedges shall be one of the ingredients of her soup. The beginning of her soup is generally of bones. She has a stone jar, and the bones are usually trimmed closely out of the uncooked meat, sprinkled with salt and pepper, and put in this jar, over which a cloth is tied, and it is kept in a very cool place. Almost every day, with a few bones and a variety as to other ingredients, she will concoct a wonderful soup—white soup, a brown soup, a clear soup, a vegetable soup, and the spoonful of beans or peas, the few slices of tomato, the remnant of the rice or the macaroni shall not be ignominiously cast out, but the soup shall be as is most convenient to the stock on hand, and all these fragments, neatly kept, are to go therein. The French are not remarkably religious, but they do follow up the monition, 'gather up the fragments that none may be lost.' In one of our families, suppose that we have a cup of milk left upon breakfast; in our closet is a slice or two of sponge or cupcake, and a small saucer of jelly or preserve. In the American household the milk is frequently thrown out or one of the children is 'bidden to drink it up.' Biddy adds the jelly or preserve to her own breakfast, 'so she can have the saucer to wash.' The cake is given to the children as an interlude to meals, to spoil their appetites. Not so the foreign housewife! The cup of milk with an egg, a little flavoring and a trifle of thickening turns to custard; the cake is cut into thin pieces, spread with the preserve and laid in a white pudding dish; the custard is poured over it; it goes for ten minutes into the oven; the white of another egg is, with a little sugar, converted into a meringue, and spread on top; now the yolk of the second egg is beaten with a little cream or milk, and sugar and spice, into a sauce, or instead of the cream a little home-made wine or the juice left from some canned fruit is used, and there is a sauce for the dessert. Who eats it? Delicious! What dainty, extravagant things these foreign people eat! Indeed, we Americans would have thrown away the chief part of the dish, and would have provided for dessert a huge pie, more costly and not half so wholesome."

MISCELLANEOUS.

INTELLIGENT servant, Bridget, to caller: "Will ye kape still a minute while I look at ye? No; missus hain't at home. She told me if a woman came with a wart on the end of a red nose to say she wasn't at home, and there's no mistakin' that wart."

A NEW YORK engraver recently made this mistake: "Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] respectfully request your presence at the [illegible] of their daughter."

MR. CHAUNCEY M. DEPEW told this story at the recent New England dinner: In the Berkshire hills there was a funeral. The woman who mingles curiosity with piety was there with the mourners. To the afflicted widow, in a melancholy voice, she said: "When did you get your new eight day clock?" "I ain't got no new eight day clock," responded the bereaved woman. "Why, what is that in the corner? Ain't that an eight day clock?" persisted the curious visitor. "No, that ain't a clock, that's the deceased. We stood it on end in the corner to make room for the mourners."

A QUAKER shopkeeper once met a Quaker customer going home with her bundles. He had been absent from his place, and had a notion in his wise head that she had been trading with a rival whom he did not much love. "How much did thee give a yard for this, Mary?" "One dollar." "Why, I am surprised at thee! I could let thee have it for seventy-five cents. And how much for this?" "Two dollars." "Why, thee was unreasonable. I would have let thee have it for a dollar and a half. Why will thee go away trading with strangers and world's people?" "I don't know what thou art talking about, friend John," she said, "but I did buy all these things at thy store, and if thee says the truth thee must owe me considerable money."

HOW [illegible] ARE DRESSING IN PARIS.

The following is a brief epitome of the two dresses worn by Mme. Judic in the new comedy, "La Femme à Papa," the [illegible] which was, to a considerable extent, [illegible] the other day in Paris by her acting:—

1. Blue satin dress, with apron of lace and satin scarves, over a petticoat entirely covered with natural mimosas and fuchsias; plain bodice; frouffe [illegible] satin cloak, with colored beads and marabout chenille.

2. Plain dress of pink [illegible], with quilting of lace; old-fashioned silk bodice, with coloured beads. Both dresses elicited such enthusiastic applause from the audience, that dramatic critics in Paris have, for the last few days, imparted [illegible] to their readers respecting [illegible].

As I am on the subject of Christmas dresses, I will add a few charming costumes observed on the lake at the Bois de Boulogne:—1. A yellow-gold dress with black braid: 2. A blue polonaise with white [illegible]; 3. A chestnut cloth overall with gold braid. In all cases, muff, bonnet, boots and gloves to suit.—London World.

Swallowed a Baby.

When Thackeray visited our shores for the first time and was invited to partake of a dish of oysters, the size of our saddle-rocks astonished him. Accustomed to the small copper-tainted oyster of his own native isle, he paused. But only for an instant, and in one gulp it was down. "How do you feel?" asked a friend. "I feel as though I had swallowed a baby," was the reply. A ROMANTIC LIFE.

The Extraordinary Adventures of an Extraordinary Beauty.

The romantic vicissitudes of the early life of the Baroness Solange de Kramer have become the talk of Parisian salons, and they are [illegible] so extraordinary that, used as materials for a novel, they would spoil the book by their lack of veri-similitude. One night, in 1801, a little girl about one year old was deposited in the drawer of the foundling asylum at Brest. She was dressed with much luxury, and a note, attached [illegible] said that her name was Solange, and that she would be reclaimed by her father. The claim was never made, however, and in due time the child was transferred to the orphan asylum, to be educated there. As she grew up, she developed a most extraordinary beauty, but her intellect appeared to be very weak, and she suffered from frequent nervous fits. When she was 12 years old she was sent out into the street to sell flowers, and her beauty and modesty attracted many people's good will, but she grew weaker and weaker, and at last she died. According to French customs she was buried in an open casket, and, as it was winter, and the ground was frozen, she was laid into the grave, only covered with a thin layer of sand. During the night she awoke and, pushing the sand away, she crept out from this grave. Not exactly understanding what had taken place, she was not so very much frightened, but in crossing the glacis between the cemetery and the fortifications, she was suddenly stopped by the outcry, "Qui vive," and as she did not answer, the sentinel fired, and she fell to the ground. Brought into the guard-house, her wound was found to be slight and she soon recovered, but her singular history, and also her great beauty, had made so deep an impression on a young lieutenant of the garrison (Kramer), that he determined to be her protector, and send her to one of the most fashionable educational establishments in Paris. During the next few years Kramer was much tossed about by the war, but when in 1818 he returned to Paris, he found Solange a full grown woman, not only beautiful, but accomplished and spirited, with no more trace of intellectual weakness or nervous fits. He married her, and for several years the couple lived happily in Paris. Meanwhile investigations were made concerning the girl left, in 1801, in the Foundling Hospital at Brest, and as these investigations were made by a Swedish Ambassador, and in a somewhat official manner, they attracted some attention. Capt. Kramer heard about the affair, and sent a note to the ambassador, and a month later on, the ambassador came in state to bring Mme. Kramer a formal acknowledgment of her father, the former Gen. Bernadotte, the present King Charles XIV. of Sweden. Capt. Kramer and his wife went immediately to Stockholm; they were ennobled, etc., and their son has just now been appointed attache to the Swedish legation at Paris.—N. Y. Times.

USEFUL TABLES.

To Measure Corn in Cribs.

If the sides of the crib are perpendicular, multiply the length, breadth and height, in feet, together, and this product by 63, and the result will be bushels of corn. If you want the number of shelled bushels pretty accurately, multiply by 42 instead of 63. If the crib has flaring sides, multiply half the sum of the top and bottom widths, in feet, by the perpendicular height, in feet, that by the length, and then by the 63 or the 42, as before. These decimals are the fractional parts of a heaped bushel in a cubic foot.

To Measure Grain in Bins.

Multiply together the length, breadth and depth, in feet, and that product by 45. Suppose your bin is 20 feet long, 4 feet wide, and 6 feet deep; this will give you, when multiplied together, 480 cubic feet. To reduce this amount to bushels, multiply by 45, and you get 384 as the answer. It takes 2,150 cubic inches to make a bushel, and a cubic foot has 1,728 cubic inches, hence the bushel is to the foot as 2,150 to 1,728, or about 4-5, which is the explanation of the use of the fraction 45.

ANOTHER WAY.

Multiply the length by the width, and their product by the height in inches; divide by 2,150 (the number of square inches in a bushel), and the product will give the number of bushels in the bin.

To Measure Roots in the Pit or Root-House.

To estimate the quantity of potatoes, turnips or other roots in a pit, or bin, or root-house, ascertain the cubic dimensions, either in inches or feet, as in the case of small grain or corn, making allowance for the slope of the ridge by measuring only half the height, or so much of it as would be required to level the top and make a solid cubic heap. Of the amount estimated as for small grain take three-quarters, which will give the quantity of roots; or if measured in feet according to the rule for corn in the crib, add one-half the amount, and the sum will be the quantity of roots. Thus the space that would hold twenty bushels of corn in the ear, would hold thirty bushels of roots and forty of grain.

To Measure Hay.

Thoroughly cured, air-dried and well-pressed timothy hay, in the stack, requires 11 to 12 cubic or solid yards to weigh a ton; and clover hay, equally dry and pressed, takes 12 to 15 solid yards to weigh a ton. Hay, in a large mow or barn, is usually a little heavier than the stack, becoming more closely packed, so that one or two less number of cubic yards are required to weigh a ton.

To ascertain the number of tons of hay in a mow or building, multiply the length, breadth and depth together, and divide the product by the number of solid yards in a ton, and the result or quotient will be the number of tons in your mow; for instance—you mow of clover is 7 yards long, 5 yards wide, and 3 yards deep 7 x 5 x 3 = 105 solid yards; this divided by 15 solid yards in a ton gives 7 tons in the mow; if the hay be timothy, which is a little heavier, divide the 105 by 12, and you have 8¾ tons; but having the above rule, any schoolboy can work out all required results.

A Scarlet Fever epidemic exists in the district of Wigan just now. The disease broke out in the township of Aspull, which adjoins Wigan, but soon spread to the borough and to the surrounding townships. In Aspull alone between six hundred and seven hundred persons have been attacked, and here, as elsewhere in the district, there has been a large number of deaths.

A painful sensation was caused at a funeral at the Leicester Cemetery recently, by one of the bearers dropping down dead. Last week Miss Ada Brain, daughter of Councillor Brain, was drowned while skating on the ice, and one of the bearers at her funeral was a middle-aged gentleman named Joseph Blockley. After the service at the chapel, the procession had just started for the grave when Mr. Blockley suddenly fell down on the snow, and when he was lifted up life was found to be extinct.

AN UNDESIRABLE WIFE.

A Girl of Seventeen Tries to Murder her Husband, Child, Relatives, and Herself.

London, Jan. 8.—A young married woman named Effie Reed, aged seventeen, [illegible], was brought to this city under arrest as a dangerous lunatic. She had before her marriage been suspected of a tendency of insanity, and after marriage she made several attempts to take her husband's life. He abandoned her without support in consequence, and she went home to her parents. There she manifested her murderous propensity repeatedly. Once she boiled lucifer matches in the tea, again put poison in the porridge, threw her babe out of a window, and swallowed a large dose of Paris green herself, from which she was saved by the timely aid of Dr. Sinclair. She then declared her intention of hanging herself, and proceeded to an out of the way shed for that purpose. Her friends could bear with her conduct no longer, and had her locked up. She will be examined by the medical authorities next Tuesday. The woman strenuously denies that she is insane, but says that her temper is so ungovernable that at times it appears she is insane.

ECONOMICAL COOKING.

"How to Gather up the Fragments that Nothing May be Lost."

We believe that the French cooks have the reputation of being the most economical cooks of all nations, and the subjoined extract from a very gossipy and interesting article in an exchange shows how matters are looked after in the French kitchen:—

"Suppose that one egg is left, or one potato. Here, Bridget, or the housewife herself, says, 'one is not worth keeping,' and throws them into the swill-tub. The French housewife is not tempted by that happy institution always yawning at hand. On the contrary, suppose the egg is soft-boiled; she drops it into a tin cup, and makes it hard boiled at once. One hard-boiled egg chopped fine is what she needs in composing a salad; and the French housekeeper is wise in behalf of good health, of good taste and of the beauty and variety of her table, to have salads innumerable—as many kinds of salads as Bottom had of wigs. There is the egg—the salad shall grace the tea table. Or, there is the one potato. Your French housewife knows the value of soup; she does not make a huge soup and expect her family to dine upon it; she does not have her soup always of one kind—she varies the kind; and she has a small dish of soup as a prelude to our dinner; here she serves health a variety. The potato nicely cut in wedges shall be one of the ingredients of her soup. The beginning of her soup is generally of bones. She has a stone jar and the bones are usually trimmed closely out of the uncooked meat, sprinkled with salt and pepper, and put in this jar, over which a cloth is tied, and it is kept in a very cool place. Almost every day, with a few bones and a variety as to other ingredients, she will concoct a wonderful soup—white soup, a brown soup, a clear soup, a vegetable soup, and the spoonful of beans or peas, the few slices of tomato, the remnant of the rice or the macaroni shall not be ignominiously cast out, but the soup shall be as is most convenient to the stock on hand, and all these fragments, neatly kept, are to go therein. The French are not remarkably religious, but they do follow up the monition, 'gather up the fragments that none may be lost.' In one of our families, suppose that we have a cup of milk left upon breakfast; in our closet is a slice or two of sponge or cupcake, and a small saucer of jelly or preserve. In the American household the milk is frequently thrown out or one of the children is 'bidden to drink it up.' Daddy adds the jelly or preserve to her own breakfast, 'so she can have the saucer to wash.' The cake is given to the children as an interlude to meals, to spoil their appetites. Lo! the foreign housewife! The cup of milk with an egg, a little flavouring and a trifle of thickening turns to custard; the cake is cut into thin pieces, spread with the preserve and laid in a white pudding dish; the custard is poured over it; it goes for ten minutes into the oven; the white of another egg is, with a little sugar, converted into a meringue, and spread on top; now the yolk of the second egg is beaten with a little cream or milk, and sugar and spice, into a sauce, or instead of the cream a little homemade wine or the juice left from some canned fruit is used, and there is a sauce for the dessert. We eat it. Delicious! What dainty, extravagant things these foreign people use! Instead, we Americans would have thrown away the chief part of the dish, and would have provided for dessert a huge pie, more costly and not half so wholesome."

MISCELLANEOUS.

Intelligent servant, Bridget, to caller: "Will ye kape still a minute while I look at ye? No; Missus hain't at home. She told me if a woman came with a wart on the end of a red nose to say she wan't at home, and there's no mistakin' that wart."

A New York engraver recently made this mistake:—"Mr. and Mrs. ——— respectfully request your presence at the marriage of their daughter."

Mr. Chauncey M. Depew told this story at the recent New England dinner: In the Berkshire hills there was a funeral. The woman who mingles curiosity with pity was there with the mourners. To the afflicted widow, in a melancholy voice, she said: "When did you get your new eight day clock?" "I ain't got no new eight day clock," responded the bereaved woman. "Why, what is that in the corner? Ain't that an eight day clock?" persisted the curious visitor. "No, that ain't a clock, that's the coffin. We stood it on end in the corner to make room for the mourners."

A Quaker shopkeeper once met a Quaker customer going home with her bundles. He had been absent from his place, and had a notion in his wise head that she had been trading with a rival whom he did not much love. "How much did thee give a yard for this, Mary?" "One dollar!" "Why, I am surprised at thee! I could let thee have it for seventy-five cents. And how much for this?" "Two dollars." "Why, that was unreasonable. I could have let thee have it for a dollar and a half. Why will thee go away trading with strangers and world's people, Mary?" "I don't know what thou art talking about, friend John," she said, "but I did buy all these things at thy store, and if thee says the truth thee must owe me considerable money."

HOW THEY ARE DRESSING IN PARIS.

The following is a brief epitome of the two dresses worn by Mme. Judic in the new comedy, "La Femme à Papa," the success of which was, to a considerable extent, determined the other day in Paris by her acting:—

1. Blue satin dress, with apron of lace and satin flowers, over a petticoat entirely covered with natural mimosas and fuschias; plain bodice; feuille morte satin cloak, with colored beads and marabout chenille.

2. Plain dress of pink Sicilienne, with quilting of lace; old-fashioned silk bodice, with coloured beads. Both dresses elicited such enthusiastic applause from the audience, that dramatic critics in Paris have, for the last few days, imparted highly [illegible] information to their readers respecting [illegible].

As I am on the subject of Christmas dresses, I will add a few skating costumes observed on the lake at the Bois de Boulogne:—1. A yellow-gold dress with black braid; 2. A blue polonaise with sable trimmings; 3. A chestnut cloth overall with gold braid. In all cases, muff, bonnet, boots and gloves to suit.—London World.

A Good Account.

"To sum it up, six long years of bed-ridden sickness and suffering, costing $200 per year, total, $1,200—all of which was stopped by three bottles of Hop Bitters taken by my wife, who has done her own housework for a year since without the loss of a day, and I want everybody to know of it for their benefit."

What all Men Should Know.

To Relieve a Cough.—The troublesome cough caused by an accumulation of phlegm in the throat, especially in the morning, experienced mostly by persons affected with Chronic Catarrh, can be relieved almost instantly by taking a teaspoonful of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam, which has the advantage of being harmless to the stomach, and at the same time improving the appetite. w1d150-2w

Among the Luxuries of Life.

But a brief period had passed since when a month's time was necessary to accomplish a journey of few hundred miles and then we went lumbering over the rough country, [illegible] in springless coach. Now the same journey is made in sumptuous drawing-room cars, with all the comforts and many of the luxuries brought to us by servants. Once upon a time when we found it necessary to our health we set apart a brief period to "doctor up" and then came a struggle with that awful Castor Oil. Now we sip it from the bottle while we continue regularly at our vocations. But it is Scott & Bowne's Palatable Castor Oil we take. It is one of the luxuries of life that is afforded at 25 cents. w2d1-1m

Church Music.—The finest music provided by any church in the country is to be heard on Sundays and holidays at St. Francis Xavier's in New York. Its organ and its choir are alike famous, and its services are crowded by both the religious and the critical. The credit of this superb presentation belongs to the organist, Professor Wm. Berge, music doctor, who but a little while ago, ruptured an artery in his arm, and had to abandon his profession until cured by Giles' Liniment Iodide Ammonia.

Swallowed a Baby.

When Thackeray visited our shores for the first time and was invited to partake of a dish of oysters, the size of our saddle-rocks astonished him. Accustomed to the small copper-tainted oyster of his own native isle, he paused but only for an instant, and in one gulp it was down. "How do you feel?" asked a friend. "I feel as though I had swallowed a baby," was the reply. To the benighted foreigner our oysters are a revelation as is also Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil combined with the Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda, which for debility, all bronchial affections and consumption stands unrivalled. It is also acceptable to the most delicate stomach. w2d1-1m

A Positive Fact.—Nervousness, is the sense of feebleness, or the lack of stability of the nervous system, as distinguished from the rest of the body. It is pre-eminently a disease, and more widely spread through the Northern and Eastern part of the United States and the Dominion of Canada than in any other part of the world. We will not stop to say why this is the case, but we do emphatically say the Victoria Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites will be found an invaluable medicine for all parties afflicted with Nervousness, Dyspepsia, Consumption, Defective Nutrition, General Debility, or Weakness of the whole system. One of the first effects is an increase of the nervous or vital energy, followed by a feeling of unusual comfort and strength. For sale by all dealers. w1d[illegible]-2w

Hagyard's Yellow Oil is one of the surest remedies in the world for the cure of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Spinal and Bronchial Complaints, Deafness, Earache, Cramps, Sprains, Bruises, Galls, Stiff Joints, Swelled Hands, Sore Nipples, Stiff Neck, Chilblains, Tetter, Frost Bites, Chapped Hands, Wounds, Cuts, Sore Throat, Stings of Insects, Shortness of Breath, or any Disease that are painful or sore. We have no hesitation in recommending it for any of the above complaints, and believe it the quickest and most [illegible] known to [illegible] any cause, and can be used either internally or externally. For particulars see pamphlet accompanying each bottle. For sale by all dealers, price 25 cts. w1d[illegible]-3w

FRIDAY, JANUARY 9, 1880.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

The Grangers.

The Grangers concluded their labors yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, in time to take their departure by the 5.45 train. Their business is said to have been of a private nature, and there is nothing to be made public beyond what has already appeared in these columns.

Acknowledgement.

The Committee of the Peterborough Protestant Home acknowledge with thanks the following donations:—Mr. Innes, 9 pair of socks; Breese & Hutchinson, fire shovel; Mr. Adam Hall, sr., a load of wood; Mrs. Bertram, a turkey.

Improvement of Butter and Cheese.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Dominion Grange, now in session in this town, Mr. Calcutt proposed to contribute the sum of $50 to be given as prizes for the best samples of butter and cheese, to be exhibited at Idyl Wild in June next, the exhibition and awards to be entirely under the control of the Grange.

The Snow Disappearing.

This Friday morning wheels made their appearance upon our streets. The snow has been rapidly disappearing during the past few days, until sleighing has become difficult, or, at least, unpleasant, and wheels have to be brought into requisition. Several teams came in from the country with wagons instead of sleighs. Our streets are nearly running streams of water.

The National Policy.

The National Policy is beginning to be felt everywhere. The latest movement on that line is the re-opening of the Lundy Tannery on Brock Street. Mr. Robt. Lundy is making preparations for resuming labor in his works. This is one of the oldest tanneries in this section of the country and has a good reputation for turning out superior work. Many of our townsmen will be glad to learn that the business of the town is steadily improving.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district, as reported from Toronto at 10 o'clock to day are: Fresh to brisk, easterly to southerly winds; cloudy, warm weather with rain, areas followed to-morrow by stormy, westerly to north-westerly winds and colder weather. Peterborough is to-day experiencing a change, the wind moving from easterly to southerly; cloudy to clearing weather in the early part of the day. The thermometer indicated 45° at noon.

A Clever Ventriloquist.

It will be gratifying to the many friends of Mr. O. B. Dixon in Peterborough to hear of his success. The Manchester, N. H., Daily Union, of January 2nd, has the following item in its local column:—

> "An audience, whose enthusiasm was in an inverse ratio to its size, greeted 'Baird's New Orleans Minstrels' in Smith's Opera House last evening. The show was above the average of minstrel organizations, and rendered the different parts of the programme in a creditable manner. Dixon, a remarkably clever mimic and ventriloquist, received a hearty encore."

Death of the Rev. Prof. MacKerras.

The general public, as well as the personal friends of the Rev. Professor MacKerras, of Queen's College, Kingston, will regret to learn that he died somewhat suddenly this morning at the residence of his father-in-law, Judge Dennistoun. Professor MacKerras has been in a declining state of health for some years past, but his indomitable pluck and energy enabled him to continue to discharge his onerous duties as a Professor in Queen's College up to its close for the Christmas vacation, and even on Sunday last he was down stairs for dinner.

Improvements in Business.

There is no reason to doubt the improved condition of business in the Dominion, especially in this section of it. When we see new works going up, and old ones repaired and put into operation, we must naturally conclude that there is a reason for it. One of the latest signs is the clearing away of the rubbish and preparing the foundation for a new factory building by Mr. J. Z. Rogers, on the site of the sash and blind factory lately burned. The building will be erected next summer.

Theatre To-Night.

Proctor's Revelers will perform in Bradburn's Theatre this evening the new drama written expressly for them, entitled "True to Death through Death; or, Convict Life in Canada." The programme shows a long list of characters, and the very full synopsis on the back of it shows that there is no lack of sensational scenes. This play is to be preceded with the farce of "That Blessed Baby," and by selections on the Irish bag-pipes by Prof. Kelly.

C. O. F.

At a meeting of Court Peterborough, No. 29, Canadian Order of Foresters, held on Wednesday, January, 7th, the following officers were installed by Bro. Dr. J. J. Esmond, Deputy District Chief Ranger and High Physician:—

Bro. N. Lush	C. R.
" C. Robinson	V. C. R.
" T. Bithray	R. S.
" W. Strain	F. S.
" G. Kingdon	T.
" J. Barry	S. W.
" J. Mitchell	J. W.
" D. Carlisle	S. B.
" W. Nicholson	J. B.
" R. Robertson	Chaplain.

Improvements at the Opera House.

Extensive and important alterations and improvements are being made in Bradburn's Opera House, which will be hailed with pleasure by both the public and those who may have occasion to occupy the stage. The inside dressing room is to be removed, which will add about six feet to that side of the stage, and new dressing rooms are to be built over the vestibule approach to the reserved seats. Other improvements are to be effected to the stage and dressing rooms on the George Street side. There is to be a window at the head of the stage entrance stairs, to light up that dark corner. These changes will open up a free passage to the reserved seats at the stage end of the hall. The foot-lights are also to be re-arranged, and at the same time the audience will be protected from the now disagreeable glare of the light in their eyes. There is also to be a change at the main entrance to the hall, and a box office built. These several changes and improvements have long been needed, and Mr. Bradburn will receive the thanks of the community for them. Mr. Lasher is superintending the work.

SCHOOL BOARD ELECTIONS.

ASHBURNHAM.

John Smith and Peter Glover were elected School Trustees by acclamation.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS

HARVEY.

The following persons were declared duly elected as Reeve and Councillors for Harvey for 1880. Reeve,—James Oliver. Councillors,—David Brodie, Jr., John Clarkson, James Ingram and Robert Tedford.

COBOURG.

ARREST FOR FORGERY.—On Christmas Eve, Constable Wm. Orr went to Cramahe, about a mile and a half below Castleton, and arrested Robert H. Polley, who was charged with forging the name of his father to a note, about six years ago. After the forgery Polley cleared out to the United States, where he remained till about a month ago; when, on his return, the arrest was made, as stated. Constable Orr brought his prisoner to Cobourg, when his father satisfied the claimants of the amount in question with a new note, and nobody appearing against Polley, he was released.—World.

MILLBROOK.

AN EARLY LESSON.—The Messenger, after discussing the recent fire, says:—"This fire comes at a good time—just before the first meeting of the first council of the village—as it will be a practical reference to the necessity of some sort of fire protection needed, and will thus provoke early discussion in the matter."

NEW STATION.—We have been requested, says the Messenger, to state that the enterprising President of the Midland Railway Company, intends erecting, during the coming summer, a splendid lot of brick station buildings in Millbrook, for the accommodation of both the Peterborough and main lines.

PORT HOPE.

COTTON FACTORY.—At a large and influential public meeting on Wednesday evening, the following resolution was passed with one dissentient voice:—"That it is desirable in the interest of Port Hope that every encouragement be given to manufactures to locate here; that the Town Council is hereby requested to offer such inducements to the Company represented by Mr. Hall, as shall make it to their interest to build their manufactory here."

ARM CUT OFF.—On Wednesday last, as Mr. Henry Elson, who works with his brother on Mr. H. H. Walker's farm, lot 17, 3rd concession Hope, met with a very severe accident. While attending a horse feed straw cutter his hand got caught in the rollers of the machine and before help could be given the unfortunate man his hand and arm were cut off, a quarter of an inch at a time up to the elbow. Dr. R. B. Corbett attended to the sufferer.—Guide.

TIME EXTENDED TO FIRST FEBRUARY.

Not a few of our old subscribers have sent us the names of one or two new subscribers along with their own for 1880, and thus have made one dollar go as far as one and a half did last year. Finding that those who have tried it, fully realize that "a penny saved is two earned," and that others are still anxious to reap the same advantage, we have determined to receive new subscriptions from old subscribers up to the first of February upon the following terms, viz:—

THE WEEKLY REVIEW.

Any person now, and for the last twelve months a subscriber to the WEEKLY REVIEW, who sends us his renewal subscription with that of another person not now or for the last twelve months a subscriber to it, will have the TWO sent to any separate address for $2.50! Or if accompanied with the names of two other such, such persons may have the THREE sent to separate addresses for $3.00!

THE DAILY REVIEW.

Any person now a subscriber to the DAILY EVENING REVIEW who sends us his renewal subscription with that of another person not now on our subscription list, may have the TWO delivered or sent to any separate address for six months for $3.50, or for twelve months for $6.00!

Any one is at liberty to get up a club. Each club paper may be addressed separately. Parties making up clubs may send in the names (accompanied by the money) as they receive them, and credit will be given for the whole number sent in when the club is completed.

OUR CLUB LIST.

We are also enabled to announce that the very liberal advantages offered in our Club List will be kept open until the first of February. Parties who may yet be desirous of subscribing for the REVIEW along with any one or more of the leading papers or magazines contained in our Club List, can therefore avail themselves of the opportunity offered all through the month of January. We would again direct attention to our "Entirely New Feature"—"How to Obtain the Leading Papers and Save Money." See advertisement in another column of this paper. YOUNG'S POINT.

From Our Own Correspondent.

SCHOOL.—Miss Shields re-opened the school here on Monday last, after the Christmas holidays.

R. C. CHURCH.—The Priest of Douro held service in the church here on New Years' Day. The attendance was large.

FOR THE SHANTIES.—A new gang of men passed through here on Wednesday for lumbering operations near Julien's landing.

DEER.—Several loads of deer passed through here after Jan. 1st, for parties in Lakefield and Peterborough.

At the last meeting of the Saugeen Presbytery, the Arthur case, which had been before the Presbytery at a previous session, was brought forward for further consideration. This was a case wherein a woman married in Canada had obtained a divorce in the United States and was afterwards married in Arthur, the woman and the second husband were members of the Arthur congregation. The Presbytery after due consideration, agreed to refer the case in all its details to the next meeting of the Synod of Toronto and Kingston for decision.

TWENTY-EIGHTH YEAR.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW FOR 1880.

AN ENTIRELY NEW FEATURE!

How to Obtain the Leading Papers and Save Money.

FAIR, SQUARE AND RELIABLE OFFERS.

WITH the year 1880, the WEEKLY REVIEW will enter on its 28th year of publication. Notwithstanding the improvements which have been made upon it, and the ever increasing expenditure incurred to keep it AHEAD of any of its competitors, the annual subscription will remain as heretofore, only $1.50—postage paid by the publishers.

Splendid Clubbing Advantages.

The Proprietors of the REVIEW have great pleasure in announcing that they have made arrangements with the publishers of the following leading periodicals in Canada and the United States, by which they are enabled to club these periodicals with the WEEKLY REVIEW at remarkably low prices.

READ CAREFULLY.—Below are three columns of figures. The name of the paper or magazine is given, and the FIRST column gives the REGULAR PUBLISHER'S PRICE. The SECOND column gives the regular subscription price of the WEEKLY REVIEW. The THIRD column gives the price at which we are prepared to supply new subscribers with BOTH the paper or magazine and the WEEKLY REVIEW combined, for one year. It is certainly an object to save money these times, and it is easy to see by our Club List how it can be done.

OUR CLUB LIST.

	Regular Price.	Weekly Review.	Our Price for both.
THE WEEKLY MAIL	$1 00	$1 50	$2 00
THE WEEKLY GLOBE	2 00	1 50	2 50

RURAL NEW-YORKER.—This is the best Agricultural Weekly in America, and every subscriber who accepts this offer will also receive a package of the new varieties of Field, Garden, and Flower Seeds, free, which itself is valued at $2.50!

HARPER'S PUBLICATIONS count among their contributors an army of the ablest writers and artists of Europe and America, are profusely illustrated, and rank among the most popular of their kind on the American Continent.

THE LONDON TRACT SOCIETIES PUBLICATIONS.—The fact that Leisure Hour, Sunday at Home, and the Boy's Own Paper are issued by this Society, is an ample guarantee of their excellence in every respect.

THE CANADA PRESBYTERIAN.—Every subscriber to this paper will receive steel engraved copies of the companion pictures of the "Death of Nelson," and the "Meeting of Wellington and Blucher."

THE MAIL.—Subscribers to the Mail will also receive The Canadian Farm Annual for 1880, illustrated with 140 Engravings, and containing valuable information and practical suggestions or every Farmer.

How to get the Weekly Review for Nothing!

Any person subscribing for the WEEKLY REVIEW, and desiring to obtain two or more of the above publications along with the REVIEW, can have them at the price quoted, less $1.50. For example:—

HARPER'S MAGAZINE and WEEKLY REVIEW	$4 50
HARPER'S WEEKLY, additional, and without the WEEKLY REVIEW	3 20
Total for the Three	$7 70

Or, 30 cents less than the regular publishers price for Harper's Magazine and Harper's Weekly, with the WEEKLY REVIEW thrown in for nothing!

HOW TO SAVE MONEY!

Suppose you wish for 1880, to subscribe for the Weekly Mail, $1.00; Rural New-Yorker, $2.00; Harper's Magazine, $4.00; Methodist Magazine, $2.00; the lot will cost you direct, just $9.00, and you have four letters to write, four money orders to buy, and four separate risks to run. Now look at our price above; ALL WE ASK for the same periodicals, WITH THE WEEKLY REVIEW INCLUDED, is $7.90, and your papers and magazines will come promptly direct from the publishers, just the same as if you had ordered them yourself.

PLEASE OBSERVE.—All Postage is paid in full in Canada and United States.

ANOTHER SCHEME.

The WEEKLY REVIEW for 1880 will be sent (postage paid) to any person who has been a subscriber for the last twelve months, who sends us his renewal subscription—

With that of ONE other person not a subscriber for the last six months for	$2 50
With that of TWO " " "	3 00
With that of TEN " " "	10 00

Any one is at liberty to get up a Club. Each Club paper may be addressed separately.

Parties making up Clubs may send in the names as they receive them, and credit will be given for the whole number sent in when the Club is completed. Address all Communications and Money Orders to

CABLE.

THE BATTLE OE GUZINJE.

London, Jan. 9.—A Vienna correspondent confirms the reports that a conflict had taken place near Gusinje, in which the Montenegrins defeated the Albanians, but places the strength of the forces engaged at 5,000 of the former and 7,000 of the latter. The Albanians were commanded by the Chief of the Albanian League. The fight lasted five hours. The same correspondent says the Porte has finally recalled its officials from Gusinje and Plava.

AID FROM AUSTRALIA.

London, Jan. 9.—The Lord Mayor has received a telegram from Brisbane, Queensland, stating that the Queensland National Bank will pay $2,500, the first contribution of that colony, to the Irish relief committee.

DEMANDS AN INDEMNITY.

London, Jan. 9.—Montenegro demands an indemnity of two million francs in consequence of Turkey's delay in vacating Gusinje, thus necessitating additional troops.

SPAIN'S ABOLITION BILL.

Madrid, Jan. 9.—The Spanish Society for the Abolition of Slavery has addressed a petition to Congress for the immediate and simultaneous liberation of slaves in all the Spanish possessions. Three sections of the minority in the Chamber of Deputies persist in abstention.

PURCHASES ON THE GOLD COAST.

London, Jan. 9.—The British authorities on the gold coast have bought from King Agbosome's headmen in chief their seaboard territory extending two miles inland, and hitherto leased by American traders. The Afflowhoo territory has also been purchased, and trouble is expected between the rival leaders.

MARRIAGE ANNULLED.

AMERICAN.

A NEW FIRM.

New York, Jan. 9.—H. H. Honore, jr., brother-in-law of Fred. Grant and Jesse R. Grant, a son of the General, have formed a co-partnership in the general produce business. Both were formally admitted yesterday to the membership of the produce exchange.

STEAMER ARRIVED.

New York, Jan. 9.—The State of Nevada from Glasgow.

ON THEIR TRAIL.

Silver City, N.M., Jan. 9.—Indians are at McEver's and Roberts' ranche fighting the whites. Troops are en route from Fort Bayard to their assistance. The Indians have cut several miles through the line. Victoria, with 100 warriors, passed here, going north on the 7th inst. When last heard from they were near McEver's ranche, and were moving direct for their former haunts in the Black Mountains. There was some fighting at McEver's, but none hurt. Major Morrow, with five companies of cavalry, are in pursuit, twenty-four hours behind. The Comanches from Texas are depredating in Pecos, Lincoln County.

INTIMIDATION BY MINERS.

Wheeling, W. Va., Jan. 9.—Recently the coal miners of several mines in the Kanawha Valley, Fire Creek mines and New River sections, struck. The employees near Hawkesnest, however, went to work. Most of the miners in the Kanawha Valley and New River sections are banded together in a secret league called the Knights of Labor. The day before yesterday they sent word that work at the Austedt mines must be stopped. Last evening 100 miners seized an east bound train of the Chesapeake railway and forced the conductor to let them ride free to the scene of operations. This morning 150 miners repeated this action on the down train from Richmond, thus the striking miners were able to muster 500 men and intimidate the employers and owners of the Austedt mines. The Governor, who is in New York, was telegraphed to and ordered the Lewisburg and Charleston Companies to hold themselves ready. The military will not be called upon unless their is danger of a riot or to protect the miners willing to work.

THE UTES AT CHICAGO.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—The Ute Indians, with an escort, passed through here to-day for Washington. A crowd at the depot made some demonstration in the way of unpleasant words towards the Indians. Gen. Adams, who arrived this afternoon, confirms the stories of the nameless indignities which the white women suffered from the Indians. He says the women, very unwillingly, made a full statement to the Commission of the circumstances with the understanding that it should not be published. Mrs. Meeker, however, subsequently published the story herself. Gen. Adams said that had he known this part of the barbarity of the savages before the Commission began its work, he would have advised letting General Merritt punish the red skins without further delay. The women were, however, so averse to having the facts known that they at first denied even to the Commission that they had been foully dealt with.

THE IRON TRADE.

London, Jan. 10.—The Berlin correspondent of the Times says that the establishment of Krupp & Essen within the last three months has received considerable orders, as well for articles of peace as war. In the latter category Russia and Chili particularly figure. For railway materials orders have come in such masses that the largest number of workmen the establishment can employ have been engaged to the end of the year 1881, and many orders have had to be refused.

Chester, Pa., Jan. 10.—The new iron steamship Louisiana, built by John Roach & Son, left here this morning on her trial trip for New York. She will ply between New York and New Orleans.

DRY GOODS TRADE.

New York, Jan. 10.—The Journal of Commerce, in its review of the dry goods trade, says in domestic goods for the first week of the year the volume of sales actually charged is largely in excess of those for the corresponding week of last year. This feature, in connection with the small stocks resting with agents, gives much steadiness and firmness to prices.

THE UNITED STATES DEBT.

New York, Jan. 10.—The Commercial Bulletin's Washington special report says that quite an excitement has been created in official circles, by a rumor that a New York and London Syndicate is to dash the calculations of the Secretary of the Treasury to the ground by offering to take enough three and half per cent. bonds to cover the funding of six per cent. redeemable in 1880, with the option of bonds bearing the same interest to cover the high rate bonds falling due next year. It is said that the Syndicate is forming and that offers will be made pro forma to the ways and means committee in such a manner as to pass Wood's low rate interest funding bill.

RAILWAY CONNECTION.

New York, Jan. 10.—Russel Sage said yesterday that Jay Gould's plan to build an opposition line from Toledo to Buffalo has been tabled because a satisfactory arrangement has been made with the Lake Shore road, to receive all freight offered by the Wabash railway.

A COUNTERFEITER DETECTED.

Greenville, Miss., Jan. 10.—A man giving his name as W. Stanley, was arrested here yesterday for an assault. An investigation of his baggage disclosed four hundred dollars in counterfeit coin. When arrested he made a fierce resistance, and he is evidently a desperado of the worst type.

A GOVERNOR IN DISGRACE.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Jan. 10.—Great indignation prevails here because Governor Hoyt yesterday appointed Stanley Woodward, a Democrat, Judge of the Eleventh Judicial District, in preference to ex-Senator Payne, the Republican applicant for the position. At Kingston, the late home of Governor Hoyt, the Club marched in procession to its headquarters, tore down the large transparency that adorned the front of the building because it bore the Governor's picture, and trampled it in the mud, amid cries of derision and disgust. The club is composed of wealthy and prominent Republicans.

A DEFAULTING OFFICIAL.

Philadelphia, Jan. 10.—An announcement was made this morning that George C. Lisson, Secretary of the German Fire Insurance Company, is a defaulter to the amount of about $2,000, and a belief exists that other moneys may have been collected from policy holders of which no return has been made. Lisson has not been seen for some time.

BILLIARD MATCH.

New York, Jan. 10.—Schaefer and Sexton will play a match game of billiards for $1,000 and the collender emblem to-night. Vignaux, the French Champion, has challenged Schaefer to a match of 5,000 points for $2,000.

INCREASED DUTIES.

Duties amounting to over $8,000,000 were collected at the port of New York in December, being an increase of over $2,000,000 in December of 1878.

RELIEF FOR IRELAND.

San Francisco, Jan. 10.—The Irish Relief Committee yesterday telegraphed $2,000 to Dublin for the relief of the sufferers in Ireland.

HEAVY DEFALCATIONS.

New York, Jan. 10.—Instead of $31,500, which should have been on deposit at the bank in which the defaulting treasurer of the Produce Exchange kept their account, only $300 was found yesterday. The total amount of Bogert's defalcation thus far disclosed is $35,000. His property has been attached to satisfy claims of over $60,000 made by the Merchant's Exchange, of which he was a director.

SWINDLING STOCK BROKERS.

New York, Jan. 10.—The business of three more firms engaged in swindling stock operators has been stopped, and the delivery of all mail matter to them has been prohibited by the Postmaster-General. Their names are Baxter & Co., T. Potter Wright and Benedict & Co. All these firms made considerable money out of this business. Richard B. Baxter, of the firm of Baxter & Co., is reported to be very wealthy, and is now enjoying himself in Europe.

SUSPECTED INCENDIARISM.

New York, Jan. 10.—Naftal, who is accused of setting fire to his clothing-store, at Red Bank, causing a disastrous conflagration, surrendered yesterday. He protested his innocence and wept like a child.

MASKED ROBBERS.

Lancaster, Pa., Jan. 10.—On Thursday night, eight masked robbers entered the residence of Jacob Nishley, a miller, aged 60, living on Conestoga Creek, five miles from this city, and demanded his money or his life. Nishley fearing violence gave them $150, all he had in the house. The robbers received this with loud cheers and thanked him for his kindness. They then ransacked the house and on leaving struck him on the head with a club. He was found unconscious yesterday, and his condition is critical. No arrests have been made.

MURDER OF A FATHER-IN-LAW.

Hillsville, Carroll County, Va., Jan. 10.—General Webb was hanged here yesterday for the murder of his father-in-law, Joshua Nester, on June 20th. The victim was a respectable farmer, aged 85. Webb's motive for the murder was to obtain through his wife, possession of the property which would descend to her on the old man's death. He shot Nester, in the latter's house, from a piece of woods near by.

OTTAWA.

Small-Pox.—During the past year there have been 210 deaths from small-pox in the city. Of the interments, 197 were in the Roman Catholic and 22 in the Protestant cemetery. The total number of deaths during the year was 562. One hundred and sixty-seven were French Canadians, and may be accounted for by the fact that the French are generally averse to vaccination.

A Horrible Murder.—Information has just been received of a horrible murder which occurred at Maniwaki, about one hundred miles north of this city on the Gatineau. Full particulars have not yet been received, but it appears that a man named Brisbois quarrelled with his partner and literally chopped him to pieces with an axe. The murderer has escaped.

LAKEFIELD AGENCY OF THE REVIEW.—Mr. W. C. Saunders has been appointed Manager of the Lakefield Agency of the Review, and is authorized to receive Advertisements and Subscriptions, and also Orders for Printing. Office:—North of Post Office, Lakefield.

SIR CHAS. TUPPER ON THE T. V. C.

As the Trenton Courier gives a fuller report than the Toronto dailies of the Hon. Sir Chas. Tupper's remarks on the Trent Valley Canal in his speech in response to an address at Trenton, we re-publish it for the benefit of our readers.

After thanking the committee and expressing his pleasure at the visit, and the knowledge he had gained by it, Sir Charles spoke as follows:—

"From '67 to '72 Sir John promoted a great many public works, which he believed would aid the commerce of the Dominion, believing it right to expend the increasing revenue of the people for their benefit. Mr. Mackenzie had no increase of revenue and of course could not do so much. He, Sir Charles, is prepared to go to the full length of what the address wants. He had not studied the subject as carefully as he intends, but he had sufficiently been made acquainted with the nature of the works by the representations of the deputation, he would say the most influential that ever waited on the Government, and whom he had the honor of receiving, some of whose members had so thoroughly mastered the subject as to discuss it in detail, and enable him to come to the conclusion that these great works should be built. The need of the old country for the cereals of the North-West, and the overflowing produce of that great and fertile land demands increasing facilities for bringing this produce to market, and nature has favored this Dominion so that we can show we can do this carrying trade ourselves and do it cheaper, and also do the carrying trade for Dakota and Minnesota and the Northern States. One of these avenues of commerce is by connecting the waters of Georgian Bay and the Bay of Quinte, by what he considered the cheapest means of transportation—a barge canal. It will be necessary, as soon as the Government think the funds of the Dominion will warrant it, to ascertain without a doubt the water supply. From the report of Mr. Starling, an able engineer, sent by himself to make an examination, he believed sufficient water could be had, and not only so but by certain cuts the length could be shortened. There are vast interests associated with this T. V. Canal, that can be expanded indefinitely to the advantage of the Dominion at large. He has come to the conclusion that this is a very valuable and important work and deserves the serious attention of Parliament, and he is prepared by voice and motion on the floor of the house to advocate its claims.

As to the Murray Canal, he wondered it had not been built long ago. He felt sorry for his predecessors who left him the honor of presenting this section of country with this finished work. The route he will leave to the engineers, but he will be pleased to have it constructed by either route. No one believes and he hoped our grand-children will never see the day that would require this cut for military purposes, but when utilized for commercial purposes, no one can look at the map and say it would not be useful from a military point of view, which is an additional reason for its construction. He was glad to see that all without reference to politics were united in demanding the construction of these works, and in the interests of the Dominion and in justice to all he would make as strong a claim for this section of the Dominion as he would do for his own constituents, and will urge upon his colleagues and the government the construction of these great national works."

"THE POLITICAL PINAFORE."

To the Editor of the Globe.

SIR,—I notice in your issue of yesterday a paragraph in your Ottawa news to the effect that the "Political Pinafore" will not be produced, as the author has been induced to destroy the MS. As this report, if uncontradicted, may mislead the public and injure the success of the play, I hasten to inform you that the report has no foundation. The facts are these:—Mr. Grant Seymour some time ago undertook to write a political burlesque on "Pinafore," but abandoned it. Since then another gentleman has undertaken the task, and completed it to Mr. McDowell's satisfaction. Mr. Seymour is, I believe, receiving credit for the work, much against his will; but I wish it distinctly understood that he had no hand in it whatever. The true author shall be nameless, being a prominent M.P. The title of the play is "H. M. S. Parliament; or, the Lass who Loved a Government Clerk"—a parody on "Pinafore." It is the idea of the author to treat the questions of the day in a satirical way, and without giving offence to either side. Although the characters of Tilley, Macdonald, Mackenzie, Blake, Cartwright, &c., are introduced, it will be in a manner to amuse them as well as the audience.

I go to New York in a few days to engage a chorus and several comedians, and to arrange to have wigs and beards made to resemble the characters introduced.

I am in receipt of the last act of the play, and shall have it printed and copyrighted, and ready for production in a few weeks. As it is to be produced throughout Canada, Toronto will be the starting point. Yours truly,

CHAS. ARNOLD,
Business Manager, Shaughraun Co.

Cobourg, January 7.

REVIEWS.

THE CHRISTIAN GUARDIAN, the organ of the Methodist Church of Canada, published at the Methodist Book Room, Toronto, and edited by Rev. E. H. Dewart, D.D., is the oldest and best religious weekly in Canada. It has completed its fiftieth year as a faithful witness for the truth. It has a record of which no one need be ashamed; and which should prompt its friends to do all in their power to give it a wider influence in the future. In its prospectus for 1880, the Editor promises that there shall be no decline in the future. He says:—"No pains will be spared to make the Guardian for 1880 more instructive and attractive than it has ever been. It will contain vigorous editorials on all the leading questions of the day; choice selections from the best religious and secular journals; a good weekly summary of current secular and religious news; impartial reviews of new books and periodicals; interesting articles on domestic and agricultural topics; a weekly report of the news of the Churches; a constant record of the progress of the work of God in our Church; and interesting accounts of missionary work throughout the world, making it, in all respects, a first-class family paper."

THE Governor-General will present annually a medal to the scholar in Dufferin College, London, the most proficient in French and German.

HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY.

Annual Meeting of the Peterborough Horticultural Society.

On Thursday evening, Jan. 8th, the annual meeting of the members of the Peterborough Horticultural Society was held in the Town Council Chamber.

Mr. J. H. Roper, the President took the chair.

The SECRETARY read the annual report, which was adopted.

ANNUAL REPORT.

The Officers and Directors of the Peterborough Horticultural Society for 1879 beg leave to report as follows:—

The Society commenced the year with a heavy and discouraging debt, and the prospects for a successful season were very poor indeed. However, on soliciting membership subscription for the incoming year, it was most satisfactory to find that the old members met the efforts of the officers in a very generous spirit, and the result was that the requisite number of subscriptions to secure the annual Government Grant of $140 was soon obtained. The liabilities being so heavy, and the Society having to depend for its existence this year on such a small income, the Directors determined to take advantage of the opportunity offered of affiliating with the Central Agricultural Exhibition, and by combining the exhibits with theirs save the extra expense of a separate show. This was done, and a very pleasing and satisfactory exhibit was made at the Central by the members of the Society, the following being the result:—The total number of members who exhibited was 21, out of which number 16 were fortunate enough to obtain prizes amounting in the aggregate to the handsome sum of $134.

The cost of obtaining the privilege of competing at the Central, which resulted so very satisfactorily to the members of the Society, was only $21.08, this being the amount of our assessment arrived at by the Central Committee on adjusting their accounts.

The Treasurer's report shows a balance on deposit in the Canadian Bank of Commerce to the credit of the Society amounting to $173.11, and the liabilities still unpaid amount to about $75. The Board of Directors would respectfully suggest the propriety of at once paying all outstanding accounts, and commencing the season of 1880 with a clean sheet, feeling confident that by adopting this course they will enlist the confidence of the public with the result of materially increasing the success of the Society in the future.

In accordance with a resolution passed at a meeting held in February, 1879, Mr. J. McClelland visited Ottawa as a delegate from the Society to the Provincial Exhibition, and also acted as representative of the Society on the Central Committee at Millbrook.

The Directors earnestly solicit the attention and generous support of the public in their endeavor to rescue the Society from its late unfortunate financial position, and trust that the membership list for 1880 will be swelled by the addition of many new names.

The value of an organization of this kind in a community cannot be over estimated; apart from the pleasure which the annual Exhibitions afford the members by enabling them to collect and exhibit in harmless rivalry the beautiful products of their care in Floriculture, and the more practical produce of the garden, the educating effect on the young in tending to refine the tastes and create an interest in what is beautiful in nature and useful in our home, should in all thinking minds create a desire to support and foster the Society in our midst.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

J. H. ROPER,
President.

January 8th, 1880.

A committee was appointed to examine the list of liabilities and pay such as were found correct.

The following officers were elected:—

PRESIDENT.—J. H. Roper, re-elected.
VICE-PRESIDENT.—Jas. Stevenson.
TREASURER.—F. J. Lewis, re-elected.
SECRETARY.—W. J. Nesbitt, re-elected.
DIRECTORS.—Rev. V. Clementi, Hon. R. Hamilton, John McClelland, A. H. Macdougall, J. Saulter, Geo. Edmison, Chas. Ormond, John Burnham and H. J. LeFevre.

TILE DRAINING.

The Agricultural State Board of Illinois, in reply to a series of questions with reference to the value of tile drainage has received the following replies:—

"Mr. A. J. Harlan, of London Mills: "The increase in crops in my case is not only a per cent., but principal and all, as the land I drained produced nothing previous to being drained, and now I raise just as good crops there as anywhere." George Judd, of Springfield, writes: "I have drained 300 acres and commenced in the spring of 1877. The land was level prairie, with considerable depressions, or pockets (we call these basins in this part of the State), where water in wet seasons would stand, covering from one-fourth to one acre of ground. One pond of four acres in which water was always to be found is now planted in corn, and drier land is not to be found on the place. I have laid five miles, and used 4-inch tiles exclusively, laying it 2½ to 5 feet deep, always aiming to get below frost. The land is much more friable, and works nicer than undrained land. The drained land stood the drouth much better for the tiling, and produced from 15 to 20 per cent. more. I have no interest in the manufacture or sale of tile, but will endorse all the most sanguine friends of the system have to say in its behalf." J. D. Faris writes:—"I have laid about 4,000 rods of tiles; the mains are five and six inch, and the side drains 3 and 4. My first drains were laid very shallow, but I found this to be a false idea. Now I put them from three to five feet. Land which is properly drained can be worked from one to two weeks earlier than undrained land. The average increase of my crops in consequence of draining is at least 50 per cent."

Mr. James Gaines, Ridge Farm, writes:—"I own 4,800 acres of the best blue grass land in Eastern Illinois. I have used tiles 15 years, and think it is the only true mode of draining. Tiles properly laid, will last for all time. I have expended $500 per year for some years in tiling, and expect to expend that sum each year until my farm is thoroughly drained. I use more 4 inch tile than any other size, and recommend the sole tiles, flat on one side. They are not so easily misplaced as the round tiles. I lay my tiles from 30 to 42 inches deep. Thorough drainage is a great benefit to the State. It makes the country healthy, reclaims and makes productive low, wet lands heretofore entirely worthless. Often one crop will pay for tiling. I am tiling pastures, and find it pays."

FARM NOTES.

HOW DO YOU STAND?—One cannot lay out his work to advantage, without knowing precisely how he stands with regard to his business. The beginning of the year is the appropriate time for ascertaining it. Frequently an account of business is kept for a month or two, and then neglected. If it is only to encourage habits of regularity and perseverance, it will be time well spent to keep an account, not only of money affairs, but a record of events for every day. This tends to beget promptness and system in every detail of farm work, and in business affairs, that foresight and economy which are everywhere the prime essentials to success.

KEEP A RECORD of the events of each day's work, and farm-life. One of the boys or girls should do this. A book will be needed, ruled with plain lines, on which to make the entries; put down the condition of the weather, the work done, and by whom; purchases and sales made; indeed, anything that may be needed for future reference, or that should be entered in the account book, which will thus become a valuable and interesting record of the farm.

HIRING MEN.—A farmer should try and make work for a hired man, or several if possible. If he can find profitable work for them, he is making money for himself. A few months wages spent in procuring or making manure, draining, clearing off stone, getting out stumps, or otherwise making the farm more productive, will be well invested.

HORSES.—When not at work the horses need but little grain, if sufficient good hay is given. But as hay is generally dusty, and long hay is wasted in the eating, we find it economical to cut and wet the fodder, and give 3 quarts daily of bran or ground feed. The hay saved will pay for the meal, and the increased value of the manure will pay for the labour. The moist feed prevents injury to the horses from breathing the dust from dry hay.

MARES IN FOAL.—A roomy loose box is the safest and most comfortable place for a brood mare. A colt may be raised for the same cost as a cow, and when three years old may be worth four cows. There is a brisk demand for good work horses, and a large export business is growing up, so that the keeping of mares will become a source of income. But not only must the right kind be kept, and the right kind of colts be raised, but the mares must have proper stable accommodations. When a mare is idle a large portion of the time, exercise is needed, and this she can get in a loose box.

VARIETY OF FOOD.—It is a well established fact, that a single kind of food is not enough for the best growth, health and comfort of animals. Like ourselves, the stock which we keep, does relish a change of diet—thrives better with a change of pasture so to speak—and gives fuller returns for the trouble of providing the variety of foods. Coarse fodder should be mixed with that which is of a finer nature; and the highly nitrogenous, fed with substances weak in nitrogen. Some farmers will feed their sheep corn one morning, and barley and oats the next, and thus keep up a continual surprise, hightoned by a lick of salt now and then. It is the same love of change, which makes the colt, cow, and even the oldest horse feel glad when turned into a new field.

COLTS.—Young colts should be well fed and cared for the first winter; provide a warm stall for them, with plenty of litter, and give them a good brushing down once every day. A quart of oats, daily, will be needed, and some bright, clean sweet hay. Cut-feed is not suitable for young colts, whose digestion should not be overtaxed by food packed solidly in the stomach; feed light and frequently.

COWS.—Milking cows will be benefitted by mixing their feed with warm water, if this can be done without too much trouble. A family cow may be treated to a warm mess in the mornings without difficulty, and it will increase the milk perceptibly. Cut the hay and pour a pailful of hot water over it; mix the mess so that the hay is all wetted, and add the meal; mix again, and feed while warm. In a dairy of 20 cows, the extra milk will pay for the labour needed. If the food can be made more digestible, and by giving it warm, the waste of animal heat will be avoided, and the same effect will result as from an increase of food. Thus the study of the principles of feeding may be made a source of profit by the economy which may be practiced through it. The card and brush should be in frequent use during the winter, and if necessary a coarse cloth and warm water may be used to preserve cleanliness. If filth is permitted to gather on the skin, it is difficult to remove at this season.

Agricultural Notes.

THE butter and cheese which carried off the sweepstake prizes at the International Dairy Fair were salted with Higgins' English salt.

SOME four car loads of barley were inspected a few days ago in Cincinnati, which came from Chicago. The inspector found that it had been "sulphurised," by which process an inferior article was given the appearance of superior barley. The consignee refused to accept the lot inspected, and it was left at the depot subject to the seller's order. A reporter of the Cincinnati Gazette claims to have good authority for saying that a large bleachery exists in Chicago for the preparation of this "sulphurised" barley.

Two and three-year-old steers bring $10 each, at Fort Worth, Texas.

AN ox four years old, 18½ hands high, and weighing 3,170 pounds, has just been bought in Lancaster county, Pa., by a drover.

THE next Provincial Exhibition of the Agricultural and Arts Association for the Province of Ontario, will be held at Hamilton, commencing on Monday, Sept. 20th, 1880, and continue two weeks.

TAKE care of your sheep—wool promises to be a good price the coming season.

What not to Kill.

The French Minister to France has done a good deal in causing a placard to be posted which it would be wise for citizens of all countries to have before their eyes. It tells farmers, sportsmen, boys and others what creatures not to kill.

Hedge-hog—Lives mostly on mice, small rodents, slugs and grubs—animals hurtful to agriculture. Don't kill the hedge-hog.

Toad—Farm assistant; he destroys 20 to 30 insects per hour. Don't kill the toad.

Mole—Is continually destroying grubs, larvæ, palmer-worms and insects injurious to agriculture. No trace of vegetation is ever found in its stomach. Don't kill the mole.

Birds—Each department loses annually several millions through insects. Birds are the only enemies able to contend against them vigorously. They are the great caterpillar killers and agricultural assistants. Children, don't disturb their nests.

Lady-bird—Never destroy, for they are the best friends of farmers and horticulturists, and their presence upon aphis-ridden plants is beneficial.

The Fatal Number Three.

It is a curious fact that three female sovereigns are ill at the same time—the Empress of Russia, the Queen of Italy, and the Queen of Sweden. Some fatality has attached itself to the number three during the year 1879. Serious attempts have been made upon the lives of three of the crowned heads of Europe—the Emperors of Russia and Germany and the King of Italy. Three foreign potentates have been dispossessed—the Ameer of Cabul, the Khedive of Egypt, and the King of Zululand. Three famous actors have died—Falconer, Buckstone, and Mathews—and the fourth estate is not without its fatal adhesion to the unlucky numeral. Three editors, or proprietors, of foremost newspapers have bade "long farewell to all their greatness"—Lawson, Delane, and Serjeant Cox.

Turning the Oxus.

With reference to the task of diverting the course of the Oxus into its previous channel, the Novoye Vremya has received a telegram from Samara, a town on the Volga, to the effect that the dams of Beut and Shamurat having been dug through, the work will be continued next spring. Three more embankments will be cut through or wholly removed, while the whole bed of the Amu-Darya is to be cleaned out and deepened. Although the river was pretty low in the autumn, all the work intended has not been accomplished, but still the labourers have reached the ruins of Koone Urgentsch, an ancient city on the frontier of the Khanate of Khiva and the Steppe. At the time when the Amu-Darya flowed past that town it was a rich place, though ruined towers and mosques are now only to be seen upon its site, with a few houses inhabited by Usbegs and Khirgis. And thus concludes the telegram one may say that the return of the Amu-Darya into the Usbol, its former bed, has already begun. Commenting upon this intelligence, the Novoye Vremya does not seem to be very hopeful of ever seeing this gigantic undertaking completed. How long will it be, inquires the journal, before the Oxus really reaches the Caspian? Will the river itself be able to overcome all the obstacles in its way, or what colossal works will still be necessary to remove these impediments to its course? Will the Amu-Darya be navigable in its new course, and will the aim which Peter the Great strove to attain this time be reached? Questions, of a truth, worth serious consideration.

Wheat Cargoes Shifting.

In consequence of the great loss of Atlantic cargo steamers within the last three months, through cargoes of wheat in bulk shifting and causing them to capsize and founder, there is not only an extensive movement in the north of England on the part of shipmasters, but also among iron steamship owners themselves, who are their own underwriters, to put an end to the mischief of Mr. W. Dickinson of the Quayside, Newcastle, an extensive iron shipowner, has got the support of a large number of owners, and at the next annual meeting of the Marine Association to be held February 20th, a resolution prepared by that gentleman will be submitted that a by-law be passed to compel all grain shipments to be made in bags, to prevent shifting their cargoes at sea. The cost of bags would be trifling. They would be sold at cost price in England, or they might be reserved for future voyages. The weight of these bags would be very little, not much more than that of the modern shifting boards now in use, and which have proved quite insufficient to keep cargoes steady.—London Times.

Sanitary Reform.

There is no promise made in the speech from the throne of the introduction by the Government of a measure of sanitary reform. As the protection and preservation of the public health are matters of more than trifling importance, it was hoped that the Government would accede to the request of the deputation of medical men who waited upon the Attorney-General by moving in the direction indicated. As there is no likelihood of this, some private member should take the question up and urge it upon the attention of the Assembly.—Toronto Telegram.

Remedy for Hard Times.

Stop spending so much on fine clothes, rich food and style. Buy good, healthy food, cheaper and better clothing; get more real and substantial things of life every way and especially stop the foolish habit of running after expensive and quack doctors or using so much of the vile humbug medicine that does you only harm, and makes the proprietors rich, but put your trust in the greatest of all simple, pure remedies, Hop Bitters, that cures always at a trifling cost, and you will see better times and good health. Try it once. Read it in another column. d166-1y

The Canadian Illustrated News

The only ILLUSTRATED and purely LITERARY weekly in the Dominion of Canada. Its artistic department is devoted to the illustration of all current events of interest within our borders and abroad. A number of new features will be introduced in the literary department, the design being to make it the especial exponent of Canadian literature, unsectarian in religion and non-partisan in politics, though neutral to neither, it treats of all subjects that engage public attention, and aims to be a welcome guest in every family of the Dominion.

COMMUNION HYMN.

"This do in Remembrance of Me."—L. xxii, 19.

Saviour, Thy blest command we cheerfully obey,
In sweet remembrance of Thy agony we meet to-day.
We re[illegible] that we are privileged to [illegible]
Of su[illegible] for [illegible] loved [illegible]

Come [illegible], come [illegible] near [illegible]
As [illegible] we [illegible] and rev[illegible]
We in the Bread and Wine Thy dying love behold,
O more and more to us its wondrous power unfold.

Unworthy in ourselves, we dare not come unless
Thou hast us covered with Thy robe of righteousness,
Washed in Thy [illegible] in [illegible] bright,
In Thee, our [illegible] and [illegible]

With godly sorrow melts our hearts, our tears o'erflow,
In view of all Thy pain, Thy grief and bitter woe,
But hallow'd peace and joy our grateful minds pervade
Whilst [illegible] on the Atonement Thou hast made.

Such great things done for us, we at Thy banquet see,
When Thou didst give Thy Life our Redeemer to be,
For this our hearts rejoice, our souls with love doth glow,
High praises from our lips in glad thanksgiving flow.

Thine by redeeming grace, we would be wholly Thine,
And all we have [illegible] to Thee this day resign.
May [illegible] Thine hearts [illegible] redeemed,
And fruits of living faith in holier lives abound.

May we such fragrance bring from Hermon's Sacred Hill,
That dwellers in the vale may ask wherewith to fill
Their souls with one delights, then truly we can say,
"Just come to Jesus and be satisfied alway."

Come, Holy Spirit, come, waft our desires above,
Lord may Thy banner now be over us in love,
Yea, longs our souls for that blest hour when we shall dwell,
In midst of saints redeemed with our Emmanuel.

SCOTLAND.

A WOMAN has died of the intense cold near Berwick.

THE proposed extension, including cost of site, buildings, and fittings of the Perth Museum will amount to about £2,600.

ABOUT 100 tons of coal have been distributed among the poor of Dunbar, in terms of a "coal bequest" recently made.

FOR the first time for several centuries the people of Maybole listened to the ringing, on the 14th Dec., of a church bell from the belfry of the Roman Catholic chapel.

THROUGH the kindness of the Earl of Breadalbane a large skating pond is being constructed within the grounds of Moness House, for the recreation of the inhabitants of Aberfeldy and vicinity.

STEPHEN & FORBES, Peterhead, have been commissioned by a gentleman in London, who has already gained considerable distinction for scientific research in the arctic regions, to build a steamer of 250 tons register for his private use.

AN advance of rent demanded from the crofters in what is known as the Reay country, on the Duke of Sutherland's estate, is not to be exacted. The explanation given is that it was imposed by mistake. The affair has caused great excitement in the North.

THE former rent of the fishings belonging to Stirling was £650 per fishing season. Mr. Speedie, the present tenant, pays £695 to the town of Stirling and £400 to the proprietors of Craigforth, thus making the combined £1,095, as against £1,055 for the five previous fishing seasons.

AT an interment in Kirkcaldy, in Scotland, a few days ago, nearly all the mourners had become so intoxicated that one of them, when lowering the coffin into the grave, staggered forward and fell into the tomb. He became jammed between the descending corpse and the side of the grave, and was extricated with difficulty.

ARRANGEMENTS have been completed for an issue of capital in connection with the Forth Bridge. The amount will not exceed £[illegible], and will bear five per cent. interest during the progress of the works, and 4 per cent. after the bridge is completed, a guarantee being given to subscribers by the Great Northern, Midland, North Eastern, and North British Companies.

THREE tenant farmers, delegates who were appointed to visit Canada last autumn laid their reports before the Gala Water Farmers' Club on Dec. 19. These statements indicated the opinions that had been formed as to the desirability of immigration by agriculturists. Ontario and the eastern townships were stated to be places where a man with moderate capital could do better than at home, though farming there was at present in a transition state. For large capitalists, as well as for poor emigrants, Manitoba was, however, most strongly recommended.

ENGLAND.

THE Rothschilds have lately paid in England $190,000 probate, and $120,000 legacy duty.

A MRS. BULLER, a fashionable lady of London society, went to the Carlton, her husband's club, asked for his letters, opened them, and sued for a divorce. From the time of Eve ladies have made themselves miserable by gratifying their curiosity.

A NEW torpedo-boat has just been built by the British Government, 85 feet in length and 11 feet 6 inches beam, with a displacement of [illegible] tons. She is built entirely of manganese bronze, from which it is expected that it will be protected against corrosion. Her skin is 3-16 of an inch thick.

SOME sensation has been created in London by the officiating clergyman, the rector of St. Peter's, Kingston, having at the Millais wedding, instead of reading the last portion of the marriage service, substituted a new and improved version, in which it was explained, or rather stated, for no one could explain what was meant, that a husband should be as indulgent to a wife as heaven is to the [illegible]

THE long pending [illegible] between the Jesuit order in England and Cardinal Manning is to be enquired into by his Holiness the Pope before the close of the present month. Father Porter, the head of the Jesuit College at Roehampton, England, has been at Rome for some time preparing for the conflict, and the head of the order is on his way. Cardinal Manning has also arrived in Rome.

Skating Costumes for Ladies.

In Paris many ladies have taken to skating. For this exercise there are two styles of costume worn—one entirely of fur, the other of cashmere and plush mixed, and with both these costumes the jersey cuirass is in favour. The skirt of the first is entirely of musk-rat skins, being arranged front and back alternately, so as to describe light and dark bands; a jersey bodice of grey [illegible] with alternate light and dark lines; the collar and cuffs are rat, like the jacket, and [illegible] large Russian silver buttons are used for fastening the jacket. The second skating costume is claret cashmere and plush. The plush skirt is encircled with a cashmere scarf with fringed ends of wool or chenille. The jersey bodice, woven with claret silk, has a straight collar and deep cuffs of claret plush. The plush jacket is trimmed with a new fur, made entirely of feathers, and imitating the effect of Russian sable. The plush toque is bordered with a band of this feather fur. Very large fur collars are now worn as mantles. Sealskin pelisses take first rank among outdoor garments this season, and boas made of this new feather fur are also in great favour.

IT is particularly requested that subscribers not receiving the REVIEW regularly will at once make the fact known at this Office, in order that all cause of complaint may be removed as speedily as possible.

The Markets.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS.

SATURDAY, Jan. 10.—The market to-day, as is usually the case, immediately following the Christmas holidays, was a rather poor one and prices for many articles advanced. It is [illegible] that the farmers adopt such a course that must prove unprofitable to them in the end. To-day beef went off fairly at $3.50 @ $4.00 for the fore quarter, and $4.00 @ $4.50 for the hind quarter per cwt., $4.50 being the ruling price for good beef. Mutton was in fair supply at 5c. @ 7c. per lb. Pork is coming in slowly; several fine hogs were taken to-day at $5.75 @ $5.90 per cwt., but the general run brought $5.25 @ $5.50. Corned beef 6cts. @ 7cts. per lb. Beef Tongues 25c. each. Beef tallow, 6c. Lard, 9c. Poultry was scarce with a light demand. Chickens, 25cts. @ 30cts. per pair; Ducks, one lot of very choice ones sold at 60c. per pair, there were two or three lots sold at 40c. @ 50c. per pair; several lots of turkeys were offered and taken at 60c. @ 90c.; a few geese sold at 40c. Butter, in rolls only, at 20c. Eggs scarce at 18c. per doz. Potatoes were plentiful at 60cts. @ 65cts. per bag. Turnips sold at 20cts. per bag. Cabbages 40c. @ 60c. per doz. Parsnips in small quantities at 50c. per bushel. Apples in fair supply at 60c. @ $1.00 per bag; some lots of fair apples sold at 75c. per bag. Hay was a little firmer to-day and went at $6.00 @ $7.00. In wood there is no change to note in price, the supply being abundant at quotations. The grain market in the face of the break at the several grain centers remains unchanged, although weak. Wheat is coming forward slowly and is sold at $1.23 for spring, and $1.26 for fall. We quote spring at $1.22 @ $1.23 and fall wheat at $1.26 @ $1.28. There is very little rye coming forward at 70c. @ 71c. Peas are holding well at 65c. Oats are firmer and 32c. was paid for good samples, while 33c. was paid for extras. The attendance of town buyers was small and little disposition was manifested to buy at an advance with few exceptions. It is being said that there are large quantities of beef to come in and that it will be hardly possible to advance prices.

Among the Luxuries of Life.

But a brief period has passed since when a month's time was necessary to accomplish a journey of few hundred miles and then we went lumbering over the rough country, sideways on springless seats. Now the same journey is made in sumptuous drawing room cars, with all the comforts and many of the luxuries brought to us by servants. Once upon a time when we found it necessary to our health we set apart a brief period to "doctor up" and then came a struggle with that awful Castor Oil. Now we sip it from the bottle while we continue regularly at our vocations. But it is SCOTT & BOWNE'S PALATABLE CASTOR OIL we take. It is one of the luxuries of life that is afforded at 25 cents. w2d1-1m

What all Men Should Know.

To Relieve a Cough.—The troublesome cough caused by an accumulation of phlegm in the throat, especially in the morning, experienced mostly by persons affected with Chronic Catarrh, can be relieved almost instantly by taking a teaspoonful of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam, which has the advantage of being harmless to the stomach, and at the same time improving the appetite. w1d150-2w

Swallowed a Baby.

When Thackeray visited our shores for the first time and was invited to partake of a dish of oysters, the the size of our [illegible] astonished him. Accustomed to the small copper-tainted oyster of his own native isle, he paused. But only for an instant, and in one gulp it was down. "How do you feel?" asked a friend. "I feel as though I had swallowed a baby," was the reply. To the benighted foreigner our oysters are a revelation as is also SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL combined with the HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA, which for debility, all bronchial affections and consumption stands unrivalled. It is also acceptable to the most delicate stomach. w2d1-1m

A POSITIVE FACT.—Nervousness is the sense of feebleness, or the lack of stability of the nervous system, as distinguished from the rest of the body. It is pre-eminently a disease, and more widely spread through the Northern and Eastern part of the United States and the Dominion of Canada than in any other part of the world. We will not stop to say why this is the case, but we do emphatically say that Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites will be found an invaluable medicine for all parties afflicted with Nervousness, Dyspepsia, Consumption, Defective Nutrition, General Debility, or weakness of the whole system. One of the first effects is an increase of the nervous or vital energy, followed by a feeling of unusual comfort and strength. For sale by all dealers. w1d150-2w

Hagyard's Yellow Oil is one of the surest remedies in the world for the cure of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Spinal and Bronchial Complaints, Deafness, Ear-Ache, Croup, Sprains, Bruises, Galls, Stiff Joints, Swelled Hands, Sore Nipples, Stiff Neck, Chilblains, Tetter, Frost Bites, Chapped Hands, Wounds, Cuts, Sore Throat, Stings of Insects, Shortness of Breath, or any Diseases that are painful or sore. We have no hesitation in recommending it for any of the above complaints, and believe it the quickest and most perfect combination known to remove pain from almost any cause, and can be used either internally or externally. For particulars see wrapper accompanying each bottle. For sale by all dealers, price 25 cts. w1d150-2w

MANHOOD:

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

WE have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

Town Council Meeting.

On Monday evening the Council for the past year will have their last meeting, and will wind up their business.

Runners vs. Wheels.

The farmers came in to-day with sleighs. One or two waggons with wheat only were seen. Several town teams were out with wheels. The roads generally have an icy covering, while there are many streets free from ice or snow.

Mission Work.

There are to be missionary services in nearly all the churches in town to-morrow. The visiting ministers will occupy the Bible Christian Churchs' pulpits, and large congregations are expected to be present.

People in Town.

The small number of farmers in the market this morning does not seem to have indicated the numbers in town. The streets have been well filled with country people who were evidently attending the purchase of goods, wares and merchandise of some description, and the streets have presented quite an animated appearance.

Proctor's Revelers.

Proctor's Revelers played "True to Death; Through Death," last night, at Bradburn's Hall. Mr. Proctor plays with considerable force, and deserves better support. The play itself has some good situations, but some of the scenes need cutting. It would not be fair, however, to be over critical on the first representation of a new play.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district, as reported from Toronto at 10 o'clock to day are: Winds gradually shifting towards the south and east; partly cloudy weather. A fine bracing north-east wind and a clear day has been Peterborough's portion to-day. The thermometer at 8 o'clock this morning indicated 26°, and at noon 40°.

The Irish Society.

The Rev. J. Roe, a special deputation from the Irish Society, will preach to-morrow in the morning at St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, and in the evening at St. John's Church, Peterborough. He will also lecture on Monday evening in St. John's Sunday School, the subject being "Irish Mission Scenes," which will be illustrated by beautiful views of Irish scenery. Mr. Roe will repeat this lecture at Lakefield on Tuesday, and at St. Luke's, Ashburnham, on Wednesday.

[illegible]

Yesterday a petition asking the Mayor to call a public meeting in aid of the sufferers in Ireland was being circulated, and extensively signed by the citizens. There is much sympathy expressed by the people of this section of the country for the suffering poor in Ireland, and no doubt the people of Peterborough are ready to subscribe as liberally as their means will allow to this noble work of charity. The Mayor has this afternoon called a public meeting for Thursday January 15th.

Champion Curling Match.

At last the "Champion Belts," now on exhibition at Davidson's book store, are to be contested for. Mr. W. J. Ferguson's Rink challenged any rink in the Club to a match of two and a half hours' duration for the Champion Belts, which at present are the property of the Club. Mr. Adam Hall's Rink promptly accepted the challenge, and the date has been fixed for Monday evening, play to commence at 7.30 p.m. As this is the first time the Belts have been played for, the interest manifested by the competing rinks will no doubt make the contest worth witnessing. The holders of these Belts are bound to accept all challenges, so that before the season is over we may expect to see some well contested games.

The Bonspiel.

On account of the different county councils meeting on the dates announced for the grand bon spiel, several members of the different clubs found it impossible to be present. The Committee of Management have, therefore, extended the time one week, to the 3rd and 4th of February. The time for each game will be three and a half instead of two and a half hours. The whole contest will take place on the Little [illegible] the first game to commence [illegible] [illegible] and finishing at [illegible] p. m. Second game 1.30 p. m. to 5 p. m.; third game, Wednesday, 9 a. m. to 12.30 p. m.; fourth and last game, 1.30 p. m. to 5 p. m. The clubs will all arrive here on Monday evening. Special hotel arrangements have been made and return tickets secured on the Grand Trunk and Midland Railways at single fare.

THE LATE PROFESSOR McKERRAS.

Word was received at Kingston on Friday afternoon, of the demise of Rev. J. H. McKerras of Queen's University, Professor of Classics, at the residence of his father-in-law, Judge Dennistoun, Peterborough. The late professor was greatly beloved, and much regret is expressed at his death. He was born in Nairn, Scotland, in 1832, and came to Canada at a very early age. He entered Queen's University in [illegible], and took the degree of B.A. in [illegible] and M.A. in [illegible]. At the age of twenty-one he was ordained, and was sent to Bowmanville, where he remained till he was appointed Professor of Classics in Queen's University, in 1864, on the resignation of Prof. Weir. The Professor was for several years Clerk of the late Synod of the Presbyterian Church in connection with the Church of Scotland, and, after the union of the two branches of the Presbyterian Church, he was appointed one of the Clerks of the General Assembly, in which capacity he was a model of accuracy. He was one of the best ecclesiastical lawyers in the Presbyterian Church. He did not often speak in Church courts, but few men men spoke with greater point and clearness. The success of the endowment fund of Queen's College is largely due to his exertions. It was while attending and lecturing through the country on its behalf that he contracted the cold which led to his death. In private life, Professor McKerras was a man of singular geniality. The Presbyterian Church has lost, in him, one of her most able and useful ministers, and Queen's University an accomplished Professor; and there is probably no man in the ranks of the University more heartily loved by his brethren than was Professor McKerras. The Professor's mother, who is ninety three years old, is lying at the point of death at Kingston, and it is feared will not be long in following her much-loved son.—Whig.

LINDSAY.

THE TAGGART ENQUIRY.—The Post says:—We learn that one of the two persons residing near Lifford, who were not summoned at the late inquest, and whose evidence it was subsequently supposed might have thrown some light on the object of the enquiry, has recently been interviewed by one of our constables, with the result of eliciting from him the statement that he knew nothing whatever as to the cause of Taggart's death more than has already been made public. In consequence of this it may be probable no further inquiry may be held.

MASQUERADE BALL.—A meeting of gentlemen interested in the promotion of a masquerade ball for the benefit of the poor of the town was held in the Benson House on Wednesday evening, when it was decided to hold the ball on or about the 4th of February next. A committee composed of Messrs. John A. Barron, Dr. DeGrassi and E. Flood was appointed to make arrangements. Full particulars will be given in due time.

OMEMEE.

THE BURGLARY.—James Mackie's arrest was made on the testimony of a young man named Robert Moore, from Ops, who is here attending the high school. It seems that Moore had occasion to go to Millbrook on the morning of the burglary, and arose a little before four o'clock from his bed at Clarke's hotel, where he had stopped for the night. On his way to the station he put his hand into one of his pockets to satisfy himself that his money was all right. He pulled out a $2 bill—all the money he had about him at the time—and the wind catching it blew it away. It being dark he was unable to find it, and returning to the village to borrow some money of a friend, he noticed when passing Stephenson's store that one of the panes of glass was out and inside two men were stirring about with a lighted lamp, one of whom he identified as Mr. Mackie. It occurred to him that Mackie had probably run short of liquor in his bar and had gone to get a supply, so he gave the incident no further consideration but pursued his way on to Millbrook. On returning in the afternoon he was told of the robbery and vouchsafed the information recited. The charge against Mackie caused considerable surprise in the village and Lindsay, as he is well known and respected in both places. Up to this no person entertained a doubt of his honesty, and his previous good character goes a long way to create the belief that young Moore must have been mistaken in his man. But Moore swore positively at the preliminary examination held that the man he recognized was a tall, thin man, of dark complexion, and with a heavy black moustache. He would not swear to the man's name being Mackie or Ross, both being interested in the same hotel, until he was brought over to the hotel by Dr. Nevitt, J.P., and other magistrates, and he there identified Mackie. Mr. Mackie pleaded not guilty to the charge. He says that he attended a ball at Clarke's hotel on New Year's night and returned to his own house about two o'clock in the morning in company with Mr. Ross, who is engaged in the hotel with him, and went to bed. Mrs. Mackie swears that he was in bed at the time the burglary was said to have taken place, and although her evidence cannot be taken to prove an alibi, yet it will have a great deal of weight with the public. Mackie was taken in his own recognizance to appear when wanted by the magistrate. He has shown no inclination to avoid a searching enquiry into the matter, and has retained Mr. Adam Hudspeth in his behalf. It is stated that there is another clue to the burglary, which is now being worked by detectives. It is charged that some time ago a young girl of dissolute character, who lived here up till lately, and who also lived in Lindsay for a time, stole a quantity of cloth from Mr. Stephenson's store. If she were arrested it is believed that she would able to throw some light on the recent burglary. The affair has caused considerable excitement in and about the village, and is still the chief topic of conversation.—Post.

Games.

Dice was known to the Lydians 1500 years B. C. Perseus is credited with the invention of quoits, and the Hindoo Tessa with that of chess. Ardschir, King of Persia invented backgammon; Palamedes draughts; Pyrrhus tennes and the Greeks the noble game of goose. Loto is a comparatively recent discovery, due to an Italian, Celestino Galiani, in 1732. Dominoes owe their name to the piety of a monk who originated them, and who was happy to pronounce a holy word while taking his amusement; and it is a nun who is believed to have invented both the game of battledore and shuttlecock and the catgut racket used in playing tennis. Excavations at Hissarlik, the presumed sight of Troy, have brought earthenware "marbles" to light, and those at Pompeii have yielded a number of jointed dolls in ivory, which prove that the custom of giving costly toys to children is not one of modern development.

"TEABERRY," the new powder for whitening the teeth, stimulating the mouth and purifying the breath; the brightest, neatest, coziest little toilet gem extant. Ask your druggist for "Teaberry." Price 35 cents. dw51-1y

A HOTEL [illegible]

"Are you the proprietor of the hotel?" said a seedy looking chap with a sort of "property" carpet-bag, catching Mr. Baldwin by the buttonhole and backing him into a corner the other morning.

"Well—I own the concern, if that's what you mean," said the capitalist.

"Exactly. Now, I've come all the way from Boston to see you personally about a little plan I've invented just to absolutely make the hotel business boom in this country."

"You had better see the manager," said Lucky, anxiously looking for a chance to escape.

"Manager be hanged! I always go to headquarters, sir, and I want you to promise me not to divulge a word of what I tell you this side of the grave."

"Really, my dear sir, I——"

"No thanks. Just hear me through and be attentive. Now sir, why is it, let me ask you—why is it that some persons eat so much less than others of about the same weight. Now, come—why is it?"

"I don't know, and I—"

"And you wish you did. Well, sir, it's entirely on account of their teeth. A man who has a tooth missing doesn't eat as much by a fraction as one with a full set; a man with two teeth out still less, and so on. Now, the great travelling public feel and know this, and it would literally swarm to a house where a proper and intelligent discrimination was made in this matter."

"D——it all, sir, why——"

"Just one word more. Now, how can it be arranged that a man who lives chiefly on soup and pudding can get a proportionate reduction from the price charged one of these walking dentist signs, who grapple with porterhouse steaks and get away with all the roast turkey in their vicinity? Why, by having an ordinary mouth mould of wax in the office, for each guest to bite into when registered. I have a sample in this valise here. The clerk looks at the result—puts down opposite the name—6 or 11 as the case may be—meaning the many teeth gone, and makes a deduction of that much per cent. on the boarder's bill. Splendid idea, isn't it? False teeth count the same as real ones. There are just forty-eight teeth in the human jaw, and so a party with no teeth at all would just pay fifty-two cents on the dollar. Lots of money in 'em at that price, too. Now——"

"If you don't go sir, I'll——"

"You'll look into the matter, of course, you were going to say. Well, make yourself easy; I don't intend to go. I shall stay right here for two or three months and take my board out in royalty, don't you see, and——"

But a couple of porters flung themselves upon him at this juncture, and he is now incarcerated in the baggage-room, waiting until a patient guillotine attachment can be rigged on the elevator.—F. S. Post.

VENTILATION.

A gentleman while attending church one evening found that his feet were icy cold, so that he had to raise them off the floor. Calling the attention of the sexton to the fact, the latter said with some perplexity: "Yes, we have a good many complaints of cold feet from others; but I don't understand the reason why we can't keep the church warm; we surely have fires enough." So saying, he pointed to a register in the floor directly behind the gentleman, in the adjoining pew. Looking around, the latter could see that there was a hot fire in the furnace beneath, and yet no heat came up. When a handkerchief was laid over the register it scarcely stirred. The visitor asked the sexton, "Have you any means of ventilation?" "No sir." "Are there no windows open?" "None whatever," "How, then, can you expect the air to come in here if it can't get out somewhere?" There was no response,—the man was nonplussed. "Did you ever try to blow into a bottle?" continued the enquirer. "No, sir." "Do you think if you did, that you could force any more air into a bottle by blowing than was in it before?" He couldn't say. Never had thought of it. "Well," continued the gentleman, "you would soon find if you tried that it was impossible, and neither can you force air into this church through a register if you dont open a window or some other orifice." But, the sexton demurred: "Opening a window would let in the cold air, wouldn't it?" "You just try it," was the response; "raise some of the windows on the leeward side of the church, and see what will happen." It was done; and instantly the handkerchief flew from the register clear half way to the ceiling with the force of the ascending current. The sexton stood and stared in astonishment.—Sanitary Engineer and Plumber.

TWENTY-EIGHTH YEAR.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW FOR 1880.

AN ENTIRELY NEW FEATURE!

How to Obtain the Leading Papers and Save Money.

FAIR, SQUARE AND, RELIABLE OFFERS.

WITH the year 1880, the WEEKLY REVIEW will enter on its 28th year of publication. Notwithstanding the improvements which have been made upon it, and the ever increasing expenditure incurred to keep it AHEAD of any of its competitors, the annual subscription will remain as heretofore, only $1.50—postage paid by the publishers.

Splendid Clubbing Advantages.

The Proprietors of the REVIEW have great pleasure in announcing that they have made arrangements with the publishers of the following leading periodicals in Canada and the United States, by which they are enabled to club these periodicals with the WEEKLY REVIEW at remarkably low prices.

READ CAREFULLY.—Below are three columns of figures. The name of the paper or magazine is given, and the FIRST column gives the REGULAR PUBLISHER'S PRICE. The SECOND column gives the regular subscription price of the WEEKLY REVIEW. The THIRD column gives the price at which we are prepared to supply new subscribers with BOTH the paper or magazine and the WEEKLY REVIEW combined, for one year. It is certainly an object to save money these times, and it is easy to see by our Club List how it can be done.

A USEFUL SOCIETY.—The St. George's Society relieved 1,449 persons during the past year, at a cost of $3,013.

QUEBEC.

Special to the Review, Jan. 12.

BAND INSTRUMENTS.—The officers of the 9th Battalion have purchased for their band a magnificent set of new English brass instruments.

BIGAMY.—Capt. Price was brought up on the charge of bigamy, but was remanded for a week.

CORNWALL.

Special to the Review, Dec. 12.

BURGLARS FOILED.—Robbers entered the stores of Messrs. Vanchary & Bro., general dealers, and W. H. Dunkin, grocer, last night, but they were driven off before they had time to get much booty. At the former place they were fired at, but the shot did not take effect, and they were invisible before the second fire.

TORONTO.

Special to the Review, Jan. 12.

PEDESTRIAN.—Corney Burns, a local sprint runner, on Saturday for a purse of $40 hopped 200 yards while an unknown ran 300 yards. Burns, for another purse of $50, immediately afterwards, defeated one Hampton in a similiar race.

CLERGYMAN ILL.—The Rev. Dr. Castle, of Jarvis Street Church, is very ill. His place in the pulpit was yesterday supplied by the Rev. Professor Torrance, of Woodstock.

OTTAWA.

Special to the Review, Jan. 12.

NO REGIMENT.—The Department of Militia says it is untrue that a regiment will shortly sail for Canada.

BRITISH ARMY COMMISSION.—The Government has received official intimation from the Department that successful students at Kingston Military College will receive commission in the British army. The number is limited to four each year.

WANTING WORK.—About fifty unemployed workmen waited on the Mayor to-day and asked for work. A meeting of citizens will be held to make arrangements for furnishing them employment. When work on the Grenville Canal will be commenced, in course of a week or two, some 200 hands will be required.

TEMPERANCE ADDRESS.—Sir Leonard Tilley addressed a temperance meeting on Tuesday evening at Rock village.

A MURDERER.—The name of the man who was murdered above the desert has not yet transpired. Brisbois, the supposed murderer, cannot be found.

TORONTO.

A COLD BATH.—Two young ladies received a cold bath yesterday by falling through the upper ice while gaining the shore after an ice boat ride. The ice on the bay and on the Don is in many places unsafe.

THE LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR gave a dinner last evening to which members of the Government and leaders of the Opposition with the judges and other eminent persons were invited. The Government gave a dinner to their supporters at the National Club the evening before.

A SAD CASE.—A shoemaker named Lane, who had been working in the Globe press room, because he could not obtain work at his trade, committed suicide yesterday by throwing himself in front of a Grand Trunk train. He leaves a wife and four children. He is said to have been a sober and industrious man.

DURING A DRUNKEN FIGHT on Sydenham street, Yorkville, on Thursday afternoon, Jacob Henderson (colored) was badly stabbed in the shoulder close to the neck with a carving fork. Had the prongs entered half an inch higher he would be a dead man. As it is, he is very seriously wounded.

SITTING BULL.—Mr. Roderick Campbell, who for twenty long years has hunted and traded in the Great Lone Land, is in town. He says Sitting Bull and his warriors would return to American soil if given permission, but they have no thought of creating trouble while in Canadian territory. Mr. Campbell confirms the reports of the sufferings of the Blackfeet, but still they show no turbulent or rebellious spirit.

ARREST.—George Ernst, the man charged with fatally shooting Mrs. Mary Pleb, in Markham Township, was taken to Unionville on Thursday. He does not appear to feel any fear of the result of his alleged crime as far as he is concerned himself. He declares that the shooting was purely accidental; that at the time he was getting over a fence in front of the house, and that, seeing Mrs. Pleb, he called out to her to be careful and get out of the way, as she might be shot; that the next moment he stumbled against the fence, the trigger came in contact with a board and exploded one of the barrels; but he did not say that he had fired the second time at her in the kitchen. He also stated that she was a very nice person, had tenderly nursed him when he was sick in the summer, and, owing her a debt of gratitude for her kindness, he was very sorry for having wounded her. The prisoner stands about five feet ten inches in height, is of light complexion, with no whiskers. He is a loose, sluggish-looking youth, with large hands and feet, and of powerful build. He does not, however, come up to the ordinary criminal in appearance, and, as a natural consequence, a good deal of sympathy is expressed for him, under the peculiar circumstances in which he has been placed.

THE BOERS IN ARMS.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—A Capetown telegram says ex-President Pretorius and Adam Bok have both sailed for Capetown. A Boer named Rasmud will be arrested for treasonably corresponding with Secocoeni. Armed Boers have intercepted telegraphic communication. A collision is possible at any moment.

BISMARCK A HYPOCHONDRIAC.

BERLIN, Jan. 10.—The news concerning the ill health of Prince Bismarck is very conflicting but it is believed the Prince is in a very critical condition. A bulletin from Varzin says the Prince is hypochondriacal.

A LOCAL FEUD.

VIENNA, Jan. 10.—The accounts of the fighting near Gusinje have been exaggerated. The Montenegrins numbered 2,000 and the Albanians 3,000. The affair partook of the character of a local feud.

RUSSIA AND GERMANY.

BERLIN, Jan. 10.—Count D'Oubril had a private audience with the Emperor of Russia, during which he was ordered by the Czar to make important statements to Germany concerning the movement of Russian troops to Poland. A Berlin correspondent says he can state as a fact that, in spite of all the quieting assurances from St. Petersburg, the ill-feeling between Germany and Russia continues, and the struggle between the two Chancellors is still proceeding.

A FATAL DUEL.

PESTH, Jan. 10.—A duel has been fought by Baron Meythenyi and Herr Verhovay, member of Parliament, and the editor of a Hungarian political paper. The latter has been mortally wounded by a pistol ball.

MONTENEGRINS AND ALBANIANS.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—The fighting between the Albanians and Montenegrins has been incessant since the 8th inst. Both sides are receiving reinforcements.

CANADIANS FOR OFFICERS.

LONDON, Jan. 11.—The War Department have agreed to an arrangement by which successful candidates at the Royal Military College, Kingston, Canada, of which Lieut.-Col. Hewitt, of the Royal Engineers, is a commandant, will be enabled to enter annually for appointments to commissions in the British army, and instructions have been forwarded to Canada to that effect.

COMING TO CANADA.

Again there is a rumor in Whitehall and at the Service clubs in the vicinity of Pall Mall, that a regiment of infantry will shortly be detailed for duty in Canada. Several names new to Rideau Hall are mentioned as likely to accompany H. R. H. the Princess Louise out to Halifax on Thursday week. It is reported that Capt. Chater, of the 91st regiment, who has been serving in Zululand, will in all probability shortly return to Canada and again take up his appointment as aide on the staff of the Governor-General.

ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—To-day at the Hatton Garden Italian church, the priest was celebrating mass when a man in the audience fired a pistol at him. The church was crowded. The explosion caused a semi-panic. The altar was struck by the bullet. Subsequently flames started out from the side of the altar, and the church was damaged to the extent of $1,000. The man was arrested after a hard fight, and a long stiletto, with which he attempted to stab those who seized him, was found on his person.

ENGLISH SAINTS.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—The Catholic Union has petitioned the Vatican to canonize the English martyrs, Cardinal Fisher and Chancellor More and Archbishop Plunkett. The Dublin Union complains that for more than three centuries no English saint has been canonized, and contrasts this with the better fortunes of other nations.

BILLIARDS EXTRAORDINARY.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—An extraordinary feat at billiards was performed by William Mitchell, of Sheffield, this week, in a game of 1,000 points, with the younger Joseph Bennett, ex-champion of England. The score stood, Bennett 380, Mitchell 322. The latter then got on the "spot," and pocketed the red ball 224 times running, winning at 1,001. Being asked to continue, Mitchell ran up his total to 272. This was the largest break ever made by means of the "spot" stroke alone.

SACKCLOTH AND ASHES.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—Dr. Magee, the Bishop of Peterborough, writes to protest against the appointment of a special day of humiliation and prayer for intemperance, saying that the wave of intemperance which swept the land is subsiding, and that the present generation is soberer than their grandfathers. In Scotland, the Church is unusually busy; the Covenanters are preparing to celebrate the centennial foundation of their faith. The Tay bridge disaster is attributed in many Scotch pulpits to the violation of the Sabbath by its victims. By the way, the terrible nature of the storm which destroyed the bridge fulfilled too well the Herald's prediction. At Aberfeldy 3,000 trees were blown down and at Ross 3,000.

FINANCIAL ISSUES.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—The Herald's Washington report says politicians of both parties are filled with consternation at the prospect of a protracted debate on the Bayard resolution, which now appears unavailable. Serious political complications are apprehended from the divisions in the ranks of both the Republicans and Democrats on financial issues.

OTTAWA.

THE WILKINS & SON MINES in Hull township, and the Gemmel & Haldane mines in Wakefield, are being worked. A few days ago Mr. Wilkins sold 200 tons to Mr. Fuller, of Montreal, for $20 per ton. Last year $16 was the price obtained.

MR. A. BURCH, the inventor of the combination iceboat, snow shoes, and toboggan, exhibited the article at Rideau Hall yesterday. The inventor says he can put a pair of oars on the iceboat, and beat Hanlan's time with it. The whole apparatus only weighs about twenty pounds.

AN INTERESTING CASE is pending in the county of Pontiac between one McVeigh, plaintiff, and Hon. Mr. Bryson, which involves a sum of $100,000 and the ownership of the village of Bryson, in that county. The matter will be heard at the Aylmer Assizes this month.

General Martinez Campos is said to intend quitting Spain. This act is construed as showing an expectation of political troubles.

RUSSIAN FINANCES.

BERLIN, Jan. 12.—The Russian Budget for 1880 shows the exact balance between the income and expenditure of the Empire, each being sixty million roubles.

ARRIVAL OF STEAMERS.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—Arrived out the Argosy, Ethopia and Baltic.

FAMINE IN ITALY.

ROME, Jan. 12.—In the northern provinces of the former kindom of Naples fever is epidemic over large districts. In a population of 82,000 the sick amount to 33,000 persons. The deaths, from July to December last numbered 3,500. The condition of the population is deplorable.

GERMANY AND FRANCE.

BERLIN, Jan. 12.—Particular attention is being paid here to the affairs of France. It was hoped that time would remove the national antipathies, and that war might be avoided. This hope has been much shaken by the recent events in France. The new French Cabinet, particularly De Freycinet, the Premier, is mistrusted, the latter being regarded as a creature of gambetta.

FATAL QUARREL.

BELLEVILLE, Ind., Jan. 12.—Wm. Milliken and Henry Crane were fighting about a dog on Saturday. Edward Milliken came to the assistance of his father and fatally stabbed Crane. He escaped.

A BRUTAL OUTRAGE.

PITTSTON, Pa. Jan. 12.—Miss Hopkins, a handsome young lady of 18, was alone in her house on Saturday morning, when she was assaulted by two tramps. She was gagged and her arms were pinioned, and she was then cruelly outraged by both of them. Her condition is critical. No arrests have been made.

A TOWN UNDERMINED.

HYDE PARK, Pa., Jan. 12.—Much damage has been done by the caving in of the Oxford mine on Saturday night. Several valuable houses on Scranton Avenue are badly shattered, and large fissures appear in the streets. The cause of the caving was the removal of anthracite pillars, which should have been left to support the roof.

COCK FIGHTING.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Eighty-seven men witnessed a cock fight at Yonkers early yesterday morning, and forty-five birds were captured by four policemen. Many of those arrested were respectable residents of Westchester County, and New Jersey.

JUMPED OVERBOARD.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Capt. Adam Hannaford of the Brig Restless, who was lying sick in his cabin yesterday, rushed on deck suddenly, threw himself overboard and was drowned. It is believed that he was demented by sickness.

A SEVERE STORM.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—The officers of the overdue steamships which arrived from Europe yesterday all report a remarkably stormy passage. It, from all accounts, was one of the most severe storms and of the longest duration which mariners have experienced for many years.

SINGULAR DEATH.

A boy named Price, residing at Orange, was kicked in the mouth by a playmate yesterday. The kick knocked a tooth down his throat, from which be choked to death in a few minutes.

VICTIM OF FIRE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Wm. Winckel, another victim of the fire at the hall of which he was lessee, died of his injuries yesterday.

A REMARKABE ECLIPSE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 12.—A special report from Fresno yesterday says the line of totality of the eclipse of the sun passed ten miles north of this place. The weather is clear. At 3.53 the obscuration became total and the last ray of the sun disappeared. A corona of clear white light, entirely encircling the moon flashed into view. It was brilliant at the edge of the moon and paler toward the outward limit of the halo. During the obscuration horses showed signs of extreme uneasiness and the fowls of the neighboring ranches sought their roosts. The thermometer was at 36° during the totality of the eclipse.

ARRIVED SAFELY.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—The steamship Arragon, which left Bristol on Dec. 19th, and which was rumored to have been lost, arrived this morning.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 12.—Capt. W. G. Wilkinson, band leader at the National Soldiers Home, shot his wife and then himself during the night. They are both dead. The cause was domestic troubles.

ABERRATION OF MIND.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—The inquest case of Bogert, the treasurer of the Produce Exchange, resulted to-day in a verdict of suicide by an overdose of laudanum taken while laboring under aberration of mind.

THE MAINE GOVERNORSHIP.

AUGUSTA, Jan. 12.—The fear that the Republicans intended to take possession of the House this morning proved entirely without foundation. There was no excitement whatever, very thin houses gathering. It having been announced that Jas. D. Lamson, President of the Senate, would this morning assume the duties of Governor, General Chamberlain states that he shall positively refuse to recognize his claims, and further more that he will recognize no Governor chosen by the Legislature as at present constituted. On the assembling of the Senate this morning, President Lamson sent a letter announcing that he had assumed the duties of Governor. The Committee on gubernatorial votes reported that the following votes were thrown at the September election:—Whole number, 138,[illegible]; necessary for choice, 69,403; Davis had 68,770; Smith, 47,0[illegible]; Garcelon, 21,844; Bradbury, 263. These are the constitution candidates.

THE ASSESSMENT.

We publish to-day a letter from Mr. Geo. Chamberlain, not as agreeing with him, but to allow a fair field for discussion in what is undoubtedly a case of hardship. Unfortunately such cases of injustice are always arising at intervals under the present defective law, which should be amended in several respects.

In blaming Councillor Smith for the trouble, we believe that Mr. Chamberlain is making his attack in the wrong quarter. Mr. Smith was responsible for introducing the system of payment of taxes by instalments, but he was not responsible for the return, against his wish and without a fair trial, to the old system the very next year, which was resolved upon by the Council. It was this second change and the consequent long interval between the assessments, which are the cause of the difficulties from change of occupation being at present more numerous than usual.

As to the private aspect of this particular case, and Mr. Smith's connection with it, we are not in a position, for want of knowledge of the details, to discuss the subject.

SMITH, ENNISMORE AND LAKEFIELD AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

The annual meeting of this society was held in accordance with law on Thursday, the 8th instant. Owing to the society having taken part in the Peterborough Central Exhibition, the transactions of the society during the past year were of a routine character. The Directors in their report estimate the grain crops of the past year, as follows:—Fall wheat, acreage over an average yield, about 25 bushels per acre; spring wheat, about 10 bushels; peas, 20 bushels; and oats, 35 bushels. The Treasurer's receipts were:—Balance from last year, $23.60; members' subscriptions, $57; and Government Grant, $140. Total, $220.60. Payments:—Printing and advertising, $1; Peterborough Central Exhibition, $21.08; expenses of 1878, $17.80. Total, $39.88; leaving a balance of $180.72 on hand.

Officers for 1880:—President, Sam. McKibbon; Vice-President, John C. Sherin; Secretary and Treasurer, M. S. Dean. Directors:—Thos. E. Bell, John Garbutt, Geo. Scott, Geo. Fitzgerald, John Fairbairn, Christopher Quinn, George W. Fitzgerald, Thos. Young and Thos. R. Mann. Auditors:—John Young and James H. Mann.

THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

The Address Discussed and Passed in Less Than Two Hours.

TORONTO, Jan. 9th, 1880.

The House made a good beginning to-day by disposing of what not unfrequently takes many days in an hour and forty minutes. On the assembling of the House at 3 p.m., the reply to the speech from the throne was moved by Mr. McLaughlin, (West Durham), and seconded by Mr. Waters, (North Middlesex), who were followed in such a temperate speech by Mr. Meredith, as to call forth even the thanks of Mr. Mowat, who replied, and with whose reply the debate closed, and the address passed. The desk has thus been cleared for the practical work of the session, and the Government left without a shadow of excuse for delay.

TAXES AND ASSESSMENTS.

To the Editor of the Review:

SIR,—In 1878 I occupied a store on Hunter street belonging to Frederick James Bletcher, who, having been ordered by the Judge to visit Mr. McWilliams for a season, absconded, preferring the free air of Wisconsin to the close atmosphere of Peterborough jail.

Now, Sir, although I left the store on Hunter street a year ago, and have occupied a store on George street for the same period, owing to there being no assessment in 1879, I have been compelled to pay the taxes on both places. I cannot recover from Bletcher. It is an ordinary debt now. The property is mortgaged to some Company in Toronto, for whom Mr. Councillor Smith collects the rent.

If I apply to the Council, Mr. Smith admits the injustice, and regrets their inability to interfere.

Mr. Smith, the Attorney, collects the rents on the property which escapes taxation altogether, and Mr. Smith, the Councillor, assists in compelling me to pay the taxes on it unjustly.

I am told, sir, that there are more than forty similar cases in town. If this statement be true, and the places be occupied, it follows that there are forty occupiers of property who escape taxes which they ought to pay, or else the town collects taxes from the same number, to which it has no right, and over and above the total name on the Assessment Roll. And surely all these difficulties are caused by the change in Assessment! With what pleasure Mr. Smith must contemplate his work? How proud he must be of his By-law! It is to be hoped he will not break down under the almost superhuman exertions he is making to relieve people from the difficulties his By-law has led them into.

I hope others who suffer from similar injustice will publish their cases, as it may perhaps awaken a public interest in the matter, lead to a thorough discussion of the whole question of taxation, and induce the Ontario Government to deal with the question as a whole, and not with exemptions only.

I am, Sir,
GEORGE CHAMBERLAIN.
Peterborough, 12th January, 1880.

Steel and Iron.

From the bulletin of the American Iron and Steel Association, it appears that the American out-put of steel this year is the largest ever known, while the price is extraordinarily high. In spite of the large importation of both old and new rails and pig iron, the American orders for these are not nearly filled. The total production of 1879 was 1,[illegible] tons against 1,157,000 tons in 1878. In addition to the railway iron demand, steel wire for fencing and iron pipe for the oil regions were also in great request.

THE 72nd HIGHLANDERS.

The Reports of the Treatment of the Afghan Wounded.

A correspondent writes:—In one of the leading articles in an English paper reference is made to the deeds of the 72nd Highlanders in the recent engagements at Charasiab—deeds such as we are accustomed to associate only with the wars of savages. The following quotation is made from a correspondent of the Lahore Military and Civil Service Gazette:—"Some of the wounded Afghans were frightfully slashed about, and still more revolting, set on fire. I saw those who had been frightfully slashed about still alive, and their clothes blazing on their quivering bodies." In your article you proceeded to say:—"If this shocking story cannot be contradicted, the country will unquestionably insist upon knowing what has been done to vindicate the boasted military honor of England. So far as is known nothing has been done to punish the miscreants who thus disgraced the service to which they belonged. Now, first, as regards the "slashing about." You are perhaps not aware that the 72nd Regiment is one of the line, and as such is armed with bayonet and rifle, and not with swords, so that, allowing there was considerable slashing about, the 72nd Highlanders could have taken but a small part in it. This slashing about may probably have been done in self-defence by some of our native troops armed with knives or swords—possibly by the gallant little Ghoorkas; but before condemning the act or branding these as "miscreants," I must inform you that the wounded of a Mussulman army against which we may be fighting are often more dangerous than the unharmed. For the latter our soldiers are prepared, and on their guard against their attacks. But not so are our men prepared for the attacks from the wounded. A dying Mussulman is a dying fanatic of the most extreme type when fighting against the Christian, for no mercy would he ask and no mercy would he accept; but if with his last dying strength he can only kill one more from amongst the hated unbelievers, he feels sure of Paradise, and dies happy. Of all the fanatics in the East there are none to equal the Afghan; and I have little doubt the same necessity which prompted the men at Meeanee instigated those at Charasiab; and I have less doubt that had either of the two correspondents whilst busied in the thick of the fight in taking notes for their employers had the tendon Achilles served by an Afghan knife in the hand of a dying fanatic, they would neither of them have been so ready to charge our men with wanton cruelty, but would have confessed that the law of self-preservation, powerful at all times, was not weakened by the circumstances under which our men fought at Charasiab. As regards the charge made by the correspondents that our men were guilty of the revolting act of setting the wounded on fire, there is no difficulty in explaining this. The Afghan, like the Belooch, is clothed in dry calico, which, from age and long exposure to the sun, burns freely. Besides his tunic each warrior has many yards of calico cloth wound round his head, and even more wound round his waist. In this latter (his cummer band) he carries a piece of twisted cotton, which he uses for a fuse for his matchlock, and which is always kept ignited when on service. As a man falls dead or wounded this match falls with him on his dry calico clothing, and is rapidly fanned into a flame by the lightest breeze. At Meeanee and also at Hyderabad I noticed bodies blazing within an incredible short time after they had fallen. I have not a doubt in my mind that the two correspondents, without taking the trouble to make enquiries or ascertain the cause, at once attributed it to a savage love for torture which they (the correspondents) seem to think inherent to the British soldier. When the character of our soldiers can be blackened so easily, it is to be wondered that good recruits are difficult to obtain.

IMPROVED DAIRYING.

We find in the Country Gentleman the following description of the dairy house and mode of operation pursued in a dairy belonging to the Hon. L. F. Allen, near Buffalo. It says:—

"Their dairy house is built of stone, with double walls, the outside being 16 inches, and inside 10 inches, laid in mortar, having an air space of 6 inches between them. The roof is double, so as to prevent any heat from penetrating through it. The windows are upon the north side, with blinds. The height of the story is ten feet, and the floor is of solid concrete, worked down very smoothly, and as easily cleaned as a floor of polished marble. The main dairy room is 14 by 18 feet, for setting the milk in four long pans. The milk may be further refrigerated by ice-water in a channel surrounding the milk. The rest of the dairy house is occupied by a churning-room and store room. There is a small wooden building adjoining the churning room. In this is the wash-room, with a large, deep, slate sink, in which all the dairy utensils are washed. Here is also a three-horse engine, with a five-horse tubular boiler, which gets up steam very quickly, runs the churn, and furnishes hot water and steam for all purposes of cleansing. This little engine reduces the labor so materially that a slender girl is able to do all the labor about the dairy house, and the entire manufacturing of the butter. She is, of course, a dairy expert. The engine pumps the water for the boiler, and for all other purposes. The temperature of the dairy room stands at 60 to 65 degrees in the hottest weather.

The milk is set at a temperature of 55 or 60 degrees, the pans being so large that the present quantity of milk does not fill them more than 6 to 7 inches deep, and the temperature is not reduced so low as would be required for deeper setting. A barrel churn is used which is easily managed with the engine. The butter is washed in the granular state before gathering, is worked with an ordinary level worker upon a marble slab—the salt worked in when taken from the churn; it is then allowed to stand for a few hours, when it is re-worked, and put up in pound prints, wrapped in muslin, and placed in drawers, each containing 15 prints. Four of these drawers are placed in a case and sent to the dealer who sells to his customers.

With all these facilities and a careful handling of the milk, the product might be expected to reach, as it does, a high degree of excellence. It was placed upon the market in Buffalo at the lowest point of last summer's low prices, and sold readily at 10 cents above the market for first quality pail butter. It has kept about that figure above the market since. This dairy is to produce butter—winter and summer—half of the herd coming in at each season. There are many such private dairies, and it is encouraging that nearly all of them are eminently successful in getting remunerative prices.

On Getting up in the Morning.

There is no doubt that if an instrument could be invented to indicate the various degrees of difficulty people experience in getting out of bed in the morning it would have to be graduated from zero up to a very high degree indeed. Many persons know absolutely nothing of any difficulty of the sort; they turn out of bed with the alacrity of a bird, glad even that there is time to get up; while others have to fight a battle more or less severe the moment they open their eyes every morning. We purposely describe the difficulty as that of getting out of bed, because it is to a very great extent a mechanical difficulty. When a man was once rallying another on his weakness in this respect, he said, "Why don't you make up your mind to it?" The reply was, "Make up my mind to it! oh, that is easy enough; I have done that a hundred times; but what I can't manage is to make up my body to it." It was a facetious way of putting the matter, but it really did exactly describe the main difficulty.

Great Stock Taking Sale!

QUEERLY-TASTING LIQUOR.

Some forty years ago, the "Governor Endicott" arrived at Salem, Massachusetts, from India, and there landed several missionaries, who departed at once for Boston, to report their arrival to the Missionary Board, leaving their belongings at the Lafayette Hotel. There they attracted the attention of a custom-house clerk, who, noting the presence of a cask, suspected an evasion of duty, and reported the matter to General Miller, the collector of customs. That official at once ordered baggage and cask to be sent to the custom-house for examination, and requested that the missionaries would give him a call as soon as they returned to Salem. The suspicious cask was taken to the custom-house yard, the bung knocked out, and a proof glass inserted in order to find out what kind of liquor was inside, in order to fix the duty on it. They all tasted—collector, deputy-collector, naval officer, inspector, clerk, and a tribe of hangers-on. They drank it neat, they drank it with water, with sugar, with biscuits, with cheese, but could not agree what kind of liquor it was. Bets were made; and it was finally agreed to leave the knotty question to be decided by two absent inspectors—Captain Bill L—— and Captain Steve R——. At last they came. They tasted. Captain L—— said that he would stake his reputation that it was old London Dock Brandy, vowing "he had not tasted such liquor since Geo. Crowninghshield launched Cleopatra's barge in 1818." Captain R—— declined "to put a name to it;" he said it had a flavor different from any liquor with which he was acquainted.

The next day the missionaries arrived at the custom-house, to have their baggage passed, all save the cask of liquor. "That must pay duty," said the General. "Would they inform him what spirit the cask contained?" The amused missionaries complied by telling him that when they left India, they brought with them a pet orang-outang, which dying after thirty days' experience of sea-life, had been put in a cask of rum for preservation. An explanation accounting for the peculiar flavor that had puzzled so many experienced tasters.—N. Y. Observer.

How an Owl's Head Revolves.

A contributor to the American Naturalist, who had read a funny story about an owl's wringing his own neck by looking at a man who was walking around him, tested the matter by experiment. He obtained a fine specimen and placed him on the top of a post. "It was not difficult," says the writer, "to secure his attention, for he never diverted his gaze from me while I was in his presence. I began walking rapidly around the post a few feet from it, keeping my eyes fixed upon him all the while. His body remained motionless, but his head turned exactly with my movements. When I was half way round his head was directly behind. Three-quarters of a circle were completed and still the same twist of the neck and the same stare followed me. One circle and no change. On I went, twice round, and still that watchful stare and steady turn of the head. On I went, three times round, and I began really to wonder why the head did not drop off when all at once I discovered what I failed to notice before. When I reached half-way round from the front, which was as far as he could turn his head to follow my movements with comfort, he whisked it back through the whole circle so instantaneously and brought it facing me again with such precision that I failed to detect the movement, although I was looking intently all the time. I repeated the experiment many times afterward on the same bird, and I had always to watch carefully to detect the movement of the readjustment of his gaze."

Remedy for Hard Times.

Stop spending so much on fine clothes, rich food and style. Buy good, healthy food, cheaper and better clothing; get more real and substantial things of life every way and especially stop the foolish habit of running after expensive and quack doctors or using so much of the vile humbug medicine that does you only harm, and makes the proprietors rich, but put your trust in the greatest of all simple, pure remedies, Hop Bitters, that cures always at a trifling cost, and you will see better times and good health. Try it once. Read it in another column. d166-1y

MANHOOD:

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

WE have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife: pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

TO THE OYSTER.

BY GUY H. AVERY.

O mollusk nutritious,
Bivalve delicious,
There is nothing pernicious
In thy succulent dish
Thou dearly-loved fish!
Heightening our gaieties,
Sweetening asperities,
Softening cynicisms;
Stomachic, smoothing,
Toothsome, and soothing,
However thou'rt gallopped,
Stewed, roasted, or scalloped,
Raw, pickled, or fried,
Thou still art the pride
And the Queen of the tide!

Marine politician,
Imbibing nutrition
By the outset of suction
And [illegible];
Slyly secreting
Sweet morsel for eating
Which other fish gain
By labor and pain.

I have loved thee, O oyster!
As a hermit his cloister;
My eyes fill with moisture,
I'm a handkerchief hoister
When I think of the jollities,
Fun and frivolities
Transacted with thee,
When the opera's done
And a new day begun
Of frolic and fun
I love thee, O shellfish!
With a love that's unselfish.

O gentle mollusk!
How sweet after dusk,
With the girl that you love
To be gazing above
At Venus's phases
And Mars as he blazes!
On your arm she reclines,
And pensively pines,
While a moonbeam just tips
Her sweet peachy lips,
There lingers a mist
Like clear amethyst
Round the spot you have kissed.
Oh! who would destroy
Such loving employ,
And engage Cupid's boy,
Full freighted with joy,
With no grain of annoy,
No drachm of alloy,
Nither measured by troy
Or avoirdupois.
As she whispers so coy:
"Oh tell me my boy!
In that sweet hot and hot,
Shall we have oyster pot?"

LADIES AT THE "ROARIN' GAME."

A correspondent sends to the Airdrie Advertiser the following humourous account of a curling match in which women took part, and which took place in Lanarkshire more than half a century ago. It is a pity that the example then set has not been followed up, as for the fair sex a good game on the ice would prove as healthful as it is to "the lords of creation." The writer says:—

Ladies generally are not particularly fond of the roaring game, but the following (as told us by an eye-witness) goes far enough to show that they have not always at least stood aloof from this exhilarating pastime:—The "Heads" of Glessard, near the town of Stonehouse, one winter's day about the year 1823, was the scene of a novel curling match—nothing less than a game between two rinks of women belonging to the district; with the intent apparently of making the contest keen, the losers were to be the purveyors of a tea-party to the gainers, in distinction, we suppose, to the hardier fare of beef and greens, which gentlemen often play for. The scene of the contest was a loch near the Glessard stream, and a great many folk turned out, some from a distance, to see the game. The players were as mixed a lot in respect to age and station as could be well imagined. There was the laird's daughter, with less strength likely than some of the others; there again was seen an elderly woman of great dimensions, probably the wife of some well-to-do farmer; in another place stood a farm-servant lass, ruddy in complexion, and with an arm which could send the stone well up, though it might not be straightly delivered; and some strippling lassie in her teens—each and all of them bent—aye, determined—to make the contest prove favorable to the side on which they were engaged. But though their ranks were different, the dress for the occasion was common to them all, viz, the "shor'-goon and coat." There were seven players on each side, with one curling-stone each, which, we may explain, was the only method adopted at the time we write of.

The game fairly begun, the skip of a rink would be heard to say, in tones suitable to the occasion—"Noo, Leezie, my lass, I ken thou can throw a gran' stane, just lay that ane doon at my cowe"—here holding the besom about a yard in front of the tee—the desired haven for the stone, which, by this time was speeding its way smoothly along the ice, maybe to go straight over the whole circle, and therefore off the ice—or, if better directed, reach the exact spot indicated by the leader; and the grumbling about the bad shot was as pithy and hearty as the praise and the shaking of heads bestowed on the more fortunate. And the skip of the opposite rink would be no less explanatory than her opponent in directing the first player on her side—"Jenny, my woman, that last shot was a king o' guard, so just turn in your han' a bit, an' ye'll come right on the tee"—the stone on its way being shouted to, brushed at, and its motions as anxiously watched as if the fortunes of the gamesters depended upon its delivery, strength and course. They had their steady players there too. That young woman there has played many a "kittle shot" that day with credit, and see her now; see how she plants her tiny feet solid upon the ice; how she grasps the stone with all the nerve she is capable of, raises it—every eye upon her, every moment watched—but it leaves her hand feebly, and though the players try every persuasion they can exert, by shouting, sweeping, and twisting their bodies to urge it on, it does not cross the hog-score, and is removed from the ice. What can have failed her at that very moment? She had seen a well-known face at the other end of the ice—unnoticed before—a face which, when seen unexpectedly, raises the blush on young women's cheeks, and unnerves them for the moment.

Our readers, if he or she has never seen a curling match,—and who has not?—need not be told of the excitement and merriment that arise as the game goes on, and how every player strives by every possible art she can think of to do a great deed—to "tak' a wick," for instance, with that hoopless and accuracy which nothing but an experienced curler can do; or should a "smack" be advised to clear the difficulty, to see the bended back, and feet planted firmly on the ice, and steady aim, and well-directed delivery of the stone, sent by a powerful arm with a force which, if the aim be true, sends almost every obstacle off the ice, and leaves the conqueror in solitary possession of the tee. All these accompaniments of the game we have seen men indulge in; and it needs no description of ours to show that these women would be as much in earnest, if not more so, than the sterner sex. About the date we have mentioned such games as the foregoing were of almost daily occurrence in Ayrshire, but were never in such repute amongst the ladies of the Upper Ward of Lanarkshire, and therefore this match was looked upon with some little curiosity.

A Good Account.

"To sum it up, six long years of bed-ridden sickness and suffering, costing $200 per year, total $1,200—all of which was stopped by three bottles of Hop Bitters taken by my wife, who has done her own housework for a years since without the loss of a day, and I want everybody to know of it for their benefit."

BEER WILL NOT INTOXICATE.

I hav finally cum to the conclusion that lager beer as a beverage is not intoxicating.

I have been told by a German who drunk it all nite long, just to try the experiment, and was obliged to go home sober in the morning. I have seen this same man drink eighteen glasses, and if he was drunk it was in German, and nobody could understand it.

It is proper enuff to state that this man kept a lager beer saloon, could have no object in stating what was not strictly thus.

I believe him to the full extent of my ability. I never drunk but three glasses of lager in my life, and that made my head ontwist as tho it was hung on the end of a string, but I was told it was owing to my bile being out of place; and I guess that it was so, for I never biled over wus than I did when I got hom that nite. My wife thot I was goin to die, and I was afraid I shouldn't, for it seemed as tho everything I had ever eaten in my life was coming to the surface; and I believe that if my wife hadn't pulled off my boots just as she did, they would hav cum thundering up too.

O, how sick I wuz! 14 years ago, and I can taste it now.

I never had so much experience in so short a time.

If any man should tell me that lager beer was not intoxicating, I shud believe him; but if he should tell me that I wasn't drunk that nite but that my stummick was out of order, I shud ask him to state over a few words just how a man felt and acted when he was set up.

If I wasn't drunk that nite, I had some ov the most natural simtums that a man ever had and kept sober.

In the first place it was about 80 rods from where I drank the lager beer to mi house, and I was just over two hours on the road, and a hole busted through each one of my pantaloon neez, and didn't hav any hat, and tried to open the door by the bell-pull and hiccuped awfully and saw everythin' in the room trying to get round on the back side of me, and, sitting down on a chair, I did not wait long enough for it to get exactly under me when I wuz going round, and set down a little too soon and missed the chair about twelve inches, and couldn't get up soon enough to take the next one that come along; and that ain't awl, my wife sed I was as drunk as a beast, and, as I sed before, I began to spin up things freely.

If lager beer is not intoxicating it used me most almighty mean, and that I know.

Still I hardly think that lager beer is intoxicating, for I hav been told so; and I am probably the only man living who ever drunk any when his liver was not plumb.

I don't want to say anything against a harmless temperance beverage, but if ever I drink any more, it will be with mi hands tied behind and mi mouth pried open.

I don't think lager beer is intoxicating, but if I remember rite, I think it tasted to me like a glass of soap suds that a pickle had been put tew soak in.

JOSH BILLINGS.

THE MORNING BATH.

A late number of the London Lancet says:—Attention has recently been called to the possible bad effects of a cold bath taken without due precautions at this season of the year. This is the probability of a depression of the vital powers. That such a danger exists does not admit of question. The old, and the weakly of any age, should not be exposed to the risks of too sudden or too prolonged cold bathing. It is never advantageous to plunge the body into cold water, or to employ cold affusions, unless the prompt effect is to stimulate the vessels of the surface and promote the circulation through the skin. This effect should not be deferred. Too much faith is commonly placed in what is called the reaction—namely, the return of blood to the skin after the contraction of the vessels produced by the application of the cold. In perfect health the pallor is instantaneous and immediate, followed by increased redness of the surface. When this is not the result, cold bathing or cold affusion ought to be avoided. It cannot possibly be either useful or wise. No measure, such as standing in warm or tepid water, will suffice to render the use of cold water safe, and it is only prudent to discontinue it, unless the almost instant effect is to increase the rapidity and volume of the circulation through the skin. When the exposure of parts of the body acts healthfully the surface is reddened. This is the test. Whiteness or blueness are indications that cold is inadmissible. Some persons delude themselves by producing a fictitious redness by hand-rubbing with a coarse towel. The circulation thus excited is only temporary, and the effect of cold on the nerve centres is marked, not changed, by the device. Better far use warm water to wash with, and sprinkle a little cold lightly, only in such quantity to be agreeable, over the surface, if cold affusion does not at once cause florid redness and a "glow." There is no virtue in the "cold tub," except this effect on the circulation. So far as cleanliness is concerned the cold bath is a mistake. It simply closes in the dirt on the skin. A good wash in slightly warm water, with plenty of soap, is far better, and has the special advantage of being safe.

LIVING BY CHEATING.

A man has something to sell. He proposes to obtain for it, not what it is worth, but what any person can be deceived and persuaded to give; and the man who knows how to deceive and beguile his neighbor into paying twice the value of an article is held to be keen and shrewd. In the long run it may be fairly questioned whether any bargain is a good bargain for the seller unless it is also a good bargain for the buyer.

The man who undertakes to do business on the principle of deceiving and cheating will do well to remember that it is not wise to take too narrow a view of these matters. If of fifty men in a community each contrives in the course of a year to cheat each of the others to the amount of fifty dollars, pray tell us how much better off any of them will be at the year's end! Each of them has gained twenty-five hundred dollars by his own rascality, and lost twenty-five hundred by the rascality of his neighbors. But most of them expect to gain, but do not expect to lose; they regard themselves as very "smart," and in this opinion no doubt they are correct; but they make the very common mistake of supposing that because they are wise everybody else is foolish. The keenest of them in the course of a lifetime find their match, and perhaps loose in a day everything which they accumulate through years of craft and guile.

All business done upon this basis of deception, cheating and rascality, is in every way unsatisfactory. It ruins many, it really helps none. The long lane of crookedness and craft turns at last, and turns down hill. The only safe and proper way to do business is to do it honestly; and if men are unwilling to do this, much as they think they gain, they will find in the end that their loss is greater. Absence of honesty causes loss of confidence; loss of confidence causes financial panics and disasters; swindling, stealing, and defalcations rob men of their rights, and send them out into the community as tramps and beggars, enemies to society, and tempted to revenge their real or fancied wrongs wherever they can find opportunity; and finally come anarchy and revolution, in which the ill-gotten gains of generations go down in seas of fire, and blood, and desolation. The remedy for panics is confidence; the foundation of confidence is honesty and integrity; and the foundation for honesty and integrity is the fear of the Lord, which is the beginning of wisdom.—Common People.

The hungry dream of feasts, the thirsty of water, the dropsical of drowning, the sick of health. To enjoy health, beware of every ailment, and if suffering from disease of the kidneys, etc., use Victoria Buchu and Uva Ursi. If taken in time, this great medicine will prevent Bright's disease of the kidneys, diabetes, etc., and is a positive specific in all diseases of the urinary system. For sale by all dealers. w1d150-2w

What all Men Should Know.

To Relieve a Cough.—The troublesome cough caused by an accumulation of phlegm in the throat, especially in the morning, experienced mostly by persons afflicted with Chronic Catarrh, can be relieved almost instantly by taking a teaspoonful of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam, which has the advantage of being harmless to the stomach, and at the same time improving the appetite. w1d150-2w

Swallowed a Baby.

When Thackeray visited our shores for the first time and was invited to partake of a dish of oysters, the the size of our saddle rocks astonished him. Accustomed to the small copper-tainted oyster of his own native isle, he paused. But only for an instant, and in one gulp it was down. "How do you feel?" asked a friend. "I feel as though I had swallowed a baby," was the reply. To the benighted foreigner our oysters are a revelation as is also SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL combined with the HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA, which for debility, all bronchial affections and consumption stands unrivalled. It is also acceptable to the most delicate stomach. w2d1-1m

A POSITIVE FACT.—Nervousness is the sense of feebleness, or the lack of stability of the nervous system, as distinguished from the rest of the body. It is pre-eminently a disease, and more widely spread through the Northern and Eastern part of the United States and the Dominion of Canada than in any other part of the world. We will not stop to say why this is the case, but we do emphatically say the Victoria Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites will be found an invaluable medicine for all parties afflicted with Nervousness, Dyspepsia, Consumption, Defective Nutrition, General Debility, or weakness of the whole system. One of the first effects is an increase of the nervous or vital energy, followed by a feeling of unusual comfort and strength. For sale by all dealers. w1d150-2w

Hagyard's Yellow Oil is one of the surest remedies in the world for the cure of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Spinal and Bronchial Complaints, Deafness, Ear-Ache, Cramps, Sprains, Bruises, Galls, Stiff Joints, Swelled Hands, Sore Nipples, Stiff Neck, Chilblains, Tetter, Frost Bites, Chapped Hands, Wounds, Cuts, Sore Throat, Stings of Insects, Shortness of Breath, or any Disease that are painful or sore. We have no hesitation in recommending it for any of the above complaints, and believe it the quickest and most perfect combination known to remove pain from almost any cause, and can be used either internally or externally. For particulars see [illegible] each bottle. For sale by all dealers, price 25 cts. w1d150-2w

Among the Luxuries of Life.

But a brief period has passed since when a month's time was necessary to accomplish a journey of few hundred miles and then we went lumbering over the rough country, highways on springless seats. Now the same journey is made in sumptuous drawing room cars, with all the comforts and many of the luxuries brought to us by servants. Once upon a time when we found it necessary to our health we set apart a brief period to "doctor up" and then came a struggle with that awful Castor Oil. Now we sip it from the bottle while we continue regularly at our vocations. But it is SCOTT & BOWNE'S PALATABLE CASTOR OIL we take. It is one of the luxuries of life that is afforded at 25 cents. w2d1-1m

Church Music.—The finest music provided by any church in the country is to be heard on Sundays and holidays at St. Francis Xaviers' in New York. Its organ and its choir are alike famous, and its services are crowded by both the religious and the critical. The credit of this superb preeminence belongs to the organist, Professor Wm. Berge, music doctor, who but a little while ago, ruptured an artery in his arm, and had to abandon his profession until cured by Giles' Liniment Iodide Ammonia.

the following land and premises, viz., Lot Number Three in the Fourth Concession, Southern Division of the Township of Burleigh, in the County of Peterborough, containing one hundred and forty-eight acres, more or less, together with all engines, boilers and machinery now erected and being upon said premises. There is a good saw mill and dwelling house erected on said land, and the land is well timbered with pine. The property is situated about twelve miles from the village of Lakefield, and in one of the best lumbering districts of Ontario. The property will be sold in one lot, and subject to a reserved bidding to be fixed by the said Master.

CONDITIONS.

Ten per cent. cash at time of sale, sufficient in one month thereafter to make up one-third of the purchase money, and the balance to be secured by the purchaser's mortgage on the property, payable in three years with interest half-yearly at eight per cent., or in the option of the purchaser may be paid in cash.

The Vendors will only produce a Registrar's short abstract of title and such title deeds as are in their possession or control.

In other respects the terms and conditions are the standing conditions of the Court of Chancery.

For further particulars apply to Messrs. DENNISTOUN BROS. & HALL, Barristers, &c., Peterborough, or to Messrs. OSLER & GWYN, Barristers, Dundas.

Dated this 15th day of December, 1879.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

Farewell Meeting.

There will be a meeting of the Town Council this evening, the last appearance of the Council for 1879.

Mission Service.

The friends of the cause of missions will bear in mind the mission services at the Bible Christian Church, Peterborough, this evening.

Literary Association.

The regular weekly meeting of the Peterborough Literary Association will be held this (Monday) evening, at half-past seven o'clock, in Messrs. Scott & Edwards' office.

More Than Shop Rent.

The following is the opinion of Horace Greely: "The man who pays more for shop rent than for advertising don't understand his business."

There are a good many store keepers who do not quite appreciate the value of printers' ink.

I. O. G. T.

Peterborough Lodge, No. 340, I.O.G.T., will meet this evening, in the Orange Hall, Water Street, when the fine literary programme selected for the good of the Order will be given. All Good Templars are invited.

Irish Mission Scenes.

The Rev. Mr. Roe, a delegate from the Irish Society, will lecture on "Mission Scenes in Ireland," in St. John's Church Sunday School this evening, at half-past seven. Some beautiful views of Irish scenery will be exhibited. The Rector will be in the chair.

Sleighing, Snow and the River.

The heavy rain fall of Sunday evening was followed by a cold wind and a light fall of snow. This morning the sleighing was somewhat improved, but will not do away with the use of wheels unless more snow follows. The late thaw has broken up the ice in the rivers and lakes to a large extent and open water is again observable. It will take some days of low temperature to close them up again.

The Cobourg "Sentinel-Star."

We have received the first number of the Cobourg Sentinel-Star under the editorship of Mr. E. H. Fogarty, formerly of the staff of the Port Hope Times. It is a handsome eight page paper, and it is well edited and clearly printed. The combination of these two Conservative papers was a good step and it has been well carried out. Mr. Wilkinson of the Sentinel betakes himself to his official duties as Inspector of Weights and Measures, and Mr. Piper, of the Star, becomes foreman of the new office.

The Curling and Skating Rink.

The soft weather of the past week demoralized the skating rink. It was flooded on Tuesday night, the 6th instant, on the strength of what "Probabilities" had to say; but the weather did not bear out the prophecy. During this soft weather Mr. Stewart has been busily engaged in plugging the holes that were found to be wearing away the ice, and now has the foundation in a better condition than before. The ice is making rapidly, and should the cold wave that reached us last night continue for 24 hours longer there will be fine skating to-morrow night. The outside rink will be sprinkled and an attempt made to get a good foundation for a curling surface. It is thought now that this rink will be ready in time for the bonspiel to come off on the 3rd and 4th of February. The westerly inside rink is in good condition for the curling match this evening.

POLICE COURT.

VAGRANCY.

MONDAY, JAN. 12.—The remanded case of J. Rogers was taken. Constable McGhee charged him with having been found in this town on the 7th day of January, instant, without any visible means of support, contrary to the statute. He was fined $5, or three months in jail.

ASSAULT.

Jas. Stubbs charged that John McGhee did, on the 3rd day of January, instant, commit an assault upon the said complainant, and he prayed that the complainant may be summarily adjudicated upon.

Jas. Stubbs, the complainant, sworn, said:—He resided at Bridgenorth; was a blacksmith at that place. He was in town on the third day of January; was on the street and saw the defendant. He was near McKee & Davidson's and Rubidge & Shaw's tobacco store. He went down to where the crowd was. He saw defendant coming and moved back. He was four feet from the crowd. He was standing on the inside of the walk. The side-walk was clear between him and the road. The defendant told him to move on and he said he would not. The defendant said if he did not he would take him to the lock-up. He, the complainant, said he had better not. Defendant then took hold of him and was moving him along and tore his coat. Mr. Millburn told him not to go. He then caught hold of Millburn and jerked himself away from the defendant. The defendant then told the others to move on, when some one in the crowd began to laugh, and said if he was to take him to the lock-up, he might as well take all the crowd. The people were not standing so as to obstruct the sidewalk. There was no one near him when the defendant spoke to him, or when he took hold of him.

Cross-examined by Mr. Edwards.—It was about 12 o'clock when he first took his stand on the street. It was between one and two when the defendant came up to the crowd. He had not been standing still all the time. He had been standing north of McKee & Davidson's most of the time. He moved towards the crowd southward, when he saw defendant moving towards him. He knew of the by-law. He wished to avoid any disturbance. There was a considerable crowd when the defendant came up towards him and asked him to move on. He said he was attending to his business and was not injuring him or anybody else. He did not move. Defendant then took hold of him by one arm and slung him off the sidewalk into the street. He did not say when first he took hold of him that he was a respectable man, and he wondered at his obstructing the street. He did not say so the second time or words to that effect. On the second occasion there was no person standing near him.

To Mr. Dumble,—He did not dare the defendant to take him to the lock-up until he had broken loose from him; then he did defy him to take him there.

ALEXANDER SCOTT sworn and examined by Mr. Dumble, said he was standing near the complainant when the defendant came up and separated the crowd. He ordered the complainant to move on, when he responded, saying he had as good a right to stand there as anyone. The Constable had handled two or three persons very roughly. He had been at all the shows in Canada and he had never seen anything like it before. The crowd was driven off the sidewalk, and none were allowed to remain. He was standing on the edge of the sidewalk. The crowd scattered like a flock of sheep as the Constable came suddenly among them. There were about twelve persons in the crowd. The complainant was not in the crowd. He was standing by himself. He saw no one near complainant. Witness was there about about a quarter of an hour. The Constable went up street and came back. Witness did not see that complainant was doing anything. They did not all go away.

ANDREW YOUNG sworn, for complainant—The defendant caught hold of complainant and slung him around, after which he came back and ordered him (witness) away, and took hold of him, slinging him off into the street. The defendant went up the street and came back again. The evidence was similar to that of previous witnesses.

Cross examined by Mr. Edwards,—He was not particular as to the time he stood there. The Constable was not there but once. They were discussing municipal matters. He did not move on when told to do so by the Constable. This was the first time he saw the complainant. He did not see the Constable sling him round to the street.

To Mr. Dumble,—He was seized by the Constable before the complainant was taken down the street.

To the Magistrate,—The Constable might have said something about their moving away, but witness did not hear it. He came suddenly among them, and the opening was made.

JAMES MILLBURN, sworn and examined by Mr. Dumble. There was room enough for any one to pass when the defendant came up and said, "move on, there is no respect to persons." The defendant went up the street and came back in a rage; witness thought he was drunk. After defendant knocked down Mr. Bowie, he came up to him. The complainant was not in the crowd at all. Defendant first of all took hold of Mr. Young and then went to the complainant.

To Mr. Edwards.—When the defendant came up he said, "move on, boys, without respect of persons," the crowd separated. He then went to the complainant, who was standing by himself. Witness could not say if defendant slung the complainant across the sidewalk, as he did not see them until complainant was being taken away. He did not advise him not to go to the lock-up; he said "he would not go."

JOSEPH [illegible] was sworn and gave evidence which was of a corroborative character. He saw that the sidewalk was obstructed; the people had to walk round the crowd along the outside of the walk, some even going into the street. There were about a dozen persons in the crowd.

To Mr. Edwards,—He was not in the crowd; was moving along the outer edge of the walk. His brother was not tackled until the defendant came back after going up the street. His brother resisted; but the defendant took him down the street. Did not see the coat torn. Did not see defendant sling him into the street.

Mr. Dumble rested his case.

The DEFENDANT was sworn and examined by his counsel, Mr. B. Edwards. The streets were crowded that day. At near 2 o'clock he went up street, and found a crowd of people in front of McKee & Davidson's store. There were some 25 or 30 people discussing something. The sidewalk was completely filled from side to side. One young man, named Bell, said, "see how quick the crowd disperses when the Constable comes." He approached the center of the crowd and requested them to move on, as the sidewalk was obstructed. Some of them had to get off the sidewalk on account of the crowd. He went up to the corner, and coming back, found that the crowd had gathered again. When some ladies came along he made some of the crowd move to allow them to pass. This was when he came back. He saw the complainant standing near the building, and told him he was a man he respected and that he ought to move on. The complainant said he was then minding his own business and had a right to be there. Witness walked up close to him and gave him a push along down the sidewalk. Did not remember if he threatened to take him to the lock-up. Took him down the street and let him go. He then went back to clear the sidewalk. The complainant was very insulting. He did not throw him across the sidewalk or into the street, and used no more violence than necessary to make him move on.

Cross-examined by Mr. DUMBLE—There was no room for a passage and he had to force his way through.

JOSEPH LANGFORD sworn. Was on the street and saw a large crowd of people, over 20 persons opposite the store door. The defendant came and shoved some of the crowd away and they got annoyed at it. The complainant was near the crowd. Witness was standing on the sidewalk near the crowd when McGhee was crowding through. Did not see him take hold of any one. Witness kept moving on into McKee & Davidson's store where he had business. The defendant requested the crowd to move on.

To the Magistrate.—No one could have got through the crowd. Many persons took the street in consequence.

Mr. BENTON was sworn and said,—There were about 40 people from McKee & Davidson's store to the corner.

To Mr. Dumble—There was a large crowd in front of McKee & Davidson's store, but he could not tell how many.

CHAS. ALEXANDER, sworn,—Was on George Street on Saturday between one and two o'clock; the crowd was so great that he had to take the street. There were upwards of twenty people. The Constable was in front of McKee & Davidson's store.

HENRY PHELAN said there was about the usual crowd on Saturdays. He saw something going on, and when he looked out of the window to see what it was, he saw the Constable take hold of complainant. He did not think unusual violence was used in taking hold of him.

JAMES G. MACDONALD, said,—About a quarter past one he was on his way down from dinner; saw about 30 people on the walk, completely blocking the way. Had to worm his way through the crowd; many persons were compelled to go into the street. Saw no unusual excitement in the Constable when he came to the office about 20 minutes afterwards.

There were several other witnesses, whose evidence was not important.

The Magistrate, after hearing the arguments of counsel, dismissed the case upon the evidence that had been presented.

Mr. Dumble on behalf of the other complainants, of whom there were several asked to withdraw the complaints, provided the defendant would withdraw his counter charges against the parties.

The constable agreed to this, and the complaints were withdrawn on both sides.

BELLEVILLE.

THE GATLING MINE.—The Intelligencer says:—We understand that active operations will probably be commenced at this mine next week. A large number of miners have been at work for some time past opening out new shafts, and getting ore ready for the crusher, and it is expected that the mill will be running in a few days. From the character of the ore got out we may expect rich returns from this mine before many days.

WHAT IS DOING.—Two cars laden with gold ore were shipped from this city on Friday to Detroit, Michigan, where it will be smelted. This is the first shipment of this kind that has been sent from this locality. Ten cars of iron ore were forwarded on Friday to Buffalo, N.Y., where it will be smelted.

ENGLAND.

SELECTIONS from the Earl of Dunmore's new opera "Crescencia" has just been performed in Liverpool, the Earl conducting the orchestra himself.

FOMIN, the Nihilist leader, is in London. London is at present the asylum of several Nihilist refugees. It is also the rendezvous of an equally large number of Russian detectives.

THE Whitehall Review has reason to believe that the Russian despatches found in Cabul have all been received at the India Office. They are being printed, and from what that journal learns are likely to astonish both Russophobist and Russo-foolish Englishmen.

THE Royal baron of beef—which, with the boar's head and game and woodcock pies, decorated Her Majesty's sideboard at Osborne on Christmas Day—was cut from a fine shorthorn ox, bred and fed upon the Prince Consort's model farm at Frogmore. The baron weighed upwards of 200 lbs., was roasted before the great kitchen fire at Windsor castle, and when cold was sent two days after to the Isle of Wight.

IRELAND.

THE Post Office authorities have decided on laying another cable to Ireland, to consist of four wires.

MR. E. D. GRAY, M.P., has subscribed £1500 towards the proposed memorial to the late Cardinal Cullen. It is understood that the memorial will take the form of a National Cathedral for Dublin.

ON the occasion of conferring the honorary degree of L.L.D. on Surgeon-Major Reynolds, V.C., one of the defenders of Rorke's Drift, the Examination Hall of Trinity College, Dublin, was crowded, a large number of ladies being amongst those present.

MR. BLENNERHASSETT, M.P. for Kerry, Ireland, is to introduce next session a bill to abolish the arbitrary marriage regulations which compel marriage regulations to be solemnized before noon. This has been a great inconvenience, especially to the working classes, and was introduced to prevent bibulatory bachelors from presenting themselves at the altar in an intoxicated state, a danger which has passed away.

A Narrow Escape.

BOSTON, Jan. 12.—By a peculiar combination of circumstances, the sudden breaking of the bell wire on board the steamship Lancaster in the harbor yesterday morning, came very near resulting in a terrible disaster to a passenger train on the New York and New England Railway. The Lancaster, a large iron vessel, heavily laden with coal, was approaching the bridge when the pilot rang to stop the engine. The wire broke and the engineer failing to receive the signal, the vessel kept on, striking the bridge with great force. The timbers were badly twisted and the bolt which locks the draw bridge, was broken. The railway tracks upon the bridge were bent about 18 inches from their proper position. No one was near the scene at the time and the Sunday morning inward passenger train was approaching, only a few hundred feet away. When but a train's length from the bridge, the engineer noticed the disconnected rails. He reversed the engine and applied the air brake, bringing his train of five cars to a stop 15 feet from the bridge. Had the train passed over, it would have plunged into the water at the side of the track. The loss of life would have been great. The engineer is deserving of great credit for his watchfulness in discovering the accident almost at the instant of its occurrence, and for his prompt action for the protection of the lives of the passengers. The cars were unloaded and the passengers walked to the depot.

THE AFGHANISTAN WAR.

AFGHAN CHIEFS SECURELY ENTRENCHED AT GHUZNAI

The Ex-Ameer's Troops Rallying Round His Standard—General Roberts Disinclined to Attack—Rumors of Alarming News from India.

Press Despatches via Cable and Montreal Lines.

ENTRENCHED AT GHUZNAI.

LONDON, Jan. 11.—A Cabul despatch says Mohammed Jan, with Musa Khan, son of the ex-Ameer, has occupied the fortress of Ghuznai with a strong force. Mohammed is said to have twelve guns. A serious struggle is anticipated in case of attempting to dislodge him. In reply to a communication from General Roberts, he is declared to have exhibited no disposition to listen to a proposition looking to a compromise. Mohammed is believed to have been reinforced by several thousand of Sheer Ali's regulars, from whom cannon will probably be obtained. He has assumed political as well as military authority, and is collecting revenues in the name of Musa Khan, whom he pretends to regard as the rightful reigning Ameer, though temporarily kept out of his capital by the British. He sent emissaries to Turkestan commissioned to stir up the people there to engage in immediate warfare upon the British as their common enemy. The probabilities are said to be that on account of his high reputation as a soldier and commander he will have no inconsiderable success in raising men to join him at Ghuznai, or to begin hostilities on their own account from home bases. It is not believed Gen. Roberts will hazard an advance on Ghuznai before spring.

SIGNIFICANT OF THE SITUATION.

The rumour that Abdul Karun is raising a force in Kohistan for Mohammed Jan is regarded as well authenticated. The fact that while Ghuznai is understood to be the most important centre of military operations of the Insurgents, and is the strongest fortress in the country, no efforts are proposed towards its capture, is held here to be significant of the existing situation of the British in Afghanistan.

ALARMING NEWS FROM INDIA.

It is rumored that the Government is in possession of startling and alarming news from India, which it is endeavoring to keep secret until a Cabinet council has been held.

EXPECTING AN ATTACK.

A despatch from Cabul says the British troops in the Kuram Valley are expecting a general attack from the tribes.

By Telegraph to the Review.

THE AFGHAN LEADERS.

CANDIHAR, Jan. 12.—The leader of the Herati troops has been decoyed into the city and put to death by Ayoob Khan. No reports have reached here confirming the announcement that Abdul Raeman Khan, the pretender to the Afghan throne, has arrived at Balkah.

Liberation of Young Britons.

We learn from Montreal that there is a jubilee among the Orange Young Britons over the liberation of some of those convicted and sentenced two years ago for their part in faction rows. Among the shooting affrays which culminated in criminal trials were the cases of James Irwin, tried and convicted of shooting David Carey; David Jas. Spence, found guilty of shooting J. Gunning Ball; and Michael Cooney, convicted of shooting John Riley. In the first case Irwin fired two shots at Carey on Jacques Cartier st., the latter's residence, about midnight. It was alleged that both shots took effect, and Irwin, on being convicted, was sentenced by the Hon. Mr. Justice Monk to 5 years in the penitentiary. The night was pitch dark, yet Carey swore he recognized Irwin. In the case of Spence the shooting took place during a row near Papineau square, and the ball being fired into the crowd, hit Bell in the back. Spence was sentenced to 5 years' imprisonment. Cooney was sentenced to 7 years, his bullet striking Riley while on St. George st. The friends of the accused presented a petition for their liberation to the Governor-General, which His Excellency was graciously pleased to grant upon their furnishing bonds to keep the peace until April 26, 1883, the date upon which the sentences of Irwin and Spence would expire. Cooney's sentence expires on April 26th, 1880, and he was not liberated, as his friends did not furnish the bonds to keep the peace.

FROM POVERTY TO WEALTH.—Capt. Smith, the man who fell heir to an estate worth two millions of dollars by the death of an uncle in Australia, had to borrow money to pay his passage there.

A FIZZLE.—The unemployed workingmen's "Bread or Blood" mass-meeting this morning on the City Hall Square was a fizzle. Only four persons filed an appearance.

From the Morning Papers.

HALIFAX.

THE ENGLISH MAIL.—The weekly mail steamer Sardinian, Captain Dutton, from Liverpool 1st inst., after a very rough passage, having experienced a succession of westerly gales on the passage, arrived on Monday at 4 p.m., with 29 saloon, 21 intermediate, and 103 steerage passengers.

COLBORNE.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY.—On Sunday evening while Michael Donohue and Daniel McCarthy were going home slightly intoxicated, they were waylaid by three young men and twenty-nine dollars taken from Donohue. David Peterkin, Edward Carter and Barney Briscoe were arrested and brought before the Magistrate, who sent them up to Cobourg to await their trial.

BELLEVILLE.

AN ELOPEMENT.—Belleville is just now enjoying a first-class sensation. A wealthy farmer living in the vicinity of this city has disappeared under circumstances that have caused general pain and distress to his family. It appears that as usual in cases there is a woman concerned. Although the absconding Lothario is well over the impulsive years of youth, a fascinating young milliner, who had served in the farmer's house, succeeded in winning his affections, and in order to carry out his evil intention, he raised money by dishonorable means. It is reported that he mortgaged his farm for a large amount, forged a deed to property not his own, and by other such disreputable means succeeded in getting together a large amount of money. It is reported as much as $14,000. With this sum in his pocket, he quickly stole away, his lady love having joined him by a pre-arrangement. The unfaithful husband leaves a wife and family, who, owing to his dishonest proceedings, will be placed in straitened circumstances.

THE GOLD MINES.—Weekly shipments of concentrated gold ore from Dean and Williams mine are to be made. The amount of ore crushed is four tons per day. Four sleigh loads of quartz from Thomaton mine, in the township of Sheffield, passed through Madoc on the 10th for the Dean Mine, to be crushed there. The quartz at this mine has been tested and found to yield upwards of two dollars per ton.

THE CZAR'S PACIFIC POLICY.

VIENNA, Jan. 12.—The report of the Czar having accepted a pacific programme of foreign policy, stated to have been laid before him by Prince Gortschakoff, meets with little credit at Vienna. It is believed that no final decision will be arrived at in this matter except from Count Schouvaloff, who, it is said, has valuable material for a consideration of it from his recent visits to Vienna and Berlin.

ANGLO-TURKISH RELATIONS.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 12.—The entente cordiale has been completely restored between Minister Layard and the Porte, the settlement of recent disturbing questions having been pronounced satisfactory by the British Government.

COLLISION IN IRELAND.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—In the collision which took place on Saturday at Knockvicard, county Mayo, several women were wounded with bayonets and swords. The men had incited them to resist the serving of processes. A large force of the constabulary is now concentrated at Maam, county Galway, to protect the men who are to-day to serve ejectments over the late Earl of Leitrim. The people are reported to be decided to resort to extremes. The district is most excited and disturbed. The police and people are daily growing more exasperated with each other.

GRAVE ROBBERY.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 12.—The body of Theodore Jones, which was buried in Logan Cemetery recently, was found on Thursday to have been removed by ghouls. The coffin had been smashed in, a hook was inserted in the jaw, and the body was dragged in the mud half a mile. A reward of $700 has been offered for the detection of the perpetrators. Some students from Columbus Medical College are suspected.

A SHALLOW EXPLANATION.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—Russia has been questioned relative to the concentration of troops in Poland, and has replied that as there is no longer any danger of a collision with Turkey, the regiments hitherto stationed in the Crimea and Bessarabia were merely withdrawn to Poland as a more convenient district.

A MOURNFUL ANNIVERSARY.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—The ex-Empress Eugenie will embark with a small retinue for the Cape of Good Hope on the 26th March. Arrangements will be made to expedite the voyage so as to enable the ex-Empress to arrive at the scene of the Prince Imperial's death by the 1st of June, the anniversary of that event.

ARRESTED FOR HIGH TREASON.

CAPETOWN, Jan. 13.—The arrest of Pretorius, the President of the former Republic of the Transvaal, for high treason, has caused great excitement among the Boers.

RUSSIA'S INTENTIONS.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—A Vienna correspondent says the new developments in Russia may be very significant of what may happen ten years hence, but persons conversant with Russian military affairs do not think Russia is preparing for some great action. The immediate and future work of reorganization and introducing a standing order battle in time of peace, which was greatly disturbed by the Turkish war, entails much moving about of troops and material. These movements are very apt to be construed into something quite different from their real intention.

ROBBING A COUNTY.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Bogert, the late defaulting Treasurer of the Produce Exchange, was formerly County Collector of Bergen County, N.J. The freeholders are now investigating his accounts, as there is reason to fear that he robbed the county by over issue of bonds amounting to $51,000.

BURNED TO DEATH.

MIDDLETOWN, Pa., Jan. 13.—This morning Thos. Newman, a colored man, accidentally set fire to the buildings at the Cameron furnace. Newman was burnt to death. The loss is $8,000.

A TERRIFIC EXPLOSION.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—The gas generated in an oil tank at Oratt's astral oil works, caused a terrific explosion, which sent oil flying in all directions. Three men were slightly injured and all narrowly escaped drowning in the oil. There was no fire.

THE MAINE LEGISLATURE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—The Sun's Augusta despatch says it is understood that the Republicans will take no further action until the decision of the Court. Gen. Chamberlain says he shall not recognize anybody until the decision of the court is made. He regards them all as simply members elect unorganized.

AN OATH TO KILL.

NASHVILLE, Jan. 13.—A letter from a Deputy United States Marshal says that the moonshiners on Butler's Creek, in Wayne County, have organized under an oath to kill any revenue officer or marshal who goes into their locality. They killed W. A. Fowler for guarding Deputy Collector Davis and his friends. The revenue officers will not dare to go after wild cat moonshiners in that region without a sufficient force to overcome any resistance.

RISE IN PRICES.

WHEELING, W. Va., Jan. 13.—The nail manufacturers of this city yesterday advanced nails to $3, with the usual discounts.

FIGHTING THE INDIANS.

DENVER, Jan. 13.—Owing to the threatened Indian troubles the Council of the Legislature of New Mexico on Saturday passed a bill authorizing a force of militia and appropriating $100,000 to fight the Indians. The bill will probably pass the House to-day.

NO CHANGE OF TARIFF.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—A Washington special report to the Herald says the vote yesterday on the motion to put salt on the free list is an indication that the present Congress will not support any modification of the tariff. There will, however, be another attempt made to secure a change. All the protected interests incline to stand by each other, and it is not now probable that this Congress will agree to lower the duties on any article.

WOOD'S REFUNDING BILL.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—A Washington special report to the Times says that Wood stated yesterday that he was more confident than ever of the ultimate success of his refunding bill. Four prominent Republican members of the House have assured him that they will support the measure.

SAFE IN JAIL.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 13.—Ulysses Johnson, who committed an infamous outrage on Elizabeth Riddle, aged 13, in October last, and fled to Virginia, was jailed in Elliott City yesterday.

A TERRIBLE SUICIDE.

ATLANTA, Jan. 13.—George Quigley, a German butcher, while crazed with drink yesterday, blew out his brains with a revolver in the presence of his wife and children.

A LOVER'S SUICIDE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Henry Vanderson, a coachman, yesterday asked Eliza Hopf to marry him. Under the advice of her parents she refused, whereupon he drew a razor from his pocket and cut his throat fatally.

THE MAINE DIFFICULTY.

AUGUSTA, Jan. 13.—Both branches of the Legislature quietly assembled without disturbance, the Republicans absenting themselves. The night at the capital passed very quietly. A full guard was on this morning. G. N. Martin attempted to pass the guard in defiance of the police regulations and was summarily handled. The Fusionists are very reticent about expressing an opinion concerning the events of last night. At a quarter to two this morning the committee submitted a series of questions, which it was voted to submit to the court. The questions are lengthy and yet incomplete. Both branches adjourned at 3.15 until Saturday at 3 o'clock. Acting Governor Cameron will issue orders to-day instructing the militia not to obey the orders of General Chamberlain.

DANGEROUS EXPERIMENTS.

NEWARK, Jan. 13.—The coroner's jury in the case of the celluloid explosion find that the accident was the result of over confidence of the experts of the company in their knowledge of the properties of materials which had not yet passed beyond the dangerous shoals of experiment. The management is censured for imprudence in allowing such experiments in a room filled with workmen and with such imperfect means of escape. Edward Dowd, the seventh victim, died this morning.

RIVAL LEGISLATURES.

AUGUSTA, Jan. 12.—At twenty minutes to six this evening, the Republican members of the Senate and the House proceeded to the State House for the purpose of organizing a Legislature. Their movements were entirely unknown to the Fusionists, and but few Republicans outside of the immediate members were aware of the position of affairs. The news that the Republicans had taken possession of the State House spread rapidly, and caused great rejoicing among the Republicans, who have been impatient to have just this result brought about.

THE AFGHANISTAN WAR.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—A Lahore despatch says a Persian correspondent writes that Herat and Balkh regiments of Afghans are preparing to march to Ghuznee to join Mahomed Jan.

GHUZNEE LOOTED.

A correspondent at Cabul reports that Mahomed Jan, having surrounded Ghuznee with a strong force, killed the Governor Abdul Kadir, and looted the city. He is now endeavoring to raise tribes to attack the British. Priest Mooshi Alum has severed his connection with Mahomed Jan in consequence of the behaviour of the insurgents in looting Cabul.

French Canadians Abroad.

It is stated that, according to recent population returns, there are nearly a half million of French Canadians in the United States. Of these New York has the largest number, 79,000, Massachusetts coming next with 70,000, while Michigan, in part an old French colony, has nearly 40,000, Illinois has 32,000, Vermont 22,000, Wisconsin 25,000, while Minnesota, Iowa, Pennsylvania, New Hampshire, California, Ohio and several other States have a French Canadian population which ranges from 10,000 to 20,000 each. It is said that as many as 40,000 of our French fellow countrymen or their descendants took part in the American war.

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, JANUARY 13, 1880.

DISTRESS IN IRELAND.

THE public meeting called by the Mayor for Thursday evening, to consider the best means of alleviating the distress in Ireland, will, no doubt, have favourable results. There may be a discussion as to the most suitable manner or the fittest channel for affording the relief needed, but there can, we opine, be no question of the willingness of all, irrespective of birth-place, race, or creed, to do what is in their power to aid those who are thus suffering.

We in Canada, who have this year been blessed with an abundant harvest, should be heartily ready to aid those who, less fortunate, have been visited with scarcity, with scanty crops, and drenched fuel.

In such a case the first consideration must be to relieve the wants of the moment, to stave off threatened famine. The meeting on Thursday will have to devise the means of securing this aid and of transmitting it so that it will be most effectually used.

After temporary aid is given, however, the plan most satisfactory to Canadians would be one by which their contributions would be used, not simply in feeding as a charity a suffering peasantry at a distance, but one by which they might be brought from their present miserable surroundings and settled in this country, helping to build it up while themselves becoming independent and prosperous. In this way both those giving and those receiving would share the benefit in the fullest degree.

GAME PROTECTION.

The recent circular warning Fishery Inspectors no longer, in their official capacity, to take cognizance of any offences against the game laws, is a step which has called forth much protest. The fishery laws being within the Federal jurisdiction, while the game laws appertain to the Province, already placed some difficulty in the way of the preservation of the wild denizens of our woods and waters, but now this difficulty is intensified. No one had better opportunities than the Fishery Inspectors of detecting and punishing infractions of the game laws; such action cause little if any expense, and it helped rather than hindered them in the execution of their strictly official duties.

The Department should re-consider the question, and at all events throw no obstacle in the way of their Inspectors aiding in the preservation of game, in which they feel an interest and are ready enough to act, if we may judge by the officials in this district.

We notice that game protection societies in various localities are expressing their opinions on this subject, but we hear nothing of the Peterborough Society. Is it extinct?

THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

PROMISED MEASURES.

TORONTO, Jan. 12.—The proceedings in the House to-day were purely of a routine character. A message from the Lieut.-Governor transmitting the estimates for 1880 was received. In addition to the measures mentioned in the Speech, Mr. Mowat has given notice of Bills relating to drainage by-laws, the incorporation of cemetery companies and coroners.

A DISGRACEFUL APPOINTMENT.

To the Editor of the Review.

The appointment of Mr. Arthur Rutherford, by our Town Council last night to one of the vacancies in the Collegiate Institute Board is one of the most imprudent and disgraceful acts ever committed by a Town Council. Only a week ago this ignorant man, who cannot write an intelligible resolution was rejected in his own ward where he was a candidate for a place on the Common School Board, he only receiving 19 or 20 votes out of some 400 or 500 on the lists. In the face of this, this same Mr. Rutherford, with no more shame than learning, demands from the Council, of whom he is a member, the above appointment, and they have the effrontery to foist such a person on the town as a fair representative of its interests in an institute of learning. Could indecency go further or audacity suggest worse? Surely such recreant conduct is enough to disgust every person of feeling or interest in Peterborough, and to deter any respectable man from taking a seat at either the Council or School Board.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

Favourable Opinion of the Project in Montreal.

MONTREAL, Jan. 12.—The gentlemen who went to Ottawa in connection with the promoters of the Trent Valley Canal, Alderman Nelson and Mayor Rivard, both seem very favourably impressed with the project, and this forenoon at the meeting of the City Council Ald. Nelson reported for the deputation which had proceeded to Ottawa, that so far as he was concerned, as an individual, the Trent Valley Canal scheme had his support, and was a work which should be built even if it cost $5,000,000 instead of the $3,000,000 estimated. He showed that the intention was to make the canal available for barges which could carry twenty thousand bushels of grain in transit. Grain would be transhipped at the north-western end of the canal instead of at Kingston, and not again until the barges reached Montreal. It would shorten the distance of navigation from Chicago by some 400 miles, and could hardly divert the trade from Montreal to New York, as the class of barges to be used in the shipping of the grain would not stand a voyage across Lake Ontario. Mayor Rivard took very much the same view, and it is most likely that the scheme has received a warm supporter in the Montreal City Council. The prospect of bringing to Montreal the elevating business which must come with the completion of this canal is a bait too inviting for Montreal to lose sight of.

The Electric Light.

Before further steps are taken to popularise the electric light it would be well to appoint a committee of experts to determine the effect of that agent on the origin of sight. It is the London Lancet thinks, by no means certain that the light can be used for ordinary purposes, such as reading and writing, without injury. In any event this is a matter of investigation, and the issue raised is too serious to be treated without due consideration. There is a question that some peculiar effect is produced by this agent; and if the physical effects on the organism are in any degree proportioned to the sensation, they can scarcely be without consequence. The inquiry should, for the sake of inventors and the public, be undertaken and completed without needless delay.

THE LATE PROF. McKERRAS

A Tribute to his Memory from Dr. Jenkins, of Montreal—Funeral Services at Kingston Yesterday.

MONTREAL, Jan. 12.—The Rev. Dr. Jenkins, of St. Paul's Church, yesterday delivered the following tribute to the memory of the late Prof. McKerras:—I cannot close these services without a passing reference to the loss which the Presbyterian Church in Canada has lately sustained in the death of the late Rev. John Hugh McKerras, M.A., one of the clerks of the General Assembly and Professor of Classics in the University of Queen's College. To some of you he was personally known; to most of you he was known by reputation. A man of rare natural endowments, he was also a man of large culture. Learned was he and eloquent; an accomplished scholar, an able and persuasive preacher, while his legal acumen and attainments in the ecclesiastical sphere have perhaps never been surpassed. All this the Presbyterian people and Church in Canada have known for the last twenty years. These were endowments that loomed before the public eye, but they were insignificant compared with his qualities as a man and his excellence as a Christian. Singularly gentle by nature, he became by Divine grace the humble, simple-hearted Christian sitting at the feet of Jesus, and, while learning from His words, drinking largely into His spirit. To those who knew him in private life his grace and gentleness, his transparent honesty and truthfulness, reverent spirit, his godly walk were felt to give a charm and brilliancy to his character which his more public qualities failed to impart. His was indeed the path of the just. His religious character grew, and Christian principles as he passed on in life deepened within his great nature. He advanced in divine knowledge. In the love and grace of Christ he more and more abode. On and on he went, walking in the light of Heaven while yet with us on earth. Such men rarely appear in the firmament of the Church. When they pass beyond to other spheres a blank is left which it takes generations to fill up. We shall never again hear his eloquent voice, never again shall we have the privilege of being guided by his wise counsels, but the Church in Heaven has received him into her membership, and the eye of faith sees him to-day near the Throne of God and of the Lamb, in the perfect unchanging day of Heavenly joy.

KINGSTON, Ont., Jan 12.—The funeral of Prof. McKerras took place this afternoon. On the arrival of the body at the station here, from Peterborough, a procession was formed, comprising all the students of Queen's University, the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons, and the Collegiate Institute, together with the alumni and graduates. The professors of the different colleges attended in a body. The cortege was long, and as it marched through the street was witnessed by a large concourse. At St. Andrew's church the service was held. Vice-Chancellor Williamson delivered the funeral oration. Previous to the arrival of the professor's body, the body of his aged mother, who died on Sunday evening, was brought into the church and deposited in the left aisle of the church, while that of the son was placed on the right. The vast audience assembled were visibly affected by the scene, and the double funeral will be long remembered. The closing prayer of Professor Mowat was beautiful and affecting. The students conducted the singing. Mrs. McKerras was aged ninety, and was a remarkable personage. From her the son derived all his vigour, shrewdness, and activity, and now that they have both passed away, much sympathy is expressed for the only sister of the late professor, Mrs. Blair, of Prescott, who survives them.

Remedy for Hard Times.

Stop spending so much on fine clothes, rich food and style. Buy good, healthy food, cheaper and better clothing; get more real and substantial things of life every way and especially stop the foolish habit of running after expensive and quack doctors or using so much of the vile humbug medicine that does you only harm, and makes the proprietors rich, but put your trust in the greatest of all simple, pure remedies, Hop Bitters, that cures always at a trifling cost, and you will see better times and good health. Try it once. Read it in another column. d146-1y

TWENTY-EIGHTH YEAR.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW FOR 1880.

AN ENTIRELY NEW FEATURE!

How to Obtain the Leading Papers and Save Money.

FAIR, SQUARE AND, RELIABLE OFFERS.

WITH the year 1880, the WEEKLY REVIEW will enter on its 28th year of publication. Notwithstanding the improvements which have been made upon it, and the ever increasing expenditure incurred to keep it AHEAD of any of its competitors, the annual subscription will remain as heretofore, only $1.50—postage paid by the publishers.

Splendid Clubbing Advantages.

The Proprietors of the REVIEW have great pleasure in announcing that they have made arrangements with the publishers of the following leading periodicals in Canada and the United States, by which they are enabled to club these periodicals with the WEEKLY REVIEW at remarkably low prices.

READ CAREFULLY.—Below are three columns of figures. The name of the paper or magazine is given, and the FIRST column gives the REGULAR PUBLISHER'S PRICE. The SECOND column gives the regular subscription price of the WEEKLY REVIEW. The THIRD column gives the price at which we are prepared to supply new subscribers with BOTH the paper or magazine and the WEEKLY REVIEW combined, for one year. It is certainly an object to save money these times, and it is easy to see by our Club List how it can be done.

RURAL NEW-YORKER.—This is the best Agricultural Weekly in America, and every subscriber who accepts this offer will also receive a package of the new varieties of Field, Garden, and Flower Seeds, free, which itself is valued at $2.50!

HARPER'S PUBLICATIONS count among their contributors an army of the ablest writers and artists of Europe and America, are profusely illustrated, and rank among the most popular of their kind on the American Continent.

THE LONDON TRACT SOCIETIES PUBLICATIONS.—The fact that Leisure Hour, Sunday at Home, and the Boy's Own Paper are issued by this Society, is an ample guarantee of their excellence in every respect.

THE CANADA PRESBYTERIAN.—Every subscriber to this paper will receive steel engraved copies of the companion pictures of the "Death of Nelson," and the "Meeting of Wellington and Blucher."

THE MAIL.—Subscribers to the Mail will also receive The Canadian Farm Annual for 1880, illustrated with 140 Engravings, and containing valuable information and practical suggestions or every Farmer.

How to get the Weekly Review for Nothing!

Any person subscribing for the WEEKLY REVIEW, and desiring to obtain two or more of the above publications along with the REVIEW, can have them at the price quoted, less $1.50. For example:—

HARPER'S MAGAZINE and WEEKLY REVIEW ... $4 50
HARPER'S WEEKLY, additional, and without the WEEKLY REVIEW ... 3 20
Total for the Three ... $7 70

Or, 30 cents less than the regular publishers price for Harper's Magazine and Harper's Weekly, with the WEEKLY REVIEW thrown in for nothing!

HOW TO SAVE MONEY!

Suppose you wish for 1880, to subscribe for the Weekly Mail, $1.00; Rural New-Yorker, $2.00; Harper's Magazine, $4.00; Methodist Magazine, $2.00; the lot will cost you direct, just $9.00, and you have four letters to write, four money orders to buy, and four separate risks to run. Now look at our price above; ALL WE ASK for the same periodicals, WITH THE WEEKLY REVIEW INCLUDED, is $7.90, and your papers and magazines will come promptly direct from the publishers, just the same as if you had ordered them yourself.

PLEASE OBSERVE.—All Postage is paid in full in Canada and United States,

A SONNET.

Frank, (on the Lawn.)
Come to the terrace, May,—the sun is low,
May, (in the House.)
Thanks! I prefer my Browning here instead.
Frank.
There are two peaches by the strawberry-bed.
May.
They will be riper if we let them grow.
Frank.
Then, the Park-aloe is in bloom, you know.
May.
Alas, Her Majesty Queen Anne is dead.
Frank.
But surely, May, your pony must be fed.
May.
And was, and is. I fed him hours ago.
'Tis useless, Frank,—you see I shall not stir!
Frank.
Still, I had something you would like to hear.
May.
No doubt some new frivolity of men.
Frank.
May, 'tis a thing the [illegible] for [illegible].
Chiefly, I think—
May, (coming to the window.)
—What is the secret then?
Frank, (mysteriously.)
There are no eyes more beautiful than yours!

SAYINGS AND WHO FIRST SAID THEM.

Many of our common sayings, so trite and pithy, are used without the least idea from whose mouth or pen they first originated. Probably the works of Shakespeare furnish us with more of these familiar maxims than any other writer, for to him we owe:—"All is not gold that glitters," "Make a virtue of necessity," "Screw your courage to the striking place" (not point), "They laugh that win," "This is the short and long of it," "Comparisons are odious," "As merry as the day is long," "A Daniel come to judgment," "Frailty, thy name is woman," and a host of others.

Washington Irving gives us "The Almighty Dollar," Thos. Morton queried long ago "What will Mrs. Grundy say?" while Goldsmith answers "Ask me no questions and I'll tell you no fibs." Charles C. Pinckney gives "Millions for defense, but not one cent for tribute." "First in the war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of the fellow-citizens" (not countrymen), appeared in the resolutions presented to the House of Representatives in December, 1790, prepared by Gen. Henry Lee.

From the same we cull, "Make assurance doubly sure," "Christmas comes but once a year," "Count their chickens ere they are hatched," and "Look before you leap."

Thomas Tusser, a writer in the sixteenth century, gives us, "It's an ill wind turns no good," "Better late than never," "Look ere you leap," and "The stone that is rolling can gather no moss." And "Cry and no wool" is found in Butler's "Hudibras."

Dryden says:—"None but the brave deserve the fair," "Men are but children of a larger growth," and "Through thick and thin." "No pent up Utica contracts our power," declared Jonathan Sewell.

"When Greeks join Greeks then was the tug of war," Nathaniel Lee, 1692.

"Of two evils I have chosen the least," and "The end must justify the means," are from Matthew Prior. We are indebted to Colley Cibber for the agreeable intelligence that "Richard is himself again." Johnson tells us of "A good hater," and Mackintosh in 1791, the phrase often attributed to John Randolph, "Wise and masterly inactivity."

"Variety's the spice of life," and "Not much the worse of wear," Cowper. "Man proposes, but God disposes," Thomas A Kempis.

Christopher Marlowe gave forth the invitation so often repeated by his brothers in a less public way, "Love me little, love me long." Edward Coke was of the opinion that "A man's house is his castle." To Milton we owe "The paradise of fools," "A wilderness of sweets," and "Moping melancholy and moonstruck madness."

Edward Young tells us "Death loves a shining mark," "A fool at forty is a fool indeed," but alas, for his knowledge of human nature when he tells us "Man wants but little, nor that little long."

From Bacon comes "Knowledge is power," and Thomas Southerne reminds us that "Pity's akin to love." Dean Swift thought that "Bread is the staff of life." Campbell found that "Coming events cast their shadows before," and "'Tis distance lends enchantment to the view." "A thing of beauty is a joy forever," is from Keats. Franklin said, "God helps them who help themselves," and Lawrence Sterne comforts us with the thought, "God tempers the wind to the shorn lamb."

Even some of the "slang" phrases of the day have a legitimate origin. "Putting your foot in it," is certainly not a very elegant mode of expression, but, according to the "Asiatic Researches," it is quite a fine point of law; when the title of land is disputed in Hindostan, two holes are dug in the ground and used to incase a limb of each lawyer (!), and the one who tired first lost his client's case. Fancy, if you can, some of our famous "limbs o' the law" pleading in such a manner! It is generally the client who "puts his foot in it."

When things are in disorder they are often said to be turned topsy turvy; this expression is derived from the way in which turf used for fuel is placed to dry, the turf being turned downward; and the expression then means top-side turfway.

Light-Colored Clothing for Winter.

We have more than once asked attention for the undoubted effect of colour on the radiating power of clothing. Remembering that the only source of animal heat—during the winter season especially—is located within the organism, and that the use of clothes is to conserve the caloric, it is important to take advantage of every circumstance which will help the result desired. Certainly light colored substances approaching to white do not part with their heat so readily as dark. The bear of the Polar regions is for this reason provided with white fur, while his brother of warmer climates has a dark coloured integument. It therefore seems to be desirable to prefer bright to sombre hues, and if this choice were made the result would be an air of additional cheerfulness in the public streets. Fashion is, of course, omnipotent and inexorable, but if not too late, we should like to urge the consideration suggested by science and common sense of those who have not yet laid in their store of winter clothing. The matter may seem of small moment, but the life we live is made up of small considerations and little affairs.—The Lancet.

Forbearance.

A deal of the misery and unhappiness that exists in the families might be averted in whole or in part, if the husband and wife would only try to understand each other and show a little more forbearance with each others faults. Incompatibility of temperament is only another name for stubbornness, and will ever exist where the parties insist on misinterpreting each others deficiencies. Where this mutual understandings exists, everything moves along smoothly. If a mistake is made it is passed over without comment, and does not become the cause of bickerings and dissensions; if a hasty word is spoken, its effects are laughed away and forgotten as soon as uttered. In this way much trouble is avoided that the contrary course will inevitably bring about. Homes should ever be the abode of peace and contentment, and there can never be a necessity for a contrary state of things, as there can be no justification therefor.

A Good Account.

"To sum it up, six long years of bed-ridden sickness and suffering, costing $200 per year, total, $1,200—all of which was stopped by three bottles of Hop Bitters taken by my wife, who has done her own housework for a years since without the loss of a day, and I want everybody to know of it for their benefit.

The Markets.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS.

Tuesday, Jan. 13.—There has been little doing in the market except on regular market days. To-day the wheat market became flat, and the lower quotations had to be accepted. The news from both sides of the Atlantic indicates a general break of from one to three cents per bushel. The impression among buyers is that wheat will continue to fall until it reaches $1.10. We do not change our quotations to-day, preferring to wait until to-morrow and learn the result of to-day's transactions abroad. There were a few peas in and they were taken at quotations. Some fine lots of oats were taken at 33c. Several loads of hay appeared to-day, and went at $6.00 @ $6.50, and some very fine timothy at $7.00. Wood was not so plentiful, but was steady at quotations.

CONTAGION.

Contagion consists physically of minute solid particles. The process of contagion consists in the passage of these from the bodies of the sick into the surrounding atmosphere, and in the inhalation of one or more of them by those in the immediate neighborhood. If contagion were a gaseous or vapoury emanation, it would be equally diffused through the sick room, and all who entered it would, if susceptible, suffer alike and inevitably. But such is not the case; for many people are exposed for weeks and months without suffering. Of two persons situated in exactly the same circumstances, and exposed in exactly the same degree to a given contagion, one may suffer and the other escape. The explanation of this is that the little particles of contagion are irregularly scattered about in the atmosphere, so that the inhalation of one or more of them is purely a matter of chance, such chance bearing a direct relation to the number of particles which exist in a given cubic space. Suppose that a hundred germs are floating about in a room containing two thousand cubic feet of air. There is one germ for every twenty cubic feet. Naturally the germs will be most numerous in the immediate neighborhood of their source, the person of the sufferer; but, excepting this one place, they may be pretty evenly distributed through the room, or they may be very unequally distributed. A draught across the bed may carry them now to one side, now to the other. The mass of them may be near the ceiling or near the floor. In a given twenty feet there may be a dozen germs, or there may be none at all. One who enters the room may inhale a germ before he has been in it ten minutes, or he may remain there for an hour without doing so. Keep the windows shut and you keep the germs in; open them, and they pass out with the changing air. Hence the importance of free ventilation; and hence one reason why fever should be treated, if possible, in large airy rooms. Not only is free ventilation good for the sufferer, but it diminishes the risk to the attendants.—Nineteenth Century.

Horse Power.

The term "horse power" originated with Jas. Watt, who had to supply engines to take the place of horses, and do their work. It was, therefore, necessary to state the power of the engine in terms of horse-power, or, in other words, that it would do the work of so many horses. To do this it was necessary to determine in some way how much a horse could do, and to fix upon some standard as a unit of power by which to measure the capabilities of a horse and, by comparison, that of an engine. The unit adopted by Watt was the raising of 33,000 ℔s. 1 ft., or 1 ℔. 33,000 ft. in 1 minute. That is, it was estimated that a horse working continually for a certain number of hours per day would raise that weight against gravity that distance each minute during the day. It is not necessary to go into details as to the manner or the means used to accomplish the work; all that need be understood is that there was this amount of work done. It might be winding coal or other material out of a pit, or pumping water out of a mine. In either case there would be a given weight of material raised a given distance in a given time.

Among the Luxuries of Life.

But a brief period has passed since when a month's time was necessary to accomplish a journey of few hundred miles and then we went lumbering over the rough country, highways on springless seats. Now the same journey is made in sumptuous drawing room cars, with all the comforts and many of the luxuries brought to us by servants. Once upon a time when we found it necessary to our health we set apart a brief period to "doctor up" and then came a struggle with that awful Castor Oil. Now we sip it from the bottle while we continue regularly at our vocations. But it is Scott & Bowne's Palatable Castor Oil we take. It is one of the luxuries of life that is afforded at 25 cents. w2d1-1m

Wallack's Orchestra.—The orchestra of Wallack's Theatre, New York, is famous for its extraordinary precision. This is due entirely to Thomas Baker, an Englishman, who has conducted it for years. Mr. Baker used to suffer terribly from rheumatism, but now is as supple and nimble as a school boy. He ascribes his freedom, as he ought, to Giles' Liniment Iodide Ammonia.

What all Men Should Know.

To Relieve a Cough.—The troublesome cough caused by an accumulation of phlegm in the throat, especially in the morning, experienced mostly by persons affected with Chronic Catarrh, can be relieved almost instantly by taking a teaspoonful of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam, which has the advantage of being harmless to the stomach, and at the same time improving the appetite. w1d150-2w

Swallowed a Baby.

When Thackeray visited our shores for the first time and was invited to partake of a dish of oysters, the the size of our saddle rocks astonished him. Accustomed to the small copper-tainted oyster of his own native isle, he paused. But only for an instant, and in one gulp it was down. "How do you feel?" asked a friend. "I feel as though I had swallowed a baby," was the reply. To the benighted foreigner our oysters are a revelation as is also Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil combined with the Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda, which for debility, all bronchial affections and consumption stands unrivalled. It is also acceptable to the most delicate stomach. w2d1-1m

A Positive Fact.—Nervousness is the sense of feebleness, or the lack of stability of the nervous system, as distinguished from the rest of the body. It is pre-eminently a disease, and more widely spread through the Northern and Eastern part of the United States and the Dominion of Canada than in any other part of the world. We will not stop to say why this is the case, but we do emphatically say the Victoria Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites will be found an invaluable medicine for all parties afflicted with Nervousness, Dyspepsia, Consumption, Defective Nutrition, General Debility, or weakness of the whole system. One of the first effects is an increase of the nervous or vital energy, followed by a feeling of unusual comfort and strength. For sale by all dealers. w1d150-2w

Hagyard's Yellow Oil is one of the surest remedies in the world for the cure of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Spinal and Bronchial Complaints, Deafness, Ear-Ache, Cramps, Sprains, Bruises, Galls, Stiff Joints, Swelled Hands, Sore Nipples, Stiff Neck, Chilblains, Tetter, Frost Bites, Chapped Hands, Wounds, Cuts, Sore Throat, Stings of Insects, Shortness of Breath, or any Diseases that are painful or sore. We have no hesitation in recommending it for any of the above complaints, and believe it the quickest and most perfect combination known to remove pain from almost any cause, and can be used either internally or externally. MANHOOD:

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

WE have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife: pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

Illness

We regret to learn that Judge Dennistoun is so unwell as to be confined to his bed.

No. 1 Company.

This Company will meet for drill on Thursday night at 7.30, sharp.

No. 3 Company, 57th Battalion.

This Company will meet at their Drill Shed, Ashburnham, to-night, at half-past seven, for drill. They will also meet for an hour's drill on Thursday evening, from eight till nine.

Mission Scenes in Ireland.

Mission scenes in Ireland will be presented to the public in the town hall at Ashburnham, to-morrow evening, at half-past seven o'clock, by Rev. John Roe, by means of dissolving views.

Mission Services.

There will be a mission service held this evening at the Bible Christian Church, Ashburnham. The services will begin at 7.30 o'clock. All interested in missions are invited to be present.

Fresh Cranberries.

Mr. George Chamberlain has been getting in a lot of fresh cranberries, which he is selling at 75 cents per pail. They are as fine as any ever brought to Peterborough. Fresh finnan haddies were also among the receipts this day.

Wristlet Entertainment.

Carswell Lodge, No. 411, I.O.G.T., have been making great preparations for a wristlet entertainment to be given in Friendship Hall, George Street, on Thursday evening, January 15th. For particulars see the programme or the members of the Lodge.

Payment of Taxes.

The Council have, as will be seen, extended the time for the return of the Collector's Roll till the 1st of February. As not even the Council has power to make any further extension, those who still owe their taxes must make up their minds to pay them before that date.

Board of Education.

The appointment by the Town Council of Messrs. Henry Best and Arthur Rutherford as Collegiate Institute Trustees in the places of Messrs. Jas. Edwards and George Edmison, the retiring Trustees, completes the Board of Education for the present year.

Hook and Ladder Company.

There will be a special meeting of the Hook and Ladder Company this evening at the Firemen's Hall. The committee on the revision of the constitution and by-laws will hand in their report for consideration, and other important business will be transacted.

I. O. G. T.

Friendship Lodge, No. 146, I.O.G.T., meet this evening, in their hall on George Street, at 7.30 o'clock. A full attendance is desired, to enable the committee to complete the programme for the coming anniversary entertainment, which is to take place on the 20th. Members of other lodges are invited to be present.

Paid Taxes not Credited.

Those who have paid their taxes for past years, but have been pilloried as not having contributed their due amount to the Town Treasury, will now have an opportunity of setting themselves right with the public if they comply with the invitation of the corporation to produce proofs of their payments.

The Fire Brigade.

An adjourned meeting of Protection Hose Company No. 1, will be held this evening at the Firemen's Hall, to hear the report of the committee on revision of the constitution and by-laws for the government of the Volunteer Brigade. Those who have not yet signed the roll are requested to be early that it may be done before the general meeting.

Sunday School Anniversary.

The anniversary of the George Street Methodist Church Sunday School will be held on Sunday evening next, January 18th. The programme consists of music, recitations and addresses. The addresses will be by Mr. D. W. Dumble, Mr. Laiane, of Port Hope, the Rev. Dr. Harper, and the Rev. Mr. Starr. The public are invited to be present.

The Irish Mission Lecture.

There was a small attendance at St. John's Church School building last evening to hear the lecture of Rev. Mr. Roe, owing to a misunderstanding as to the place where it was to be held. Many persons finding the chapel closed, returned home, without thinking of the school building behind the church. Those who were present were well pleased with the lecture, which was an illustrated one.

Little Lake Cemetery Co.

The annual meeting of the Little Lake Cemetery Company is announced for Monday, Jan. 19, when the Board for the year will be elected. There should be a full attendance, for though the affairs of the company have always been admirably administered by the Directors, it is a matter in which every one should take an interest and should manifest it by being present at the yearly meeting.

The Curling and Skating Rink.

The ice has again formed sufficiently to allow skating at the rink to-day, and many persons embraced the opportunity. It was not generally known until late in the day. This evening will no doubt witness an enlivening scene. Mr. Stewart has again attempted to secure good ice upon the outside rink, with every prospect of success. Should the atmosphere keep below the freezing point any length of time, good curling may be expected this week. The ice upon the inside curling rinks is in fine condition.

Champion Curling Match.

One of the most exciting games ever witnessed at the Peterborough Rink, took place last evening; the trophy being a set of Champion Belts presented by the Peterborough Club. The game started at 7.30 o'clock, and terminated at 10 o'clock. Some very fine playing was made, and resulted as follows:—

A. Moffatt,	A. Mercer,
R. W. Thompson,	John McClelland,
A. McNeil,	R. S. Davidson,
W. G. Ferguson, skip—13.	A. Hall, skip—15.

Majority for A. Hall's rink, 2. We understand the victors have received another challenge from the same rink for Wednesday evening next.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district, as reported from Toronto at 10 o'clock to day are: Moderate winds, partly cloudy to clear weather; no decided change in temperature. Yesterday Peterborough was favoured with a north-westerly to westerly, moderate wind; cloudy to partly cloudy weather. The temperature ranged from 20° to 27° during the day. A most lovely view was presented by the setting sun. The temperature fell again towards night, and at 10 o'clock 12° was reached. At 6 o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 14° above, with a south-westerly wind and clear to cloudy weather, followed by snow flurries. At noon the thermometer indicated 26°.

PORT HOPE.

ASSAULTING A CONSTABLE.—The Times says: "John Quin was charged before His Worship the P. M. on Monday morning, with having assaulted Mr. John Gamble while the latter was in the discharge of his duty. The offence was admitted, and the beak fined the prisoner $10 or 30 days in gaol. At the close of the case the Magistrate remarked that recently there had been a disposition on the part of some to resist the exercise of proper authortity, and he would warn all that in the future he would inflict the severest penalty of the law on such offenders. This is fair warning, and everybody would do well to heed it, inasmuch as the maximum penalty for this kind of offences is $100 fine or six months in gaol."

Kennedy at the Cape.

The last issue of Chambers' Journal publishes the following:—Kennedy, the well-known Scottish vocalist, whose professional exploits along with those of his family we some time ago commemorated in an article styled "Singing Round the World," lately and unexpectedly paid us a visit. We had lost sight of him, and did not know where he was. "Here I am once more," said Kennedy, "just arrived from the Cape." "The Cape! What you been doing at the Cape?" "Yes," he replied, "I have been singing the Scottish songs of Ramsay, Burns, and Tannahill, not only in the Cape of Colony, but in Natal, and other places in South Africa, among the Boers, Kaffirs, and Zulus; a famous excursion, the best I ever had." "Were all your family with you?" "No; only my son David, and two daughters. Two of my sons have gone to Milan, to be educated as Italian Opera singers; no fear of them doing well." "And what do you propose to do now?" "We go to the winter in Calcutta, ... there will be plenty there who would like to hear a good rousing Scottish sang to mind them of Langsyne. Good-bye; I must be off. My son, David, will send you his account of what we did at the Cape." And so, gleefully, with a shake of the head, Kennedy left us to go on his way singing. His life, we thought, must be vastly amusing. It might almost be said of him as of a well-known ...:—

> "Thou hast no sorrow in thy song,
> No winter in thy year."

The Depths of the Sea.

The deep sea dredging conducted by the American Fish Commission between Saybrook and the Bay of Fundy has brought to light more than fifty varieties of fish previously unknown, at least in American waters. Many kinds of these newly discovered fish are quite palatable. The investigation, in charge of Professor Verril, of Yale, has carefully studied the habits and histories of the different fish and animals found, and has sought to learn the localities where each species most abounds, their food, time and circumstances of breeding, and particulars concerning their migration. Fishes have been opened, and the contents of their stomachs examined to see what they eat. This is a very important part of the investigation, and the most that is known in this direction has been learned through the researches of the Commission. This point known, the reason of the presence or absence of a particular fish in any locality could be readily determined. In places where herring have been found in large quantities one season none could be discovered the next. The absence of the disappearance of their favorite food. Their diet is shrimps. The latter exist on almost invisible crustacea, and these again on microscopic creations. The presence of the microscopic life would bring the crustacea, to be followed by the shrimps, the herrings and the whales and sharks, in the order named. Thus is seen the important part the most minute things may play in the economy of nature. A knowledge of these facts will teach the fisherman not to destroy the food supply of his prospective prey.

TOWN COUNCIL MEETING

A MEMORIAL IN FAVOUR OF THE ONTARIO AND PACIFIC JUNCTION R. R.

The Treasurer and the Special Audits—The Dickson Dam Bridge and the Committee—Collegiate Institute Trustees—The Tax Receipts.

The Council met pursuant to adjournment on Monday, Jan. 12th. Present,—the Mayor, and Councillors Cahill, Taylor, Smith, Bailer, Paterson, McBain, Yelland, Douglas, Rutherford, Robertson, Denne and Griffith.

The minutes of last meeting were read and adopted.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From Mr. Jas. Edwards, Town Treasurer, as follows:—

To the Mayor and Town Council of the Town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN,—I beg to state that I have, in accordance with the resolution of the Council, undertaken an examination of the report of the Special Auditors as to errors that are said to have been made by me when I was Town Clerk in years past, in making out the Collector's rolls, but have not yet completed the same.

I may say, however, that I have already ascertained that in some 28 of the cases reported on by the Auditors, they themselves appear to have committed errors, which more careful examination on their part of the assessment and Collector's rolls might have prevented. They have, in fact, reported a large number of cases as errors in which the entries in the books are strictly correct, and the money paid to the collector, and in at least two cases they have reported the same twice, as if to swell the sum total against me. In several other cases I find that persons whose names are omitted from the Collector's rolls, whose assessments have not been carried out, have, nevertheless, paid their taxes in full for the years named.

In view of the importance of the matter and of the fact that an inaccurate or incomplete report on any part would only further complicate matters, I must delay making a formal report until I have had time to fully investigate the matter. Respectfully yours,

J. EDWARDS.

From the Chief Constable, giving details of the Police Court charges.

From S. H. Henderson, late Captain of the Hose Company, enclosing pay list for firemen for November and December, amounting to $75. To be paid when certified by the Clerk.

From the Rev. M. Lynch and others, asking for aid for Louis Levois to take him to Ottawa.—Referred to Charity Committee to act.

From G. Davis, asking for remission of taxes.

From W. Helm, as to the payment for water supplied for the market square.—Referred to the Finance Committee.

From Mrs. Hayes and Mrs. Meyette, asking for remission of taxes.

From J. O. Madison, complaining of incorrect assessment.

From H. Hartley, asking for work to settle his taxes.

All the tax petitions were referred to the Finance Committee.

FINANCE REPORT.

Councillor CAHILL brought in the report of the Finance Committee as follows:—

We beg to recommend that the Town Treasurer be authorised to pay accounts due by the corporation out of any funds that he may have on hand.

We also recommend that the Treasurer be instructed to pay to Mr. Geo. Webber the sum of $9.90 for sheep killed by dogs, so soon as Mr. Webber shall have made a statutory declaration to the amount of his loss, and also that the said sheep were not killed by his own dogs.

Councillor MCBAIN asked why a full report by the Treasurer on the special auditors' report had not been submitted to the Finance Committee.

The MAYOR explained that as the report would be incomplete, the Finance Committee had thought it advisable to wait till the next meeting when Mr. Edwards promised to bring in a report in full.

The report was adopted.

DICKSON'S DAM BRIDGE.

The Clerk read the report of the special committee on the Dickson's dam bridge as follows:

Your committee recommend ... $100 as a bonus ... provided ... secures a lease from the Dickson estate, satisfactory to this corporation for a term of 7 years, and that the money be given with the express understanding that the corporation be free from maintaining the said bridge in future.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. H. ROBERTSON,
Chairman.

Councillor ROBERTSON said he could not move the adoption of the report. It was understood that Ashburnham was to give $100 and he would be willing that the town should give $150.

Councillor PATERSON moved that the report be not received as the committee would not support it.

Councillor DOUGLAS seconded the motion, which was carried.

ONTARIO AND PACIFIC JUNCTION RAILWAY.

A memorial to the Dominion Government, asking a subsidy for the proposed Ontario and Pacific Junction Railway was read a first time.

Councillor SMITH explained that the road was intended to connect the railways of the Province of Ontario with the Canada Pacific Railway. The Midland Railway, which would, among other roads, obtain this connection, was greatly interested. He believed the proposed road would benefit the Province.

Councillor CAHILL said he would like time to obtain information.

Further progress in the matter was postponed.

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE TRUSTEES.

A by-law to appoint two Collegiate Institute Trustees in the place of Messrs. Edwards and Edmison was put through all its stages.

Mr. Henry Best was appointed to the first vacancy.

Messrs. Rutherford and Edmison were each nominated for the other vacancy.

Councillor RUTHERFORD made a speech, in the course of which he urged that his being beaten as a public school trustee, when he did not wish to oppose Mr. Dumble and did not work against him, was no proof that he was rejected by the ratepayers.

Councillor MCBAIN said it was too thin, a man running twice in one week. Mr. Rutherford had been rejected by the ratepayers.

The MAYOR said he had intended to vote for Mr. Rutherford, but could not do so after the adverse vote of the people.

Councillor PATERSON said he had the same feeling, but when he found that Mr. Rutherford had not been a willing candidate and had not worked, he had changed his view.

The vote was in favour of Mr. Rutherford.

THE FIRE BRIGADE.

A by-law to carry out the new organization of the Fire Brigade was put through all its stages after some discussion.

TOWN AND COUNTY.

A by-law to confirm the award of the arbitrators of the Town and County as to the administration of justice expenses was put through all its stages.

BUILDING BY-LAW.

A by-law to amend the building by-law, by allowing wood-yards within the fire limits, after leave of the Council is obtained, was put through all its stages.

OTTAWA AND PACIFIC JUNCTION RAILWAY.

Mr. GEO. A. COX, on motion, addressed the Council in reference to the proposed Ontario and Pacific Junction Railway. He exhibited a map showing the existing railway, which would be connected by way of Orillia and Gravenhurst with the Canada Central and so with the United States lines at Sault St. Marie, and with the Canada Pacific at Lake Nipissing. The Province had granted $6,000 a mile, and they would ask the Dominion for another $6,000. As the cost was estimated at $22,000, they would be able to float bonds for the remainder. The distance was 107 miles. The Dominion had granted $12,000 to the Canada Central to make the connection with the Quebec lines. He dwelt upon the advantages to the whole Province and to Peterborough through the connection by the Midland Railway. They wished the memorial passed to urge the matter upon the Dominion Government.

It was agreed that the matter should be left over till the meeting on Saturday.

TORONTO AND OTTAWA RAILWAY.

Councillor ROBERTSON moved, seconded by Councillor DENNE,—That the Clerk be empowered to write to Mr. Scott, M. P. P., for a copy of the act which he is going to apply to the Provincial Legislature to pass in relation to the Toronto and Ottawa Railway, or any other Act which may or will effect the interests of the town of Peterborough during the present session.—Carried.

TAXES PAID.

Councillor CAHILL moved, seconded by Councillor TAYLOR,—That the Clerk be instructed to insert an advertisement in the DAILY EVENING REVIEW, to request parties who hold receipts for or other evidence of payment of their taxes, but who appear by the special audit as not having paid the same, to hand in to the Clerk before Friday next, at noon, their receipts or other evidence for the information of the Council, the said receipts to be carefully preserved by the Clerk and given back to the owners thereof after the Council get through with them.

Councillor MCBAIN suggested that other evidence should be admitted.

Councillor DENNE thought additional means of publicity should be provided, for fear some people should not see the EVENING REVIEW.

The motion was carried with the additions suggested.

THE OTTAWA BY-LAW.

Councillor ROBERTSON moved, seconded by Councillor DENNE,—That the Clerk be requested to obtain from the City Clerk of Ottawa a copy of the Ottawa By-law granting aid to the Toronto and Ottawa Railway.—Carried.

THE COLLECTOR'S ROLL.

Councillor CAHILL moved, seconded by Councillor TAYLOR,—That the time for returning the Collector's roll be further extended to the 1st of February, 1880.—Carried.

WOOD FOR CHARITY.

Councillor YELLAND asked for wood for charity and was instructed to procure it.

The Council then adjourned till Saturday evening.

A Singular Story of Rats.

This is probably the latest rat story:—A young rat had fallen into a pail of pig-feed. Six older ones held a consultation so earnest in its character as to lead them to ignore the presence of human onlookers. They decided on an ingenious scheme of rescue, and successfully carried it out. Entwining their legs together, they formed a chain hanging downwards over the edge of the pail. The foremost or downmost rat grasped the drowning young one in its fore paws, and both rescued and rescuer were then drawn up and out. When found to be dead, the rescuers gazed at their young comrade in "mute despair * * * * wiped the tears from their eyes with their fore paws, and departed without making any attempts to resuscitate it."

"German Syrup."

No other medicine in the world was ever given such a test of its curative qualities as Boschee's German Syrup. In three years two million four hundred thousand small bottles of this medicine were distributed free of charge by Druggists in this country to those afflicted with Consumption, Asthma, Croup, severe Coughs, Pneumonia and other diseases of the Throat and Lungs, giving the American people undeniable proof that German Syrup will cure them. The result has been that Druggists in every town and village in the United States are recommending it to their customers. Go to your Druggist, and ask what they know about it. Sample bottles 10 cents. Regular size 75 cents. Three doses will relieve any case. dw51-1y

GAMBETTA RE-ELECTED.

PARIS, Jan. 13.—M. Gambetta has been re-elected President of the Chamber of Deputies by 259 out of 308 votes recorded. There were 40 blank voting papers. A Paris correspondent points out that M. Gambetta received a majority of the votes cast, but not of the votes of the members constituting the Chamber, and says it is evident the whole of the Right, a large portion of the members of the Left Centre and the Extreme Left abstained from voting. The correspondent adds that a certain result of this vote will be the immediate loss of M. Gambetta's influence and prestige.

THE HANOVERIAN QUESTION.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—A Berlin correspondent hears that the King of Denmark has informed the Emperor William that the Duke of Cumberland will not accept the latest Prussian proposals concerning the Hanoverian question.

A JOINT GUARANTEE IN SAMOA.

BERLIN, Jan. 13.—The North German Gazette announces that adequate security against anarchy in Samoa has been guaranteed by Germany, England and the United States, jointly recognizing and supporting King Malietoa.

THE CATHOLIC CHURCH IN POLAND

Letters received at Cracow from Rome speak of an interesting festival which has taken place in that city in commemoration of the death of the Polish poet Mickiewicz. Many eminent Italian patriots took part in this festival, and expressed warm sympathy for the Polish nation, thus showing the hopelessness of the attempts of Russia to gain over the Italian party of action for the ends of her policy. Her efforts at Rome in another direction have equally failed. She has for many years endeavored to persuade the Roman Curia to assist in introducing the Russian language in the Roman Catholic churches of the Polish Provinces of Russia, and a renewed attempt with this view was recently made by secret negotiators. One of these, a Czechish priest named Dudik, was very active in the matter, and offered to supply any number of clergymen from Bohemia and Croatia to assist in Russifying the Polish Church. The Curia, however, positively declined to entertain the proposal.

THE FLOODS IN HUNGARY.

PESTH, Jan. 13.—The water is rapidly sinking in the inundated districts of Hungary, and the town of Arad is now regarded as safe. Mirelaka, however, is still under water, and in the church, which is at the highest point of the town, the water has risen above the altar.

ITALIAN EMISSARIES.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—It is asserted that Italian emissaries are secretly encouraging the Albanians to resist the cession of the disputed territory to Montenegro.

THE GYMNASTIC SOCIETIES.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—A Phillippopolis despatch says that although Aleko Pasha has nominally dissolved the gymnastic societies, they still exist in that town under the eyes of the Government. These societies possess great power and extend not only over Eastern Roumelia but also over the Bulgarian principality and the greater part of Macedonia. The highest officials of State are members of these societies, and the central directorate possesses a capital of upwards of 4,000,000 francs.

DISTRESS IN IRELAND.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—Archbishop MacVilly, coadjutor of Archbishop MacHale, the prelate who is moreover an ecclesiastic of moderate opinions and antagonistic to Mr. Parnell and his movement, writes to the Dublin Diocesan Relief Committee in the following terms:—"In Galway, during the course of the present month, a thousand will be in actual want. This terrible misfortune is not the fault of the people. Eleemosynary aid is useless. Public works are useless. The acts of the Government are handing the people over to certain death."

LORD DERBY AND THE LIBERALS.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—A correspondent of a Manchester paper says:—"Mr. Gladstone has gone to Cologne in consequence of the serious illness of his sister, who, it is understood, is a Catholic. There is reason to believe that upon the opening of Parliament the attitude of Lord Derby in relation to the Liberal party will assume a character of cordial association, especially in regard to the great question which the coming election is to decide, the question of confidence in the foreign policy of the Government. Lord Derby has left no doubt in the minds of the responsible leaders of the Liberal party of his friendly accord and sympathy with their opposition to the policy of the Government."

AMERICAN.

ADVERTISING IMPORTERS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Various firms who advertise to forward upon receipt of fifty and sixty cents, a bound volume of Webster's unabridged dictionary are pronounced by the agents of the Washington Post Office Department to be impostors.

OPPOSITION TO GENERAL GRANT.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—An Albany special says the Anti-third Term Club met in Martin Hall last night, and listened to an earnest speech from ex-Senator Hale, the president, in opposition to nominating General Grant for President. Mr. Hale reviewed the administrations of the various Presidents and political history of the country, arguing that the nomination of General Grant would be a dangerous departure from the established customs of the people.

THE PRICE OF CHEESE.

HOME RULE FOR IRELAND.

ROME, Jan. 14.—The Vatican organ in a long leading article advocates home rule for Ireland.

DANGER OF A CONFLICT.

LONDON, Jan. 14.—A Dublin correspondent says the presence in London of the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland and the Chief Secretary for Ireland, will afford the Government seasonable opportunity for consulting on the present condition of the country. It is hoped that the result will be the adoption of such measures as will effectually preserve peace, which is now very seriously threatened. The danger is at present limited to the west, where there is constant apprehension of a sanguinary conflict.

GAMBETTA'S ELECTION.

LONDON, Jan. 14.—A Paris correspondent says that Gambetta yesterday, though re-elected, received only 259 votes, or slightly less than half the House. One year ago he received 314 votes.

AMERICAN.

KEEPING THEM COOL.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—The Sun's Augusta despatch says that Eugene Hale is very sick from pneumonia. Two other Republican members got bad colds at the State House on Monday night, where Hale contracted his, owing to the fire going out in the boiler.

A PUBLISHER ABSCONDS.

John C. Freund, editor and proprietor of the Musical and Dramatic Times and Music Trade Review disappeared on Saturday. It is believed that he is gone to Canada, leaving about $60,000 of indebtedness.

FATAL FAMILY QUARREL.

Elijah Nash was stabbed with a pair of scissors by his brother-in-law, Stephen Meeker, during a family quarrel at Brooklyn yesterday. The wound will probably prove fatal.

HEAVY DAMAGES.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—A verdict for $15,000 was rendered yesterday against the Third Avenue Horse railway in favour of Wm. H. Schultz, whose son was badly injured by being thrown from a car by a conductor.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTIONS.

A Washington despatch to the Herald says that both parties in the House manifest a decided interest in the bill to ascertain and declare the result of presidential elections. There is a fair prospect that this question will be settled by the present congress.

ANTI-GRANT MOVEMENT.

The Times says an Anti-Grant movement is being organised in Washington. Three New York congressmen are promptly indentified with it.

A FRAUDULENT OFFICIAL.

A committee of Bergen County freeholders yesterday reported that $50,000 of over issued county bonds have been hypothecated by Bogert, the defaulting Treasurer of the Produce Exchange and former County Collector. They are genuine and the county is liable.

A SENSIBLE BENEFACTION.

Mrs. J. J. Astor sent out recently 100 homeless children to homes in the west and south at an expense of $1,500.

THE BIG LOTTERY PRIZE.

The Louisiana lottery tickets recently seized by the police were opened yesterday. They do include the hundred thousand dollar prize number.

A TREMENDOUS BLAZE.

A coal train on the Erie road ran into an oil train during a blinding snow storm at Southfield yesterday. Eighteen thousand gallons of oil were burned, setting the woods on fire.

TURNING STATE EVIDENCE.

James Williams, one of the gang of three men who were arrested for passing forged checks on the Phoenix National Bank, created a sensation in court yesterday by turning state evidence.

A FORGER'S ESTATE.

The creditors of J. Lloyd Haigh, the forger, met yesterday, representing claims aggregating $600,000. Haigh proposed to have his business carried on by trustees, and thus to pay all his indebtedness.

A DISASTROUS FLOOD.

ST. THOMAS, Jan. 14.—News has just arrived of terrible floods on Sunday on the Island of St. Kitts. Two hundred lives were lost and property to the extent of $250,000 was destroyed. The whole island was wasted. The streams on the mountain side rapidly became torrents, conveying in the gulch at the foot of Mount Misery, whence they poured down the arable land in resistless streams. There was a general stampede toward the coast. The torrent rolled on into the town of Basseterre among newly built houses and public edifices. The waters rushed headlong to the sea with drowned cattle and struggling human beings. The whole population of the island does not exceed 25,000. The people huddled together on the roofs, wild with terror. The authorities went immediately to work to relieve the distress. Large quantities of provisions and all the sugar ready for shipment have been swept away. Earnest appeals are made for help.

HELPING RELATIVES IN DISTRESS.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Jan. 14.—A. Perry Peck, a Northampton justice for 15 years, who held many offices of trust and was generally respected, has left town because of $7,000 shortage in trust funds held for his brother-in-law. The money is said to have gone to help relatives in distress. Efforts are being made to induce Peck to return. It is feared that he is insane.

A TERRIBLE GALE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14.—Telegraphic communication with Portland, which was interrupted for a week, is now restored. Despatches state that on the 9th January Middle Portland was visited by the most severe storm known since the settlement of the country. Little rain accompanied the gale. The damage to property in the city is $75,000. While the gale was at its height, Bremen Hall, a large two storey wooden building was prostrated. Four men were caught under the ruins and Harry P. Heinrich was instantly killed. In East Portland the new Roman Catholic Church is a complete wreck. A number of buildings were blown down. Reports from the interior indicate that the storm raged with great violence. It is impossible to estimate the value of the property destroyed. The obstruction of the roads in many localities will for a time stagnate business. The trains will be delayed several days. The lines between here and Dallas are buried under fallen timber so deep that new lines will have to be constructed. At Umatilla the gale attained for a short time a velocity of 80 miles an hour. A number of houses were blown down, but so far as known there is little loss of life. Great numbers of cattle are reported killed from falling barns and trees. Two men named Mason and Kandle were frozen to death on Saturday near Young station on the Northern Pacific Railway. At Tacentre, Washington Territory, a tree was blown against the school house, demolishing it. There were 20 children in the building, and the son and daughter of J. W. Bartlett were instantly killed, and another daughter was seriously injured. Several houses at Garrison were prostrated, but no lives were lost. Much damage was done at Salem. A portion of the roof of the State House was torn off.

MURDERED FOR HIS MONEY.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 14.—The body of Jacob Swanger, aged 60, was found horribly mutilated in a cabin in Washington county on Friday morning. He was evidently murdered with an axe for his money.

RAILWAY COMMISSIONERS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—The Herald's Albany despatch says that Hepburn will submit his report to the Railway Investigating Committee this week for discussion, probably without attaching any bill. The committee will probably advise the establishment of a Board of Railway Commissioners with carefully limited powers, and the adoption of a few independent bills designed to prevent stock watering and freight discriminations without undertaking to redress any past abuses. The report is more likely to cause public surprise by the moderation of its advice than fly the reverse.

INDIAN LOGIC.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—A Washington special report to the Tribune says that when Schurz laid down to Ouray as a condition of peace, the necessity of delivering up the murderers of Meeker, Ouray replied:—"That is a very funny thing to ask of me. How can I give them up? Why do you hold my tribe responsible for what those men did? We are Uncompaghres, they are White River Utes, and are not under my immediate control. If the murder were committed here in Washington, would your authorities make the whole population suffer for it."

EXPORT OF CATTLE.—One hundred and ninety-two head of cattle have arrived from Annapolis, Kings, and Lunenburg counties, en route for England. This is the first shipment made from those counties, which are among the best cattle-raising counties in the Province, and is an inauguration of what will prove to be an extensive trade.

OTTAWA.

SMALL-POX.—In the township of Eardly one family numbering ten are all down with the small-pox.

RE-OPENING.—Gilmour's mills at the Gatineau will re-open next spring. Already some large contracts for logs have been made.

THE DEPARTMENT OF MILITIA officials say there is no truth in the rumour that a regiment will shortly sail for Canada.

PRINCESS LOUISE is expected to arrive at the Capital on the 1st of February. The Governor-General will leave on the 26th or 27th for Halifax to meet her.

THE GOVERNMENT have received official intimation from the War Department that successful students at the Kingston Military College will receive commissions in the British Army. The number, however, is limited to four each year.

POACHING.—Sergeant Connors, of the Dominion Police, and Constable Webster, of the Fishery Office, seized at Hull on Saturday a large quantity of speckled trout, brought from the lakes near Three Rivers. They were of various sizes, and the females quite full of ripe spawn, which shows they must have been caught some time before the close season expired.

SMALL POX.—The medical gentlemen of the city and the corporation authorities have arranged upon a vigorous crusade against small-pox. No case will be allowed to escape the attention of the health officer. Patients will be removed to the hospitals, and no feeling of delicacy will be allowed to interfere with the enforcement of the most stringent sanitary regulations. In this way the disease will be rapidly suppressed.

JUDICIOUS RELIEF.—A few days ago a man went into several places on Sussex street, begging, and stating that he had a wife and five children at home on the verge of starvation. He did not succeed in collecting anything, but a wag pointed out to him the Governor-General going into the building about to be occupied as the Geological Museum, which he was about to inspect. He bolted post haste after His Excellency, and addressing him, told him his circumstances. He was relieved with a dollar for present necessities, and told to be at Rideau Hall that night at seven o'clock. The man received the invitation somewhat incredulously, but, however, he went, and was gladdened by receiving an order for himself and two sons to go on to some public work. This is the right way of dispensing charity, and a bold way of getting it.

THE PETERBOROUGH REAL ESTATE INVESTMENT COMPANY.

The establishment of the head offices of such institutions as that of the Peterborough Real Estate Investment Company confers incidental advantages on the town or city in which they are located, of sufficient importance to render their success or failure a matter of public interest. As most of our readers are aware, the Peterborough Real Estate Investment Company, with that prudence which augurs well for its future prosperity, commenced operations without investing any of its capital in what is too often considered the first necessity of "companies," a luxurious set of offices, and hitherto the business of the Company has been conducted by the managers—Messrs. Poussette & Roger—in their own office, without cost to the Company. More room, however, having become an absolute necessity for its rapidly increasing business, the building formerly occupied by the Ontario Bank, and adjoining the office of Messrs. Poussette & Roger, has been leased and fitted up for the exclusive use of the Company. For the convenience of the managers, who, at one and the same time conduct the affairs of the Company and an extensive law business, a door has been opened between their offices, so that as their attention is required in either departments, they may be at hand without inconvenience or loss of time to any one. Since the Bank occupied the premises, they have been thoroughly renovated, and particular care seems to have been taken to render the vault, in which the treasures of the Company are kept, secure in case of fire. For those who require to borrow money, it cannot but prove a great advantage to be able to deal direct with the managers of the Company, rather than through agents, as is of necessity the case where the head offices are located at a distance, while the Company, with a Board of Directors and Managers, in the very centre of its business, and in a large measure personally acquainted with the properties upon which the loans are made, affords a guarantee to those who invest their money in either the Companies stock or bonds, which no city directorate, unacquainted even with the localities and still less with the properties on which loans are made, can afford. In the centre of a fine agricultural district, Peterborough is well situated to become a prosperous financial as well as business centre. But to reap the full advantage of its position it is necessary that it should become both, and as the first step in the financial direction it is most pleasing to note the already secured position of this Company, and its rapidly increasing business.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

The Montreal Gazette gives the following report of Alderman Nelson's speech to the City Council concerning the Trent Valley Canal:—

"Ald. Nelson gave an account of the mission of himself and the Mayor to Ottawa in connection with the deputation on the Trent Valley Canal scheme. They met the Government on Tuesday with the deputation. They explained to the Government that not having been authorized to bind the Council to any line of action, they could only speak their own views on the subject, and their only instructions were to gather all the information they could, and transmit it to their confreres in the Council. They had gathered some information. One special fact was that Mr. Starke, the Government Engineer, endorsed the reports that had previously been made in reference to the proposed canal, as far as the cost was concerned, that it would not exceed $5,000,000. It was proposed to make the locks in this canal sufficiently wide to pass a vessel 33 feet wide, which would carry 15,000 to 20,000 bushels of grain. The grain would be transhipped from the vessel at Georgian Bay into the barge at the mouth of the canal. The lock in the Erie Canal only admitted barges 19 feet and under, but the depth of water was six feet while that in the Trent was but five feet. The extra width of the locks, however, made up for the deficiency in depth. The Trent Valley Canal would be landlocked all the way from the Bay of Quinte to Kingston, and would shorten the distance by about 400 miles on the present route via Welland Canal. The Mayor and he also took occasion to allude to the Ottawa Canal, but ascertained it would cost five times more than the Trent Valley Canal, which put it out of the question for the present. The Trent Valley Canal would answer our purposes for ten years, and after that time the commerce of the Northwest would require the other canal as well.

The Mayor said there was no doubt that these proposed new ways of communication would be favorable to Montreal, and this city would be wrong to refuse them its moral support. At present, there was nothing definite decided by the Government in the matter."

THE MIDLAND RAILWAY.

An Important Meeting of Creditors Pronounces in Favour of Accepting the Company's Offer.

LINDSAY, Jan. 13.—A well-attended meeting of the local creditors of the Midland Railway was held here to-day, at the invitation of Mr. Geo. A. Cox, to hear his explanations regarding the position of the road, and the nature of the legislation sought for in the bill soon to be brought before the Local House. Mr. T. McPhee, Reeve of Rama, occupied the chair, and there were over sixty creditors present from various places along the line. Mr. Cox gave the explanations clearly, and at considerable length, and answered a number of questions asked by the creditors. Mr. P. S. Martin, barrister, of Lindsay, representing several creditors, said he had given the matter very close attention, and after reviewing it at some length advised the creditors to assist the road in every way in their power to obtain the required legislation. Mr. Cameron, of Mariposa, expressed the same opinion. The following resolution was passed, with only one dissenting voice:—

That this meeting having heard the explanations of Mr. Cox with reference to the present condition of the road and their proposed application to the Legislature, consider the explanation satisfactory, and recommend those present, and the creditors generally, to sign the petition to the Legislature, and use their influence to get the bill passed.

Mr. Wm. Maguire, of Franklin, supported the motion in a very effective speech.

PORT HOPE.

A YOUNG OFFICIAL.—The Guide says Mr. H. V. Sanders is just entering on his 24th year of his incumbency of the office of Town Clerk. He is one of the few serene souls that never lose their juvenility. He is as young as he was a quarter of a century ago.

OUR FIRE DEPARTMENT.

REORGANIZATION OF THE FIRE BRIGADE UNDER THE VOLUNTEER SYSTEM.

"Electric" Hose and "Protection Hooks"—A Rousing Meeting of the Hose Boys, at which the Officers of the New Company are Elected—Meeting of the Hook and Ladder Company.

The Volunteer Fire Brigade, after the meeting of last night, is an assured success. The by-law only gives power to raise forty men for the Hose Company, and of this number thirty-five have at the present time signed the roll. The meeting of the Hose Company last night was one of the most enthusiastic and unanimous ever held in this town, and speaks volumes for the class of young men who have identified themselves with the volunteer movement.

HOSE COMPANY MEETING.

The Hose Company held their meeting in the large room at the Firemen's Hall, and was largely attended. The name of "Electric" Hose Company No. 1 was selected for the new Company, and the following were elected:—

Captain	S. H. Henderson
Lieutenant	W. W. Smith
Secretary	A. N. Shaw
Treasurer	Geo. McBain
1st Branchman	J. Hodge
2nd "	W. Hetherington
3rd "	Samuel Clegg
4th "	Robt. Connolly

Finance Committee.—D. Menzies, J. Armstrong and T. McBain. Janitor.—W. Scollie.

The constitution and by-laws, as amended by the committee appointed at the last meeting, were received and adopted. After some business of a private character had been transacted, the meeting adjourned.

HOOK AND LADDER COMPANY MEETING.

"Protection" Hook and Ladder Company met the same evening in the smaller room of the Firemen's Hall. The constitution and by-laws to govern this company were adopted as amended. A considerable amount of business of a general character was transacted. The strength of the company is to be thirty men, and more than 25 have already signed the roll.

MR. RUTHERFORD AS TRUSTEE.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—I have observed in the EVENING REVIEW of to-night a letter in reference to the appointment of Mr. Rutherford by the Council as a School Trustee. It is to be regretted that one who for fifteen years has been sent by the people to the Council Chamber should be alluded to in the coarse language of "Observer's" letter. I feel it due to Mr. Rutherford to state that on the occasion of the last election for School Trustees he made no active canvass; had he sought votes with the zeal that was shown in some other wards, I have no doubt but he could have secured the election, as I made no effort to secure the position the people have been pleased to give me.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
D. W. DUMBLE.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—I have seen in your paper of yesterday a letter signed "Observer," who thrusts his opinions of myself forward in a way more suggestive of the venting of private spleen than anxiety for the public good.

It is a matter of surprise to myself that after having been placed by the ratepayers of the town for the last 15 years in positions of public trust and usefulness, that they are to learn at this late hour from a would-be Solomon that I am so ignorant as to be utterly unfit for the office of School Trustee. Strange that this view has not occurred before to those who have for years supported me. With reference to my being defeated last week in No. 3 Ward, I might say that I was placed as a candidate for School Trustee—as far as opposing D. W. Dumble goes—wholly against my wishes. Mr. Dumble has always been a most efficient member of the Board, and while I might not endorse his actions in every respect, is an able man.

I had received the assurance of support from many ratepayers, who wished to place me on the Trustee Board to fill the place left vacant by the withdrawal of C. D. Macdonald, Esq., and on this understanding I consented to stand for the position. The statement that I received only 20 votes out of a supposed 500, is as wilfully false as the motive for stating it is thoroughly contemptible. The roll shows about 280 Protestant ratepayers entitled to vote in the 3rd Ward, and out of these only 129 votes were cast. When an individual travels so wide of truth to trump up a bogus assertion, it is time to drive it out; "Could indecency go farther or audacity suggest worse?" The members of the Council who gave their approval to my appointment as Trustee have frequently received favorable notice in your paper as men of sense and discretion, and their having been so often returned by the ratepayers to direct municipal affairs supports that view. In their opinion I am competent for the position, and their endorsement of my qualifications carries more weight than the abusive assertion of any party too cowardly to say over his own name what he has said behind the signature of "Observer."

I am yours respectfully,
ARTHUR RUTHERFORD, J.P.

GRAND JUNCTION RAILWAY.

The Time for Completion Extended—No Payment till Peterborough is Reached.

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 13.—The City Council last night passed the by-law extending the time for the completion of the Grand Junction railway to Peterborough until Jan. 1st, 1881, on condition that the whole bonus be paid when the road has been finished to Peterborough instead of paying one-half of it on completion to Hastings, but interest to be paid on the $25,000 due on completion to Hastings, from the date of the certificate of Mr. W. Shanly that the line was completed to Hastings and equipped as required by the terms of the by-law, under which the work was undertaken. Messrs. Bickford and H. Cameron, and Mr. Bell, G.T.R. Solicitor, were present, and they stated that the Grand Trunk are ready to execute an agreement for the permanent operation of the road as soon as it is completed to Peterborough.

REVIEWS.

VICK'S FLORAL GUIDE.—This work is before us, and those who send five cents to James Vick, Rochester, N.Y., for it will be disappointed. Instead of getting a cheap thing, as the price would seem to indicate, they will receive a very handsome work of 100 pages, and perhaps 500 illustrations—not cheap, but elegant illustrations, on the very best of calendered paper, and as a set off to the whole, an elegant colored plate that we would judge cost twice the price of the book.

THE GRAND SECRETS OF SUCCESS.

It is an established principle, that advertising in some form is essential to the successful prosecution of mercantile business, the master's art being shown in the mode of advertising. Fortunes have been made, rapidly, by the extensive sale of specific articles, through the agency of advertising. To succeed in any undertaking, one must make himself known to the public, whose patronage he seeks, and upon whose favor he depends. Advertising acts with two-fold power; it creates a want for the article advertised, while notifying the source of supply. It invests goods with virtues, even if they have them not; and the advertiser with something of the halo that surrounds an author or a hero.

Next to godliness there is nothing that a merchant should so ardently pray for as the courage to advertise. Put on the appearance of business, and, generally, the reality will follow. "The farmer plants his seed, and while he is sleeping, his corn and potatoes are growing." So with advertising; while you are sleeping, or eating, or conversing with one set of customers, your advertisement is being read by hundreds and thousands of persons, who never saw you, or heard of your business, and never would, had it not have been for your advertisement.

Don't advertise unless you have something worth buying.

A Frenchman says the reader of a paper does not see the first insertion, the second he sees but does not read, the third insertion he reads, the fourth insertion he looks at the price, the fifth insertion he speaks to his wife, the sixth insertion he is ready to purchase, and the seventh insertion he purchases. Now if this be tolerably correct, it is evident that by stopping at the fifth or sixth, you would lose a customer.

Let your beginning be on a small but progressive scale, taking but one careful upward step at a time, and the higher you ascend the more careful you should be, keeping in view the advice that "Little barques should keep near shore, while larger ones may venture far."

But it needs nerve and faith; the former to enable you to launch out thousands on the uncertain waters of the future, the latter to teach you that, after many days it shall surely return, bring a hundred or thousand-fold to him who appreciates the advantages of printers' ink properly applied.—The Grand Secrets of Success.

THE WHITE LADY OF THE SNOW.

From the Whitehall Review.

In a lonely plain skirting the river Suir, about two miles from the town of Clonmel, stands the ruins of Rathmore Castle. Of the four round towers and four walls which had formed the castle only half one tower and [illegible] banks remain to indicate the spot where the once powerful [illegible] reigned [illegible]. There are no more careful [illegible] of tradition than the Irish; and yet you may ask in vain for the most shadowy outlines of that castle's history. When and by whom it was built, and how it came into decay, have no resting place in the memory of man. The army of Cromwell passed close to its walls, but if you ask the people, Are its misfortunes to be laid at his door? they will shake their heads and tell you that Rathmore was in [illegible] ruin long before the curse of Cromwell fell upon Ireland. Further, they will add that the place is under a ban, the night airs around it are not wholesome, and those who, passing it in the snow, see the White Lady, may take the vision as a summons of death, for the White Lady was the victim of a terrible crime, and is never seen by honest folk. She is revealed only to those whose career of vice or crime in this world is about to conclude, and who, out of the unfathomable ocean of Mercy, are vouchsafed this warning to prepare for the life to come. In the dim haze of the past and in the horror of the people the names of all the actors in that drama have been lost. The history of that castle and the chronicles of the noble line which held it are present in only one story, the story of a crime.

The last owner of Rathmore was a young, strong, and brave man, who married the only daughter of another great man of the county Waterford. This lady had two brothers, whose conduct to both father and sister had been so bad that the father resolved they should not have his land, and that it should go to his son-in-law and the children of his daughter. The disinherited sons, who were inseparable, received their father's decision with apparent indifference. They made neither outcry nor threat, and continued to live in their father's castle, although denied the confidence or affection of the old man. In due time an heir was born to Rathmore and Rathbeg.

[illegible] the castle of the father-in-law wholly disappeared from the slope of the Waterford hill on which it stood, but its name is now forgotten. Convenience demands that it shall [illegible], and although it may have been much more spacious and splendid than Rathmore, it may be known as Rathbeg Castle. There were great rejoicings at Rathmore and Rathbeg, the old man's intentions were well known, and the people belonging to Rathbeg knew, sooner or later, they should pass under the rule of Rathmore. Among those who seemed to enter most ardently into the celebrations of the hour were the uncles of the heir. But they did not deceive the master of Rathbeg or the master of Rathmore, and made no progress towards reinstating themselves in the favour of their father. Time went on, and it came to be the young heir's first birthday. All the family, with the exception of the uncles (who had gone to the remote county Roscommon, and were not expected back for a month), were to meet at Rathbeg. It was midwinter, close upon Christmas, when the owner of Rathmore, accompanied by his lady, his heir, and retinue, set out from his castle for his father-in-law's home. The snow was deep upon the ground, and the party made slow progress. In the end the journey was accomplished, and the old man came with his people and his dogs to receive the travellers at the court-yard gate. The day following was fixed for the great events of the merrymaking. All the neighbors and followers and friends of the great lord of Rathbeg were bidden, and although the weather was severe beyond the remembrance of living men, hundreds of guests and followers were crowded into the castle. A whole ox hung on the great pole that did duty for a spit; flagons and cups of heating and exhilirating drinks were handed round. There were music and dancing and all kinds of revelry becoming such an occasion, and those present declared that a finer birthday feast had never been since the present lord of Rathbeg came of age.

When the festivities were at the highest, all at once there arose a woman's scream, followed by the cursing and swearing of men. Some rushed for horses and some for weapons, and all was disorder. The heir to Rathmore and Rathbeg had been stolen. The short light of the December day had not quite faded before men were in their saddle scouring the country this way and that, searching for the young lord. When the moon came up over the frozen snow, three hours after sundown, the boy was missing still. Suspicion held up her finger at the two dishonored sons of Rathbeg. All said, "this is the work of the boy's uncles. Death to the sons of Rathbeg." For days the counties of Waterford and Tipperary (the latter lies over the Suir) were searched in vain. The guests of Rathbeg departed, and the houses mourned the heir as dead. One afternoon, when all hope had left, a man came to the Castle of Rathbeg and said he had tidings of the boy. They were about to illuse him for lying when his persistence induced them to hear farther. He told them the boy had been stolen for the sake of a ransom, and if a certain sum were brought to the Gap of Ardcree he would be restored. In addition to the ransom two other conditions were imposed—first, that he who had brought news of the young lord should be allowed to go free of Rathbeg Castle unharmed; second, that the father and grandfather, and they alone and unarmed, should carry the ransom to Ardcree. The terms of the stranger were gladly agreed to, and a day fixed for paying the gold. The sum was large, and could not be obtained by the two lords for a few days. To the relief of finding the heir was now added the satisfaction of feeling that the sons of Rathbeg had no hand in the abduction. Not only was this plain from the offer to restore the boy, but from the word of mouth of the messenger also. On the day appointed the father and grandfather set out for Ardcree with the mother of the boy. She would not be denied, but would go with them and take back into her arms the son who had been dead to her. The snow was still on the ground and the air numbing with frost. The mother of [illegible], but consoled herself with thinking how soon she should have her son back again to warm her aching breast. At the foot of Ardcree the party was obliged to dismount, for the place is too broken for horses. Then the three went forward on foot, the two men helping the woman over the frozen snow. Slowly and laboriously they approached the trysting place. They could see no one near. Yet, undoubtedly, this was the spot. Could that messenger have been deceiving them? No. There could be no object in such deception. As they were saying these things among themselves, a voice shouted out, "Our object is attained!" and before either of the lords could stir they fell, murdered by the sons of Rathbeg. The parricides and fratricides then turned to the widow and said:—"You came to recover the heir of Rathbeg and Rathmore. He is no further use to us. Take him," and they placed the boy in the mother's arms—dead.

Since that time the mother ever wanders over the snow around Rathmore with her dead boy, the young lord, at her breast. The sighs and moans you hear when there is no wind, are hers. Her voice only is not portentous, but sight of her [illegible] condemning your past and foretelling your future. The lovers of the place shun those ruins by day and night. Bats and owls make their home in what still stands of Rathmore Castle, and all around it clings the air of mystery that covers its history and the desolation born of the one recorded event or its history, out of whose grave has risen a ghost of ill-omen, The White Lady of the Snow.

The Markets.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS.

WEDNESDAY, Jan. 14.—There has been a light general market to-day, very little beside beef being offered. The attendance of buyers was equally small, and the transactions were in consequence limited. Beef of fine quality brought $5.00 per cwt.; there was, however, no perceptible change in price in other grades. Some few hogs were brought forward, but the hog season may be counted as nearly over. $5.75 was mostly paid to-day for prime hogs. Two or three lots of turkeys were brought in, but the demand was not sufficient enough to advance the price. Some few parcels of roll butter were to be found at 20c. Potatoes were also in light supply, with an equally light demand, and 65c. per bag was all that could be realized. A few apples, mostly of an inferior grade, were offered with few takers at any price. Hay was again abundant at $6.00 @ $6.50, although we did hear of $7.00 being paid for extra fine timothy free from thistle. Wood sold readily at quotations. There is always a supply beyond the demand, mostly old wood. Clover seed sold to-day at $4.50 for clean seed. The price for clover may be quoted at $4.00 @ $4.50. Wheat is coming forward in the face of a falling market; $1.22 was paid yesterday for some lots of spring, while to-day the millers as well as shippers are paying $1.23. Fall wheat $1.24 @ $1.26. There seems to be no anxiety to buy at these figures, as the opinion prevails that the tendency is downward. There was no rye in. Oats 31 @ 32c. There were several lots in to-day, and taken mostly at 32c.; one cent additional was paid for one load to be delivered to Hilliard's mills. Peas are continuing to come forward slowly; [illegible]c. is the ruling figure for first quality.

DOMESTIC AND USEFUL.

IF POTATOES show signs of rotting in the cellar they should be carefully looked over, and the rotten ones removed. If left they will spread the infection, and infest the air of the cellar with unhealthy and disagreeable odours.

IN MAKING SODA SCONES when you have put in your carbonic soda, add half of that amount of cream of tartar with a little sugar, which will make the scones of a beautiful white. When they are cold cover them up with cloth which will keep them soft.

TO CRYSTALLIZE GRASSES.—To one quart of soft water add one pound of alum; pour on the water boiling hot and set it on the stove until the alum is dissolved. When it is partly cool the crystal will begin to form in the water; put in your grasses, and in a quarter or half an hour the crystals will have formed on the grasses. Take them out of the solution and lay them on plates to dry.

HAM ON TOAST.—An elegant and appetizing lunch, or supper dish, is made as follows: Chop very fine some baked or boiled ham, and to a large tablespoonful of it add an egg well beaten up, a small bit of butter, and a little cream. Have ready some neatly cut pieces of bread, about the size of a dollar piece, but a little thicker, fried in good butter; spread the mixture on them, and serve them on a napkin.

AUTUMN LEAVES.—I prepared autumn leaves in this way last year, and they were greatly admired by every one who saw them. I varnished them as soon as they were gathered, then spread them out in a cool room where they remained twenty-four hours, when they were packed in a box, and a thick piece of pasteboard placed on top to prevent their curling. They were much more brilliant than any I ever saw. They did not adhere enough to do any harm.

NEWLY PAINTED ROOMS.—The danger of inhaling the vapour of turpentine has been long known, and its pernicious influence on the health is beyond all doubt, as has been verified in several cases occurring in persons sleeping in newly painted rooms, some of which have even proved fatal. Several theories, more or less plausible, have been propounded to explain the prejudicial effects of the inhalation of these vapours; but, whatever be the correct explanation, there is no doubt of the danger of occupying a room recently painted in which turpentine has been employed, before complete desiccation has taken place. It was pointed out by the Council of Hygiene that a sudden death which recently took place in Paris was attributable to this cause, it being shown that it could not be ascribed to the lead which entered into the composition of the paint of the room in which the deceased slept; the lead, being fixed and non-volatile, cannot in these cases be accused of being the offending element.

TAKING COLD.—It is encouraging to find in such a paper as the London Lancet the dictum that "the man who resolves not to take cold seldom does." There is no more potent influence says the same masterly writer, "to restore the vital energies of the nerve centres" than "a strong and sustained effort of the will." Colds, in fact, appear to be an imaginary order of ailments, or at least, so far imaginary that no one need have them unless he likes. Mufflers, greatcoats, furs, and other popular preventatives are mere delusions puffed into notoriety by industrious tailors. The remarks of this student of colds on "sneezing" are also worthy of grave attention. Sneezing is not, as the vulgar imagine, an irrepressible sign of a cold in the head. It is nature's provision for rousing the dormant centres, and enabling them to resume work and avoid evil consequences. In fact, the more you sneeze the more rapidly is your cold taking itself off. All which is very cheering in this weather.

A PRETTY DISH OF APPLES.—Take ten large apples, boil them till quite soft; peel and pulp them, mashing them till there are no lumps. Mix in half a pound of powdered loaf sugar, and beat them up for half an hour; then beat the whites of two eggs with a whisk, and mix with the apples; then mix with one-half a small pot of red currant jelly, and with the other any essence or flavour which you may approve. Now, if it has been well mixed, one portion will be quite pink, and the other stiff and white. Then pile them on a glass dish, taking a spoonful of each alternately.

BROWN PAPER AGAINST THE COLD.—The "old woman's" remedy for a "cold on the chest," a sore throat, or a bruise, which consisted in an application of brown paper steeped in beer or vinegar, owed efficacy to the heat-retaining properties of the paper. A wet pad of this material, so far as the surface next the skin was concerned, acted almost as well as a layer of wet linen rag protected with a thin covering of flannel. In short, stout paper of the commonest sort is an effective non-conductor, and may be most advantageously employed as covering for beds, or to eke out scanty clothing. If this were generally known among the poor, strong sheets of thick paper would be stitched to the back of ragged quilts, with the result of rendering many a poor family comfortable because better protected from the bitter weather of these winter nights. A piece of thick paper inserted between the lining and the cloth of a waist-coat, or in the back of a thin coat, will render it warm as well as light. The suggestion is a small one, but it is simple to carry into effect, and will be found effective.

A Good Account.

"To sum it up, six long years of bed-ridden sickness and suffering, costing $200 per year, total, $1,200—all of which was stopped by three bottles of Hop Bitters taken by my wife, who has done her own housework for a year since without the loss of a day, and I want everybody to know of it for their benefit.

What all Men Should Know.

To Relieve a Cough.—The troublesome cough caused by an accumulation of phlegm in the throat, especially in the morning, experienced mostly by persons affected with Chronic Catarrh, can be relieved almost instantly by taking a teaspoonful of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam, which has the advantage of being harmless to the stomach, and at the same time improving the appetite. w1d150-2w

Swallowed a Baby

When Thackeray visited our shores for the first time and was invited to partake of a dish of oysters, the the size of our saddle rocks [illegible]. Accustomed to the small copper-tainted oyster of his own native isle, he paused. But only for an instant, and in one gulp it was down. "How do you feel?" asked a friend. "I feel as though I had swallowed a baby," was the reply. To the benighted foreigner our oysters are a revelation as is also SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL combined with the HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA, which for debility, all bronchial affections and consumption stands unrivalled. It is also acceptable to the most delicate stomach. w1d1-1m

A POSITIVE FACT.—Nervousness is the sense of feebleness, or the lack of stability of the nervous system, as distinguished from the rest of the body. It is pre-eminently a disease, and more widely spread through the Northern and Eastern part of the United States and the Dominion of Canada than in any other part of the world. We will not stop to say why this is the case, but we do emphatically say the Victoria Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites will be found an invaluable medicine for all parties afflicted with Nervousness, Dyspepsia, Consumption, Defective Nutrition, General Debility, or weakness of the whole system. One of the first effects is an increase of the nervous or vital energy, followed by a feeling of unusual comfort and strength. For sale by all dealers. w1d150-2w

Hagyard's Yellow Oil is one of the surest remedies in the world for the cure of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Spinal and Bronchial Complaints, Deafness, Ear-Ache, Cramps, Sprains, Bruises, Galls, Stiff Joints, Swelled Hands, Sore Nipples, Stiff Neck, Chilblains, Tetter, Frost Bites, Chapped Hands, Wounds, Cuts, Sore Throat, Stings of Insects, Shortness of Breath, or any Diseases that are painful or sore. We have no hesitation in recommending it for any of the above complaints, and believe it the quickest and most perfect combination known to remove pain from almost any cause, and can be used either internally or externally. For particulars see wrapper accompanying each bottle. For sale by all dealers, price 25 cts. w1d150-2w

Among the Luxuries of Life.

But a brief period has passed since when a month's time was necessary to accomplish a journey of few hundred miles and then we went lumbering over the rough country, highways on springless seats. Now the same journey is made in sumptuous drawing room cars, with all the comforts and many of the luxuries brought to us by servants. Once upon a time when we found it necessary to our health we set apart a brief period to "doctor up" and then came a struggle with that awful Castor Oil. Now we sip it from the bottle while we continue regularly at our vocations. But it is SCOTT & BOWNE'S PALATABLE CASTOR OIL we take. It is one of the luxuries of life that is afforded at 25 cents. Wallach's Orchestra.—The orchestra of Wallack's Theatre, New York, is famous for its extraordinary precision. This is due entirely to Thomas Baker, an Englishman, who has conducted it for years. Mr. Baker used to suffer terribly from rheumatism, but now is as supple and nimble as a school boy. He ascribes his freedom, as he ought, to Giles' Liniment Iodide Ammonia.

MANHOOD:

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

WE have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 14, 1880.

LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

Personal.

A Reform Association has been formed at Emerson, Manitoba, and Mr. F. E. Burnham, formerly of Peterborough, has been chosen for the first President.

Church Parade.

Nos. 1 and 3 Companies will muster for church parade on Sunday morning next at ten o'clock. The new clothing will be issued for the occasion. A full muster is expected on Thursday night.

Curling Match.

A curling match between the President and the Vice-President's Rinks will take place to-morrow evening. Play will commence at half-past seven o'clock. An interesting game is anticipated.

The Sabbath School Conference.

The Midland Railway Company have agreed to issue return tickets at one and one-third fare to those attending the Sabbath School conference to be held in Peterborough next week in connection with the meeting of the Peterborough Presbytery.

Lumber Sale.

To-morrow, Thursday, the 15th inst., Mr. Chas. Stapleton will sell at the mills of Messrs. McDougall & Ludgate, at Harwood, one million feet of hard wood lumber, on terms satisfactory to buyers. The sale will commence at a quarter past twelve. This sale is an important one to builders, contractors, dealers and manufacturers, who should avail themselves of this opportunity.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district, as reported from Toronto at 10 o'clock to day are: Fresh to brisk southerly to westerly winds; clear to partly cloudy weather; stationary or higher temperature. The weather in Peterborough has been moderate to brisk south-easterly to south-westerly winds; clear weather with the thermometer indicating at 8 o'clock, a.m., 24°, and 35° at noon, sinking again at 2 o'clock.

At the Rink.

The scene at the skating rink last evening was a lively one. The large number of skaters and the curling side by side giving it an animated appearance. Every one seemed to be in the fullest enjoyment of what might be termed a small carnival. The ice was in excellent condition. To-night another practice match will be played by the members of the Peterborough Curling Club.

A Slippery Customer.

The following paragraph appears in a northern paper:—

"Constable Rodgers, of Barrie, a short time ago went to Washago and arrested Silas Burnham, hotel-keeper, for forging the name of Mr. Bennett to a note for $150, which he sold to the Bank of Commerce at the county town. The arrest was made, and a few seconds after, while the constable and prisoner were at tea, the latter rose from the table, walked into the hall, and disappeared. Last Friday Constable Campbell and one of the bank officials again visited Washago, where they found Burnham. The bank clerk found Burnham upstairs in the tavern, and the latter consented to come to where the constable was, but while going down stairs once more disappeared."

Photography.

We regret to learn that Mr. G. B. Sproule has left Peterborough. Like all who excel in an art, he is not yet satisfied with his acquirements, and he has resolved to go to one of the leading photographic studios in the United States, in order to perfect himself in some of the new and improved processes. Mr. Sproule and his photographs will both be missed. We are glad to learn that he intends to return to Peterborough, the duration of his absence depending upon the extent of the ground he may find he has to cover to acquire a thorough acquaintance with the latest improvements in photography.

The Toronto and Ottawa Railway.

The following requisition has been presented to the Mayor for a public meeting on behalf of the Toronto and Ottawa Railway:—

To His Worship the Mayor of Peterborough:

"The undersigned ratepayers of the Town of Peterborough, believing that the time has come when energetic action should be taken to devise means for the advancement of the town, respectfully ask that your Worship will be pleased to call a public meeting of the ratepayers to consider matters relating to the Toronto and Ottawa Railway, with a view to secure immediate prosecution of its construction, and your petitioners will ever pray. Signed by John Bertram, Thos. Bradburn, J. R. Stratton, Wm. Walsh, George Stethem, John Garvey and forty others.

The Mayor has issued a proclamation for a public meeting to be held in the Council Chamber on Tuesday evening, Jan. 20th, at half past 7 o'clock.

Anniversary Entertainment.

A very interesting meeting of Friendship Lodge, No. 146, I.O.G.T., was held on Tuesday evening. There was a much larger attendance than for some time back, and a renewed interest was manifested. The committee on the anniversary reported that the arrangements were all completed, and that the tickets were ready, which were taken up rapidly by the members. The programme is a good one, consisting of songs, duets and other music, readings, recitations, including one from the Rev. Mr. Starr, of the Methodist Church. There are to be no speeches, and the evening of the 20th instant will be marked with a new departure in such entertainments. The twentysecond anniversary entertainment of Friendship Lodge will be more interesting than any that have preceded it, and should call together all who have ever been members of it.

BRIDGENORTH.

PRESENTATION.—The following address, accompanied by an album, was presented to Mr. J. J. Wright on his giving up the mastership of the Bridgenorth (Smith) school:

To Mr. John J. Wright, late teacher of the Bridgenorth School:

DEAR TEACHER,—The scholastic year has been brought to a close. We have been informed that you are about to leave this school to prepare yourself for another position in life. We are well aware that we have made good progress under your instruction, and the basis of a sound education has been instilled into our minds. We cannot fail to acknowledge that you have endeavoured to improve us morally and intellectually for our own benefit, and we shall always think of our school days and hold you in remembrance when we take our position in the cares of the world. We present this album to you, not from its intrinsic value, but to show the sincere regard engraved upon our hearts which we will never forget. May God grant His blessing to you in whatever pursuit it may be your destiny to follow. Farewell.

MINNIE MAUD DEAN, } in behalf of
WM. H. KEARNS, } the school.

Dec. 22nd 1879.

REPLY.

DEAR SCHOLARS,—Such a token was not necessary to remind me of our connection during the past two years. We have had many glad hours, with perhaps just enough dark to contrast the light. Your gift will not form any new affections, though it will always remind me of the past. Let this suffice. Do not judge my feelings by my words, I cannot talk to you as I would wish. Remember the mottoes you have chosen: "Excelsior" and "Progress."

And now I bid you farewell, with the hope that though as teachers and scholars our connection is severed, that as warm friends we may never be.

JNO. JAMESON WRIGHT.

COBOURG.

From Our Own Correspondent.

THE LADIES' YEAR.—Leap year is already recognized in Cobourg. Three marriages last week.

COLLEGE RE-OPENED.—The college has reopened, the students all looking fresh and eager for new conquests in the field of fame.

PETERBOROUGH MANUFACTURES.—Peterboro' is destined to go ahead; its manufactures are being recognized even in its rival town—Cobourg. We learn from Mr. Thos. Mitchell that he has procured one of Mr. Cox's new force pumps for operation upon his "Ever Ready" rink. We will now have fresh ice every day.

THE DEATH OF WORLDS.—On Wednesday evening, January 14th, the renowned astronomer, Prof. R. A. Proctor will deliver his noted lecture on "The Life and Death of Worlds," in Victoria Hall under the auspices of the V. P. Science Association of Victoria University.

MADOC.

GOLD MINING.—A new gold company called the Emily Mining Company was formed here on Tuesday, consisting of the following gentlemen: Messrs. G. D. Rawe, Jacob Caldwell, S. B. Cornell, and J. Woolman. They have leased a mine of probably great value on lot 3, 13th concession of Rawdon. The Gladstone Mining Company are now taking out quartz from another lead on their property near the last great find. They have about thirty tons of quartz at their crusher, and are only awaiting some machinery from Belleville to give this new lead a thorough test. Mr. B. Felton, of the firm of Ball & Felton, of Buffalo, N.Y., is here examining the different gold mines.

A SCENE IN CHURCH.

A Minister's Lively Parting Salute to His Congregation.

BRANTFORD, Jan. 12.—Last evening the Congregational Church was thrown into a state of great excitement. On Sunday, the 4th of January, the Rev. S. P. Barker resigned his pastorate of the church, and last evening he preached his farewell sermon to a crowded house. Before commencing his sermon the rev. gentleman gave as his reasons for resigning that his congregation were guilty of duplicity and meanness towards him, and turning on the choir he made a rather personal attack on them, when some retired. This caused one of the gentlemen in the choir to stand up and request the rev. gentleman to stop his insult. The rev. gentleman requested the speaker to sit down, when the gentleman threatened to start the organ and drown his voice. At this stage a lady in the congregation fainted. The rev. gentleman continued his attack, and when a number were leaving he requested them to be seated, as the objectionable part of the sermon was over. He then proceeded with his sermon.

A CONSISTENT REPUBLICAN.

London Truth says:—"Here is a perfectly authentic anecdote, which throws more light on M. Grevy's character than any I have ever heard. It certainly shows that M. Grevy is true to himself, even as he has never been false to any man. Unlike most official Frenchmen, he believes enough in his own country to invest in her funds, and the other day went to the Bank of France to receive his dividends. He was already President of the Republic, yet he quietly placed himself in the queue and waited his turn, sandwiched between a petty employee and a green grocer's wife. Suddenly a high official of the bank espied him, but was scarcely able to believe his own eyes, and when he did almost fainted with horror. The President was forthwith accosted with all honors and bidden to quit the queue, that his money might be paid him at once. 'Many thanks,' he answered, 'but I really don't mind waiting.' And the Chief Magistrate of the Republic—a true Liberal in every good sense of that word—quietly bided his time. The humblest citizen was not to lose a moment of time on his account."

USEFUL TABLES.

Measuring Around Stacks.

To ascertain the contents of a round stack, first get the mean girth square this; multiply the product by the height from the ground to the eaves and this product by the decimal .0029474. Then square the girth at the eaves; multiply the product by the height of the roof, and divide the result by three. The quotient multiplied by the decimal .0029474 gives the contents of the top portion. Add the two sums together, point off as many places of figures from the right of the sum as there are decimal places in the multiplier, i. e., seven. The figures to the left of the point are the solid contents of the stack in cubic yards; those to the right decimals of a yard, which, multiplied by 27 and similarly treated, give the cubic feet. The multiplier is found by dividing .07958, the area of a circle whose circumference is 1, by 27, the cubic feet in a yard. To ascertain the contents of an oblong stack, multiply length, breadth and height, including one-third of the roof; divide by 27, and the result is the contents in cubic yards. Weight per yard varies according to nature of land, condition, amount of fermentation, etc., but usually ranges from twelve to sixteen stones imperial the yard.

EGGS IN WINTER.

Now that eggs are worth two cents each, there are plenty of anxious enquirers eager to find out how those people who are fortunate enough to own winter laying hens, manage—what breeds they keep, and what they feed. Now my experience has been that by following a few simple rules, it is a very easy matter to have fresh eggs at all times. In the first place my rule is to discard each fall one-half of my breeding hens, and substitute that many early pullets. By doing this each season, your yard will contain one-half pullets, and the balance yearlings—change cocks every fall—by doing this you obtain an infusion of fresh blood every year which is a great desideratum—if you want vigorous, healthy stock, which you must have if you want plenty of eggs and strong chicks. Secondly;—Cleanliness must be strictly observed. Thirdly;—A constant supply of pure water in cold as well as warm weather. Fourthly; give the hens anything they like, and be sure they have enough; more flocks are underfed in cold weather than are surfeited. Fowls like variety in their rations as well as we do. Above all, regularity in feeding must be maintained. This spasmodic style of feeding (feast one day and famine the next) never will bring many eggs in the winter. Twice each week a feed of vegetables, the same of meat (lard-scraps) I generally use at this season of the year) and the same of warm soft feed—always knowing that your fowls go to their roost at night with their crops well filled with good sound shelled corn. Your hen-house must be comfortably warm, well-ventilated, and a sunny shed adjoining for them to pass a part of their time when other duties allow. Just attend to these little matters, and my word for it, your hens will prove themselves a source of profit as well as pleasure to you. Neglect them, and the result will be if you have eggs in the winter you will have the pleasure of paying 25 cents per dozen, and a yard of moping, unprofitable hens.

The Queen Decorated.

It is announced that "his Majesty Praba Somdetch Pra Paramandr Maha Chulalonkorn Klow, King of Siam, has been pleased to direct the investiture of her Majesty Queen Victoria and his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales with the distinguished "Order of the White Elephant." The grand cross of this order is a jewel of considerable intrinsic value, exquisite workmanship and curious symbolism in devices. "On a ground of dull blue enamel stands a white elephant, supporting the crown of state, with, on either side, the crowns and umbrellas of sovereignty and the seven-rayed halo of the sacred flame. The regalia of Siam, the supporters of the royal arms, the king's initials, the lotos, the trident, the sword and the torch, with many other details of mythological or heraldic meaning, are worked into the collar, which is of gold and set with gems. The riband of the order is red, with a broad green edge, itself edged on the inner side with finer lines of yellow and ultra-marine, a combination of colors as curious as the combination of devices upon the remainder of the decoration.

A National Museum at Ottawa.

It is contemplated by the Government to establish a national museum at Ottawa, distinct from the Geological Museum. Dr. Powell, superintendent of the Indians in British Columbia, has been instructed to make collections illustrative of the ethnology of the Indians of that Province. Dr. Powell has shipped from Victoria to Ottawa a large collection of historic and prehistoric relics, consisting chiefly of stones, axes, arrow heads, etc., and these have been collected principally in the country of the Hydahs and Tsimpseans.

"German Syrup."

No other medicine in the world was ever given such a test of its curative qualities as Boschee's German Syrup. In three years two million four hundred thousand small bottles of this medicine were distributed free of charge by Druggists in this country to those afflicted with Consumption, Asthma, Croup, severe Coughs, Pneumonia and other diseases of the Throat and Lungs, giving the American people undeniable proof that German Syrup will cure them. The result has been that Druggists in every town and village in the United States are recommending it to their customers. Go to your Druggist, and ask what they know about it. Sample bottles 10 cents. Regular size 75 cents. Three doses will relieve any case. dw51-1y

CANADIAN TELEGRAMS.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE AT LINDSAY.

Dwelling Houses, Stores, Stables and Lumber Burned in a Gale of Wind.

Special to the Review.

LINDSAY, Jan. 15.—A fire broke out in Fee's lumber yard, at the corner of Lindsay and Wellington Streets, early this morning, consuming a quantity of seasoned lumber, shingles, &c., and a building for storing the same; also a dwelling house and stable owned by Robert Douglas, lock-master, a dwelling house and two grocery stores and two stables, the property of T. A. Middleton. The most of Middleton's goods were saved. The loss to the buildings, which were frame, will not exceed $2,000. The loss of lumber and shingles is $3,000. They were insured in the Royal for $2,000. It is supposed that the cause was incendiarism. A strong wind was prevailing at the time and the adjoining buildings were saved with great difficulty.

TORONTO.

Special to the Review, Jan. 15.

ICE BOAT REGATTA.—The ice in the Bay has been all broken up by the strong wind, and the proposed ice boat regatta has been indefinitely postponed.

PETROLIA.

Special to the Review, Jan. 15.

AN EXPLOSION.—This morning about 1 o'clock a tar tank at Frank Smith's refinery exploded. It was caused by hot tar being run in, which generated gas sufficient to cause the explosion. A considerable amount of machinery was destroyed. The loss is about $3,000.

ALMONTE.

Special to the Review, Jan. 15.

THE LANARK ELECTION.—The nomination for North Lanark took place at Almonte at two o'clock to-day. Mr. D. G. Macdonnell, a Reformer, and Mr. Jos. Jamieson, a Conservative, were the candidates nominated.

LUCAN, ONT.

Special to the Review, Jan. 15.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.—Patrick Ryder's two barns, stables and other outbuildings, about four miles from here, were burned this morning. They contained 400 bushels of wheat, 400 of barley, 1,200 of oats and 15 tons of hay. There was an insurance of $2,000, and the loss is $4,000. It is supposed that incendiarism was the cause.

OTTAWA.

Special to the Review, Jan. 15.

SUSPICIONS.—County Constable Gordon is still investigating the suspicious circumstances surrounding the death of the old man Wickham in Gloucester.

NEW CRAFT.—Forwarders evidently expect to have a lively season next summer, and in consequence quite a number of new craft are being constructed.

CLERK OF THE PRIVY COUNCIL.—Mr. Cote has been appointed Clerk of the Privy Council, vice Himsworth, deceased.

TENANT FARMERS FOR MANITOBA.—Mr. Lowe, the Secretary of the Department of Agriculture, sailed from Liverpool to-day. He accompanied the Scotch delegates home, and is said to have arranged for a large emigration of tenant farmers to Manitoba next season.

QUEBEC.

Special to the Review, Jan. 15.

A RAILWAY SHUFFLE.—The Chronicle this morning charges that there has been a shuffle of officers of the Lewis and Kennebec railway with the intent to deceive and conspire against the shareholders, whom, it says, have not been informed of the charge. It says that Henry Ducenay, District Magistrate and Mining Inspector of Beauce, has been appointed President of the Company instead of Mr. Beaudet resigned, and merely considers himself justified in denying his tenure of office and in refusing to act for the Company on the ground that he has not yet formally signified his acceptance of office. Mr. Larochelle, an insolvent contractor of the line, has been appointed managing director of the road, and it is said one Paradis, of St. Joseph, has been appointed Secretary protem.

DRIVEN ABOUT AT SEA.—The inhabitants who on Saturday left [illegible] seal hunting in a canoe from Point Des Isles, Saguenay, were caught by a strong north wind and was driven about in great danger for two days, landing with great difficulty on Sunday night at Fort Pique, Parish of St. Simon, on the south shore. They were two days without food.

ENGINEER-IN-CHIEF.—The Chronicle says "it is stated that A. L. Light, Esq., will be appointed by the Government Engineer in Chief for the province."

From the Morning Papers.

TORONTO.

CRICKET ON SKATES.—A number of gentlemen played a game of cricket on the bay yesterday on skates. The game was highly interesting.

MILITARY CADETS.—The School of Military Instruction in operation in the drill shed is attended by 22 cadets, all commissioned officers. The cadets are from different parts of Ontario.

AFTERNOON TELEGRAMS

Press Despatches to the Review via Cable and Montreal Lines.

CABLE.

NEGRO EXODUS.

MOBILE, Jan. 15.—The exodus of negroes from Eastern Mississippi has been over 1,000 in the past three months.

AVERTING BLOODSHED.

BERLIN, Jan. 15.—The Hamburger Correspondent publishes a sensational story that the officers of a Russian regiment at Kalish invited the officers of a Prussian regiment on the other side of the frontier to dinner. During a political argument the Russians used insulting language to Germany. Bloodshed was averted by the Russian colonel sending home the German officers under escort.

GAMBETTA'S ORGAN.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—The first number of La Justice, the new radical newspaper started by Mr. Clemenceau, a member of the Chamber of Deputies, appeared to-day. It demands the adoption by the Government of a frankly popular policy, and the application of the principle of equality in all matters including the amnesty. A Paris correspondent says La Justice will be for Gambetta what the Republique Francaise was for Thiers and MacMahon.

GAMBETTA'S POMPOUS MANNER.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—A Paris despatch says that since installing himself in the Palais Bourbon, Gambetta has offended almost everybody by his pompous manner. He influences the ministerial decisions, and if a Minister ventures to resist his orders, he pursues him with implacable resentment until he has overthrown him.

SERIOUS RIOTS.

PESTH, Jan. 15.—Serious disturbances occurred on Tuesday and Wednesday in consequence of the duel between Baron Maithenyi and Herr Verhovay, M.P., in which the latter was fatally wounded. Further trouble is feared. Verhovay was editor of an Hungarian Radical newspaper, in which he attacked Count Festetics, a fellow member with Maithenyi, of the Aristocratic National Casino Club, so Maithenyi intervened. The partizans of Verhovay say that Maithenyi, who is a professional duellist, and the best pistol shot in Hungary, was put forward for the purpose of silencing Verhovay, who is very distasteful to the aristocrats, but popular with the masses. Last night a great crowd of students and workmen filled the neighborhood of the Casino Club, uttering hostile cries and finally they stoned the windows. The police were repeatedly repulsed. Finally a batallion of infantry charged them with fixed bayonets. Many persons were slightly hurt. Thirty of the rioters were arrested. The rioting was renewed last night, and two persons were shot, whether by the military or by the rioters is not ascertained. At midnight shots were fired at the soldiers from behind wagons in the street. The perpetrators escaped. This looks like a barricade.

A NEW GOVERNOR.

CAIRO, Jan. 15.—Ismail Ayoub Pasha, has been appointed Governor of Soudan.

POETESS DEAD.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—The Countess Ida Von Hahn, the German poetess and novelist, is dead, in her seventy-fifth year.

AMERICAN.

ARMING AGAINST POACHERS.

RICHMOND, Jan. 15.—The House of Delegates has appropriated $1500 to enforce the oyster laws against intruding vessels on Virginian waters. It is proposed to send armed vessels to capture intruders with the aid of the militia. A conflict is expected.

A CABLE TO SOUTH AMERICA.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—A Washington special despatch to the Times says the Government is petitioned by New York parties to aid in constructing a cable connecting the United States with South America. At present all telegrams to Brazil, Chili and Peru must go and return by way of New York, London, Lisbon and Buenos Ayres, at rates which are practically prohibitory.

CANADIAN COMPETITION.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Fink, in his argument before the House Committee on Commerce, said the Federal Government could not pass laws which would reach the roads operating entirely in one State. The New York Central could defy such legislation. Our railways are in competition with waterways and with railroads in Canada, and under foreign jurisdiction. These the bill cannot reach. The Canadian competing lines would ruin the American system.

THE MAINE GOVERNORSHIP.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—An Augusta special report to the Sun says that Chamberlain has sent to Governor Lamson the keys to the Governor's private room. This is regarded as an omen of good by the Fusionists, but it really has no significance, when the fact is known that Chamberlain has increased the police, some 300 being now in attendance, and every one of them Republican. Chamberlain says he is ready to obey Lamson's orders whenever the dispute about his title is authoritively decided in his favor.

VICTORIA ROUTED.

DENVER, Jan. 15.—Major Morrow overtook Victoria and his apaches on January 12th in the Black mountain. Victoria was intrenched and held out for five hours, when he fled leaving seven dead. One soldier, Sergeant Gross, was killed and two were wounded.

AMMUNITION FOR THE UTES.

Morrow is pursuing Victoria. The Sheriff of Carbon, County Wyoming, has arrived and states that 75 Burros, loaded with ammunition were discovered going south last Sunday. It is supposed to be for the Utes, and from Utah military have been sent to scout for them. It is believed that the Utes are making preparations to fight in the spring and will resist removal, or at any rate they will not surrender the Indians who are demanded.

OVERSTEPPED HIS POWERS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—The World says that Garcelon in private conversation says that Chamberlain has overstepped his powers. His assumption of the Power Governor is wholly unwarranted.

OURAY AND THE UTES.

A Washington report to the Sun says that Ouray has virtually admitted that he cannot deliver up the Indians who were engaged in the Meeker massacre, because the tribe will not let him. He says he can have the guilty ones killed. Ouray proposes that the White River Utes be removed to Utah, and the Uncompagnee Utes to Grand River Valley, Colorado. The Colorado delegation favor this plan. The Colorado delegation will have a talk with Ouray, who says he can settle the whole business amicably in a few hour's talk with them.

A FINANCIAL DISCUSSION.

A Washington despatch to the Tribune says that an undertaking has been reached between the Democrats and Republicans in the Senate who are opposed to the present consideration of the Bayard resolution, that an attempt shall be made to lay the whole subject upon the table. It begins to look as though a general financial discussion may be precipitated in the House very soon.

A CHURCH TRIAL.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—The Rev. J. D. Lane, pastor of the Methodist Church at Kensico and Armonck, Westchester County, will have a church trial to-day. He is charged with kissing a lady member of his congregation too freely.

STEAMERS ARRIVED.

The Canada from Havre, the Rhuland from Antwerp, and the Australia from London.

ARCTIC EXPLORATION.

A Washington despatch to the Herald says the House Committee on Naval Affairs has agreed upon a bill providing that a temporary station shall be selected within the Arctic Circle for making scientific discoveries, explorations and observations. The President is authorised to accept from Capt. Howgate and fit out for the purposes of this expedition the steamship Gulnare.

TRIBUTE TO THURMAN.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 15.—A reception was given to Garfield at the capitol last night. Garfield paid a warm tribute to Thurman, whom he said Ohio has had few larger minded or broader minded men.

RICH SILVER MINE.

LEADVILLE, Jan. 15.—A hundred and fifteen thousand dollars worth of silver was taken out of the Robert E. Lee mine in 19 hours yesterday by 20 men, the largest product in the time ever recorded of any mine. The cost did not exceed $1,000. It is rumored that the owners refused a million dollars for a lease of the mine for seven days, but it is not for sale. A vein of silver almost pure, ranging from 2 inches to a foot in width has been struck.

RAILWAY CONNECTIONS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—The Tribune says the contract for the exchange of traffic between the Wabash and Lake Shore and Central Roads was executed on Monday. The cars of the Red Line, the Canada Southern Line and the Hoosac Tunnel Line are run over the Wabash Railway, but not exclusively. To these lines are to be added about 6,000 cars, which are to be used solely between Boston and New York and the Western Tunnel of the Wabash Railway.

REMOVING THE UTES.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—It is understood that Schurz insists that all the Utes must be removed from Colorado. Ouray and his companions are discontented with their exclusion.

SUDDEN DEATH.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—John McMurn, one of the famous Beecher jury, died suddenly of apoplexy.

GUARDING AGAINST ACCIDENTS.

The Union Ferry Company has decided to put two pilots on each boat to guard against accidents.

TIME EXTENDED TO FIRST FEBRUARY.

Not a few of our old subscribers have sent us the names of one or two new subscribers along with their own for 1880, and thus have made one dollar go as far as one and a half did last year. Finding that those who have tried it, fully realize that "a penny saved is two earned." and that others are still anxious to reap the same advantage, we have determined to receive new subscriptions from old subscribers up to the first of February upon the following terms, viz:—

THE WEEKLY REVIEW.

Any person now, and for the last twelve months a subscriber to the WEEKLY REVIEW, who sends us his renewal subscription with that of another person not now or for the last twelve months a subscriber to it, will have the TWO sent to any separate address for $2.00! Or if accompanied with the names of two other such, such persons may have the THREE sent to separate addresses for $3.00!

THE DAILY REVIEW.

Any person now a subscriber to the DAILY EVENING REVIEW who sends us his renewal subscription with that of another person not now on our subscription list, may have the TWO delivered or sent to any separate address for six months for $3.50, or for twelve months for $6.00!

Any one is at liberty to get up a club. Each club paper may be addressed separately. Parties making up clubs may send in the names (accompanied by the money) as they receive them, and credit will be given for the whole number sent in when the club is completed.

OUR CLUB LIST.

We are also enabled to announce that the very liberal advantages offered in our Club List will be kept open until the first of February. Parties who may yet be desirous of subscribing for the REVIEW along with any one or more of the leading papers or magazines contained in our Club List, can therefore avail themselves of the opportunity offered all through the month of January. We would again direct attention to our "Entirely New Feature"—"How to Obtain the Leading Papers and Save Money." See advertisement in another column of this paper. HAMMERING AWAY.

IT is certainly amusing to note the persistency with which the Globe, in season and out of season, keeps hammering away at the unfortunate N.P. Day after day, we suppose on the principle that in time, even the continual dropping of water will wear a hole in the hardest stone, it has its daily editorial, accompanied by sundry notes on this, to it, all-absorbing topic. Fortunately it does not do for a great daily like the Globe to keep precisely the same article standing for months, and consequently even the slight variations which take place in its daily utterances are not without antidotes to its own vapourings. Judging the farmers by itself, the Globe has of late been great on the relative prices of wheat and oats in Chicago and Toronto, and asserts that because the Toronto market does not follow that of the gambling one of Chicago, the farmers are being ruined by the N. P. Now in the name of common sense what has the Chicago market got to do with the Canadian? Outside of the necessities of our own country, and the sufficiency of the home crop to supply the home demand, what market must our surplus go to? To Chicago or Liverpool? Certainly to the latter, and that being the case the price of wheat in Toronto (so long as we have a surplus to export) must be ruled by its value in Liverpool and not in Chicago. Of course, if instead of having a surplus we require to import wheat or flour for home consumption, then Chicago would be the natural market from whence to draw a supply, and then its quotations should and would have an influence on those in Canadian markets, but during the N.P. campaign, and we suppose it still is, one of the strong points of the Globe was that a duty on wheat was a fraud because we grew more than we consumed, and no import duty could affect the price of an article of which we had a surplus to export. And even the Globe in a recent article had to admit that the foreign markets are just as free to us now as they were under its pet revenue tariff of Sir Richard Cartwright. If that be the case, and we have a surplus of wheat to export, how in the name of common sense can the N.P. lower the price of wheat? It is easy to assert that it does, but it is another thing to prove it, and we submit that it does not prove it by quoting the figures of a gambling market like that of Chicago—those of Liverpool would be more to the purpose.

MR. RUTHERFORD'S APPOINTMENT.

To the Editor of the Review.

I observe communications on this subject from Mr. Dumble and Mr. Rutherford in the REVIEW of yesterday; as to Mr. Dumble's, I would say that these names were for at least two weeks before election day prominently before the public as candidates for the position of School Trustee. Mr. Rutherford never before, at or after his nomination repudiated it; in fact he confesses that he was a candidate, and admitting, as Mr. Dumble puts it, that neither canvassed, the result is as much a test of Mr. Rutherford's popularity for the position as if both had canvassed.

The writer has no personal ill feeling to Mr. Rutherford, nor private spleen to vent, but he has, with the intelligent people of this town, been mightily disgusted both with his appointment and the disgraceful conduct by which it was obtained.

It is an invariable rule in assemblies, that where a motion is made in respect of which a member present is interested, he takes no part in the discussion of the members and if possessed of decency retires; yet I ask, did not he, Mr. Rutherford, a Town Councillor, canvass the Council, or some members of it, to support him for a position in the gift of the Council; did not he, in his place at the Council board, make one of his unique speeches, and urge and implore the members in the most lachrymose manner to consider and acknowledge his claims, basing them upon his having served in the Council? Did he not vote upon the motion to appoint himself, and by his own vote elect himself trustee to the Collegiate Institute? Without his vote he was rejected, and there is only one answer to all this; yet forsooth he denounced himself as an honorable and modest man in the matter! It was evidently to blind the public to such a prostitution of his position in the Council and "tender of coming to particulars," that he occupied a large part of his letter with the question whether he received 20 votes out of 250, or the same number out of 500. The pith of the charge was, and is, that he was rejected emphatically by his own ward for Public School Trustee, and that it was indecent and audacious then to put himself forward, and that in this unseemly way, for a position in which higher qualifications were naturally expected; and further, that the conduct of the Council on the point of dissolution and exercising an arbitrary authority, in the face of the ratepayers' vote, and of the shameful action before them of a self-asserting candidate notoriously unfit for the position of trustee, was equally open to censure and reproach.

Lastly:—If Mr. Rutherford will publish a reply to this verbatim from the original prepared by himself, he will have entitled himself to my autograph. Then will be seen something which will surely agitate and interest the readers of your journal.

Yours, without the "J.P.," whatever that may mean. I hope it is nothing naughty nor subject to double entendre.

THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

NO PROGRESS.

TORONTO, Jan. 13.—Notwithstanding that several of the promised Government measures were down for a first reading to-day, they failed to put in an appearance, and the House with great difficulty managed to sit for just forty minutes.

LAKEFIELD NEWS.

From Our Own Correspondent.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING.

The Lakefield School Board held its regular meeting on Tuesday evening last in the Council Chamber. All the members were present, including the newly elected members, viz: Messrs. Cox and Isbister. Mr. John Hull, the late chairman, and Mr. R. C. Strickland having at the late election of members of the School Board declined re-election, Messrs. Cox and Isbister were elected in their stead. Consequently it was necessary to re-organize the Board, which was done by the Secretary taking the chair.

The minutes of former meeting were read and confirmed.

Moved by Mr. SANDERS, seconded by Mr. ISBISTER,—That Mr. G. J. Galvin be and he is hereby appointed Chairman of this Board for the ensuing year.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. ISBISTER, seconded by Mr. SANDERS,—That Mr. W. H. Casement be and he is hereby appointed Secretary of this Board at a salary of ten dollars, and that hereafter it shall be part of the Secretary's duty to take the school census and make out the school reports.

Moved in amendment by Mr. CASEMENT, seconded by Mr. CLARIN,—That Mr. Cox be appointed Secretary. The amendment was declared lost and the original motion was carried.

Moved by Mr. CLARIN, seconded by Mr. COX,—That Mr. Thomas Casement be appointed Treasurer for the ensuing year.—Lost.

Moved in amendment by Mr. ISBISTER, seconded by Mr. SANDERS,—That Mr. Clarin be appointed Treasurer for the ensuing year.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. CASEMENT, seconded by Mr. ISBISTER,—That Messrs. Clarin and Cox be and they are hereby appointed managing committee for the ensuing three months.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. SANDERS, seconded by Mr. ISBISTER,—That the managing committee be empowered to purchase ten cords of dry wood and fifteen cords of green wood for the use of the school.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. CLARIN, seconded by Mr. ISBISTER,—That the following accounts be paid, and that orders be drawn on the Treasurer for the same, viz:—

E. Walton, stationery, &c.	$2 10
G. J. Galvin, school census	5 00
W. H. Casement, glass, &c	2 25
C. J. Burgis, glazing	1 30
J. C. Baldson, repairing	1 00

Carried.

Moved by Mr. CASEMENT, seconded by Mr. SANDERS,—That this Board do now adjourn.—Carried.

MISSION SCENES.

The Rev. John Roe gave his illustrated lecture on mission scenes in Ireland in the P.C.A. Hall of Lakefield, on Tuesday evening last, to an appreciative audience. The assembly was not so large as it would have been if the time had been more favorable. There were several other meetings and an auction sale in the village the same evening. The collection amounted to $5.50. Those present were well pleased.

SMITH, ENNISMORE AND LAKEFIELD AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

The annual meeting of this society was held in the council room on Thursday afternoon, 8th inst. The meeting was not very largely attended, as it was not sufficiently advertised. Many people in Lakefield did not know of it until it was over. It would be a great improvement if the officers would have the agricultural meeting properly advertised in the local papers. The agricultural interests are surely of sufficient importance to warrant such a trifling outlay. The proceedings of the meeting are reported in another column. The society is shown to be in a very satisfactory position.

LUMBERING CASUALTIES.

Mr. Geo. Cochrane has kindly sent your correspondent from the back woods the following list of casualties in the township of Clyde, for the week ending 31st December last:—One first class team drowned in a small pond with their heads over the bank; one team through the ice on Stag Lake; one team through the ice on the river while drawing logs; one through the ice on Clear Lake which was got out by six men with great difficulty. Three of the men had their feet badly frozen and are laid up in the shanty, unable to work. These three men had a very hard time in getting to the shanty, some three miles off. They had to make that distance with ice frozen to their feet the size of a wooden pail. They would have perished had not the teamsters left their loads and let the men ride on horseback. As it was they did not get to the shanty until 8 o'clock at night, presenting a sad looking sight. The next day it required a large force to bring in the load, as it was a new road. Such is lumbering on the Madawaska.

CHRISTMAS TREE.

On Thursday evening, the 8th inst., the Sunday School scholars of St. John's Church, were gathered around a very handsome Christmas tree in their school room, which was entirely filled with the scholars and their friends, many having to stand all the time. The tree presented a very pretty object, all covered as it was with gifts to the children of various kinds; handsome books, bags of candies, comforters, woollen mitts, Noah's ark, &c., &c. The Rev. Mr. Bell distributed these articles to the children with a few remarks to each. Hymns were sung and a short address given. Every child was presented also with a large piece of plum cake. Altogether the evening was quite an enjoyable one.

DISTRICT ORANGE LODGE.

The annual meeting of the Lakefield District Orange Lodge was held in the Orange Hall in this village on Tuesday last. The meeting was numerously attended. It was decided to hold a district celebration on the 12th of July next, in Lakefield. The following office bearers were elected and installed:—

Bro. W. C. Sanders	District Master
" Jas. Moore	Dep. Dist. Master
" W. McDonald	Dis. Chaplain
" Wm. Graham	Dis. Secretary
" Thos. Hull	Dis. Treasurer
" Thos. Horner	Dis. D. of C.
" Richard Waram, sr.	Dis. Lecturer

MISSIONARY MEETING.

A missionary meeting will be held on Monday evening in the Presbyterian Church in Lakefield. The Rev. Mr. Beatty, of Port Hope, the Rev. Mr. Andrews, of Keene, and others, will deliver addresses. A collection will be taken up in aid of the mission fund.

DEER.

A fine deer passed through Lakefield on the west side of the river from west to south on Monday last. It was seen by several parties. It had evidently been chased by dogs. Some of our sports seemed inclined to give chase, but a wholesome fear of the grist mill prevented, and the deer was allowed to go unmolested.

MISSIONARY SERMON.

Rev. E. Roberts, of Peterborough, will preach a missionary sermon in the Bible Christian Church here on Sabbath evening next.

The Bible Christian missionary meeting will be held on Thursday evening next.

LAST COUNCIL MEETING.

There was no meeting of the old Council on Monday evening last on account of there being no quorum, the Reeve, Mr. John Dinwoodie, being away to Longford, and Councillors Garbatt and Nelson being laid up with severe colds.

NEW COUNCIL.

The new council will hold its first meeting in the Council Room on Monday evening next at 7.30 o'clock.

SLEIGHING.

The light fall of snow on Tuesday last has made quite an improvement in the sleighing, but more snow is anxiously looked for and expected, especially by the lumbermen.

PORT HOPE.

ATTEMPTED OUTRAGE.—The Guide says:—The following has just come to our knowledge. Late on Christmas eve as a gentleman was driving along the Cobourg road, a short distance out of town, he heard screams apparently of a female in distress, a short distance off. Presently a sleigh passed, driven at a furious rate, occupied by three men who were holding down a young woman who was struggling and calling loudly for help. The gentleman at once wheeled round and went in chase. The occupants of the sleigh, finding themselves pursued, stopped when they got some distance ahead, put the woman out, and then hurried off as fast as they could go. Our informant has a faint suspicion as to who the parties were.

NO QUORUM.—A special meeting of the Town Council was to have been held on Tuesday afternoon in re the Pacific Junction Railway scheme, but only two or three members put in an appearance.

BURGLARY.—On Saturday night last the butcher shop of F. Sandercock & Son, John street, was broken into and about $8 worth of meat stolen. The entrance was made through the front window. The guilty parties are suspected, and may get a time in the Kingston Penitentiary.

The DAILY EVENING REVIEW is delivered to subscribers at ten cents a week.

Remedy for Hard Times.

Stop spending so much on fine clothes, rich food and style. Buy good, healthy food, cheaper and better clothing; get more real and substantial things of life every way and especially stop the foolish habit of running after expensive and quack doctors or using so much of the vile humbug medicine that does you only harm, and makes the proprietors rich, but put your trust in the greatest of all simple, pure remedies, Hop Bitters, that cures always at a trifling cost, and you will see better times and good health. Try it once. Read it in another column. d166-1y

TWENTY-EIGHTH YEAR.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW FOR 1880.

AN ENTIRELY NEW FEATURE!

How to Obtain the Leading Papers and Save Money.

FAIR, SQUARE AND, RELIABLE OFFERS.

WITH the year 1880, the WEEKLY REVIEW will enter on its 28th year of publication. Notwithstanding the improvements which have been made upon it, and the ever increasing expenditure incurred to keep it AHEAD of any of its competitors, the annual subscription will remain as heretofore, only $1.50—postage paid by the publishers.

Splendid Clubbing Advantages.

The Proprietors of the REVIEW have great pleasure in announcing that they have made arrangements with the publishers of the following leading periodicals in Canada and the United States, by which they are enabled to club these periodicals with the WEEKLY REVIEW at remarkably low prices.

READ CAREFULLY.—Below are three columns of figures. The name of the paper or magazine is given, and the FIRST column gives the REGULAR PUBLISHER'S PRICE. The SECOND column gives the regular subscription price of the WEEKLY REVIEW. The THIRD column gives the price at which we are prepared to supply new subscribers with BOTH the paper or magazine and the WEEKLY REVIEW combined, for one year. It is certainly an object to save money these times, and it is easy to see by our Club List how it can be done.

OUR CLUB LIST.

	Regular Price.	Weekly Review.	Our Price for both.
THE WEEKLY MAIL	$1 00	$1 50	$2 00

RURAL NEW-YORKER.—This is the best Agricultural Weekly in America, and every subscriber who accepts this offer will also receive a package of the new varieties of Field, Garden, and Flower Seeds, free, which itself is valued at $2.50!

HARPER'S PUBLICATIONS count among their contributors an army of the ablest writers and artists of Europe and America, are profusely illustrated, and rank among the most popular of their kind on the American Continent.

THE LONDON TRACT SOCIETIES PUBLICATIONS.—The fact that Leisure Hour, Sunday at Home, and the Boy's Own Paper are issued by this Society, is an ample guarantee of their excellence in every respect.

THE CANADA PRESBYTERIAN.—Every subscriber to this paper will receive steel engraved copies of the companion pictures of the "Death of Nelson," and the "Meeting of Wellington and Blucher."

THE MAIL.—Subscribers to the Mail will also receive The Canadian Farm Annual for 1880, illustrated with 140 Engravings, and containing valuable information and practical suggestions or every Farmer.

How to get the Weekly Review for Nothing!

Any person subscribing for the WEEKLY REVIEW, and desiring to obtain two or more of the above publications along with the REVIEW, can have them at the price quoted, less $1.50. For example:—

HARPER'S MAGAZINE and WEEKLY REVIEW	$4 50
HARPER'S WEEKLY, additional, and without the WEEKLY REVIEW	3 20
Total for the Three	$7 70

Or, 30 cents less than the regular publishers price for Harper's Magazine and Harper's Weekly, with the WEEKLY REVIEW thrown in for nothing!

HOW TO SAVE MONEY!

Suppose you wish for 1880, to subscribe for the Weekly Mail, $1.00; Rural New-Yorker, $2.00; Harper's Magazine, $4.00; Methodist Magazine, $2.00; the lot will cost you direct, just $9.00, and you have four letters to write, four money orders to buy, and four separate risks to run. Now look at our price above; ALL WE ASK for the same periodicals, WITH THE WEEKLY REVIEW INCLUDED, is $7.90, and your papers and magazines will come promptly direct from the publishers, just the same as if you had ordered them yourself.

PLEASE OBSERVE.—All Postage is paid in full in Canada and United States.

ANOTHER SCHEME.

The WEEKLY REVIEW for 1880 will be sent (postage paid) to any person who has been a subscriber for the last twelve months, who sends us his renewal subscription—

NORWOOD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

MUNICIPAL.—Our municipal elections are over, and the people have elected the men of their choice, having retained two of the old Council, Mr. Reynolds and Mr. Griffin, and elected Messrs. Cope and Askey in the place of Messrs. Raddon and Finlay. Our worthy Reeve, J. B. Pearce, Esq., seems to have the unbounded confidence of the people (notwithstanding the many hard things said against him by his opponent and a few others,) he being elected by the handsome majority of 72, his majority last year being 19 over Mr. E. Roxburgh.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES.—Mr. P. W. Reynolds and Mr. Thomas Buck were elected School Trustees in place of Messrs. H. Reynolds and Paterson, who resigned.

SCHOOL OPENING.—Our school was opened last Wednesday by the new master from Kingston. There was a good attendance of scholars, and they are now in working order for another term. There are two changes in the teachers—the new master taking the place of Mr. Houghton, and Miss Laidlaw the place of Miss Powell.

WEEK OF PRAYER.—The week of prayer was observed in our two churches—in the Methodist Church by the Rev. Mr. Thom, and in the Presbyterian Church by the Rev. Mr. Fotheringham, who preached appropriate sermons to large congregations. The week of prayer will be continued this week in the Methodist Church, if the people still give their co-operation in the matter. The Rev. Mr. Kinnear, of Hastings, and the Rev. Mr. Thom, of Norwood, exchanged pulpits on Sunday evening.

A COLD DIP.—One of our Presbyterian Sunday School teachers went out on Sunday night to the eastern part of the village to enquire why the children at a certain house had absented themselves from school. He stayed some time till the night was inky dark, and then, lantern in hand, he started to retrace his steps homeward. He had not gone far when he stepped on ice and went through an inch. He said: "My boots are good; I will go farther," when lo! the inches lengthened to feet, and he found himself up to the neck in cold and clammy water. The time he made from there to the corner of Colborne and Peterborough streets beat Hanlan's by a few laps. Several citizens tried to keep pace and have a chat with him, but he shook them all, as there was no place like home and a warm suit of clothes about that time.

OUR NOBBY L. D. S. BEFORE THE BEAK.—The Town Hall was filled on Monday to hear the case of Prenevan, of Hastings, v. S. Bosanko, of Norwood. Prenevan charged Bosanko with having on Wednesday of last week cruelly abused his horse and damaged his cutter. The case was heard before Mr. Breckenridge, J.P., assisted by Messrs. Rorke, Fyfe, and Drain, J. P.s The plaintiff swore that defendant came to him on Wednesday last and hired a horse to go to Norwood about 6.30 in the evening. About 11 o'clock that night the horse returned to its stable without the cutter, but with the shafts attached to the horse. He swore that the horse was badly used up, being cut about its legs and over heated; that it had not left its stable since. He had several witnesses to prove that the horse was a safe horse, and had never been known to run away before. The defendant swore that he had taken proper care of the horse, and in driving from Norwood to Hastings, the roads being very icy, the cutter upset. He was thrown out and the horse got away from him. The party who rode with the defendant corroborated his statements. After several hours wrangling the case was dismissed, Prenevan having to pay the costs, $9. Prenevan claimed damages to horse $25, and to cutter $5.50.

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.—The annual meeting of the East Riding of Peterborough Agricultural Society will be held in the Town Hall here on Wednesday, January 21st, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

SKATING CARNIVAL.—The first skating carnival of the season will be held in the Lorne Skating Rink on Queen street, on Friday evening, the 16th instant, and is expected to be the event of the season. The manager, Jas. Calder, has spared no pains or expense in fitting the rink for the convenience and comfort of vistors, having fixed up the dressing rooms and added a gallery to the building and other improvements. The band has also been engaged for the occasion, and everything done to make the affair a success. Several parties from the neighboring villages have promised to appear on the ice.

BAD ROADS.—The weather of the past week was very unsettled, with heavy rains, which has taken away the snow, and the frost which has set in has left the roads very slippery. Only an occasional buggy or cutter is seen on our streets as the roads are almost impassable, and this has had quite an effect on business, not many people venturing out. A snow storm set in on Tuesday about 2 p.m.

GRAIN MARKET.—There is no market here for grain of any account. What is brought in is taken by Mr. Best, of the grist mills. He has been kept busy with custom gristing and has had a busy season. The principal grain buyers in this district are Fowlds & Brother, of Hastings, who have purchased very heavily this season, and are still prepared to pay the highest price for all grains delivered at their storehouse in Hastings.

MARKETS AT HASTINGS.—Spring Wheat $1.26; Fall do., $1.26. Barley, 60 cts. Rye, 70 cts. Peas, 60 cts. Oats, 32 cts. Straw— Hay, $6.50 to $7.00 per ton.

THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

The Toronto correspondent of the Guelph Herald, in the course of his description of the opening of the Local Legislature, says:—The audience were decidedly chary of their applause, and not even the mingled mirth and pathos of the passage respecting the fusion of the Law and Equity Courts, nor the sublimity of the brilliant peroration respecting the estimates of the current year, seemed to awake a responsive echo in the breasts of the assembled hearers. Enthusiasm was at a discount. Nobody cheered, or yelled, or threw up their hats, or stood on their heads, or seemed in fact to take anything more than a passive interest in the affair. The fuss and feathers of the business, the military parade, uniforms, cocked hats, swords, and all the rest of it were irresistably suggestive of H.M.S. "Pinafore." It would have seemed quite natural had His Excellency, instead of reading, very badly, the Speech from the Throne, burst out into some cheerful strain as the following:

Oh, I am Governor of Ontario,
Members—And a very good Governor too.
Lieutenant-Governor—You are very, very good, and be it understood,
I command a right good crew.
I never interfere
With your proceedings here.
I'm glad to welcome here each new beginner,
My salary I draw
In accordance with the law,
But I never, never ask a soul to dinner!
Members—What, never?
Lieut.-Gov.—No, never!
Members—What, never?
Lieut.-Gov.—Well, hardly ever!
Members—Hardly ever invites one to dinner.
Now give three cheers and three cheers more
For the strictly economical Gover-nore.

Now if some such little musical arrangement had been got up for the occasion, what a much greater amount of diversion and amusement would have been afforded than by the platitudinous formalities of speech.

FURTHER arrests of officers charged with Nihilism have been made in various parts of Russia.

LOCKS AND KEYS.

Locks are as plenty as grains of sand
Under the sun and over the land,
Locks that are strong as strong can be—
But what is a lock without a key?

We hunt and hunt the whole house o'er,
For the missing key that was in the door,
And no peace or comfort, I'll be bound,
Will come till the truant key is found.

This piece of steel with its curious make
We prize for the hidden treasure's sake,
And guard it well with a ring or clasp
To keep it out of the vandal's grasp.

Do you think, O, neighbor mine,
That our hearts have locks both strong and fine
To guard the wealth that therein may be,
And that some dear hand must hold the key?

A tender word in the hour of pain
Will bring forth tears like the summer rain;
Tears long pent up, like jewels bright,
Long hid from the glorious morning light.

And after the tears will come the calm,
The blessed rest and healing balm;
And less and less will seem the woe
That other souls our sorrows know.

A loving kiss will prove a key
To the children's hearts, so sweet and free,
And kind words scattered here and there
Are keys to the holy gate of prayer,

POISONS AS MEDICINES.

Things incidental to the use of drugs may not form a sufficient ground for the use or disuse of them. If a poison drug can be proved to save life in ten cases and destroy it in the eleventh, or if it aids in the restoration of a hundred and does great injury in a single case, it may be best to use it and let the one be sacrificed for the benefit of the ten or the hundred. But is it true that people recover any more rapidly or certainly by the use of poison-drugs than without their use? Will any candid and intelligent practitioner presume to say that he knows his success in a hundred or a thousand cases might not have been quite as good without drugs as with them? If it is claimed that experience has proved the necessity for drugs, and settled their merits as restoratives on a firm basis, must the claim be admitted without questioning its validity? If drugs have been used and the patient has recovered, must we conclude that the recovery could not have taken place without the drugs? Is it not the tendency to reason thus? "He was sick; he took drugs; he got well. Therefore, the drugs cured him." Why not reason the same way when the result is different? "He was sick; he took drugs; he died. Therefore, the drugs killed him." If all sick persons who take no drugs die, and many who take them get well, such reasoning might prove something. But every candid observer knows this is not true. The question stands thus; Dr. A. has treated a hundred cases in the past few months. Ninety of them recovered perfectly, and four partially, and one died. Good success! The doctor cured ninety-five per cent., and lost but one! But did he? How would it have been if he had not been called? Would all have died? Would one-half or one-fourth have died? Would the number of deaths have been greater than it has proved under his treatment? Without saying that it would not, we challenge anyone to prove the contrary. The fact is, experience is an unreliable teacher here. No two cases are quite the same. No two constitutions are just alike. The vital force in two persons, apparently much alike may differ greatly. The invasion of disease may be much more powerful in one case than in another, and the fact not be apparent at first. Hence, none can safely infer that the result in two similar cases will be the same, with or without treatment. Till statistics have been carefully kept for a series of years, and covering an extensive field, showing results in an equal number of cases of all kinds of disease, treated with and without drugs, the evidence will not carry with it the weight so generally given it by the advocates of drug medication. Then why not consider this an open question, any apply ourselves to the work of settling it upon an intelligent basis?

Admitting, however, that drugs do more good than harm, and that more cases recover with their use than would recover without them—an admission we make as a hypothesis, and not as an established fact—there are many things incidental to the use of them that may well be taken into the account. One of these is the frequent and fatal mistakes made by physicians in making their prescriptions; of druggists in compounding them, and manufacturing chemists in preparing, labelling, and shipping the various drugs used in them.

A few years since, the papers contained a notice of forty mysterious and sudden deaths opposite St. Louis, which were found to result from the administration of corrosive sublimate instead of calomel. In this case the error was traced to the house where the poison was prepared in London, England. A quarter of a century since, in one of our large Western cities, a Jewish child was killed by the prescription of a German physician, put up by a young man who had not been informed that his prescriptions were to be put up by the Prussian instead of the American of nux vomica. Another such case, in the same city, was the death of the child of an eminent physician, caused by an error in a prescription written by the father, and administered in his absence on his daily round of professional calls. And still another was the administration of sulph. morphia, administered to the estimable wife of a popular city pastor, whose medical adviser intended to write sulph. quinia instead. A case, coming home to the writer with still sadder memories, is that of a beloved brother, not very sick, killed by the administration of incompatibles containing prussic acid, which was set free by chemical reaction. If all the known cases of such errors were collected for a single year, it would make a formidable list. And what of the unknown cases? Many occurring in the practice of the most intelligent and careful physicians, no doubt, escape notice. Many more in the hands of ignorant and careless practitioners, not only pass unnoticed, but they in whose hands these cases occur are too often incapable of detecting their cause, should attention be directed to it.

These thoughts are prompted by the death of Mr. Geo. Arthur Gardner, caused by arsenical poison introduced into a decaying tooth to kill the nerve. His case was an unusually aggravated one. This, and his prominent standing as a citizen of Boston, a member of a family of high social position, makes it the more noticeable. May it not be well to consider whether all the benefits of arsenic in such cases can compensate for the life of one such man destroyed by it?—J. S. Galloway, M.D., in Phrenological Journal.

MILLBROOK.

A LIVELY TIME.—The Messenger says it is expected that our municipal heroes will have a lively time settling affairs between the township and village. Already, it is rumoured that the township business will be removed to Cavanville. It is to be hoped that it is only rumour. It has been urged that the Township Council cannot legally hold its first sitting in Millbrook. This is all nonsense. How was it, for years, the township of Hope Council transacted their business in their rooms, in Wilson's block, (now Col. William's block), where their business was done for the accommodation of farmers doing their trading in Port Hope.

What all Men Should Know.

To Relieve a Cough.—The troublesome cough caused by an accumulation of phlegm in the throat, especially in the morning, experienced mostly by persons affected with Chronic Catarrh, can be relieved almost instantly by taking a teaspoonful of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam, which has the advantage of being harmless to the stomach, and at the same time improving the appetite. w1d150-2w

Swallowed a Baby.

When Thackeray visited our shores for the first time and was invited to partake of a dish of oysters, the the size of our saddle rocks astonished him. Accustomed to the small copper-tainted oyster of his own native isle, he paused. But only for an instant, and in one gulp it was down. "How do you feel?" asked a friend. "I feel as though I had swallowed a baby," was the reply. To the benighted foreigner our oysters are a revelation as is also SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL combined with the HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA, which for debility, all bronchial affections and consumption stands unrivalled. It is also acceptable to the most delicate stomach. w3d1-1m

A POSITIVE FACT.—Nervousness is the cause of feebleness, or the lack of stability of the nervous system, as distinguished from the rest of the body. It is pre-eminently a disease, and more widely spread through the Northern and Eastern part of the United States and the Dominion of Canada than in any other part of the world. We will not stop to say why this is the case, but we do emphatically say the Victoria Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites will be found an invaluable medicine for all parties afflicted with Nervousness, Dyspepsia, Consumption, Defective Nutrition, General Debility, or weakness of the whole system. One of the first effects is an increase of the nervous or vital energy, followed by a feeling of unusual comfort and strength. For sale by all dealers. w1d160-2w

Hagyard's Yellow Oil is one of the surest remedies in the world for the cure of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Spinal and Bronchial Complaints, Deafness, Ear Ache, Croup, Sprains, Bruises, Galls, Stiff Joints, Swelled Hands, Sore Nipples, Stiff Neck, Chilblains, Tetter, Frost Bites, Chopped Hands, Wounds, Cuts, Sore Throat, Stings of Insects, Shortness of Breath, or any Diseases that are painful or sore. We have no hesitation in recommending it for any of the above complaints, and believe it the quickest and most perfect combination known to remove pain from almost any cause, and can be used either internally or externally. For particulars see wrapper accompanying each bottle. For sale by all dealers, price 25 cts. w1d150-2w

Among the Luxuries of Life.

But a brief period has passed since when a month's time was necessary to accomplish a journey of few hundred miles and then we went lumbering over the rough country, highways on springless seats. Now the same journey is made in sumptuous drawing room cars, with all the comforts and many of the luxuries brought to us by servants. Once upon a time when we found it necessary to our health we set apart a brief period to "doctor up" and then came a struggle with that awful Castor Oil. Now we sip it from the bottle while we continue regularly at our vocations. But it is SCOTT & BOWNE'S PALATABLE CASTOR OIL we take. It is one of the luxuries of life that is afforded at 25 cents. w3d1-1m Wallack's Orchestra.—The orchestra of Wallack's Theatre, New York, is famous for its extraordinary precision. This is due entirely to Thomas Baker, an Englishman, who has conducted it for years. Mr. Baker used to suffer terribly from rheumatism, but now is as supple and nimble as a school boy. He ascribes his freedom, as he ought, to Giles' Liniment Iodide Ammonia.

MANHOOD:

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

WE have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Receipts by Railroad.

The Midland Railway brought up sixteen bales of paper hangings for Wilson & Davis, which are to be opened up for inspection at once. Other goods are to follow. The patterns, designs and styles are new and attractive.

The Firemen's Pay.

The members of the Fire Brigade under the old system, are hereby informed that the amounts due will be paid to them this evening, provided they put in an appearance at the Firemen's Hall.

Legal.

We are glad to see that Mr. C. S. Wallis is about to enter upon the practice of his profession in Peterborough, having taken offices in the old post office block, on Water street, immediately over Hall and Ostrom's biscuit manufactory.

Theft of Skates.

On Tuesday night the Curling and Skating Rink was broken into, and three pairs of skates were taken from the private boxes of the ticket holders. If the skates are returned no questions will be asked, otherwise trouble will undoubtedly result.

St. George's Society.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough St. George's Society will be held in the Council Chamber, on Wednesday evening, January 21st, at half-past seven o'clock. The officers for the current year will be elected, and other business of importance will be considered, so every member should attend.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district, as reported from Toronto at 10 o'clock to day are: Moderate to fresh winds, partly cloudy weather. The weather in Peterborough has been all that could be desired for winter. A keen atmosphere, clear sky, and moderate west wind has prevailed. The thermometer indicated this morning at 8 o'clock 23°, rising to 35° at noon.

Distress in Ireland.

The public meeting this evening to consider the best means of aiding in the relief of the wide-spread distress in Ireland, should be fully attended. General sympathy is excited on behalf of these sufferers, and will no doubt be practically manifested, but it will be well to have a full discussion of the most fitting method of giving not only temporary relief, but also of permanently benefitting them.

Insurance.

Mr. Duncan McLeod has assumed the agency of the Sun Mutual Life Insurance Company of Montreal, and we anticipate that he will obtain a fair share of patronage. The Company has a large, sound and increasing business, with a substantial cash reserve. Under the management of such gentlemen as their President, Mr. Thos. Workman, and their Vice-president, Mr. M. H. Gault, M. P., with a strong board of directors, the affairs of the company are sure to be well and safely administered.

Confidence Theft.

On Saturday night last a young man who gave the name of Riley, but whose real name is Papin, and a nephew of the notorious Mrs. McCutcheon, now an inmate of the county jail, stopped at the Stewart House, engaging lodgings until Monday. On the same evening a young Irishman named Kenwick arrived and stopped at the house. Here he made the acquaintance of Papin. At bed-time Papin asked that they occupy a double bedded room together. Everything passed off satisfactorily on Saturday night, and the twain became intimate on Sunday. On Monday morning Papin alias Riley arose before daylight, saying to Kenwick that he had to go down stairs, and as his boots were larger and easier to get on, he would use them, his own being tight. On arising at a late hour Kenwick was surprised to find that his companion had not returned, and immediately notified Mr. Cavanagh of the circumstances. Search was accordingly made, but no tidings of Riley or the missing boots could be learned. Upon further investigation it was found that Papin had taken all his money and his trunk check and decamped. Mr. Cavanagh, upon getting a clue [illegible] as far as [illegible], where he [illegible] sight of Papin, made arrangements with Constable Cook to keep a watch for him. Yesterday Mr. Cavanagh received a telegram from the Constable that Papin had returned to his home about four miles from Hastings, and asking if he should arrest him. Word was telegraphed back to do so, and the thief is expected to arrive at the county jail this evening. It is stated that Papin is a notorious thief, who not long since stole a horse from Lakefield.

The Irish Society Mission Work.

The illustrated lecture of the Rev. John Roe, at the School House, Ashburnham, last evening, in the interest of the Irish Society, was largely attended, the hall being well filled. The Rev. Mr. Bradshaw, of St. Luke's Church, occupied the chair, and introduced the lecturer, reading a letter from the Bishop of the Diocese recommending the subject to the earnest consideration of the people. The lecturer dwelt on the obligation of church men to support this and kindred missions, and appealed to the ordination service, the articles and the canons of the Church in proof of this. He then referred to the early Irish Church, and maintained that it was pure and independent of Rome up to 1172. He spoke of the mistake which England made at the Reformation in not giving the Irish Church the prayer-book and Bible in their own language. He strongly urged the duty and necessity of giving the people the Bible in their own tongue and insisted that the Bible is the only hope of Ireland. In the course of his lecture he gave some strong reasons for supporting the Irish Society. He also read the following important letter from the general clerical Secretary:—

DECEMBER, 27th, 1879.

MY DEAR ROE,—I perceive that efforts are being made through Canada and the United States to send relief to the distressed districts in Ireland. Will you press upon all that the Irish Society carries on its work in the most distressed districts, and that our Irish teachers in those districts are sufferers, especially in this respect. Our funds being low we were compelled to reduce the work and earning of the teachers. We have saved this year £450, but the poor teachers are the losers. Therefore if our friends wish to relieve real distress they will enable us to resume the full employment of these teachers, thus giving them money for work done, and giving wider and deeper circulation to the word of God. I will write again on this subject.

Yours very sincerely,
WILLIAM FITZPATRICK.

REV. JOHN ROE.

After stating the objects and aims of the Society, he proceeded to give the audience some idea of the scenery and ancient and modern styles of architecture of Ireland. These were illustrated by the aid of the magic lantern, and were both interesting and instructive. There were many views of the churches, parsonages and missions erected by the Society, giving one a very clear view of the condition of Ireland, the Irish people and the Irish Church.

HALIBURTON.

From Our own Correspondent.

DRAMATIC ENTERTAINMENT.—On Friday evening a dramatic entertainment was given for the benefit of the Cricket Club by a party of amateurs from Bobcaygeon. The Town Hall was filled with an audience numbering nearly two hundred, visitors from Lindsay, Bobcaygeon, Kinmount and Minden being present, besides our villagers and neighbours. The first part of the performance was the farce of "Little Toddlekins," the characters being represented by Messrs. J. G. Edwards, C. Stewart, Jr., and McDermott, Miss Goulais and Miss Stewart, who all acquitted themselves well. As an interlude Mrs. Colman and Messrs. Niven and Scott each sang a song, which were received with applause. Then came the event of the evening, the performance of the comic operetta "The Gipsy Countess." The principal parts were taken by Miss Goulais, Miss Stewart, Miss Reynold, Miss Steele, the Messrs. Stewart, Mr. J. G. Edwards, Mr. J. H. Thompson and Mr. McDermott. The opening chorus of gipsys from the opera of "Madame Angot" was sung with great effect, and raised a pleasant anticipation of what was to come, which was not disappointed. Miss Goulais as "Zilla," the gipsy Countess; Mr. Stewart as "Count Aranza" especially distinguished themselves, as did Mr. McDermott when singing "Russell's Maniac" as a gipsy mad with love for "Zilla." The operetta concluded with a grand chorus dance and tableau, at which the curtain fell amid tremenduous applause. The dramatic talent of this amateur company was unanimously acknowledged, especially that of the Stewart family. The scenery, we may add, was very effective and [illegible], and the music of the operetta was excellently played by Mrs. Stewart. A ball, which was kept up till [illegible] o'clock, concluded the evening's amusement.

MUNICIPAL.—The election here passed off very quietly, Bain being elected for Reeve over Groom by 28 of a majority. The Councillors elected were: Dugan, Agnew, Gould, Quarry. Paterson and Quarry were ties, but the returning officer gave the casting vote for Quarry.

THE WEATHER.—The snow is nearly all gone and it is raining hard.

A VETERAN'S DEATH.—An old German settler of the name of Prinzow died early this morning, aged 88. He leaves a widow and one daughter who is married.

LUMBERING.—Some of the shanties are breaking up on account of the want of snow, the lumbermen thinking it not safe to cut too many logs.

MIDNIGHT TELEGRAMS

From Despatches to the Globe and Montreal [illegible]

CABLE.

THE HATTON GARDEN CHURCH OUTRAGE.

LONDON, Jan. 14.—Schoma, the man who attempted the other morning to assassinate the priest of Hatton Garden Church while at mass, admits that he is a Socialist, but denies that he had confederates in the crime. He is not German, but evades giving his nationality. He is more recently from New York, where he resided three years, and where he left his wife.

FRESH MEAT FROM THE ANTIPODES.

A despatch from Suez says that fresh meat from Australia had reached Suez in excellent condition.

THE FRENCH TARIFF.

PARIS, Jan. 14.—M. Tirard, French Minister of Agriculture and Commerce, has declared against the duty on raw material, coal, wheat and cattle.

DEATH OF A DUKE.

LONDON, Jan. 14.—A Wiesbaden despatch says Frederick, Duke of Schleswig-Holstein, died to-day suddenly. Frederick Christian Augustus, Duke of Schleswig-Holstein, was born on the 6th July, 1829, and was married on the 11th September, 1856, to Princess Adelaide, daughter of the late Prince of Hohenlohe, by whom he had several children. His successor will be his son Ernest, born at Dolzig on the 11th August, 1863. Prince Christian, the husband of Princess Helena of England, is the deceased's brother.

THE QUEEN'S CONTRIBUTION.

LONDON, Jan. 14.—Lord Randolph Churchill, son of the Duke of Marlborough, the Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland, writes to the Times contradicting Mr. Parnell's statement that the Queen contributed nothing. In 1847 he says that Her Majesty subscribed £2,000, Prince Albert £500, and other members of the Royal family £600. As soon as the present fund of the Duchess of Marlborough was opened the Queen was the first to contribute £500.

"WE ARE STARVING."

DUBLIN, Jan. 14.—A despatch from Galway states that the distress among the unemployed is increasing, and that numbers of them are parading the streets crying "We are starving." The situation among the people is constantly growing worse. A hundred families are in great destitution, and none of the means of relief thus far devised seem adequate to meet their necessities.

RELIEF WORKS.

LONDON, Jan. 14.—The Government this afternoon issued regulations summoning Baronial sessions for the object of taking into consideration methods for providing work and employment for the unskilled labor of Ireland. So far as practicable, works are to be undertaken at once, and to be under the supervision of landed sanitary authorities.

RUSSIAN INFLUENCE.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 14.—The Golos considers that events are taking such a direction that in all probability Balkh and the adjoining provinces will come under Russian influence.

ABOLITION OF SLAVERY.

MADRID, Jan. 14.—The Chamber of Deputies have commenced discussion of the Government's bill for the gradual abolition of slavery in Cuba.

CANOVAS DEL CASTILLO'S COURSES.

PARIS, Jan. 14.—Le Temps says advices from Madrid state that the Premier is still endeavoring to induce the opposition members of the Cortes to resume their seats. It is rumoured if he fails, he will take one of three courses, propose a law declaring the seats of the absentees vacant, dissolve the Cortes, or resign. If he adopts the latter course, Sagasta will form a new Cabinet. Martinez Campos has promised to support Sagasta if the King calls the Liberals to power.

GARIBALDI'S DIVORCE.

ROME, Jan. 14.—The Court of Appeals, the highest tribunal for civil cases in Italy, has issued its formal decree annulling the marriage between Gen. Garibaldi and his wife, the Senora Raimondi, with whom the general has not cohabited since the day of the marriage.

PROSPECTS OF A CONFLICT.

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 14.—A Lewiston special says the excitement here to-night is intense. The Fusionists openly boast that they have 600 men in Lewiston ready to obey orders from Lamson. Over sixty Fusionists, every one reported heavily armed, left to-day by different routes for Augusta. The Lewiston light infantry, one of two Irish companies in the State, are reported willing to obey orders from Lamson. The Auburn infantry and Lewiston artillery will both obey orders from Chamberlain if there should be a conflict.

AMERICAN.

A LARGE DIVIDEND.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—The St. Nyvesant Bank failed 10 years ago. The assignee now announces that he will pay all depositors a dividend of 3 cents on the dollar.

GOVERNOR OF MAINE.

AUGUSTA, Jan. 14.—Fusionists say that if Smith is chosen Governor to-day they will have a meeting for rejoicing to-night, ring bells and burn tar barrels. Senator Rogers, of Penobscot, says that a crash is coming between labor and capital, and if Smith is put in the gubernatorial chair we shall see which will win. The police at the State House were strengthened this forenoon by the addition of 50 men. Should Smith be chosen it is alleged that Chamberlain would not recognize him as Governor.

LEAVING HIS DEBTS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—A. Smith, President of the Cigar Manufacturers National Association, who disappeared recently, has left debts aggregating $50,000.

OUTRAGE ON BRITISH SUBJECTS.

LONDON, Jan. 14.—The Portuguese authorities at Delagoa Bay recently arrested and searched certain British subjects on suspicion of illegal practices. The matter has been brought to the attention of the Foreign Office here, and a satisfactory explanation or the release of the prisoners accused has been demanded.

"German Syrup."

No other medicine in the world was ever given such a test of its curative qualities as Boschee's German Syrup. In three years two million four hundred thousand small bottles of this medicine were distributed free of charge by Druggists in this country to those afflicted with Consumption, Asthma, Croup, severe Coughs, Pneumonia and other diseases of the Throat and Lungs, giving the American people undeniable proof that German Syrup will cure them. The result has been that Druggists in every town and village in the United States are recommending it to their customers. Go to your Druggist, and ask what they know about it. [illegible] Three doses will relieve any case. dw31-1y

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, JANUARY 16, 1880.

CANADIAN TELEGRAMS.

ST. CATHARINES.

Special to the Review, Jan. 16.

BALL ROOM BURNED.—A fire was discovered in a large frame building used for dancing assemblies at the Cremorne gardens about one o'clock this morning. The fire had obtained such headway that nothing could save the building.

BROCKVILLE.

Special to the Review, Jan. 16.

THE RIVER OPEN.—The ferry is running hourly between Brockville and Morristown.

SUMMER HOTEL.—A joint stock company has been formed here with a capital of $25,000 to build a grand summer hotel on Smith's Island, one mile west from here.

A FORGED CHEQUE.—The Molson's Bank has taken proceedings against the corporation for $2,000, a protested note, which was drawn up by the late Town Clerk, Taylor, and signed by the Mayor, said note being a forgery of the clerk.

UXBRIDGE.

Special to the Review, Jan. 16.

ONTARIO PACIFIC JUNCTION.—At the Council meeting held last Thursday evening, a communication from Mr. J. D. Edgar was read relative to the Ontario Pacific Junction Railway Company. Mr. Harman, seconded by Mr. Walks, moved that the Reeve and Clerk be instructed to sign and attach the seal of this corporation to a petition to the Governor-General in Council, praying for a subsidy from the Dominion Government to the Ontario and Pacific Junction Railway, and forward the same to the Secretary of State for Canada at Ottawa.

OTTAWA.

Special to the Review, Jan. 16.

MINISTERIAL CHANGES.—The Citizen says that by medical advice the Hon. Mr. Masson resigns his position as Minister of Militia. The following changes therefore ensue:—Mr. Masson becomes President of the Council, Sir A. Campbell Minister of Militia, and the Hon. John O'Connor Postmaster-General.

ACCIDENT.—In consequence of an accident to the Hon. D. D. Wilmot, Speaker of the Senate, it is doubtful if he will be able to resume his Parliamentary duties at the approaching session.

BELLEVILLE.

Special to the Review, Jan. 16.

THE GRAND JUNCTION.—At a meeting of the City Council last night, a letter was read from Mr. H. Cameron, Q.C., solicitor for the Grand Junction Railway contractors, declaring that his clients cannot accept the conditions of the by-law for the extension of the time for the completion of the road to Peterborough, and threatening litigation unless the time is extended without conditions, which he holds it is alone in the power of the Council to do. The matter was referred to the new Council, which will meet on Monday. The Council adopted a petition to the Dominion Government for a subsidy to the Ontario and Pacific Junction Railway.

From the Morning Papers.

BELLEVILLE.

SHIPMENTS OF IRON ORE.—Eleven car loads of iron ore were shipped to Buffalo, N.Y., on Thursday. Wilmot & Co. made a shipment of all car loads of iron ore the same day, being the first taken from the Sexsmith mine, which has been opened lately. This mine belongs to the Wallbridge Brothers, and is one of the richest in the north. The ore goes via Buffalo to Youngstown, Ohio.

MONTREAL.

THE COTEAU BRIDGE.—Mr. Fortin, the member for Gaspe, in his argument against the Coteau bridge, quotes from a memorial made by Mr. Page, Chief Engineer of the Department of Public Works, to the House of Commons in 1878, which says:—"Before closing these remarks I consider it proper to state that in my opinion there is no part of the river St. Lawrence between Kingston and Montreal where the piers of a bridge would be likely to cause so much damage to navigation by backwater as they would at the place selected for a bridge at Coteau."

MONTREAL.

THE GENERAL COMMANDING.—There is a probability of H. R. H. the Duke of Cambridge appointing Lord Alexander George Russell, at present in command of the South-Eastern Military District in England, to succeed Lieut.-General Sir Selby Smythe in the command of the Dominion Militia. Lord Alexander has seen some service in Canada, having been quartered in Montreal during the time the 1st Battalion Rifle Brigade was here.

ROYAL SAILORS.—H. M. ship Northampton, bearing the flag of Vice-Admiral Sir Leopold McClintock, it is rumored, will make her number at Halifax, N.S., in time to receive Her Royal Highness the Princess Louise; the Bellerophon, with the flag of Admiral Sir Edward Inglefield will, in all probability, be there also, as well as the steamship Bacchante, with the Prince of Wales' two boys on board, Albert Victor and George Frederick.

Remedy for Hard Times.

Stop spending so much on fine clothes, rich food and style. Buy good, healthy food, cheaper and better clothing; get more real and substantial things of life every way and especially stop the foolish habit of running after expensive and quack doctors or using so much of the vile humbug medicine that does you only harm, and makes the proprietors rich, but put your trust in the greatest of all simple, pure remedies, Hop Bitters, that cures always at a trifling cost, and you will see better times and good health. A COLLECTIVE REPRESENTATION.

VIENNA, Jan. 15.—The chief reason of the refusal of Austria-Hungary, together with England, to accede to the Russian proposal for a collective representation to the Porte in the matter of the cession of Gusinge to Montenegro was that a collective step of this kind might lead to consequences which, by some of the Powers at least, were not originally contemplated. As regards Austria-Hungary in particular, her representative at Constantinople pointed out to the Turkish Government in September last that she attaches very great importance to the cession of Gusinge and Plava in accordance with the Berlin Treaty, and he obtained strict assurances from the Porte on the subject, all of which have so far been fulfilled. Austria-Hungary has consequently striven to restrain Montenegro from taking any active steps in the matter, and her efforts were successful until the recent conflict with the Albanians at Veliko. The Russian scheme, now that Austria-Hungary and England have declined to take part in it, though Germany, France and Italy seemed to look upon it less unfavourably, may be regarded as abandoned, but the Porte while thus relieved from the fear of a European intervention on behalf of Montenegro will do well in its own interest to promote the speedy settlement of this delicate question.

THE GENERAL ELECTION.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—The Right. Hon. W. H. Smith, First Lord of the Admiralty, at a Conservative dinner at Sutton, said the country might expect a general election within twelve months.

M. TAINE AN ACADEMICIAN.

PARIS, Jan. 15.—The formal reception of Hippolyte Adolphe Taine into the Academy today was attended by a brilliant gathering of scientists and men of letters.

A DENIAL FROM GERMANY.

BERLIN, Jan. 15.—The North German Gazette publishes an article denying certain statements of the French press that Germany interfered in the internal affairs of France.

JOINT ACTION INVITED.

The Powers have been invited to send representatives to Albania to investigate affairs there with a view to the permanent pacification of Albania and Montenegro.

A STRIKING REVELATION.

BERLIN, Jan. 15.—The quarrel at Kalisch, Poland, between the officers of a Russian regiment and their German guests is regarded here as a striking revelation of the present tone of Russian military circles.

EXPLANATIONS DEMANDED.

BERLIN, Jan. 15.—The Prussian officers who became involved in a quarrel with their entertainers at Kalisch immediately communicated the incident to the military authorities. The Emperor William was much shocked on hearing the news. The German Ambassador at St. Petersburg has been instructed to ask explanations from Russia.

CAUSE OF THE PESTH TROUBLE.

PESTH, Jan. 15.—A Pesth despatch says the military shot two persons in the riot on Wednesday night. No disturbances would have occurred if the police had not provoked the people by their brutality. The workmen are reported to be marching from the suburbs to the inner town. Another Pesth despatch asserts that upwards of twenty-five persons were killed and wounded, and fresh disturbances were apprehended on Thursday night. Soldiers are confined in the barracks. Ill-feeling against the Tisza Government is [illegible] with the present [illegible]. It is feared provincial towns will follow the example of Pesth.

REINFORCEMENT OF THE GARRISON.

The garrison of Pesth will be reinforced by one regiment each of infantry and dragoons.

NAVAL OFFICER'S LITERATURE.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—A St. Petersburg telegram says a naval officer has been arrested at Nicolaieff, having in his possession a quantity of revolutionary literature.

THE DUCHESS OF MARLBOROUGH'S FUND.

DUBLIN, Jan. 16.—The Duchess of Marlborough's Fund for relief of the distress amounts to £19,000.

PROCESS-SERVERS IN MAYO COUNTY.

A despatch from Claremorris, Mayo County, states that a large force of armed constabulary has gone to Knockgleard as protection to a number of process-servers, who are to serve ejectment papers at the latter place to-day. Great excitement prevails at Claremorris, and along the route taken by the constabulary. The people are determined to resist the serving of the writs, and serious rioting is feared.

HANDSOME DONATIONS.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—The Mayor of Sydney, N.S.W., telegraphs that $10,000 has been subscribed in that city, and Liverpool merchants engaged in the American provision trade have subscribed $5,000 to the relief of Irish distress.

FATAL GUN ACCIDENT.

REHOBOTH, Mass., Jan. 15.—Yesterday Chas. West and Hiram Kingman were hunting. Kingman raising his gun hastily it was discharged, blowing off part of West's head.

THE COLORED MIGRATION.

PETERSBURG, Va., Jan. 15.—A hundred colored emigrants arrived from Goldsboro, N. C., en route for Indiana. Several hundred more will shortly follow.

AN AGED DEFAULTER.

LOUISVILLE, Jan. 15.—Last evening a committee who were examining the books of the Savings Bank of Louisville, said to cashier Rhober:—"Now we will examine your accounts." Rhober took up a pen and wrote:—"Deficit $6,760" and left the bank. He was caught on his way to jail, where he proposed to give himself up. The bank will make the deficit good. Rhober is aged 70.

THE GOVERNOR OF MAINE.

AUGUSTA, Jan. 16.—Smith has been chosen Governor. He is not as rash man and will await the decision of the courts on the questions before them before taking a single step that will interfere with the orders of Chamberlain. Smith will not be recognized as Governor by Chamberlain.

THE PESTH TUMULT.

A Vienna correspondent says that the worst of the Pesth mob was composed entirely of foreigners and roughs. The International Society is believed to be at the bottom of the mischief. All the newspapers denounce the authors of the tumult.

A MEMBER CENSURED.

PARIS, Jan. 16.—M. De Baudry d'Asson in his attack on the Ministry in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday, said the Government, being in a state of political bankruptcy, the motto of "Liberty, Equality and Fraternity" should be replaced by "Servility, Rapacity and Iniquity." For this language a vote of censure was passed.

A SUSPICIOUS ORDER.

AUGUSTA, Jan. 16.—At 5 o'clock this morning the light infantry of Gardiner had orders to appear at their armory at 9 this morning. The men were gathering early. There was no disturbance at the State House last night. No one is admitted without a pass to-day.

RENEWED RIOTS.

PESTH, Jan. 16.—The rioting was renewed last night on a formidable scale. The gas lamps in front of the Casino Club House were broken and shots were fired at the police. One policeman was wounded, and 21 rioters were arrested.

A STORMY PASSAGE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—The schooner No Name, which arrived yesterday, from York River, reports an exceedingly stormy passage. Two sailors, who were fastening a sail aloft, fell into the water and were drowned.

A DANGEROUS LUNATIC.

ARMSTRONG, Kansas, Jan 16.—Calvin Thompson, who was adjudged insane yesterday, arose early and shot James Morris, his step-father. Thompson was to have been taken to the asylum to-day.

THE MEEKER MASSACRE.

The Sun says the true history of the causes of the Meeker massacre, related by Gen. Adams before the House Committee yesterday, disclosed that Meeker was blameworthy for harsh treatment of the Utes.

RAILWAY TRUSTEE.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 16.—The Governor has appointed Robert, T. Lincoln trustee of the Illinois Central Railway.

A BUTCHER'S KNIFE.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 16.—Louis Antonet, a butcher, Wm. Lowman and Robt. Keifer engaged in a drunken row last night, during which Antonet drew a butcher's knife and cut Keifer's throat fatally. He claims that he acted in self-defence.

A LEGISLATIVE BLUNDER.

COLUMBIA, S.C., Jan. 16.—By a careless mistake, an error occurred in the Supply Act passed by the last Legislature, by which the State tax was made 42 mills instead of 41. An extra session of the Legislature will probably be necessary, if the Supreme Court has not the power to rectify the mistake.

EXPELLED FROM HIS CHURCH.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Samuel Webb, a Hoboken [illegible], who is accused of lottery dealing under an assumed name, has been expelled from the Methodist Church.

BAYARD'S RESOLUTION.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—The Tribune says that Bayard expresses himself no longer hopeful of the passage of his resolution through the Senate.

PROMPT WEATHER REPORTS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—The German Government has requested information concerning the processes by which the United States signal service weather reports are so promptly collected.

STRAWBERRIES RIPENED.

CHARLESTON, S.C., Jan. 16.—This remarkable weather has ripened the strawberries, and shipments to New York will probably commence this week.

BRIBERY IN MAINE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—The Sun's Augusta report says that the evidence elicited by the Bribery Investigation Committee is very damaging to Blaine, it apparently being demonstrated that he used the party fund [illegible] funds with which to corrupt the Legislature. Chamberlain is trying to please everybody and is really pleasing nobody. He is said to be completely under Blaine's control.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—A bill to elect presidential electors by congressional districts has been introduced in the New Jersey Legislature.

NEGRO NEGOTIATION.

Twenty negroes arrived from Arkansas yesterday, desiring to go to Liberia. As they could not be accommodated they were sent to friends in Pennsylvania.

THEY HAVE "GOT CONGRESS."

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—A Washington special report to the Herald says that gross violations of the law by Assistant Postmaster-General Brady have been disclosed. The House Committee investigating his practices has allowed Brady to be insolent and offensive with an amount of patient long suffering which goes far to give color to the boasts of the Star Route lobby that they have "got Congress."

COAL MINER'S STRIKE.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 16.—A great strike exists among the coal miners, extending through the Monongahela and Mahoning Valleys, and along the Pan Handle and Baltimore, Ohio and Pennsylvania Railroads. Many iron mills will have to shut down on account of lack of fuel. A coal famine exists here in the heart of the coal regions. The miners having demanded an advance of wages, were ordered to stop work by the miners' organization. New men are being put to work in the same mines. There will probably be the usual riots.

ONTARIO MANUFACTURERS IN SESSION

The Eighth Annual Meeting—The Government Thanked for the N.P.—Nobody Dissatisfied—Even the Agricultural Implement Makers Pleased.

BOTH the Globe and Mail of Thursday contain a lengthy report of the annual meeting of the Ontario Manufacturers' Association, from which we cull the following:—

Mr. E. Gurney, jr., President, opened the meeting with an address, in the course of which he said "that the Tilley tariff is the boldest piece of commercial legislation that had ever been had in Canada," and that "he had confidence to predict for all classes of industry a season of prosperity equal to the hopes of the most sanguine supporters of that measure." After the old officers had been re-elected, Mr. W. H. Howland, in the course of moving the following resolution, said:—"In looking back over the past, they all could see how black a time they had passed through, and how many were on the verge of ruin. He did not think they realized at the time the blackness of the commercial interests of the country. If things had continued in the condition they were in at one time, all the industries of the country would have been closed. He thought they had every reason to be thankful for the great change that had come about. The National Policy had been tried. The country sympathized with the policy, which had been to a great extent the cause of the return of prosperity." Mr. Howland moved, seconded by Mr. D. McKechnie, of Dundas,—

"That this Association desires to express its general approval of the tariff legislation of the last session of the Dominion Parliament, which it is evident has in a large measure helped to bring about the marked commercial improvement and financial confidence now existing in this country."

The motion was carried unanimously.

In seconding the motion Mr. McKechnie congratulated the meeting that "they had now a National Policy that would protect and encourage the manufacturing interests of Canada. Since the enforcement of the tariff he had failed to find a single man that was dissatisfied with the working of the tariff."

In the course of the discussion Mr. John Haggert, of Brampton and St. Thomas, is reported as saying that "the agricultural implement makers since the tariff were able to compete with the American manufacturers and also to send their implements to the Maritime Provinces."

All of the above extracts may be found in the daily Globe, but we venture to predict they will be "nowhere" in the weekly.

THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE

FIRST READINGS.

TORONTO, Jan. 14th.—The report of the Committee appointed to strike the several Standing Committees for the present session was presented and adopted. The name of Mr. Blezard appears on that of Privileges and Elections, and Railways, and that of Mr. Scott on both of these Committees, and also on Private Bills and Public Accounts. The following Government measures were introduced and received a first reading, viz.:—Respecting the Agricultural College; the Superior Court Consolidation; Co-operative Associations; Coroner's Inquests; and to make further provision respecting supplementary drainage by-laws. When these bills are printed and distributed, it will be time enough to offer an opinion on them. A couple of returns relating to the cost of County Councils were ordered, and if the discussion upon the motions therefor may be taken as an indication of the feeling of the country, the present County Council will soon be a thing of the past.

PROSPERITY IN THE STATES.

The growth of the general business in the United States is indicated by the fact that the exchanges of all the bank clearing houses in the several States aggregated for the year 1879, $38,732,000,000, against $28,271,000,000 in 1878, an increase principally during the second half year of $10,261,000,000. In December the increase was 66 per cent, the increase in New York city alone being 80½ per cent, and outside the city 40 per cent.

There are now under contract for construction nine thousand miles of railway, being sixteen hundred miles more than was built in 1871, the heaviest year in railroad building. There will be required for the work upon these roads, $180,000,000, giving employment to over half a million of men. The last report of the Department of Agriculture gives the following result of crop values:—

	1879.	1878.
Wheat, bushels	448,765,000	420,100,000
Oats, "	364,200,000	413,500,000
Potatoes "	181,000,000	124,000,000
Cotton, bales	5,020,000
VALUE.	1879.	1878.
Wheat	$499,000,000	$326,000,000
Corn	600,000,000	450,000,000
Oats	120,800,000	101,900,000
Potatoes	79,000,000	73,000,000
Hay	325,000,000	265,500,000
Cotton	231,000,000	194,000,000
Total	$1,854,800,000	$1,420,400,000

An increase of $434,400,000, or 30 per cent. Coal foots up over 3,000,000 tons increase, or 50 per cent. These figures are indicative of a growing prosperity unequalled in the history of the United States.

A SUIT is pending in Winnipeg Courts wherein Mary Baxter sues Daniel McIlroy for $2,000 damages for seduction. McIlroy was arrested, but released on bail. The case will probably come before the Queen's Bench, and it is expected there will be some rather unexpected developments in connection therewith.

DISTRESS IN IRELAND.

A PUBLIC MEETING TO CONSIDER THE BEST MEANS OF RELIEF.

Eloquent Appeals for Sympathy and Generous Aid Committees to Make House-to-House Collections.

A public meeting was held in the Council Chamber on Thursday evening to consider the best means of relieving the distress in Ireland. The Chamber was crowded with an evidently sympathetic audience.

The Mayor, Mr. J. J. Landy, took the chair, and Mr. J. Garvey acted as Secretary.

The Rev. V. CLEMENTI having been called upon to address the meeting, said it was a pleasure to meet so many of his fellow-townsmen on an occasion like the present when no disturbing elements could intervene to mar the harmony of the proceedings. They were not assembled to discuss questions referring to any particular form of worship, or any phase of politics, but as Christian men to consult as to the best method of relieving the wide spread and terrible distress at present existing in Ireland. To prove the correctness of the epithets wide-spread and terrible, he referred to the fact that it had been proposed to devote no less a sum than £250,000 sterling from one fund—the surplus of the Irish Church Disestablishment Fund,—to such relief, and that even that large sum was deemed utterly inadequate to supply sufficient aid. He was well acquainted, himself, with portions of the suffering Island, having been in the habit, for many years before immigrating to Canada, of visiting it every year, and some of his happiest days having been spent there; and he gave several anecdotes relative to the miserable condition of the people, owing partly to the extreme lowness of wages and partly to their improvidence. For although they are light-hearted, affectionate, and hospitable, they look not beyond the present day, but are satisfied with bare necessaries, and do not hanker after luxuries of which they have no experience. He said, with reference to the condition of the peasantry, that blame was to be attached, not so much to the landlords as to the middlemen who were employed to collect a certain amount of rent from the tenantry, and who made as much more as they could for themselves, and who thus ground the people down to the lowest stage of poverty. He adverted to the demagogues who were urging the people on to deeds of violence they were afraid to perpetrate themselves, and said they were the greatest enemies of Ireland and that the funds they were soliciting were not so much for the purpose of aiding to relieve the present distress as to swell the funds of the so called land league. He said the people were suffering not only from want of food but from want of fuel, as, in consequence of the exceptional rain-fall, it had been impossible to lay in the usual amount of turf, the process of cutting and storing which he described. He concluded by appealing to the meeting as Christian men, without reference to creed or politics to use their best endeavours to raise as large a sum as possible, and to transmit it to the Duchess of Marlborough, and moved the following resolution. "That in consideration of the wide spread and terrible distress amounting in some districts almost to famine at present existing in Ireland, it is the duty of all fellow-subjects of the Queen as well as all fellow-christians, to use their most strenuous exertions in an endeavour to ameliorate that distress, for which purpose it is advisable that a Committee be appointed in each ward of the Town, whose duty it shall be to make a house-to-house collection in aid of the object in view and that the money so collected be transmitted to Her Grace the Duchess of Marlborough, the wife of the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland."

DR. KINCAID rose to second the resolution with a compliment to Mr. Clementi for his manner of introducing the subject. He then congratulated the Mayor on his re-election, and his gratification at seeing him exercising his first public act by presiding at a meeting for the relief, if not of his fellow countrymen, of those of his father. He approved of the plan of raising a fund by private subscriptions rather than a municipal grant. He proceeded to narrate his personal experience in Ireland and his settling in this country. He dwelt upon the misery he had left in the old country and the misery he had found here. This misery was owing to the overcrowding in the old country and to the forced exodus to this. But to-night we were met as Christians to relieve distress. He would like to see such plans inaugurated as would people the great North-West with the suffering people of Ireland. He regretted the departure of Lord Dufferin, who would have zealously seconded such an effort. He alluded to the liberal contribution of the Queen to the relief fund, and his confidence in her aid in remedying the distress of their country. He hoped never to see the British empire dismembered, but he did hope to see every grievance of Ireland removed. He would like to see Ireland with such a system of government as our own, when he believed no such meetings as the present would be needed. He felt sure that no one would refuse to contribute to the proposed fund, and he described the gratitude of the people of Ireland for the relief sent them from this country during the old famine. He made an eloquent appeal to Irishmen to be united and not let themselves be separated by differences of politics or denominations. He had much pleasure in seconding the resolution.

MR. J. W. FITZGERALD said he had prepared a resolution to produce. The object they had in view would, he was sure, meet with general sympathy. He spoke of the misery to which his fellow countrymen were exposed, and the generosity with which they aided each other. We, who were so happily situated in Canada, were still more bound to give aid from our abundance. He was glad to see reverend gentlemen and others there of English and Scottish birth, showing how general was the feeling of sympathy with the suffering countrymen. This was no time for speech making, but for action, as the need was urgent. His motion was as follows:—"Whereas this meeting is now convinced that grave destitution prevails in many parts of Ireland, involving death by starvation to thousands of families, be it therefore resolved that immediate steps be taken to organize committees with the view of soliciting funds for their relief, said funds to be forwarded as may be decided upon at as early a date as possible." He did not press his resolution, as he was quite satisfied with that of the Rev. Mr. Clementi.

The REV. A. BELL, being called upon, said that he had come there with heartfelt sympathy but not prepared to make a speech. He agreed with Mr. Fitzgerald that this was no time to make speeches, but to relieve those who were starving. He then gave an account of a private letter from a woman who said that she spent much of her time in bed, not from illness, but from want of fuel. Such a state of things appealed to our feelings, and all men should contribute what they could.

The resolution was then put and carried unanimously.

DR. O'SULLIVAN said he would propose a resolution to follow that of the Rev. Mr. Clementi, with which he entirely concurred. The remarks of that gentleman evinced the liberality of spirit for which he was well known. Needful though charity was, something more was required. The most terrible of all deaths was that from hunger without the ministration of friends. He spoke of the end of the sailor by shipwreck, of the victorious soldier by the bullet, but they had no such terrible enemy to combat as hunger. Those who would complain if they were without their food for a few hours, little knew the tortures to which the poor were sometimes exposed from prolonged want. We were more happily placed, and were able with ease to contribute to the relief of those less fortunate. He moved,—That this meeting do most humbly and respectfully request the rev. clergymen of all denominations in this town to solicit from their various respective congregation, at the earliest date possible, a collection for this charitable object, and that subscription lists be open and left at the following places:—T. Bradburn, J. Garvey, Rush & Elliott, Fairweather & Co. and T. Dolan.

DR. KINCAID said such a plan had never been known to work well. The best plan would be to form ward committees to solicit from house to house.

DR. O'SULLIVAN said he quite approved of the formation of committees and of house to house canvassing, but he wished to get at those from the surrounding country.

DR. W. H. BURRITT seconded the motion, agreeing with Dr. O'Sullivan's explanation. Not being an Irishman or the son of an Irishman he could not be so eloquent as those who had preceded him, but he could feel as much. He told an anecdote of Dean Swift, who, having preached a charity sermon unsuccessfully, was told it was because his sermon was too long. His next sermon was from the text: "He who giveth to the poor lendeth to the Lord." "If you are satisfied with the security, down with the dust."

The REV. MR. BELL thought it would be well to have the subscription lists for the farmers, but he thought a second appeal to the congregations after the house to house canvass might defeat their object.

The REV. MR. CLEMENTI said that when he was secretary of the relief fund for distress in England, he had written to all the Reeves asking them to have committees appointed, and there was a cordial response.

Dr. O'SULLIVAN altered his resolution by substituting for the words "at the earliest date possible" the words "as soon after the committee has canvassed the different wards as may be convenient," and by leaving out the last clause as to subscription lists at the stores.

The resolution thus altered was carried.

Dr. KINCAID moved, seconded by Mr. D. HOPKINS,—That a committee composed of the following gentlemen be a central committee with power to add to their number, to appoint sub-committees for each ward, who will canvass and collect subscriptions for the Irish Relief Fund: His Worship Mayor Landy, the Rev. V. Clementi, the Rev. A. Bell, the Rev. M. Lynch, Dr. Kincaid, Dr. O'Sullivan, Dr. W. H. Burritt, Dr. Boucher, Messrs. J. W. Fitzgerald, W. Yelland, G. A. Cox, W. McBain, W. Cluxton, D. Hopkins, T. Cahill and J. Garvey.

The motion was carried with the understanding that the committee should meet at the call of the Mayor.

His Worship having left the chair it was taken by Councillor Yelland.

Dr. KINCAID, in appropriate terms, moved a vote of thanks to the Mayor.

Dr. O'SULLIVAN cordially seconded the motion, which was carried unanimously.

The meeting then adjourned.

MANHOOD:

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

WE have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

THE TAY BRIDGE HORROR.

Looking from the Window of a Cosey Room on the Flashing Down of the Train.

The English papers just received contain very little of interest concerning the Tay Bridge disaster not already laid before our readers by cable. The London Telegram of the 30th contains this description by an eye-witness of the catastrophe:—

"Enjoying the comfortableness of my own parlor fireside on Sunday night, I listened to the fierce clamor of the storm without and felt a deep sense of gratitude for the security I possessed, mingled with a feeling of compassion for the poor sailors on the sea battling with the storm. The children had gathered round me for their usual Bible stories, and with an instinctive sense of fear they nestled close to my side as they heard the wild efforts of the blast to batter in the casement of the window. I chose the story of St. Paul's shipwreck on the island of Malta, thinking that the storm without might help me to impress upon their young minds the terrible nature of the dangers to which the Apostle was exposed as the ship lay riding helplessly upon the waves with four anchors between it and certain destruction. While thus engaged a blast of wind more furious than before had caught the chimney-tops of a house almost opposite my parlor windows, and brought them down to the ground with a thundering crash, that startled everyone of us to our feet. Stepping over to the casement I gazed out upon the street, and just then a blaze of moonlight lighted up the broad expanse of the Tay down below, and the long white sinuous line of the Tay Bridge came into view. I looked at my watch and saw that it was exactly seven o'clock. 'The Edinburgh train will be due immediately,' I exclaimed to my wife; 'come and let us watch to see if it will attempt to cross on such a night.' So saying, we turned down the gas in the parlor and prepared to await the appearance of the train. The light by this time had become most fitful. Great masses of clouds were sweeping across the expanse of the heavens, at times totally obscuring the light of the full moon. 'There she comes,' cried one of the children, and, at that moment, the slowly moving lights of the Edinburgh train could be distinctly seen rounding the curve at Wormit, and passing the signal box at the south side, entering upon the long straight line of that portion of the bridge. The train once on the bridge seemed to move along with greater swiftness, and when the engine entered the tunnel-like cloisters of the great girders my little girl exactly described the effect of the lights as seen through the lattice work when she exclaimed, 'Look, papa, isn't that like lightning?' All this takes some time to write down, but to the eye it seemed as if almost simultaneous with the entrance of the train upon the bridge. A comet-like burst of fiery sparks sprang out as if forcibly ejected into the darkness from the engine. In a long visible train the streak of fire was seen till quenched in the water below. Then there was absolute darkness on the bridge. A silence fell upon our eager group at the window. Then, with stunning force, the idea broke upon my mind. 'Heavens!' I cried, 'I fear the train is over the bridge!' With a growing horror I watched the curve at the north side to try if I could see the train pass that point, but as several minutes passed and no moving object broke the continuity of the bridge at that point I snatched up my hat and hurried down and across the Magdalen Green, to meet several individuals all bent upon the same errand as myself.

"The terrific nature of the gale at this time may be inferred from the fact that, descending the slope of the green, I had to crouch down upon the grass to prevent my being blown bodily away. It seemed as if the wind had become a solid compelling power. One gentleman was blown against another on the green, and both tumbled together. The massive signal-post beside the signal-box on the north end of the bridge was bent by the wind like a willow wand, and on entering upon the esplanade, the sand and pebbles were dashing about with such force that the hands and face were positively sore with the violence of the impact. My hands held behind my back for a minute were completely filled with the drifting sand and pebbles. Looking towards the river nothing clearly could be made out. The water from the broken Newport water-pipe on the bridge was pouring into the river and, being caught in its descent by the wind, was lashed into a misty spray that helped to veil the gap that had by this time been made in the iron highway.

"A number of gentlemen having now collected below the bridge on the Esplanade, one of them climbed up into the signal-box above and there learned from the man stationed less than a mile from the scene of the great catastrophe that he knew nothing more of what had happened than that the train signalled to him as having entered upon the bridge fully fifteen minutes before had never reached its station, and that all telegraphic communication with the other side had ceased. What had in reality happened the public know now as well as they will ever be likely to know. An entire train with its living freight had been swept into the bosom of the Tay. The rest was left to the imagination. In the clear sunlight of this morning I have again visited the spot, but so calmly was the water then rolling onwards towards the sea that, save for the incontestable evidence of the great gap in mid-river, it was difficult to think that the significant scene of last night was other than a horrid nightmare."

The following is a description of the first visit in a steamboat to the scene of the accident:

As the steamer neared the bridge what appeared to be broken water was observed stretching across the gap, marking, it was presumed, the submerged girders and train. It was seen that it would be hazardous to approach too near the wreck, and a boat was immediately manned by a bold crew, Captain Robertson, the harbor-master, taking the helm. They then pulled away out into the darkness and were soon lost to view. The boat was pulled as close to the bridge as was deemed safe, and then her head was turned towards the north shore. She was pulled across the whole open space to the first pier intact, then through between the piers and back again along the west side till the standing piers on the south side were reached. The task was a difficult and hazardous one, and the gentlemen forming the crew deserve great credit for their gallant exertions. They were occasionally within a boat's length of the remains of the piers, without seeing a vestige of the wreck. On the stone portion of one or two of them a few iron bars still remained; it was those which in the uncertain light led some on board the steamer to imagine that they saw human beings. In regard to the others the whole of the ironwork had been swept away, leaving the low stone foundation standing above water. The boat having been picked up without difficulty, the steamer's head was turned homewards. At this time the moon was shining brightly, and the full extent of the disaster, so far as the bridge was concerned, was pretty distinctly visible. The vessel was lying a short distance from pier 28, and from that pier to the Fife shore the bridge was evidently intact. Then pier 29 showed a small portion of the ironwork for supporting the girder. From that to pier 41 nothing was visible save the stone portion of the piers, over which the storm-driven water was breaking. The weird aspect which the remains of the bridge presented in the moonlight deepened the impression that to the passengers the end must have come with terrible swiftness. It would be the work of a moment: a sudden crash, and train and girders would fall to the bottom of the storm-tossed estuary in a common ruin. When it was seen that nothing could be done, the steamer proceeded to Newport.

LIST OF THOSE WHO PERISHED.

The following are known to have been on board the train which went through into the river Tay on the night of Sunday, Dec. 28:—Officials—David McBeath, guard, 33 years of age, residing in Castle street, Dundee, unmarried; David Mitchell, driver, residing in Peddie street, Dundee, married, and leaves a widow and six in family, mostly young; John Marshall, stoker, aged about 24 years, residing in Hunter street, Dundee, unmarried; Donald Murray, mail guard, about 45 years of age, residing in South Elder Street, Dundee, married, and leaves a widow and two or three children. Robert Milne Dresser, 37 years of age, residing in Lyon street, married, leaving a widow and 7 young children. Deceased was returning from Sinclairtown. David Scott, goods guard, Yeamanshore, 30 years of age. Scott, who was unmarried, was expected to leave Newport in the nine o'clock train, or join the ill-fated train at St. Fort. James Bremner, wine and spirit merchant, 16 Dock street, Dundee, and residing at 18 Airlie place, married, and leaves a widow and several young children. Robt. Syme, clerk in the Royal Hotel, Dundee, 17 years of age, unmarried, expected from Greenhill, Edinburgh. A son of Mr. A. J. Murdoch, agent for the Plate-glass Insurance Association, of Dundee, was expected from London. James Leslie, 22 years of age, a clerk in the employment of Mr. John Fleming, wood merchant, Dundee. Archibald Bain, 26, and Jessie Bain, 22, son and daughter of Henry Bain, Mains of Balgay, Dundee; David Neish, teacher and registrar, Lochee, wife and young family; James Peebles, grocer's apprentice, Newport; George Johnstone, aged 20, Newport, and a young lady, his affianced; Mrs. Cheap, aged 50, domestic servant to Mr. David Ruthven, flesher, Lochee, left grown up family; Alexander and W. M. Robertson, brothers; sons of Mr. W. Robertson, salmon fisher, Abernethy; George Ness, a fireman, employed at Dundee, who had been visiting his wife at St. Andrew's; Wm. McDonald and David McDonald, brothers, sawmillers, Dundee; Peter G. Salmond, blacksmith, Dundee; Mrs. Mann (late of Lunanhead), Forfar, and her granddaughter, Lizzie Brown, 14; David Graham, teacher, Stirling, 27; Thomas Armand, mechanic, Dundee, 22; John Hamilton, grocer, Dundee, aged 30, married; J. Banter, builder, 29 Rosebank street, Dundee, was expected to be a passenger by the train on his return from Madeira.

What is Expectoration?

"Expectorants," as Dr. Good says, "true Expectorants are those medicines which rather promote the separation of the viscid phlegm with which the bronchial tubes are loaded." Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam is manufactured with this object in view, and when used according to directions will separate or break up the phlegm and remove it from the bronchial tubes, leaving free respiration. It is also a valuable medicine in all cases of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Croup, Hoarseness and complaints leading to Consumption. w4d13-2w

Swallowed a Baby.

When Thackeray visited our shores for the first time and was invited to partake of a dish of oysters, the the size of our saddle rocks astonished him. Accustomed to the small copper-tainted oyster of his own native isle, he paused. But only for an instant, and at one gulp it was down. "How do you feel?" asked a friend. "I feel as though I had swallowed a baby," was the reply. To the benighted foreigner our oysters are a revelation as is also SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL combined with the HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA, which for debility, all bronchial affections and consumption stands unrivalled. It is also acceptable to the most delicate stomach. w2d1-1m

Time never sets so heavily on the aged as when they are ill and depressed. A heavy percentage of old people suffer from kidney complaints, etc., brought on by derangements of the secretory organs, who will hail with joy the great remedy prepared expressly to meet their cases—Victoria Buchu and Uva Ursi. It can be recommended with confidence. For sale by all dealers. w4d13-2w

Hagyard's Yellow Oil combines in such an eminent degree all the healing, curative and extracting qualities known to medical science, that it is truly a family medicine that cannot be dispensed with. When applied to any Swelling, Sore, Burn, Chilblain, Frostbites, Skin Eruption, etc., its effects are magical. It is highly esteemed wherever known, and its enormous sale annually is the best certificate of its merits. w4d13-2w

Wallack's Orchestra.—The orchestra of Wallack's Theatre, New York, is famous for its extraordinary precision. This is due entirely to Thomas Baker, an Englishman, who has conducted it for years. Mr. Baker used to suffer terribly from rheumatism, but now is as supple and nimble as a school boy. He ascribes his freedom, as he ought, to Giles' Liniment Iodide Ammonia.

Among the Luxuries of Life.

But a brief period has passed since when a month's time was necessary to accomplish a journey of few hundred miles and then we went lumbering over the rough country, highways on springless seats. Now the same journey is made in sumptuous drawing room cars, with all the comforts and many of the luxuries brought to us by servants. Once upon a time when we found it necessary to our health we set apart a brief period to "doctor up" and then came a struggle with that awful Castor Oil. Now we sip it from the bottle while we continue regularly at our vocations. But it is SCOTT & BOWNE'S PALATABLE CASTOR OIL we take. It is one of the luxuries of life that is afforded at 25 cents. wd11-1m

Nervous Debility.

Vital weakness or depression, a weak exhausted feeling, no energy or courage, the result of mental overwork, indiscretions or excesses, or some drain upon the system, is always cured by Victoria Hypophosphites. It tones up and invigorates the system, dispels the gloom and despondency, imparts strength and energy, stops the drain, renovates the entire system, purifying the blood, increasing the appetite, and giving the stomach a healthy tone for food. LOCAL AND MUNICIPAL.

The Pensioners.

Major Milligan to-day paid the military pensioners of this district.

C. O. F.

An incorrect report has obtained publicity that the Canadian Order of Foresters has again united with the Independent Order of Foresters. The fact is that a Court, which seceded from the I.O.F. in April last, has now joined the C.O.F. and not the I.O.F., as stated.

The Ice at the Rink.

Skating at the rink remains good, although the snow and ice outside are fast disappearing under the warm atmosphere that is now prevailing. This morning a number of persons, determined to improve the occasion, were enjoying themselves.

Arrest of Pappa.

Last evening Constable A. H. Cook, of Hastings, arrived here, having in charge James A. Pappa, alias Riley, charged with the theft of a pair of boots and a sum of money, the property of a young Irish immigrant, Henry Kenwick, at the Stewart House, on Monday morning last. Pappa was taken to jail for safe-keeping.

The Weather.

The weather probabilities for this district, as reported from Toronto at 10 o'clock to-day are; Fresh to brisk southerly to westerly winds; cloudy to partly cloudy warm weather, with light rain in some localities. The thermometer indicated at Peterborough at eight o'clock this morning 30°, at 10 o'clock 31°, and at noon 36°, with every appearance of rain.

Curling Match.

A match between the rinks of the President and Vice-President of the Curling Club was played last night, the Vice-President's rink being victorious by five shots. The match attracted much interest, and there were a number of spectators. The following is the score:—

PRESIDENT'S RINK.	VICE-PRESIDENT'S RINK.

Our Local Member.

Mr. W. H. Scott, M.P.P., has made himself far more than a local reputation. In the Toronto correspondence of the Port Hope Times of Thursday, the following paragraph appears:—

"Universal regret is felt on both sides of the House at the the absence of Mr. Scott on account of illness."

The Port Hope Guide of the same date, in an editorial article, says:—

"Mr. Scott is by far the ablest man on his side of the House."

Such testimony should be satisfactory to his constituents.

Missing.

A boy, 16 or 17 years of age, short, stout, and simple in mind, named Henry Lee, whose mother is now serving a term in the jail, disappeared suddenly on the 2nd or 3rd of January. About 4 o'clock in the afternoon he left Mr. Lewis Glover's, in Ashburnham, without his coat, walking towards the Otonabee river bridge, since which time nothing has been heard of him. It is feared he has wandered to the river and fallen through the ice. Mr. Glover would be pleased to hear of his safety.

Carswell Lodge Entertainment.

The wristlet and oyster entertainment of Carswell Lodge, I.O.G.T., last evening was a success in several ways. In numbers present, for every seat was occupied; in the disposition of oysters and apples, for they disappeared with amazing promptness as soon as the tables were occupied; the crackers, for they appeared all over the hall by aid of the boys who had very little regard for propriety. The wristlet part of the programme was a successful sell, at ten cents each, without an acknowledgment by the owners of the mates. The cake at ten cents a slice was a success, because every one of the 63 tickets were taken and only one of the slices took the ring, which fell into the hands of Mrs. Glass, leaving 62 persons minus the ring. The social conversation, the supper and the distribution of the cake, took up the entire evening, and there was no time for speech making. We should not forget the choir singing; several selections were sung with satisfaction to the audience, while waiting for the company to assemble, who expressed their approbation in applause.

POLICE COURT.

LARCENY.

FRIDAY, Jan. 16.—The case of the Queen vs. James Albert Pappa was before the Magistrate upon the complaint of T. Cavanagh. The complainant sets forth that the prisoner did on the morning of Monday, January 12th, feloniously take from one Henry Kenwick a pair of boots, a railway check for baggage, and money amounting to $8.50. The prisoner pleaded guilty to the charge, and requested the Magistrate to dispose of the case summarily. The Magistrate, after explaining to the prisoner the situation in which he was placed, found him guilty, and sentenced him to six months hard labor in jail. A part of the money was found upon the prisoner together with the boots, which were to be returned to Kenwick.

MR. RUTHERFORD'S APPOINTMENT.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—I see by your edition of to-day the public are again favored with "Observer's" opinion of myself as a member of the Board of Education.

If, unfortunately for me, I have not had the same opportunity as "Observer" to get an education to fit me for pleading in the First Division Court, however, I have the satisfaction of knowing that I did not get the poor man's hard earnings to qualify me in the shape of taxes, and what little I did get was not obtained at the public expense. But sir, I have an object to serve in going into the Board this year, and that will be to prevent such men as "Observer" getting an education unless they or their fathers pay for it. Let them work at their farms as their fathers have done and be honest men.

My anonymous "critic" need not be so afraid of causing a sensation by the publication of his name, as the public are, or ought to be, quite prepared for the shock (?)

He has, in my opinion, by his evident disregard of civility, utterly disqualified himself for further notice at my hands.

Thanking you for your indulgence,

I remain yours, etc.,

ARTHUR RUTHERFORD, J.P.

Peterborough, Jan. 16, 1880.

YOUNG'S POINT.

From Our Own Correspondent.

THE LUMBER SHANTIES.—A great many teams are compelled, owing to want of frost and snow in the woods, to leave off their work and go home.

THE ROADS.—Owing to the late thaw and heavy rains, the roads are covered with ice, which make it very difficult for horses to travel.

CORDWOOD.—Mr. Fobert is commissioned to pile two hundred cords of hardwood on the Graveyard Point, for shipment by scows in the summer.

AN UNWELCOME VISITOR.

A Deaf and Dumb Man and His Friends in Peterborough.

A correspondent of the Port Hope Times from South Monaghan sends the following:—Any one honored with a visit from a deaf and dumb, middle-aged man, with a very bald head, who is on his way Port Hopewards, are cautioned to keep their weather eye open when said gentleman is around, as he has a kind of predilection for appropriating things that don't belong to him. He favored Centreville with a visit of two or three days last week, during which time he disposed of several articles of wearing apparel not usually found in the category of gents' furnishings, but he accounted for having them in his possession by saying (on his slate) that his friends in Peterboro' gave them to him; for what purpose he did not state. The evening he took his departure a parcel just purchased in a neighboring store was stolen from a farmer's sleigh, and next morning the knight of the the little slate successfully negotiated the sale of said parcel, about a mile further on, at a considerable allowance on retail price, repeating the story that his friends in Peterboro' gave them to him, and that he was letting it go at a great sacrifice, as he wanted a little pocket money. The public are cautioned against him, and he is warned not to visit the neighborhood of Centreville, or the man he mulcted into paying $1 per yard for 65 cent tweed will make things hot for him, not to mention the man he stole the goods from.

THE AFGHANISTAN WAR.

FRESH SUCCESSES OF OUR FORCES IN AFGHANISTAN

Fighting the Mohmunds—Several Attacks Repulsed with Heavy Loss to the Enemy.

Press Despatches via Cable and Montreal Lines.

THE ENEMY ROUTED.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—A despatch from Peshawur states that a large body of Mohmunds attacked and were defeated near Lundi Khotal, and subsequently crossed the river and took refuge on the island, from which the pursuing British detachment completely routed them. Brigadier-General Doran is reported to have left the station at Lundi Khotal for the purpose of attacking the Mohmunds wherever he may find them. It is expected that the Mohmunds will form a junction with some fugitive parties of Kohistanis in the interior. Another despatch says General Bright reports that he was attacked twice by the Mohmunds on Sunday in the neighbourhood of Alipoghan and repulsed them. Their loss was heavy.

THE MOHMUNDS REPULSED.

A despatch from Cabul says the Mohmunds had attacked Lundi Khotal, but were repulsed. They were also defeated with heavy losses on the road between Dakka and Kamdakka.

ANOTHER SUCCESS.

CALCUTTA, Jan. 15.—Five thousand Mahomedans, who crossed the Cabul River near Dakka, have been completely defeated.

Russia Hostile.

A Berlin despatch says the rumors of a disagreeable affair between Russian and Prussian officers at Kalishe are fully confirmed. They elicit strong comments in military circles. The Russians became so excited that they actually drew swords on their guests. Bloodshed was only prevented by the intervention of the Russian Colonel, who conducted the Prussians to his own quarters and ordered and escort of 20 Cossacks to conduct them to the frontier, as he feared the Russian officers would lay in ambuscade. Profuse apologies will doubtless be made at St. Petersburg, but the affair illustrates the feeling prevalent in Russian military circles. The Post, a semi-official newspaper, says that what occurred shows the sentiment of the Russian army regarding Germany, which, in view of the army's influence, on the Russian policy will sooner or later, according to opportunity, be translated into actions.

TIME EXTENDED TO FIRST FEBRUARY.

Not a few of our old subscribers have sent us the names of one or two new subscribers along with their own for 1880, and thus have made one dollar go as far as one and a half did last year. Finding that those who have tried it, fully realise that "a penny saved is two earned," and that others are still anxious to reap the same advantage, we have determined to receive new subscriptions from old subscribers up to the first of February upon the following terms, viz:—

THE WEEKLY REVIEW.

Any person now a subscriber, or for the last twelve months a subscriber to the WEEKLY REVIEW, who sends us his renewal subscription with that of another person not now or for the last twelve months a subscriber to it, will have the TWO sent to any separate address for $2.50! Or if accompanied with the names of two other such, such persons may have the THREE sent to separate addresses for $3.00!

THE DAILY REVIEW.

Any person now a subscriber to the DAILY EVENING REVIEW who sends us his renewal subscription with that of another person not now on our subscription list, may have the TWO delivered or sent to any separate address for six months for $3.50, or for twelve months for $6.00!

Any one is at liberty to get up a club. Each club paper may be addressed separately. Parties making up clubs may send in the names (accompanied by the money) as they receive them, and credit will be given for the whole number sent in when the club is completed.

OUR CLUB LIST.

We are also enabled to announce that the very liberal advantages offered in our Club List will be kept open until the first of February. Parties who may yet be desirous of subscribing for the REVIEW along with any one or more of the leading papers or magazines contained in our Club List, can therefore avail themselves of the opportunity offered all through the month of January. We would again direct attention to our "Entirely New Feature"—"How to Obtain the Leading Papers and Save Money." See advertisement in another column of this paper. Address all communications and money orders to Cut this Out—It May Save Your Life.

There is no person living but what suffers more or less with Lung Disease, Coughs, Colds or Consumption, yet some would die rather than pay 75 cents for a bottle of medicine that would cure them. Dr. A. Boschee's German Syrup has lately been introduced in this country from Germany, and its wondrous cures astonish every one that try it. If you doubt what we say in print, cut this out and take it to your Druggist, and get a sample bottle for 10 cents and try it, or a regular size for 75 cents. dw81-1y

TWENTY-EIGHTH YEAR.

THE WEEKLY REVIEW FOR 1880.

AN ENTIRELY NEW FEATURE!

How to Obtain the Leading Papers and Save Money.

FAIR, SQUARE AND, RELIABLE OFFERS.

WITH the year 1880, the WEEKLY REVIEW will enter on its 28th year of publication. Notwithstanding the improvements which have been made upon it, and the ever increasing expenditure incurred to keep it AHEAD of any of its competitors, the annual subscription will remain as heretofore, only $1.50—postage paid by the publishers.

Splendid Clubbing Advantages.

The Proprietors of the REVIEW have great pleasure in announcing that they have made arrangements with the publishers of the following leading periodicals in Canada and the United States, by which they are enabled to club these periodicals with the WEEKLY REVIEW at remarkably low prices.

READ CAREFULLY.—Below are three columns of figures. The name of the paper or magazine is given, and the FIRST column gives the REGULAR PUBLISHER'S PRICE. The SECOND column gives the regular subscription price of the WEEKLY REVIEW. The THIRD column gives the price at which we are prepared to supply new subscribers with BOTH the paper or magazine and the WEEKLY REVIEW combined, for one year. It is certainly an object to save money these times, and it is easy to see by our Club List how it can be done.

OUR CLUB LIST.

RURAL NEW-YORKER.—This is the best Agricultural Weekly in America, and every subscriber who accepts this offer will also receive a package of the new varieties of Field, Garden, and Flower Seeds, free, which itself is valued at $2.50!

HARPER'S PUBLICATIONS count among their contributors an army of the ablest writers and artists of Europe and America, are profusely illustrated, and rank among the most popular of their kind on the American Continent.

THE LONDON TRACT SOCIETIES PUBLICATIONS.—The fact that Leisure Hour, Sunday at Home, and the Boy's Own Paper are issued by this Society, is an ample guarantee of their excellence in every respect.

THE CANADA PRESBYTERIAN.—Every subscriber to this paper will receive steel engraved copies of the companion pictures of the "Death of Nelson," and the "Meeting of Wellington and Blucher."

THE MAIL.—Subscribers to the Mail will also receive The Canadian Farm Annual for 1880, illustrated with 240 Engravings, and containing valuable information and practical suggestions for every Farmer.

How to get the Weekly Review for Nothing!

Any person subscribing for the WEEKLY REVIEW, and desiring to obtain two or more of the above publications along with the REVIEW, can have them at the price quoted, less $1.50. For example:—

HARPER'S MAGAZINE and WEEKLY REVIEW	$4 50
HARPER'S WEEKLY, additional, and without the WEEKLY REVIEW	3 20
Total for the Three	$7 70

Or, 30 cents less than the regular publishers price for Harper's Magazine and Harper's Weekly, with the WEEKLY REVIEW thrown in for nothing!

HOW TO SAVE MONEY!

Suppose you wish for 1880, to subscribe for the Weekly Mail, $2.00; Rural New-Yorker, $2.00; Harper's Magazine, $4.00; Methodist Magazine, $2.00; the lot will cost you direct, just $10.00, and you have four letters to write, four money orders to buy, and four separate risks to run. Now look at our price above; ALL WE ASK for the same periodicals, WITH THE WEEKLY REVIEW INCLUDED, is $7.90, and your papers and magazines will come promptly direct from the publishers, just the same as if you had ordered them yourself.

PLEASE OBSERVE.—All Postage is paid in full in Canada and United States.

ANOTHER SCHEME.

The WEEKLY REVIEW for 1880 will be sent (postage paid) to any person who has been a subscriber for the last twelve months, who sends us his renewal subscription—

BURNED TO DEATH.—Last evening the people living in the vicinity of Samuel Hayes' residence were shocked by seeing a woman on the street with her clothing in flames. An alarm was raised and several persons ran to her rescue. They succeeded in smothering the flames and removing the burning clothes from her body, but not before she was fatally burned. She died this morning at six o'clock. The accident was caused, it is supposed, by the upsetting or bursting of a coal oil lamp, as her clothes were saturated with oil, and the table and other goods where the lamp stood were destroyed.

MANUFACTURERS' ASSOCIATION.—The annual meeting of the Manufacturers' Association of the Province was held here last evening, with Mr. E. G. Green in the Chair. The President lauded the National Policy, and remarked that Canada was about to enter on a period of prosperity, which the country had not enjoyed for years. A discussion on the bankruptcy law, which was condemned, wound up the proceedings.

THE MECHANICS' BANK.—The shareholders of the Mechanics' Bank will make a new offer of compromise to the creditors on the 28th inst.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.—A fire took place this morning about five o'clock in the premises occupied by Mr. C. Linton, a merchant. The Montreal Telegraph Company had an office in the same building. As the fire had full control before it was discovered, everything was consumed. Within a few feet on the east side was Morris' harness shop, which was also burned, the inmates barely having time to escape. Morris lost everything; he was insured for $1,000 and lost about $1,500. On the west side of Linton's store was the Temperance Hall, which was also destroyed. It was insured for $800. The Masonic rooms overhead also lost considerable furniture, but saved some valuables. Their loss is fully covered by insurance. Linton started for Toronto about an hour before the fire. It is not known what insurance he has. The cause of the fire is not known.

BURGLARS FOILED.—Two men broke into the house, last night, of Dr. Moorehouse when the doctor was out. His housekeeper heard the noise of somebody moving, and getting out of bed she saw two men creeping along the passage. She silently caught up a flower pot and threw it at the head of one of the thieves. The men made a precipitate retreat. An examination showed that every room except the housekeeper's had been gone through. All the portables of value were gathered together, preparatory to carting them off. The plucky conduct of the housekeeper sent the thieves away empty handed, and saved the Doctor two or three thousand dollars.

DAMAGES SOUGHT.—Mrs. Fisher, the wife of the editor of the Parry Sound North Star, who was drowned in the Waubuno disaster, has entered action for $20,000 damages against the Georgian Bay Transportation Company, the owners of the boat.

From the Morning Paper.

THE GREAT CASE of McLaren vs. the Canada Central Railway Company for $150,000, for lumber destroyed at Carlton Place by a spark from an engine, was terminated at 6.40 p.m. on Wednesday. After the jury had been out for two hours and a half, they brought in a verdict for $100,000, not on the grounds of culpable negligence, but on account of the defective construction of the smoke-stack of the engine. Mr. Bethune, counsel for defence, is confident the verdict cannot stand, and will at once appeal the case.

THE HANLAN HOMESTEAD FUND.—Two years have passed since the project was started to raise funds to purchase a homestead for Edward Hanlan. When the matter was first brought forward some $900 were raised. For a time the Homestead fund was forgotten, but in July, 1879, it was revived, a treasurer and collectors were appointed, and a regular canvas inaugurated. It is understood that altogether a sum of about $3,000 is now in the hands of the treasurer. Enquiry has been made from time to time as to what has been done with the money collected, and it will now be in order for the Hanlan Committee to have a meeting for the purpose of comparing notes and declaring the result of their labors.

THE GRANGERS.—At the session of the Executive Committee of the Dominion Grange, a petition was drawn up, praying for amendments to the Act of Incorporation, which the Secretary was instructed to transmit to the Dominion Parliament, accompanied by a Bill containing the proposed amendments. The principal change will be a clause granting the Dominion Grange power to establish Provincial Granges. A petition to the Ontario Assembly was also drafted, asking that the imposition of market fees on farmers' produce in cities, towns, and villages be abolished. The constitution of the Dominion Grange, as adopted at the last annual meeting, was corrected for publication.

Remedy for Hard Times.

Stop spending so much on fine clothes, rich food and style. Buy good, healthy food, cheaper and better clothing; get more real and substantial things of life every way and especially stop the foolish habit of running after expensive and quack doctors or using so much of the vile humbug medicine that does you only harm, and makes the proprietors rich, but put your trust in the greatest of all simple, pure remedies, Hop Bitters, that cures always at a trifling cost, and you will see better times and good health. THE INDICTED FOUR.

DUBLIN, Jan. 16.—The writs served on Davitt, Daley, Killen and Brennan, indicted for sedition, being returnable to-day, they attended at the Crown Office, but were informed that they have still four days before surrendering. The proceedings connected with their surrender will be formal but private. Many formalities, probably occupying a week, must be observed before the trials commence. It is again reported that the trials will be dropped.

THE CZAR'S CONDITION.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 16.—There is no improvement in the condition of the Czar, who is almost a wreck, both mentally and physically. He is the victim of severe prostration, and receives no one but his physician, being apprehensive of murder either by a person in his good favor or the hand of an assassin.

RELIEF FOR ARCTIC VESSELS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 16.—A petition is in circulation among the leading merchants addressed to the Secretary of the Navy, requesting that as soon as navigation opens the Government will despatch a war vessel to the Arctic Ocean to the relief of the whaling barques Mount Wollaston and Vigilant, and the exploring yacht Jeanette.

BUTCHERIES BY INDIANS.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Jan. 16.—General Ord has forwarded a letter written by Lieut. Baylor, commanding a detachment of Texas volunteers, which gives a detailed account of outrages committed by the Apache Indians under Victoria. Shortly after Morrow's pursuit of the band into Mexico, 200 Indians came down fifty miles west of Ysleta, Texas, and camped in the Candelaria mountains. Fifteen Mexicans, the best citizens of Carisal, followed the trail and were led into an ambuscade and killed. The scene of the conflict was perfectly horrible. On one little parapet which the Mexicans had hastily thrown up seven men were piled in a space six feet by seven. A letter written by the Mexicans asking for help was found outside their breastworks, and near the bodies of two men, who evidently attempted to escape, but were riddled by balls. Thirty-five more men, nearly the entire fighting force of Carisal, went to look for their kindred, and the Indians so managed as to drive them into the same slaughter pen. Eleven of them were killed. The muzzle-loading guns and swords of the dead were all broken, showing that Victoria is well supplied with arms.

ENGLISH AND RUSSIAN MISSIONS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—The Tribune's Washington report says that the nominations to the English and Russian missions were signed and sent to the Senate yesterday, but the Senate had adjourned when the messenger reached there. Evarts refused to make the names public as there was a possibility of a change by Monday.

A CRISIS AT HAND.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—The Sun's Augusta despatch says the Republican Legislature will meet to-day in the State House with the consent of Chamberlain. The Fusionists feel that a crisis is approaching, and that trouble will ensue. Courage and determination to a marked degree are manifested, and they assert with spirit that they will appeal from the Court of Maine to the Congress of the United States. Fighting is strongly talked of by many Republicans. The Fusionists refuse to comply with the court's decision.

RELIEF FOR IRELAND.

SAN FRANSISCO, Jan. 17.—The Irish Relief Committee will to-day remit $1,500 to Dublin. Mayor Kalloch tendered the Metropolitan Temple and his services in a lecture on Ireland and the Irish for the benefit of the fund. Los Angelos contributes $600, and Stockton $1,000.

MASONIC EMBLEMS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—A telegram received at the State Department from Commander Goringe announces the discovery of masonic emblems in the foundation of the Obelisk at Alexandria, under the pedestal on which it was set up by the Romans. Drawings were made and the emblems were preserved as found.

A TERRIBLE EXPLOSION.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—When the passengers of the steamship Greece from London were leaving the vessel yesterday afternoon, a terrific explosion occurred and a column of fire and smoke shot up from the hatchway setting fire to the rigging. The fire was soon extinguished, and it was discovered that two longshoremen had been instantly killed, and several others terribly mutilated and burned. The explosion is believed to be due to coal gas generated in the hold during the voyage. The dead men are Michael Walsh and Patrick Dunn. Walsh was blown through the timbers 50 feet into the air and his clothing was torn from his body. Dunn was blown 30 feet through the hatchway and fell on the bridge with his clothing on fire.

MYSTERIOUS SUICIDE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—Walker E. Brown, aged 19, the son of a wealthy broker, shot himself through the heart on the stoop of his father's residence last evening. No cause is assigned.

A NEGRO'S ELOPEMENT.

WINCHESTER, Va., Jan. 17.—Seven mounted men, citizens of Fanquiner county, were passing through here yesterday with a negro, named A. Gordon, in custody. The negro refused to proceed. The whole party were arrested. Gordon had eloped with a handsome young white girl of one of the first families of of Fanquiner county. The citizens had followed and captured them both. A Justice here swore in one of the men as a special constable, and the party proceeded with their prisoner.

A JURY LOCKED UP.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—The jury in the case of Policeman Nugent, who was charged with complicity in the Manhattan Bank robbery, after being locked up all night, this morning rendered a verdict of acquittal. Nugent was discharged.

LYNCH LAW.

ATLANTA, Jan 17.—Nat Smith, a negro, who was confined in jail at Jonesboro for an attempt to rape Mrs. Gay, was taken out by an unknown party of men, who carried him five miles and hung him on a tree. When found he had a gun shot wound through his breast.

CHAMBERLAIN STILL FIRM.

AUGUSTA, Jan. 17.—Gen. Chamberlain will pay no attention to the order of Governor Smith taking the command of the militia away from him. He holds his first announced position, and will remain in the place assigned to him until a Governor is legally elected and qualified. The Democrats this morning talk threateningly, and condemn the decision of the Court. At the end of the recess both Houses agreed to appoint a joint committee to consider the situation of affairs and to report the best method of procedure.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 17, 1880.

THE DOMINION GOVERNMENT.

Owing to the continued ill-health of Mr. Masson—Minister of Militia—it has been found necessary to make some changes, not in the personnel of the Dominion Government, but in the distribution of offices among its members, and as a consequence, the following changes have been announced:—Mr. Masson retires from the position of Minister of Militia, the duties of which he has so efficiently discharged, and becomes President of the Council, thus enabling the Government to retain the benefit of his advice and counsel, while relieving him of onerous departmental duties. Sir Alexander Campbell goes from the Post Office Department to that of Militia, and the Hon. Jno. O'Connor, until now President of the Council, becomes Postmaster-General.

THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

MORE PATRONAGE WANTED.

TORONTO, Jan. 15.—Among the public bills introduced to-day was one by Mr. Badgerow (Ministerialist) to amend the Division Court Act by taking the appointment of the officers of these courts out of the hands of the County Judges, and placing them in the hands of the Government. The measure is, no doubt, introduced as a feeler at the instance of Mr. Mowat, and shows the desire of the party now in power in this Province to monopolize of every possible appointment and turn them to political advantage, as they have so well done those now under their control. Surely the evils of converting License Commissioners and Inspectors and Land and Timber Agents into mere political partisans are so patent, that the House will refuse to make use of the Division Court officials for the same purpose.

THE SAFETY OF RAILWAY EMPLOYEES.

On motion of Mr. Fraser a committee was appointed to enquire into the causes of accidents to brakesmen, yardmen and other railway employees, with a view to ascertaining whether any, and if any, what means may be devised for better securing their safety while in the discharge of their duties.

TRANSFER OF PRISONERS.

On motion of Mr. Harcourt, a return was ordered of the cost of sending prisoners from each county to the Penitentiary and Reformatory Prison, during 1878 and 1879, with the view of ascertaining if the cost now entailed upon counties for this purpose could not be reduced.

MISCELLANEOUS.

As is usual, at the beginning of the session, and particularly at the beginning of the first session of a new Parliament, bills are being introduced to amend almost every act on the statute book, and particularly the Municipal Act. As it is only the wheat, among so much chaff, that is worthy of notice, it is unnecessary to refer to them until they have gone through the winnowing process of the second reading.

THE COMING YEAR, 1881.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—The year 1881 has so long been pointed to as a critical period that, as the time is approaching, a brief glance at some of the things which have been written about, and prophesied for it, cannot fail to be interesting.

To commence with, we have "Mother Shipton's" prophecy, of which there appear to be several different versions extant, some of which differ very materially from others; and at least one of which must be familiar to most people.

This remarkable prophecy is said to have been published as early as the year 1448; and republished in 1641.

Since that time, nearly all the principal events have come to pass.

For example, we have:—

Carriages without horses shall go, And mishaps fill the world with woe.	Railroads.
Around the world thoughts shall fly In the twinkling of an eye.	Telegraphs.
Iron on the water shall float As easy as a wooden boat.	Iron ships.
Gold shall be found and shown In lands not now known.	Australia and America.
England shall at last admit a Jew, And fire and water wonders do.	The Premier. Steam.
The world to an end shall run In eighteen hundred and eighty-one.	. . . . . .

There can be very little doubt but that if some of Mother Shipton's contemporaries, or even some of our own great-grandparents, could rise from their graves and gaze upon all that is going on around us in these days of electric telegraphs, railways, telephones, phonographs, and all the other marvels of modern science, they would exclaim, "The world must be coming to an end."

What this "coming to an end" may mean, is hard to say. Scripture forbids us to believe that the earth will be utterly destroyed, because it very distinctly teaches us to look for the second advent of our Lord, to reign upon earth. But it certainly appears that there is a gradual, yet sure, passing away of all old things, and nothing is thought of much account at the present day unless it is completely new and original. Science is advancing with tremendous strides, and the present system of universal education must, ere long, make a vast change in the affairs of mankind.

Mother Shipton, it appears, was not the only person who predicted the end of the world in 1881, for a short time ago there appeared some letters in one of the American papers—the New York Era—claiming to be translations of some correspondence between two German astronomers (Circa, A.D., 1500) (or rather astrologers, as they claimed to be), in which the year 1881 was pointed to as a critical one.

But these prophecies are not confined to the middle ages only. In our own day we have Professor Piazzi Smyth (Astronomer Royal for Scotland, and famed for his pyramidal researches,) telling us that all the principal events connected with the history of the Israelites were foreshown in a peculiar manner upon the walls of the Great Pyramid.

All the chief events which were the subject of sacred prophecy are there clearly and distinctly set down, as they were to come and as they came. This mysterious register contains but one more broad mark, and the event which it is supposed to foreshadow is calculated to fall due about the year 1881.

Astronomical phenomena of an interesting nature will occur in 1881, and there are many other matters which I have not the space to enlarge upon here, which render the coming year one of peculiar interest. I have written this slight sketch in the hope that some more able man than myself may be induced to take up the subject; for I am sure it is one which a great number of people would be pleased to see treated more fully.

Yours truly,
SPARHAM SHELDRAKE.
The Grove, Lakefield, Jan. 16th, 1880.

HASTINGS.

ACCIDENT.—The Star says:—Mrs. D. Anderson met with a severe accident while returning from church on Sunday evening, January 11th. The sidewalks, from the sleet and rain of the previous evening, were dangerously slippery, and when in front of Mr. Hurley's residence Mrs. A. slipped, and falling on her right arm broke her wrist.

BOBCAYGEON.

BROKE THROUGH.—The Independent says:—On Thursday, as Dr. Boswell was driving a horse and cutter on the ice on Pigeon Lake, from Allen's Landing to Bobcaygeon, the ice gave way, and the horse the cutter and the Doctor were suddenly immerged in the water. By admiral skill and courage the Doctor was enabled to get his horse out of the water uninjured.

MASONIC LODGE.—The following are the officers of Verulam Lodge A. F. and A. M. for the current year:—

J. G. Edwards	W.M.
R. K. Connell	J.P.W.
J. H. Thompson	S.W.
A. Arnberg	J.W.
Rev. J. Smiley	Chap.
W. B. Read	Treas.
George Rich	Secty.
John Kerr	S.D.
D. Allison	J.D.
John Simpson	Stewards
J. L. Read
Wm. Gidley	D. of C.
C. E. German	I.G.
George Nye	Tyler

KINMOUNT.

IRON MINES.—A correspondent of the Independent says:—During the past six months not less than twenty iron locations have been taken up, and some of these will be worked as soon as arrangements can be made with Mr. Myles for carrying the traffic over his branch railway. He demands 18c. per ton for the use of the line. This is a very heavy charge, but we would not mind that if he did not force upon us the ridiculous clause that we shall ship ore from Port Hope. He will not allow any ore to be carried over his line unless it is to be conveyed to Port Hope and there shipped. We want to ship from Whitby, and there is the muddle.

AN UNSAFE BRIDGE.—The bridge over Burnt River is in a very delapidated condition. What is wanted is a new bridge. The piers under the present structure have been in place it is said eighteen years. Nine or ten years ago a new superstructure was placed upon it, and at present the stringers are quite spongy and rotten.

INJURED BY A RAM.—A little girl, daughter of E. Drume, section foreman, was badly injured by a ram, the property of Mr. Thomas Oswald. Besides other injuries one of the thigh bones was fractured.

A BAD WOUND.—Patrick Donahoe, the man who suffered partial severing of the hand at the wrist joint in Clarton's Mill, is now about well, and will retain his hand and use of nearly all his fingers.

PORT HOPE.

ARM CRUSHED.—The Times says that Port Hope furnishes another argument for the early passage of the Brakeman Bill. On Thursday night, about 7.30 o'clock a young, unmarried man, named Gallagher, who lives in Toronto, attempted to couple two cars up at the Port Hope station. The trains came together too quickly, and his arm, being caught between the buffers, was reduced almost to a pulp. Dr. Powers dressed the bruise, which was extremely painful, and the young man was sent home to Toronto on the next western express. It is feared that the limb will have to be amputated.

RACES.—There is every prospect that the Port Hope and Millbrook races, to take place at Bewdley, Rice Lake, on Thursday and Friday, Jan. 22 and 23, will be eminently successful. The amount of money offered in stakes is large, that is for comparatively country races, and the affair is under the management of gentlemen in every way competent to deal fairly and squarely by the public. Already a very large number of owners have signified their intention of entering their horses, and consequently the meeting will be successful.

EXEMPT FROM TAXES.—The Town Council committee, appointed to act for Port Hope in the matter of tax exemptions, have decided to recommend Mr. Mowat to make the 200 acres of University Lands now in Port Hope pay their fair share of taxation. The amount estimated to be assessed is something like $20,000, and would make, at the present rate, a $400 difference to Port Hope taxpayers.

LINDSAY.

A VOTE OF THANKS.—The Warder says that at the meeting on Monday evening, the Council passed a vote of thanks to the representatives of the local papers for keeping them within proper bounds in their expenditure of public moneys. It was a cordial vote, therefore we appreciate the generosity of the Council, for while we received hearty thanks, the poor miserable scribes of other places received only a $20 cheque for their services during the year.

MASQUERADE BALL.—At a meeting of the committee at the Benson House, Wednesday evening, it was decided to hold the masquerade ball in aid of the poor of the town on Thursday evening, 29th inst.

MECHANICS' INSTITUTE.—The new rooms of the Lindsay Mechanics' Institute were thrown open to the members on Saturday last.

A GENEROUS GIFT.—Mr. Glen, of Oshawa, has the thanks of a large portion of the residents of Lindsay and Ops for the generosity he has displayed in presenting to the bazaar a combined Champion Reaper and Mower, worth $160. It is to be offered as a prize, and it is safe to say that every farmer will "take a chance." This is considered as good a machine as there is in the market and the person who gets it will have a prize indeed. Begley Brothers deserve thanks for their liberality in presenting an elegant bedroom set of furniture which will also be offered as a prize.

CHILD SCALDED TO DEATH.—On Monday last about noon, a three year old son of Mr. P. Giaty, of Ops, placed his mouth to the spout of a kettle and swallowed a quantity of boiling water and steam. The child, after suffering a great deal, died on Tuesday night.

BAZAAR.—The R. C. Church bazaar will commence during the first week in February. A large number of valuable gifts have been received for it from a distance and more are expected. It will be the grandest affair of the kind ever held in this part of Canada.

ON FRIDAY NIGHT a race took place between three colts and the Grand Trunk night express, near Smith's crossing, McGillivray. The animals headed the train for nearly a mile, till, halting at a cattle guard, they lost the race and their lives.

THE LAND LAWS.

Sermon by Professor Blackie in St. David's Established Church, Edinburgh.
